Synopsis Of Canadian North-West

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for addition to Rideau Hall, Ottawa," will be received at this office until Wednesday, August 7, 1907, inclusively, for the construction of an addition to Rideau Hall, Ottawa.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable, the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

PORT HOPE EXPECTS TO LAND MIDLAND LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

The Port Hope Guide dopes out the situation on the Midland baseball league as follows:

Should Cobourg win three from Peterborough, and Peterborough win from Port Hope, Cobourg has the championship. Further, if Cobourg should be successful in taking three victories from Peterborough, and Port Hope trim Peterborough also, then Port Hope and Cobourg are tied; or if Cobourg wins two from Peterborough, and Port Hope loses to Peterborough, they are still a tie.

Should Peterborough win their four scheduled games then they hold the championship. Or two wins from Cobourg and one from Port Hope, will make Peterborough and Port Hope a tie. From present appearances it hardly seems possible that Port Hope can receive worse than a play off, and for a betting proposition it looks like a ten to one shot that Port Hope lands the championship.

THE CRICKET TEAM'S GOOD WIN

By a Great Finish They Pulled Out With A Victory From the Campbellford Team

HILL'S GREAT BOWLING

The newly organized Peterborough Cricket Club won a creditable victory yesterday when the Campbellford team was defeated in a two innings game by six wickets, an apparently hopeless task at the end of the first innings, when the visitors were in the lead by twenty-four, having made forty-eight to the home team's twenty-four.

The features of the game were the excellent bowling of Hill, who in the second innings bowled seven wickets for a total of five runs and the general all round ork of the twwo Campbell boys.

The visitors batted first, and ran up a score of 48, W. Tait being on top with 13. After luncheon the home team started its innings, but the men were all out for the small score of 24, owing to Humphries Edwards good bowling, being the very man to reach double figures. This gave the visitors a lead of 24 on the first innings and when they suddenly made up their minds to stop at 5.30 instead of 6, it looked like an impossibility to get the visitors out again and thus obtain the required number of runs to win, but so well did Hill bowl that they were all out in about three-quarters of an hour for 86. This left the home team 61 runs to win and 40 minutes to obtain them. This difficult talk was overcome just on the call of time. Hill and the Campbell boys being responsible for the score. Humphries bowled splendidly for the visitors. In the first innings his 8 wickets being got for 15 runs. The fielding of the home team was good Edwards and A. Campbell being prominent in this respect.

DONATIONS FOR THE NEW CHURCH

Some Good Friends of the Park Street Church Offer Subscriptions

Many inquiries are being made as to the purchase of the old Park Street Baptist Church Building as it is advertised in another column. No tender will be opened until the 5th of August. Donations for the new building are coming in most encouragingly. At Building Committee last night donations were announced from Thomas Eatkin, Stewart St., $100.00. Thomas J. Lee, Albert St., $25.00, with the hint that he would repeat the dose.

A TERRIBLE DISASTER IN HUMBER BAY

Only One Survivor of Sad Accident Off Swansea.

TORONTO JUNCTION MOURNS

Gasoline Launch Overturned by Heavy Sea—Engine Ceased to Work—Fearful Struggle for Life — George Shields Reaches Shore in Dazed Condition—One By One Gave Up in Despair—Three Found.

Toronto, July 27.—The hand of Death stretched out across the Humber Bay in the early hours of yesterday morning. Its cold fingers closed about nine young men in the black darkness and sorrow entered into eight homes in Toronto Junction.

The drowned are: Joseph Irwin, aged 20; John Irvine, aged 20; Walter Dundin, aged 20; Frank Kyle, aged 18 Glen Daly, aged 25; Frank Daly, aged 22; Dawson Nehrgang, aged 20; Gordon Leroo, aged 20; Reginald Miller, aged 19. All were residents of Toronto Junction.

Saved: George Shields, aged 19, Toronto Junction.

The bodies recovered yesterday were those of Walter Dundin, John Irvine, and Joseph Irwin.

Just as the 18-foot gasoline launch Dalvine, bearing its human freight of ten young men entered the Humber Bay the blinding storm struck her and her engine, which had been repaired but a week before, gave out.

The night, which had been dark, became darker; the wind rose to a gale and the little boat, heavily overcrowded and with her engine stopped, drifted into the trough of the waves.

Panic reigned on board and in a moment a wave greater than the others swamped the little boat and the ten were struggling in the water.

Six Gained a Hold.

When the half-drowned lads, clambered back upon the overturned boat, they numbered but six.

The boat was tossed about. From time to time this one or that was dashed from his hold by the waves.

Again a number were rolled the boat over and this time but three returned. These were George Shields, J. C. Irvine and Walter Dundin.

From this on the battle for life was desperate indeed.

The exhausted men clung to the trembling craft, dashed this way and that by the fury of the storm.

At last the battered boat was cast upon the wind-racked shore opposite the Sunnyside Bolt Works, but only two of the men were with her, and one lay buried in the sand inert and lifeless. This was Walter Dundin. The other was George Shields, the sole survivor.

Dazed and weary he reached his home at 4 o'clock in the morning, and explained the situation as best he could, and, staggering to his bed, fell into a deep sleep.

Meanwhile the news spread about the town from lip to lip, passed on by frightened men and women in the street from door to door until a pall of gloom spread over all the place.

Send Off to Friend.

The evening had opened with joy and laughter. The ten, with Collin Campbell of Quebec avenue in the Junction, gathered to give their friend, George Carson, McMurray street, a "send-off" on his departure. The 12 had boarded the launch at its moorings in the Humber River and proceeded to Toronto Bay, where Carson got out to catch his train at the Union Station. Campbell accompanied him, while the others put out for the island, which they reached at 9.30 o'clock. There they landed, and as a storm broke, sheltered until 12.30, when they put out for home.

They reached the Humber Bay about 1.45 o'clock, as ascertained by the stopping of a watch found upon J. C. Irvine, whose body was recovered yesterday afternoon, and from P. C. Lewis, who heard cries, as did Night-watchman C. C. Pressy, who also heard the cries.

Skin Disease is Blood Disease

"Fruit-a-tives" clean the blood of all impurities and clear the Complexion.

Pimples and Blotches—Redness—Boils—Eczema and other inflammations of the skin—mean Impure Blood.

A person with a bad complexion always suffers from poor digestion — non-action of the bowels (or Constipation) and often the kidneys are weak.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful cure for Pimples and Blotches on the skin.

These unhealthy organs cannot rid the system of the waste matter. It is this waste—taken up by the blood and carried to the skin—that ruins the complexion.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure all skin troubles because they cure the kidneys and bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" cause the eliminating organs to do their proper share of the work of ridding the system of waste. This purifies the blood — and instantly the pimples and blotches disappear, and the complexion clears.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure skin troubles when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices, intensified, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics.

They are without doubt the greatest blood purifier in the world. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all druggists.

FIRE PLAYED HAVOC WITH PINE LUMBER PILES AT LAKEFIELD

Saturday Evening Blaze Caused Loss of About $45,000—Products of Cavendish Lumber Mills Destroyed—Peterborough Fire Engine There.

SUPPOSED CAUSE OF FIRE

Lakefield, July 29.—Lakefield village was rather unexpectedly visited by one of the most disastrous fires in its history on Saturday afternoon, accompanied by the loss of half a million feet of the best of pine lumber, about 3,000 bundles of laths and several other products of the Cavendish Lumber Company's mills. It has been estimated that the total loss sustained was between $30,000 and $40,000. The company's mills which are situated in the southern portion of the village, close by the Otonabee river and on the east side of the stream, are among the largest in the country and annually turn out many thousands of feet of lumber besides laths, shingles and other products.

The fire started about 4.30 o'clock on Saturday evening and it is believed originated from a spark which found its way out through the large gauze wire which caps the top of the immense burner. The burner is used for burning up the refuse from the mill, such as sawdust, bark and slabs unutilized, this being conveyed into it by means of carriers. A strong gale was blowing at the time so that a spark might have easily reached the lumber piles a short distance to the east of the mill where the fire raged for about two hours.

When the blaze was first noticed an alarm was sent in and shortly after the Lakfield fire engine was on the spot. The private hose of the lumber company were also utilized by means of a hand pump but these were stretched for such a long distance that most of the water found its way out at the couplings before it reached the fire. Many individuals were hurrying to and fro with pails of water making attempts to extinguish the spreading blaze, but of course their efforts were useless.

The fire soon spread among the lumber piles until it reached the vicinity of the Grand Trunk tracks, so that the passenger train which leaves here about 4.30 was forced to run the gauntlet through thick clouds of smoke and threatening flames. The windows of the train had to be closed down to prevent the smoke and fire from getting inside. The blaze by this time was shooting high into the air and it was feared by some that it might extend across the tracks to the Cement Factory. Water was poured on the roof of the latter so that no damage was done.

Although the firemen worked hard it was soon apparent that unless assistance came all the lumber in the yards would be in danger. The Peterborough fire engine was telephoned for and about six o'clock it arrived on a flat car. Shortly after the auxiliary hose was turned on, the flames began to subside and the big fire soon dwindled down so that nothing remained to be seen but half a hundred piles of ashes—the remains of as many lumber piles which stood there a few hours before. At 6.30 the fire was well underway and all danger of its spreading was at an end.

Each of the lumber piles contained about 12,000 feet of pine, so that in the neighbourhood of 550,000 feet were consumed. A couple of piles of laths were also burned consisting of 3,000 bunches and in addition to that a large quantity of valuable scantling. The pine was this year's cut and although green, the flames made rapid progress on account of the large quantity of gummy material in the boards.

It has been reported from an authentic source that on Friday a fire broke out among the lumber piles but that it was put out before any headway was made. Reports were also circulated that the mills and the Cement Factory were on fire on Saturday afternoon, but there was no foundation for these as both escaped without being scorched. The wind was blowing the wrong way to cause any danger to the former and the latter was looked after too well.

The Cavendish Lumber Company of which Mr. W D Loomis of Toronto, is the President, recently purchased the mills here from the Dickson Company.

The loss will at least be partly covered by insurance in various companies.

Strong Evidence Against The Alleged Pick-pockets

P. C. Newhall, in Witness Box, Tells Story Which May Convict the Four Men—Large Crowd in the Court Room.

CASE STILL IN PROGRESS

All eyes of the crowded courtroom centred on the four prisoners charged with the crime of picking pockets on the 25th of June, as they took their seats in the prisoner's docket this morning before His Honour Judge Weller. Silence reigned in the room save for the shuffling of the feet of the four men—Phelps, Bradford, Goldfarb and Lewis—as they marched before Turnkey Ray to the empty box. Phelps and Lewis appeared quite composed considering that there were so many eyes turned upon them; Bradford blushed somewhat but even a smile lit up the face of Goldfarb as he discovered from the big crowd how interesting the case had become.

Once seated the four prisoners conversed among themselves and seemed to take a deep interest in everything said by counsel or judge. At times they evinced by their countenances that the evidence did not appear to coincide with what they considered to be the facts and frequently called upon their counsel for a word in conversation.

It was expected by many that the ladies, Mrs. Bradford and young Bradford's mother, would be in attendance but they were conspicuous by their absence. No friends of the prisoners were there except Mr. Henry Taylor, of New York City, who knows the prisoner Lewis well, and who carried credentials from New York men in favour of his character.

When court adjourned at 1 o'clock only two witnesses had been on the stand. Mr. Wm. Hurl, of Young's Point, testified first, and P. C. Newhall, the important witness of the Crown, followed. If his statements are true, and from all appearances they are, a web of destructive evidence has been woven around the four men charged with that serious crime of picking pockets, which seems impossible to rend. His words were heard with evident interest by the large crowd who leaned well over their seats to catch every syllable of his story. His tracing the prisoners from one o'clock until they were placed under arrest was evidently regarded as a remarkable piece of work.

Mr. F D Kerr, of Donnistown, Peck & Kerr appeared on behalf of Phelps and Goldfarb and Messrs. O'Connor & Gordon for the prisoners Lewis and Bradford. Crown Attorney Wood is looking after the case for the Crown.

Mr. Hurl's Evidence

Wm. J. Hurl, of Young's Point, who stated he had lost $12.50 on circus day, was the first witness sworn on behalf of the Crown. He testified to having come to Peterborough accompanied by his daughter on June 25th, circus day, and put up at the Crown Hotel. They watched the procession in the morning and at the corner of Simcoe and George took a street car for the circus.

Here Mr. Kerr asked his Honour that the other witnesses be excluded while the evidence was being given. Mr. Kerr requested that P. C. Newhall remain as he wished to have him present to instruct him. The judge ruled that P. C. Newhall should remain if required, but that the remainder be excluded and the examination of Mr. Hurl was delayed a few minutes on this account.

When the witness stepped in the car he noticed a man behind shoving him. He saw his face and pointed to the prisoner Phelps in the box as the person who had done the pushing. In crowding he felt a sensation in his pocket and discovered his pocket book was gone so that he got off the car at Charlotte street. The money purse he said, was a sort of a bag about 5 inches long. His pocket-book contained three 2 dollar bills, one 5, one 1 dollar bill and a 50 cent piece.

The gentleman who he stated was Phelps had said to him as he entered the car, "If you wasn't smoking I'd let you in."

In the cross-examination the witness stated to Mr. Kerr that he got $10 from the Toronto bank about 11 o'clock and had dinner about 11.30. He remembered having the money when he opened the purse to pay for his dinner.

"When did you have the drink?" asked Mr. Kerr.

"What drink?" the witness asked.

He afterwards stated that he had a drink with a friend, but he did not pay for it.

After getting off the car he put his hand in his pocket and found the money bag gone. He straightway went to the police station and reported his loss.

The witness, after the money had gone, went to the circus, but stated that he did not even expect to see the cash again. Returning after the circus, he went back to the police station, and was told he thought by a policeman, that some suspected pickpockets were caught. He went in to where they were in the cells, and recognized Phelps as the man who pushed him in the car. The officer he saw in the police station at 2 o'clock, when he reported his loss, was a man with a light dark moustache, but was not P. C. McDonald. In the evening about 6 o'clock, when he returned to the police station, he saw P. C. Newhall.

Sleuth's Story

The second witness for the Crown was P. C. Newhall. He stated that he left home at 1 o'clock with plain shirt and vest, and policeman's trousers. On arriving at the corner of Lansdowne and Lock streets he saw the four prisoners in a street car. They crossed over to the extension of George street and walked north. The witness boarded an empty street car and went north also, meeting the prisoners at the corner of George and John streets, and all went to Brock street. There he saw Phelps harring Mr. Bartlett's way in the vestibule. The old man began talking to Phelps, but the latter never spoke. He saw Bradford take something from Bartlett's pocket. At the switch opposite Central Park the prisoners got on to a south-bound car, and he saw them jostling the crowd. At Charlotte street they went along Charlotte street, where they stopped, and, as they did not move, he went over the police station, where he saw Mr. Lamonth. He dressed in his uniform and went back to the corner of George street, and he saw the prisoners again. He looked into the face of Phelps and the latter seemed to signal the others, and they left that car. They went down to the Exhibition grounds and he followed. At the corner of Lansdowne and Lock streets they left the car, and he saw one of them throw something away. He told a man standing near to look where the article was thrown, and found a purse, which has previously been described. He saw them next going again up the extension of George street, and he returned home for an old suit of clothes. Going up street again, he saw the prisoners near the Commercial Hotel. Three of them went inside, and Goldfarb remained on the street. Coming south, the witness told of the robbery of Hurl by Bradford and Phelps. He saw the former lift his coat and pull something like a buckskin bag from the pocket. He afterwards saw Goldfarb pull bank bills from another man's pocket. The prisoners went south again and sat down opposite the gate, where he heard them converse about P. C. McDonald, who was standing near, about fishing and other things. He saw them again take a car north, but they left it near Little Lake.

The Arrest

They went up to the Commercial Hotel, where Phelps called for four lagers. He saw Goldfarb give his hat to the bartender, and put a cap on his head. The latter then went to the door, and exclaimed, "not a cop in sight." The officer then told Mr. Larmonth to watch the prisoners while he telephoned, and in a few minutes P. C.'s Mowbrey and McDonald, and Mr. Lucas were on the scene. The prisoners were then taken into custody and lodged in the police cells, where he told them that whatever they might say might be used as evidence against them.

Lewis said to him, "I'm no pickpocket; I'm a fighting man."

The four men were searched, and the officer described where he found the money, and the various amounts on each man.

On Wednesday, July 3, Detective Anderson, in the presence of the witness, asked Phelps if he had any money on him, and the answer came back that he had not. The prisoner was then searched, and a $50-bill was found in a secret pocket in the front of his trousers. The prisoner, Bradford, had $44.00 on him. He told the officer that he had only been twice on the car, and that he did not know the others.

Goldfarb stated to him that he might not search him, as he had only $1.50, and this he handed out. The officer then searched Goldfarb and found four five-dollar bills inside his under-trousers. The prisoner remarked, "Oh, I forgot about that," when this money was produced.

After the police officer's evidence court was adjourned until 3 o'clock, when the case was resumed, beginning with the cross-firing examination of P.C. Newhall by Counsel O'Connel and Kerr.

INTERESTING HISTORY OF THE LATIMERS

Have Come Thousands of Miles to Attend Ottawa Carnival

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, July 29.—Four members of the Latimer family, who left here 18 years ago, and have since been living at Riverside, Cal., are back to enjoy the Homecomers' Carnival and are staying at the Belmont, Albert street. In the party are Mr. Hugh Latimer, Mrs. Latimer, their son, Charles, and their daughter, Miss Daisy. There is another son, Harold, but he was not able to come. Though originally left here 18 years ago, they were residents of Ottawa long before that, and the Latimer family proper dates away back into the fifties, at least.

All are registered at carnival headquarters to-day, and are among those who have come thousands of miles to enjoy the big celebration.

Have Other Relatives

Mr. Hugh Latimer used to be a contractor here, and for some years was a member of the Ottawa Fire Department. He has a brother, Robert, living here now. Alex. Bisley is a cousin of Mrs. Latimer, and Mrs. Thos. Bisley is her brother.

After they left here they went into the fruit-growing business, and at Riverside have 150 acres, that makes up one of the finest orange farms on the Pacific Coast. On the way here the homecomers stopped off at Chicago for a day. They will visit Montreal, and possibly Cobalt, before returning home, and after going to those points will take in Niagara Falls, and possibly Toronto. The trip, which practically starts with Ottawa, will last two months.

Though the party have not been away from here many years they see great improvements on every hand. It is Mr Hugh Latimer's second visit back since he left here, and his son's first.

PRINTING SERMONS

The Bishops of Exeter and Truro and prominent non-conformist ministers in England seem to have been converted to Christianity. They certainly permit themselves to subordinate the ministerial lust for appearing in print to a really Christian consideration for the poor newspaper reporter. The bishops mentioned doubt whether any good resulting from the publicity given to reports of Sunday services is not outweighed by the evil consequences resulting from the lack of a day of rest for the reporter. A Wesleyan minister advocates the ministers of all denominations supplying reports of any special services to the newspapers. This leads up to the broader question whether or not it is worth while reporting sermons at all. Are reports of sermons read? And if read, by whom? There is reason to believe that they are read by at least one class—by the ministers themselves. Another class who may read reports of sermons is composed of those who have already heard the sermon. If a man or woman does not take enough interest in religious mattters to go to church and hear the sermons it is safe wagering that he or she wont take enough interest in them to read the reports of them in a newspaper. So that if these facts are, as assumed, correct, the reporting and printing of sermons is only a waste of effort, and a fruitless and unnecessary destruction of a newsreporter's day of rest. There is no class in the community that receives so much attention from the press as the ministers and there is no class more ready to "jump upon" newspapers in the way of condemnation than the ministers. But the newspapers don't mind that; it is "all in the day's work." Reports of sermons and notices of religious meetings are given not as an evidence of the newspaper's desire to discharge a moral duty, but as a matter of justice to their readers. Newspapers aim to print what they think the public desire to read. Sometimes they hit the mark and sometimes they miss it; and there is no little reason to think that reports of sermons come within the latter condition.

CANADA'S SPRUCE SUPERIORITY

The Globe has begun a vigorous campaign for the conservation of the spruce forests of Canada and for tree-planting, with a view to anticipating the paper needs of future generations. Both the State and Federal Governments in this country should have entered upon a policy of of spruce forest conservation years ago; as a direct result of their failure to do it, we are fast approaching the end of our spruce supply here in the United States. Already many of our paper mills import millions of feet of spruce logs from Canada every year, and other American paper manufacturing companies have bought up in the aggregate nearly ten thousand square miles of spruce lands in Canada, which they are steadily denuding to supply their mills with raw material. This is all well enough so long as the United states Government imposes no duty on imported spruce logs and Canada lays no export duty on them. But Canada may almost any day impose such a duty on them, if only for self-protection—the Province of Ontario has already done so. An immediate result of it, no doubt, would be the investment of much good American money not only in Canadian spruce lands but in paper mills there; the United States would lose all the benefit of this capital, and the consumers of paper here would have to pay duties on the imported article.

If we defer the closing of a fair trade-reciprocity treaty with the Dominion much longer, the Canucks may easily and speedily be put into a mood that would lead them to take a sharp advantage of our spruce and paper necessities.—New York Commercial.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Montreal Conservatives are nominating Mr. J. G. Bergeron, as the next Conservative Minister of Marine. Apropos of the recipe for cooking the hare—first find the Marine.

In 1895-6, under Conservative rule it cost one dollar for every $13 of Inland Revenue collected. Under Liberal Government, in 1906, it cost $1 to collect $19 of Inland Revenue. The total in 1905-0 was $8,013,506. In 1906 it was more than double — $16,053,907.

Toronto's opposition to the Georgian Bay Canal scheme must be of the genus sus, for a little larger outlook would show that the resulting development of the great west would be of the highest advantage to Toronto's industrial and commercial interests.

There is some controversy over the story of the late Police Magistrate Woodyatt's row with local ministers. No matter whether he talked irreverently to Rev. Mr. Thompson, there is no justification for his dismissal, beyond the fact that his place was wanted by a Conservative.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has just returned from a tour of Great Britain and Europe where, according to a prevalent delusion, there are a few things wroth seeing. But this has only whetted his appetite. It is now stated that he will visit the Canadian National Exposition in Toronto, where something really worth while will be found.

All true statesmen are more or less prophets — they see things ahead. Thirty years ago, the late Mr. Gladstone said that there would be a development of corn (wheat) production in Canada as great as that of the United States, in a very few years. The immense development of the West as a grain-producing country, marks the beginning of the fulfilment of this forecast.

One would hardly expect that the Russo-Japanese war would benefit the butter makers of Ireland. The war has brought the value of the eastern market to the butter makers of Siberia, who are now shipping their produce East, instead of, as formerly, to the West, where it entered into competition with Irish butter. Thus Ireland is delivered from one yellow peril.

In 1902, the British emigration to the United States numbered 151,617, to Canada 14,730, the United States' proportion being about 11 to 1 of the Canadian. In 1906 the conditions had greatly changed, British emigration to Canada had increased to 91,263, while that to the United States had fallen off to 85,941. This indicates the high degree of favour into which this country is coming as a field for immigration.

Mr. R. L. Borden, on the outset of his stumping tour, is cheered by the evidence of solidarity in his party, and of its popularity with the public. In Lincoln there is a pretty Conservative family fight. The independent element of the party is kicking against the favourite of the machine element, Dr. Jessop. The Conservative local organ denounces his candidature vigorously. In Dufferin, which five years ago, gave a Conservative majority of nearly 1400, the Conservative candidate, in a bye-election last week, had only 78 of a majority.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH MEETING WAS POSTPONED

Report to be Presented is Favourable to Milk Vendors

The Board of Health meeting that was billed to take place this morning was postponed until Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Several of the members were absent, and it was not considered advisable to meet without them.

Among other things of importance that were to be discussed, was a report that Dr. Bingham had prepared showing the quality of the milk, sold by the various vendors in the city and the percentages of many of the constituents. It is learned that the general condition is good, water not being found except in its proper proportions, showing that the farm pump is not often pressed into service.

Although the report has not yet been presented this fact should be an assurance to the people that the milk they are using is of standard quality.

PASTOR OF MARK STREET A FINE SINGER

Song Service Last Night of Special Importance

At Mark street church last night a song service took the place of the regular Sunday evening service, and proved to be most interesting to the congregation who expressed their satisfaction with its religious character Mark street church has some excellent singers but the pastor Rev. C. H. Coon in that respect is especially good. Besides the choruses which the congregation as a whole took part in, there were solos, duets and quartettes which made the service so successful. A male quartette composed of Messrs. Miller, Spier, Pratt and Rev. Mr. Coon, rendered several hymns in a fine manner. A mixed quartette composed of Miss Kennedy, Mrs. Matchett, Mr. Pratt and Mr. Miller and Mr. Miller and Mrs. Howson in a duet deserved special mention. The pastor was heard in a solo entitled "Saving Grace." It was a pleasure to the congregation to hear his rich voice with the choir-leaders. Mrs. Payne and Miss Howson sang together in a duet.

The service won favour with the congregation on account of the fine work of the singers and it proved so popular that other Sunday evenings will be spent in a similar manner.

A COURT MARTIAL TRIAL

American Soldier, Who Shot at Deserter and Killed Canadian Lady at Sault Ste. Marie

TO MAKE FULL INQUIRY

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, July 29.—The Dominion Government has appointed Attorney E. S. B. Sutton to represent the Crown at the Caldenhead inquest at Sault Ste Marie. The officials connected with the American military authorities at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, are investigating the charge against an American soldier, who, while shooting at a deserter who was escaping, instead shot and killed Miss Caldenhead, of Fergus, Ontario, formerly of Kingston.

The case is a strange one and it is said Washington despatches say the officials at the American post are acting in strict accordance with general orders from the American Secretary of War in refusing to surrender the soldier to the civil authorities. Gillette, the man now under arrest, will be tried by court martial instead of by a civil court and as he cannot be placed twice in jeopardy of his life, if the court martial acquits him that will end his responsibility. On the other hand the dead Canadian's relatives say there was carelessness, that he should not have shot at random along a public boulevard and demand a full enquiry. Mr. Sutton does not anticipate any international complications, but the case is being watched with great interest.

HORSES GET MIXED AT CHEMONG

And Two Young Men Brought Back a Much Better Horse Than They Took Away in the Morning

An amusing, but while it lasted, serious, case of mistaken identity is reported from Chemong. It appears that yesterday morning a couple of young gentlemen engaged a livery horse and buggy to drive to Chemong to spend the day with friends. They did not take a very good look at the horse during the journey to the Park, the only feature about the animal that was noticeable being the fact that it required liberal applications of "the gad" to persuade the horse to make anything like decent time. After spending the day at the Park they went to the stable for their horse. There were two in the stalls and neither of the young visitors could identify the one they had driven out in the morning. They decided, after some discussion upon one of the two and the stableman hitched him up for them. It was a matter of comment between the two on the way home that the horse was making much better time and was requiring less whip than in the morning. In fact they were agreeably surprised at the great improvement in the animal from the morning.

When they drove into the stable, however, the proprietor informed them that they had brought back the wrong horse; the one they had started out with was still at Chemong, and a traveller had to bring it home instead of the fresh young horse he had engaged in the morning.

CONTRADICTION TO THE GIRL'S STORY

Young Lady Who Claimed Her Baggage Was Held Up Apparently Tells Untruths

The fact there are always two sides to a story was aptly demonstrated this morning, when a lady called at the Examiner office this morning in connection with the trunk episode, which appeared in Saturday's issue. The lady is the one who kept the boarders, and stated that the girl who told the story to the police made many misstatements. The landlady said that while the house was empty it was broken into through the cellar shutters and window by the maiden, with an axe, and that the latter had come up through the house and taken out clothing, leaving her valise.

When she came back the second time the landlady requested her to pay for the damage done, and not for storage, as was alleged. The girl offered her ten cents to cover the breakage, but, of course, that was not acceptec. According to the further statements of the lady, the young girl varied considerably from the truth in telling her story to the police.

SUSPICIOUS INDIVIDUAL TOLD TO LEAVE CITY

Was Given Twenty Minutes to Shake th City's Dust From His Feet

Acting Magistrate Armstrong was called upon to deal with the Police Court cases this morning. A young man was found yesterday so inebriated that life and the general order of things had stopped, and as a result he was dragged to the police station, and awoke this morning, sober, and sorry for it, as they all do. He asked to be allowed to go free and promised never to repeat his actions. The usual Sunday drunk is taken as fiver, at least, but this young man was given a chance.

James Hardy, a tough-looking character, with a bullet-shaped head and an altogether evil appearance, decorated the prisoners' dock. He was charged with vagrancy, and, to prove the case, Mr. Jos. Tremaum, P. C. Adams and Mr. A. J. Warne gave evidence as to his suspicious actions on Friday evening in the neighbourhood of the corner of Park and Charlotte streets. He was seen in that vicinity throughout the evening in question, lurking around in a manner that foreboded no good. The police were called, but the stranger happened to be absent when they got there. Acting Magistrate Armstrong gave the fellow just 20 minutes to reach the confines of the city and never show his face here again, on pain of Central for a term. He said his home is in Bobcaygeon, but he had not been there in several years.

OBITUARY

HARRIET BROWN

On Sunday afternoon at 4.30, Harriet Brown, the wife of William P. Clark, passed away at the Nicholls Hospital, as a result of inflammatory rheumatism. Mrs. Clark was 50 years of age, and was born at Quaker Hill, near Uxbridge. She was married 30 years ago, and has lived for the most part in Peterborough. The deceased was in the hospital but four days when death claimed her.

There is but one child, Mrs. Westcott, of Norwood, and the husband, of this city. There are also four sisters and two brothers in the Northwest and Mrs. Brown, at her own home.

The funeral will be held to-morrow morning at ten o'clock from the family residence, 74 Parkhurst Street to the Little Lake cemetery.

CHASED A DEER AND WAS DROWNED

Sad Fate of Prospector at Sylvan Lake, Near Bancroft

A strong young life was suddenly cut off when Fred L. Fiss of Montcalm was drowned at noon on Tuesday, July 9, in what is known as Sylvan Lake. The unfortunate young man was in company with Mr. Wm. Best, Sr., on a prospecting tour, when they started a deer. Some excitement prevailed, and Fred was separated from Mr. Best, having gone to the north shore of the lake, while his companion remained on the south shore.

After the deer disappeared, the young man attempted to start a pine float, and, failing in this, began swimming the bay, and when Mr. Best last saw him he was making good headway, but cramps apparently left him helpless, and his lifeless body sank in 18 feet of water. Mr. Best gave the word, and in spite of diligent search by the neighbours, the body was not recovered until noon on Wednesday, July 10.—Bancroft Times.

BANK OF ONTARIO LANDS WERE NOT SOLD

Offered for Sale at Munro House on Saturday by Mr. Haggart

Mr. John Haggart, auctioneer, offered for sale at the Munro House, on Saturday, the farms belonging to the Bank of Ontario, occupied by Mr. Sinderson and Mr. Lynch, immediately adjacent to the town hall, North Monaghan, and also the lot at the corner of George street to Lock street, immediately east of the property purchased by the city for the King Edward School.

The highest price offered for the farm occupied by Mr. Lynch was five thousand, six hundred dollars. There was no offer for the farm occupied by Mr. Sinderson, and for the lots in the south end of the city the highest offer was sixteen hundred dollars, so that no sales were made.

SAWDUST PILE AGAIN ON FIRE ON SATURDAY

Continual Source of Trouble to the Brigade

The Fire Brigade was called out Saturday afternoon to the sawdust pile northeast of the American Cereal Company's mill. This is a frequent source of trouble to the firemen, and, owing to its position, it is practically impossible to put any water on it from a hydrant. The men returned when it was seen that nothing could be done, and the pile was left to smoulder. The cause of the frequent fires at this place is unknown, but it is believed that some young lads may be the responsible parties.

Put the Blood In Condition

BY THE RESTORATIVE BLOOD FORMING PROPERTIES OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is weakness that causes most of our sufferings — weakness of the heart, weakness of the stomach, weakness of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

The result is feeling of langour and depression, and impaired action of the vital organs, headaches, indigestion, spells of dizziness and weakness, sleeplessness, irritability, and a general rundown condition of the system.

Put the blood in good condition by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and you have a foundation for health to build on. Weakness and disease will give way to new strength and vigor, and angour and discouragement will yield to ne hope and happiness.

Mr. Fergus Conn, Lily Oak, Ont., writes:—"As a result of the severe winter and an attack of la grippe, I was all run down this spring. I soon improved very much by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. My appetite is better than it has been for years, and though sixty years of age I am able to do a man's work on the farm following a team. I believe that I owe my good health to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

Mrs. Geo. Battie, Carr's Brook, Colchester Co., N.S., writes: — "Last spring I was very much run down, felt tired all the time and did not seem to have life or energy enough to do my work. Three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did me a world of good and made work a pleasure to me. I have not had occasion to use any medicine since, and have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all my friends.

"We always keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house to be used for constipation, pains in the back and stomach troubles."

By means of good blood only can Nature make weak people strong, and Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the most powerful blood-forming elements known to medical science. Every dose is bound to be of some benefit to you; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited.

GOOD BERRY CROP IS REPORTED

Blueberries, However, Will Be Scarce—Hay in Eastern Part of County is Poor

Examiner Special.

Havelock, July 27. — The raspberries, which it was thought would be a short crop in this vicinity, have turned out to be very plentiful, although like all the other fruits, they are a little late. The good yield is attributed to the frequent showers we have been having lately.

The huckle or blueberries, which it was predicted would be a splendid crop this year, have gone the very opposite to the prediction, as there are very few. It is thought that the frosts which came late in the spring are the cause of the poor crop, for all other things pointed to huckleberries being very plentiful.

A party of three men from near Havelock, visited the huckleberry plains to the north last week and only got six quarts of berries between them, while in other years ... quarts would be nothing extra.

Hay in this vicinity is a poor crop, while the grain is fairly good, having been helped along considerably by the recent rains. Hay is now selling at $16 a ton here, and will likely go still higher before long.

RATHBUN CO. MAY BUILD IN BANCROFT

Times Says That a Big Mill May Be Erected There

The Bancroft Times says: We ... that the Rathbun Company of Deseronto, are contemplating the erection of a big factory — one of the biggest of its kind in Ontario—in this village. They have not yet decided on a site, but it will be either near the dam, or close to their sawmill. They intend to close up their business in Deseronto and move all the machinery away.

CHIMNEY ANNIHILATED BY LIGHTNING

Severe Electric Storm Near Keene—Another Storm on Friday

Examiner Special.

Keene, July 29.—Miss Lillian Richards, Warkworth, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Nellie McCrae, returned home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. A D Anderson and a party of friends went to Idyl Wyld Wednesday in Mr. Anderson's yacht, "The Boots."

Mr. W D Nelson, Cadillac, Mich., left for home Thursday after a two weeks' visit with his uncle, Mr. Jas. Nelson.

Keene was visited early Friday morning by a very heavy electrical storm. The lightning was very close but fortunately no damage was done.

Mr. Walter Humphries, Hastings and Mr. Walter Laing, Toronto, were in the village Wednesday.

Messrs. Albert Stillman and Michael Kennealty were in Hastings on business Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Wallace, Peterborough, is the guest of his brother, Mr. David Wallace.

Mrs. W C McCrae, Peterborough, visited at Miss Nellie McCrae's Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Quinn and Misses Margaret and Kathleen Walsh are camping at Idyl Wyld.

Mrs. (Dr.) A. Gillespie, Edmonton, and Mrs. James Gillespie, Peterborough, visited at Mrs. J. Brough's, Tuesday.

Mrs. Thomas Laing, Toronto, is visiting friends in Keene.

During Wednesday's thunder storm the chimney of Mr. Isaac Fife's house was struck by lightning and beyond ruining the chimney of the house, no damage was done.

FISHERMEN AND GUIDES TO BE BETTER WATCHED

Guides to be Licensed and Held Responsible for Size of Catch

Captain A. Hunter, of Frontenac county, inspector of fish and game, in Eastern Ontario, has, it is reported, been making a trip through the district, consulting and instructing the overseers on enforcing the new regulations of the Fish and Game Act. Capt. Hunter, it is reported, will recommend to the department that all guides who engage with parties in the sporting districts, be licensed, and thus be held responsible to the overseers for the enforcement of the Act.

It is contended that some parties who come to the Kawartha Lakes district make very large catches of fish, contrary to the game laws, and that these fish are shipped out in boxes. The inspector intends to recommend that the guides keep the fishermen within the limit, and anyone who allows a larger catch than the law says will lose his license.

BATHERS AND CAMPERS HAVE NO PRIVILEGE

Owners of Adjoining Land May Order Them Away if They Have Objections

A young man asked the question on Saturday at the owner of land bordering on the Otonabee had full control up to the water's edge. With a number of others he was in swimming below the locks or was about to undress when the owner of the property ordered them off. They maintained that they had certain rights but however, complied with his command. It has been stated by one authority that the man had the power to send the youths away if he he wished. Similarly with campers. They have no right to pitch their tents on a river bank unless the owners of the property have given them permission. This has been brought to the public's attention on a previous occasion and a reminder may not be out of place to prevent any possible misunderstanding.

It is, however, to be stated that there is a Government reserve along the river bank, 66 feet from high water mark.

SNEAK THIEF STOLE A VALUABLE FLOWER POT

Contemptible Action of Some Who Has No True Love For Flowers

A mean theft was reported on Saturday night, when some unprincipled person stole a Chinese flower pot from the porch of Mr. V. Best, 209 Brock street. The pot contained a valuable plant, but the pot itself was more highly prized, being of rather rare work.

It is a pity when citizens take the trouble to raise plants and place them in a position where the public may share in the delight their beauty affords, that there are people so contemptible as to steal them. The same practice has been noticed by some frequenters of Victoria Park who have neither pride in themselves nor a respect for the city's appearance. It may be suggested that the first offender who appears in the police court will probably be severely dealt with, as an example to others of his class.

SET OF PICTURE CARDS OF BASEBALL MASCOT

Manager Johnston's Little Boy in Full Playing Attire

Members of the Peterborough baseball club have sets of post cards that they have been disposing of to the fans, and thereby raising a little money. They are pictures of Mr. Johnston's little boy, who is mascot of the club, and who is known to the players as "Buster." He is represented in three different poses, one with a catcher's mit, kneeling, and giving a sign in a clever manner, in another he is about to pitch a ball, and in the third he is standing in a watching attitude, with the word "Peterborough," plainly visible on the waist.

The youngster has taken three cute pictures, making the cards interesting to the followers of the club. Quite a number of the cards have already been sold, and it is a slight means of giving the boys a little help. The photos were taken by Mr. Louis Mendel.

Gales On Stony Lake Depress The Activity

House Boat Blown on Shore and Sailing Yacht Capsized ---Telephone Wires Broken on Juniper Island---Delightful Song Service Last Evening---Many Peterborough People Spend Week-end at the Lake

Special Staff Correspondent.

Stony Lake, July 29 —The features at the lake during the past few days were the strong gales from the West, which kept the greater portion of the population on the islands and within doors, and it was not until Sunday afternoon that the wind subsided and gave opportunities to those who enjoy the water Few accidents, however, were reported, although many of the more venturesome hoisted sails and went along with the breeze

On Saturday morning the wind played havoc with the Bell telephone wires on Juniper Island, which were erected there this spring Near Rogers' cottage, at the east side of the island, the line broke from the glass insulator and buried itself in a pine tree, cutting off communication between Juniper Island store and Warsaw The necessary repairs were made later, and the line is in a splendid working order again

Another evidence of the gale was shown on Clear Lake on Saturday afternoon, when the house-boat, towed by Mr R. B. Rogers' yacht, the "Victoria," was blown into the western shore The floating dwelling brought too much of the breeze, and the launch could not protect it from drifting The steam tug "Ajax" came to the rescue and brought it into deep water again

On Saturday afternoon a sailing yacht capsized on account of the strong breeze at the head of Clear Lake, containing three young Peterborough youths One of them, who happens to be a wielder of the quill on an evening contemporary, apparently knew more about the dead-line and police court in the city than he did about the handling of the main sheet of a sailing yacht A man in a canoe came to the rescue, and the venturesome youths were assisted to shore

On Saturday evening the steamer Stoney Lake brought up the largest list of passengers of any week-end trip so far this season There were tourists on board for almost every hotel and boarding-house on the lake, and were well looked after by Captain Scollard and his genial crew. On Saturday afternoon the Majestic brought its largest crowd of the season, and had exactly 32 calls to make, with over a hundred on board Still larger numbers are expected during the coming fortnight, and by the date of the annual regatta, August 12, the Kawartha Lakes will certainly be a miniature city

About Mosquitoes

"A word to the wise is sufficient," so let every man—and woman also—take notice of the advice given by a young Peterborough gentleman who passed through on the Majestic for his home this morning He came up on Saturday evening, dressed in his best Sunday attire, which happened to include a pair of plain red socks, and about as bright a red as possibly could be found Now, it is fairly well known around these regions that mosquitoes cannot resist that colour of the spectrum known as red Whether it be a fire, a light, a red dress, or even red socks, these notorious insects are always attracted towards them The aforesaid young man, whose acquaintances are numerous in the city, was seen to bathe his legs in a pail of hot water as the boat passed along, and his advice was, "never wear red socks —or red stockings as the case may be —when going to Stony Lake

The immense crowd at the weekly Sunday evening song service last night again demonstrated the fact that more persons will attend a divine service in the hot season, held in God's great out-of-doors than in the finest of sanctuaries There were more than half a thousand gathered on the shore or near by in crafts of all sorts and sizes, in front of Mr. S. Henderson's cottage on the Burleigh shore. All joined heartily in the spirit of the service, which privsed such an attraction.

A short address was given by Mr. Henderson, and a number of solos were very pleasingly rendered. A large bon fire on shore enhanced the appearance of the place, and pleased the floating congregation.

Latest From Viamede

Pleasant events come in quick succession at Viamede. On Tuesday evening a dance was held in the pavilion, in which the guests took part. On Wednesday another delightful progressive euchre party was held. There is not a little rivalry among the guests as to who will be the prize winner at these contests. The following were the lucky ones this week: Miss Mabel Vogleson, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Smaltz, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. Gilpin, Toronto; and Miss Helene Vogleson, of Pittsburg.

Shore dinner parties are again popular this year, especially with those who have once attended one, for where can a dinner prepared on an open fire and served on a tin plate be more relished. Early on Friday morning a flotilla of skiffs and canoes laden with "grub" and guides, and drawn by a gasoline yacht in which were 35 guests, left Viamede wharf and headed for Indian River. After the portage and rapids were negotiated, the party spent the day, with the exception of a couple of hours at noon, when the dinner was held, in fishing and exploring.

A number of the guests went down to Peterborough on Saturday to view the lift lock, and returned again in the evening.

Divine service was held in the pavilion on Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. F. Batterbsby. During the offertory a pleasing vocal solo, entitled "Art Thou Weary?" was rendered by Miss O'Hara of New York city.

The following are the arrivals this week: W G McLean, Winnipeg; J A Harkins, and three sons, of the advertising department of the Mail and Empire, Toronto; Geo G Ford, D M Calkins, Rochester; P Gardiner and wife, Toronto; Jas D Corcoran, A F Fosse, Wheeling, W Va; W G Goodger, G B Bremer, Rochester; Prof F G Higbee, of Iowa State University, Iowa City; Miss Kathleen O'Hara of New York city; Miss Agnes Young, Toronto; Mrs Crisfield, Miss M Packner, Miss E Broyer; Rev. Father Brophy, Rev Father Van Ness, Rochester; Miss Olive H Southgate, Miss Margaret E Reynolds, Miss Frances A Reynolds, Miss R B Southgate, Rochester, D McLean, Belleville.

The Victoria House

The proprietors of the Victoria House have no reason to complain of any shortage of guests, though they would be pleased if they had more accommodation. A large number of week-end, and Sunday visitors at the lake were guests. Next week it is expected that Campbeds and tents will of necessity be used as several parties are due to arrive.

Several fine catches of fish were made right off the wharf at McCracken's last week.

The following are among the arrivals at Victoria House during the past week: Miss M E Stevenson, Toronto; I A Reid, W Milbourn, Peterborough; Miss J Hewitt, Arthur; W E Williams and son, Rochester, N.Y.; P Morrison Milne, Toronto; Roland Johnston and wife, Lakefield; Cameron Wilson, Toronto; G K Taylor, Rochester, N.Y.; P R Jameson, London, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs P C Kennedy, Miss Kennedy, Toronto; H Blackwell, R Sheehy, Peterborough; Alphonse LaPlante, Cookston, Ont.; Mrs. F E Speeden and two sons, Jersey City, N.Y. The following party spent Friday at Victoria House:—Mr. and Mrs. J E Finlay, Mr. and Mrs. I N Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. A J Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. A. Patterson, Miss E Patterson, Norman Patterson, Mrs. R W F E Davidson, Miss Daisy Dawson, Messrs. Eric and Vaughn Finlay, Misses G and T Fitzgerald, all of Norwood.

Messrs. W T Cahill, Ralph Quinn and Harry Latimer are camped on Vinoline Isle, Boschink.

Mr. Harry Jardine, of Berkely, Cal., is visiting at the Lake.

Miss Alice R Neill, of Peterborough is at Fairy Lake Villa.

Mr. and Mrs. H G Hamilton, Miss Gracie Hamilton, Mrs. L H Bottles, Messrs. Harry and Fred Hamilton, Miss Alice Hamilton, of Youngstown, and Mr. and Mrs. G E Hamilton of New wYork, came over from Lindsay on the house boat "Elizabeth," the other day.

Mr. R G Sturgeon re-joined his family at Sandy Point on Saturday evening.

Mr. W F Nelson came up to his cottage at Sandy Point on Saturday.

The Sunday morning service at Juniper Island yesterday was conducted by Mr. Hamilton, of Toronto. Miss Shapley and Miss Hamilton, of Toronto, sang solos.

Service at St. George's church, McCracken's landing on Sunday evening was conducted by Rev. H F Batterby of Young's Point.

Miss Mary Carnase, of Peterborough, is at "Up-Side-Down" cottage.

Mr. Bert Hayes, of Peterborough, is on Oxaline Island, and Mr. E. Wright is camping on Vasoline Island.

Mr. Clare E Koch, of Pittsburg, is at Tawasentha cottage.

The Misses Jenkins, of Toronto, who have been visiting at Gladhaiken, the residence of Mr. John Crane, returned to the city this morning on their way home.

Mr. J. Borndaile spent Sunday at the Lake.

Mr. Howard Robinson came up to Juniper Island Saturday evening.

Mr. Robt. Hall was a visitor at the lake over Sunday.

Misses Flora and Ruby Burnham came up to the lake on Saturday evening.

Miss Perry spent yesterday a visitor at the Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Routley and Miss Helen came up to their cottage, Rockport, Saturday evening.

Mr. Adam Hall spent the week-end at the lake.

Mr. C. E. Currier was at Minnewawa cottage over Sunday.

Mr. Myers was a guest at Rockport cottage over Sunday.

Mr. Morrison Milne of Toronto arrived at the Victoria House on Saturday evening to begin a two weeks' vacation.

The following gentlemen were the guests of Mr. R. B. Rogers over Sunday, and spent the day cruising on the house-boat: Messrs. D O'Connell, G W Hatton, E G Patterson, A P Poussette, W S Davidson, W Mollroy, P Campbell and A Kilbourne.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall spent yesterday at the lake.

Mr. Fred Adams returned to Fairy Lake Villa on Saturday evening, but will return to the city tomorrow with his family.

Mr. A. H. Stratton spent Sunday the guest of Mr. Jno. Crane at Gladhai-Ken.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Irwin came up to Headlands Saturday evening.

Mr. Fred Collins arrived at Catamaran on Saturday, and will spend a few days at the lake.

Mr. Jas. Aston of Toronto was at his cottage for the week-end.

Mr. C. N. Brown spent Sunday at his cottage, Clear Lake.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson came up to his summer home on Syndicate Island on Saturday.

Mr. Harry Thompson spent Sunday at Bonavista cottage.

The usual Saturday evening dance at the pavilion was attended by a large number of the youthful population of the lake. The dances are becoming more popular every week, and little time is wasted when youth and pleasure meet at the Juniper Island pavilion.

Mr. Louis Potvin spent Sunday a guest at Kilkenny cottage.

Kilkenny cottage promises to be a lively spot towards the latter end of this week and the beginning of next, a large party is coming.

Burleigh Falls

The following guests have registered during the past week at Darcy's Hotel, Burleigh Falls:—Miss Gertrude Englebart, Miss Lillian M. Toft, Rochester; Messrs. John H Shafer and F R Creed, Shutter, O.; W H Seempert, Toledo; Jas. Schrier, Cleveland; Warren E Kelly, Buffalo; Mrs. (Dr.) Brown, Peterborough; Miss Alice Scott, Waterloo; Miss L Quirk, Peterborough; W Conkey and party, Guelph and Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. A E Hagerman, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. D S Taylor, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stapleton, Peterborough; J A McGee and J J Doran, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. F F Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. A J Cromwell, T Sinclair and Jno. Sinclair, Cleveland, O.; Miss Katie Leary, Peterborough; Miss Edna M Dobbin, Helena A Fowler, E A Wood and Mr. J R Dundas, Peterborough.

The fishing around Burleigh has been excellent during the past week, eight or ten lunge, averaging 11 or 12 pounds, having been caught by the Toledo party.

Youngs' Point

The guests registered at the Lakeview House, Youngs' Point during the past week were:—J E Kearney, Mrs. H White, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. G H Oasley, Mr. C A Hunter, Mr. Watt, Mr. J Ashton, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Hiland and daughter, Peterborough; Misses Walsh, Peterborough; Mr. F H Clancy, Toronto; Mr. Bray, Peterborough; Misses McCormick, Peterborough; Mr. J Gorman, Peterborough; Mr. G. McFarlane, Miss E Woods, Syracuse, N.Y.; Mr. N. Wilson, Toronto; Mr. W. McCormac, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. J Walsh, Toronto; Mr. T. F. Hoolihan, Peterborough; Mr. P J Fitzgimmons, Mr. J Connors, Mr. F Hughes, Peterborough.

Another Upset

The gale during the last few days of the week was responsible for a number of upsets, and one of the victims of the jibe of his friends around the lakes, on the score of having been in a mishap of this kind was Clarke Acton, who took a pretty dip from his dinghy. There was no particular alarm caused, because he is a good swimmer, and beyond the discomfort incidental to his sudden immersion, was none the worse for his little excursion into the deep.

Water is Low

The water in Stony Lake has been lower during the past two weeks than it has been at any time in the previous ten years. While there has been complaint about the high water the conditions are now reversed, and places that have been normally covered with water are now practically dry. Wharves that were made high to avoid high water, are now inconveniently elevated above the level of the lake. On Saturday night last the captain of the Majestic struck a rock, in one of the mid-lake channels, a rock that has been for years at a safe distance below the keel of a steamer of the heaviest draught on the lake. The captain remarked that it was "fully fifteen years since he had struck that same rock —it had never moved." A considerable number of buoys are out of place and need replacing, and painting. The buoys in the channel near Mr. Fisk's cottage, back of Juniper Island, are both out of place, and beneath, even, the present low water, and the boatmen all say that navigation would be safer if they were removed altogether. A stranger in the lake broke a flange off the screw of his yacht, by its coming in contact with one of these submerged buoys. The Superintendent should have them removed, without delay; or, what would be better, have proper buoys, properly placed. It is stated that Overseer Gordon has removed four stop-logs at Buckhorn and Lovesick, and it is expected that this action will effect an improvement in the water level in a few days.

It is said that Mrs. A. L. Davis will be in a position to have a "house-warming" in the course of a couple of weeks. It is expected that within that time her beautiful new summer residence will have been completed.

The Darcy House at Burleigh Falls is being well patronised this season. Mr Darcy, jr., who is in charge of the hotel, is popular with permanent guests and obliging to visitors.

It is stated that the Cottagers' Association, or, at least, some of its officers, have been feeling the cottagers in connection with the erection of a new and much larger pavilion, on another island adjacent to Juniper, so that accommodation, at present refused by the owner of Juniper, may be obtained elsewhere. Mr. Robinson, himself, is genial and obliging, but it not an unusual thing to hear loud complaints from cottagers at the lack of accommodation provided at this central point, whither the lake population naturally gravitates, and, consequently, congregates. It is also said that four islands were obtained for the American Canoe Association several years ago; and the Cottagers' Association will not be neglecting its duty in thoroughly investigating this matter, as no private person would care to meddle with what is the business of the Association. Certainly the unearned increment of Juniper Island were made available for the cottagers they could afford to provide all the accommodation required by the lake dwellers, who interests are the legitimate care of the Cottagers' Association.

Practical Church Union As It Exists Now In Texas

Interesting Letter Tells How Roman Catholic Priest Joined With Other Preachers to Carry Local Option.

A GLORIOUS TWELFTH

Church of St. Paul, the Apostle,
Wylie, Collin County, Texas,
July 23, 1907.

Editor of Examiner, —

Dear Sir, — Apropos of the glorious Twelfth, let me tell you how some of the Celts of this vicinity celebrated. It shows what civilization is doing.

In the afternoon, in the public square in Farmersville, there was a joint debate between a paid representative of the liquor interests, and the anti-saloon association man, who happened, in this case, to be your humble servant. There were not ten Catholics in the audience of three thousand persons, and yet every point made by the priest against the saloon orator, was applauded to the echo. At dinner that day I sat down at the right hand of Mr. James Church, an Orangeman from Londonderry. Opposite me was Dr. Rankin, the editor of the "Christian Advocate," in Dallas, and the leading Methodist minister of the Lone Star State. There were peace and harmony and abundance of good cheer. That same evening in McKinney, the county seat, we had an anti-saloon meeting, which filled the largest auditorium in the city. There was not a Catholic in the house but the priest, for there is not one Catholic family in McKinney. The chairman introduced me with a kindly reference to the Catholic Church, and the men and women present listened with the utmost respect. We closed our celebration by reminding all present that a greater battle than the Boyne was to be fought the next day against the saloon interests. On the 13th the county voted on the local option question. The United Celts of Collin County polled a majority of two thousand seven hundred and thirty-two out of a total of six thousand votes, and killed the saloon and liquor business in this county forever. "The Celt against the saloon," is our watchword; and it means more than "Celt against Celt," in the upward, onward march of men. Suppose you stick this in your paper some place; it may help some of us to hate each other less.

Yours truly,
(Rev.) PATRICK J. MURPHY.

THE EXCURSION A SUCCESS

Pleasant Outing on Saturday Under the Auspices of the Sons of England to Idyl Wyld

A VERY ENJOYABLE TRIP

The twenty-first annual excursion under the joint auspices of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, No. 25, and Lady Lansdowne, No. 22, was held on Saturday afternoon, a slight change being made in the programme this year, and a half day was arranged, instead of the usual whole day outing. The steamer Otonabee, which had been chartered for the occasion, carried between two and three hundred passengers to Idyl Wild, leaving the city at two, and arriving at the destination at five. A couple of hours were pleasantly spent on the island, where tea was served, and a delightful sail home in the evening was taken. The members of the committee, of which the chairman was Mr. W. Taylor, and the secretary Mr. A. Kingscotte, did everything in their power to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the excursionists. The crew of the steamer, too, were most courteous, and the service on the boat excellent, only words of praise being heard for the company's officials.

The success of this trip was so marked that it is probable that others may be held during the summer.

AN UNCLE OF ONE OF THE VICTIMS

Mr. Batiste Larocque in Toronto—His Nephew Drowned in Humber Bay Fatality

The awful accident that occurred on Humber Bay, early on Friday morning, in which nine young men met death from drowning, was brought home to at least one family in this city. Mr. Gordon Larocque, one of the unfortunate young men, was a nephew of Mr. Batiste Larocque, the proprietor of the Montreal House.

His body was found on Saturday morning and Mr. Larocque went up to Toronto the same day. A public funeral was held this morning from the Victoria Presbyterian church, Toronto Junction, for six of the victims. The funeral service of Gordon Larocque was held this morning at nine o'clock, in St. Cecilia's church. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Gallagher, and the remains were afterward's taken to Mount Hope cemetry.

The sad event has cast a gloom over the residents of Toronto Junction, and the whole province shares the grief.

Wants Enforcement Of City's Numerous By-laws

In Open Letter to the Mayor "Taxpayer" Asks Why By-law Respecting Placing Goods and Fruit on the Sidewalk is Not Enforced

Dear Sir, — I would like you to answer a few questions, as the head of our municipal government.

Among the many bylaws that are not being enforced, two of them stand out prominently, and affect the public more than the rest. I allude to the one affecting fruit and vegetable vendors, and the placing of their wares on the sidewalks; and to the one prohibiting the burning of rubbish and other filthy matter in the back yards. In the former some latitude is allowed, but subject to certain restrictions, which ought to be strictly enforced, if for no other reason than our sidewalks are already too narrow for traffic; while in the latter the nuisance has become intolerable. I want to particularly emphasize the fact that while some either obey the law voluntarily, or are compelled to do so, others are allowed to break the law with impunity. In common with others I would like to know the reason for this discrimination. Having on your payroll a retinue of policemen and a health officer to enforce the laws, why is it not done? Have they instructions to look the other way, or do they do it of their own accord? I with others voted you into power; what do you propose doing to deserve a continuance of our support? Awaiting your answer, I am dear sir,

Sincerely yours,

TAXPAYER.

Mayor Wants Uniform System Of Numbers

A Statement Issued by Chief Magistrate in Connectiod With Present Abortion in Street Numbering and Lettering.

A REMEDY PROPOSED

At the meeting of the Board of Works last week the question of the revision of the street numbering, in view of the introduction of the mail delivery, came up for discussion but was not then ready for publication. On being asked to give the plans of the council in this respect so that they may be open for discussion among the public, the Mayor has submitted the following statement:

With the introduction of a mail delivery it becomes of great importance that the city should have a complete numbering of the houses and that the numbering should be done on some simple, easily understood system and one that is capable of being extended beyond the present limits of the city without substantial change. Peterborough has at the present time a very good system of numbering; in fact, there are few places in Canada which have as good a system, but it was laid out before the present outer parts of the city were developed, and in those outer parts there is a total lack of system. The proposal I made at the Board of Works meeting was that we should rectify this trouble and place the street numbering west of Park street and south of Lake street, on a system that would stand, no matter how far out the city may go. To understand the proposed change it is necessary to understand the existing system.

The plan of street numbering now in use was devised almost twenty years ago or, I am informed, Mr. William Langford and Mr. W. H. Moore, then members of the council, and covered in a systematic way all the part of the town included in the original town plot; that is between Lake street and Smith street and between Park street and the river. This portion of the town was laid out for a town site in the original survey and has its base line, George street, running almost due north and south, whereas the outlying portions of the town have been carved out of what was originally laid out in township lots and all the township lines in this county run on a base line about sixteen degrees west of north. Consequently there is on Park street and on Lake street a series of gores and most of the streets end at these streets. The present plan of numbering assumed that all through streets running north and south began at Lake street on a line with the foot of Bethune street, and all these streets number as if beginning at that line. An allowance of forty numbers, is made for each block, with the result that all the streets running north and south cross Hunter street at No. 400, cross Dalhousie street at No. 200 and Dublin street at No. 600. Similarly they cross the intervening streets at even 40's, that is Charlotte street at 320, Simcoe street at 360, Brock street at 440, etc. In the same manner all streets running east and west are assumed to begin at a line parallel to George street lying in the river at such a distance as to make all streets cross George street at No. 160 and subsequently to cross Bethune street at 98, Reid street at No. 480, etc.

The existing system appears to have three defects. Firstly, it would have been better had each block been given fifty or a hundred numbers instead of forty, so that the figures could be more readily remembered and thus more frequently used; secondly, on the streets running north and south the odd numbers are placed on the west side of the street, which is contrary to the almost universal practice; thirdly, the system was not made to apply to short streets, such as Queen street, College street, Division street, etc. The first two of these defects could not be remedied without upsetting the whole numbering and I do not think the advantage to be gained is worth the inconvenience that would be caused. The third defect is one that could easily be remied and should be at the present time. Queen street, for example, should begin at No. 380 at which all of the streets cross Simcoe street, and Division street should begin at No. 560, On the whole, however, the system is an exceedingly good one and can be taken as the base from which to develop the system in the outer portions of the city.

When Ashburnham joined the city and its streets were numbered a system was devised, based on that in use in the town with some improvements. All streets running north and south cross Hunter street east at No. 400, the same as across the river, and also cross Douro street at No. 500, McFarlane street (Norwood Road) at 600, Sophia street at 700 and Maria street at 800. Similarly all the streets running east and west are assumed to begin at a line in the river parallel to Concession street and number to the east, reaching Concession street at No. 200, Mark street at No. 100 and Rogers street at No. 160.

When Park street is reached the numbers are continued or begun in such a way as to lose altogether the advantages of the system. Owing to the different angle of the western portion of the city streets, like Sherbrooke, Charlotte, Hunter and McDonel, which continue west of Park, reach that point at different numbers and as they are now numbered without any break there is no parallelism, west of Park street. This may seem of little account at the present time, but when it is remembered that if the city grows the time will come when the greater portion of it will be west of Park street, it will be seen to be of importance that there should be a regular system adopted which would be readily applicable not only as far as the present boundary, but as far west as the city might grow. What I propose is that the streets running across Park street should make a break in the numbering so as to begin the westerly part at an even number, say 400, and that all streets beginning at Park street should begin to number at 400. Keeping practically the same scale of frontage per number the Monaghan Road would be reached at No. 600, and as all the township lines run parallel to the Monaghan Road no subsequent change would be necessary.

In the southern portion of the city a similar system could easily be devised. If Lake street is to be preserved as the base, and this cannot be changed without upsetting the numbering all over the city, then all streets south of Lake street must be numbered as George street south, Aylmer street south, etc. A glance at the map will show that all the southern portion of the town and of the Township of Monaghan to the south is laid out on a regular system of Park Lots, extending as far as Crawford's Grove, and that with the same space per number and a slight adjustment between Lake street and Romaine street, a very simple system could be established. All streets extending below Lake street should number so as to reach Romaine street at No. 100, Lansdowne street at No. 200 and Braidwood Avenue at No. 300, when the city is extended to that line. West of Park street the same system as in the central part of the city would hold.

These changes would provide a regular and simple system throughout the city, with the exception of the part north of Smith street, where the irregularity of the many surveys is so great as to baffle almost any attempt at a system. The publication of a plan of the street numbering would enable it to be of a very great and constant advantage to everybody who has occasion to move about, and especially to those engaged in delivery work.

Salmon Fishing An Important Industry

Interesting Letter From Former Peterborough Boy, From Port Essington, B.C., Near Prince Rupert, Tells of Its Activities.

CATCHING THE FISH

The Examiner to-day received an interesting letter from Mr. John Rose, a former member of this staff, written in Port Essington, B.C., in the heart of the salmon industry district near Prince Rupert, the proposed terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway on the west. The letter deals in an interesting way with the industry which forms the means of sustenance of a majority of the persons living there. It is as follows:

As I am now located on the Skeena River, in the heart of the salmon canning industry, I thought it might be of some interest to your readers to give you a slight description of the village of Essington and of the canning operations carried on in the vicinity.

This town has what might well be called a floating population. In summer the inhabitants number about 3,000, of which fully ninety per cent. are Siwash Indians, with a sprinkling of Japs and Chinese; no Hindoos as yet having invaded this portion of British Columbia, as it is rather too far north for their temperament.

There are three canneries located in the village, one of them, the Balmoral, being in all probability the largest cannery in the province. Here one may see scows loaded with thousands of the finest sockeye salmon in the world. These barges are towed by tugs, which steam over the fishing grounds every day gathering in the salmon from the lakes for replenishing with fry the waters of the Skeena.

Much competition exists between the Japs and Indians for "high boat" for the week. An old Indian informed me that the Japs will chip in with twenty or thirty fish each to give one of their number the honour of "high man."

Port Essington is a typical northern British Columbia Indian village. The main street is supported on piling and is shaped after the manner of a double S. The houses are built anywhere, sometimes in each other's yards and each has its own little elevated sidewalk joining the main thoroughfare.

The Sun office is built after the same manner as the houses and has its own little private sidewalk. Up to about an hour ago I had an audience of half a dozen little half-clad Siwashes pressing their noses against my window looking at the "paper man."

Daylight at present lasts till after 10 p.m.

The fish are thrown from the scows upon endless carries fitted with boxes which carry their contents into the cannery and empty the salmon upon the floor. Here Chinamen, armed with razor-like knives, seize hold of the fish, lop off the fins, head and tail, rip them up and shove them across a table to many Indian women, who clean and scrape them and pass the fish over to a machine called the "Iron Chink," which slices them to small pieces. These pieces are then placed in trucks by Chinamen and drawn over to the filling tables, where hundreds of Indian women and boys fill the cans, which are first sprinkled with a little salt. Little girls then place pieces of tin on the top of the contents to keep the solder from getting into the salmon. The tins are placed about six inches apart on an endless chain, which carries them to the capping machine, which places the covers on the cans. From there they travel to the soldering machine, which seals the tops. After going through another machine, which sprays water on the cans, the salmon is placed in big crates and taken to the huge steam retorts, where they are placed for a short time and thoroughly cooked. After being taken from the cooker they are cooled off and Chinamen go over the tins with a little spiked hammer. At each blow a sharp jet of water and steam shoots from the top of the cans. The tins are then soldered up awain and after a final testing by an expert, who goes over the tins carefully and picks out the leaks; the ones which successfully pass this test being stacked up in tiers ready for labelling and export.

At present the fishing is fine, the number of salmon already caught in this locality exceed last year's total pack, many boats getting as high as 400 and 500 fish on an evening. Canneries are paying 10 cents for sockeyes, and 20 cents for spring salmon, which are much larger than the former. In cannery-owned boats the canneries take one-third profit, while the two fishermen share alike. $300 and $309 a month is the wages some of the men make, while others make even more.

Two large salmon hatcheries are being established at Babine and Stewart

A DISASTROUS FIRE ON A STEAMBOAT

Women and Children Lose Their Lives on Cayuga Lake.

CREW'S GALLANT CONDUCT

Male Passengers Made Rush for Boats —Fire Started In Engine-Room While In Mid-Lake — Victims Thought to Have Leaped Overboard—Bodies Have All Been Recovered Near the Shore.

Auburn, N.Y., July 29.—The steamboat Frontenac was burned and beached opposite Farley's Point, on Lake Cayuga, yesterday, and nine lives were lost. The unfortunates were all women and children passengers, and all were drowned. Several other passengers were severely burned before the boat could be beached. She lies burned and blackened in seven feet of water. The bodies of the victims have been recovered, and the injured are being cared for at the homes of persons near the scene of the wreck.

The steamer Frontenac, an old sidewheeler, double-deck craft, which had plied between Ithuca and Cayuga, on Lake Cayuga, for the past 23 years, left the former place yesterday afternoon for the upper lake points, carrying 50 passengers and a crew of 12 men.

In mid-lake fire broke out in the engine-room. Fanned by a stiff northeast wind, it spread quickly to the after section of the boat. The crew behaved bravely and fought the flames at first. Then seeing that nothing could save the boat, they turned all their attention to the passengers. Life-preservers were put on everyone who could be found in the short time given, but despite their efforts nine women and children perished. Captain Brown directed this work, and was the last to leave the burning boat.

The strong contrast with the coolness and courage of the crew was the panic, and, in some instances, cowardice, of many of the men passengers. In their efforts to save themselves, they seriously impeded the work of the crew and endangered the lives of everyone on the steamer. This is according to the statements of th crew.

It is not known how the nine women and children were thrown into the water. It is thought, however, that in terror they either jumped into the water as tho boat neared the shore, or were forced overboard in the rush to get into the boats that put off. The bodies were recovered near shore.

Struck by Lightning.

Brockville, July 29.—A cottage occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Hackett of Ogdensburg, at Thompson's Point, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Mrs. Hackett, who was standing in the kitchen, near the stove, was thrown down by a bolt of lightning. Every pin was drawn from her hair by the electricity.

GREAT TRIAL ENDED HAYWOOD FREE

Boise Jury Acquit Him of Steunenberg Murder.

AFFECTING SCENE IN COURT

Judge's Charge Favored the Defence —Orchard's Evidence Discredited— Jury Out All Night—Moyer and Pettibone to Be Tried—Haywood Returns Thanks — Verdict Causes Surprise In Idaho.

Boise, Idaho, July 29.—William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners is not guilty of the murder of Governor Frank Steunenberg.

The verdict of the jury was rendered at 7.58 a.m. yesterday, after an all-night session.

The court proceedings were very brief. After he had taken his seat on the bench Judge Wood said:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?"

"We have," said Thomas B. Gess, juror number one, who had been elected foreman.

He handed an envelope to the judge, who handed it to the clerk, who read the verdict.

The prisoner's attorneys jumped to their feet and slapped Haywood on the back and all tried to grasp his hands at once.

Judge Wood ordered Haywoods' discharge, and said that at 10 a.m. today he would fix the time for the trials of Moyer and Pettibone.

The jury stood deadlocked at 10 to 2 most of the night and ballots were taken at frequent intervals. On the very first ballot taken after the jury retired, the vote was eight for not guilty, three for murder and one undecided. Then the undecided man went over to the majority. One by one the members of the minority were won over until just before daybreak an agreement was reached.

The first intimation that a verdict had been reached came shortly after 7 o'clock and word immediately was sent to the attorneys and the newspaper correspondents that the jury was about to come in. Judge Wood was the first to reach the court-room, and he was followed quickly by the attorneys. At 7.45 Haywood was brought in and took his seat by the side of his counsel. A minute later the jury filed in and a few minutes later the verdict was rendered.

Governor Gooding was in the court-room when the verdict was rendered. He had nothing to say and left in company with James W. Hawley, leading counsel for the state.

Haywood thanked each one of the jurors in turn and told them if they came to Denver there would be a warm reception for them at the Haywood home.

E. F. Richardson of counsel for the defence said: "We have had a fair trial. Idaho may indeed be proud of herself."

It was four minutes past 11 o'clock Saturday morning when the jury, after receiving instructions, which were said by many to favor the defendant, retired to deliberate.

When the luncheon and the dinner hours arrived, the jurors, many of them well along to 70 years of age, were escorted to the house, where they have made their home since the trial commenced.

The court proceedings were over, the prisoner was discharge and the jury dismissed in less than three minutes.

Leaving the court-room with Attorney Nugent, Haywood walked to the jail portion of the building, shaking hands as he went with guards, employes and friends. He bade farewell to Moyer, who, when he heard the verdict, said: "That's good," and to Pettibone, whom Darrow described to the jury as a "sort of 'Happy Hooligan,' and who called, "give my regards to Broadway." Then he walked to St. Luke's Hospital and rushed into his mother's room. Next Haywood went to the little cottage where his wife and daughters have been staying. He had to enquire his way. Once home, Hayward said: "I want to thank the people of Boise for their kindness to my wife, my mother, my family and my friends."

There has been widespread sympathy for Mrs. Carruthers, Senator Borah, when first apprised of the verdict, said: "I feel glad for Haywood's mother."

The verdict was received in Boise with general surprise. Expectation was that there would be a disagreement.

Samuel D. Gilman, the last juryman to be won over to the defence, declared that a majority of the jurors seemed convinced that the general tone of the court's instructions indicated that the defendant should be freed.

James Robertson, the good-natured Scotchman at whose house in Boise Governor Steunenberg boarded for more than two years, said: "I could not reconcile myself to voting any other way than with the defence from the very first, and I think that under the law and the evidence there was nothing else for us to do. There was some talk of a compromise on a second degree verdict, but it had to be acquittal or I would have stayed there forever."

New Battleship Launched.

Portsmouth, July 29.—The battleship Bellerophon, another Dreadnought, was launched here Saturday afternoon by Princess Henry of Battenberg.

The new warship has a tonnage of 18,600, which is 700 more than the Dreadnought, and she embodies a number of improvements gained as a result of the Dreadnought's trials.

The Temeraire, the third ship of this class, will be launched the latter part of August.

Portage la Prairie, July 29.—James MacPhelim, a Scotchman in the employ of the G.T.P. Railway, was drowned in a small pond on the farm of Thomas Sissons.

May Repeal Scott Act.

Ottawa, July 29.—A vote for the repeal of the Scott Act will be taken in Cape Breton on Aug. 15.

CAPITAL, 500,000 SHARES—PAR VALUE $1.00 PER SHARE

15c FULLY PAID AND NON-ASSESSABLE 15c

First allottment of 50,000 Shares at Fifteen Cents per Share

Our Option on this small block of Underwriters' Stock expires August 3rd, 1907—Subscriptions Post-marked at later date will be returned

Do you realize that investments of a hundred or a thousand will grow rapidly into hundreds and thousands and millions of dollars? The over-conservative and skeptical will smile—they will laugh at these predictions, some will even consider this a joke—but remember COBALT, if you please, two or three years ago? Then it was a "vision," it was a "dream," "a flash in the pan," "a bubble," somebody Was "crazy"; bu now it is different. Those crazy men are now classed among the smart and keenest business men of the day. The actual value of a few mines are worth at the present date more than one hundred millions of dollars. These are facts.

In presenting this investment for subscription we appeal to the good judgement of sensible persons as to its merit.

It embodies, we believe, a correct method of developing and establishing successful and paying mining enterprises.

We desire to conduct, first of all a successful Mine Developement. We intend this to be done in a way that will be absolutely fair and honest, and bring the largest profit possible to those who co-operate with us.

We, therefore, desire this proposition to be well understood by investors. We wish it to be known just how we propose to develope, establish and operate dividend paying Mining Companies by and through this investment.

THE PLAN.—The plan involved in this proposition is that of uniting or consolidating the investments of a limited number of persons into one sum, and under one management, to be used in acquiring and developing mining properties in this wonderful region.

THE PRINCIPLE involved in this investment we believe, is one of absolute fairness to all interested. The "promotion interest" common to all mining companies, and which is the great unfair feature to investors who put their money into stocks of these companies, and whose money develops and makes the mine, if a mine is developed—does not exist in this proposition. There is no "promotion interest set aside, and against the interest bought and paid for by the investors.

In this proposition the investors, and all the investors, become promotors. They take the "promotion interest" and all the interest. They own the whole enterprise. No matter how large or how small the investment—all stand on an equal basis. Our field of operation is probably one of the greatest, and without doubt the richest, mineralized region in the world.

For its basis, upon which we will establish and build us several great producing, paying mining companies, we will exploit and develop in a mining-like and careful manner exclusive mining properties now known to us, other properties which we may acquire for the mutual benefit of all investors in this Company.

SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES.—The Larder Lake Exploration and Development Comany will incorporate a series, not to exceed five, of Subsidiary Mining Companies upon only the real proven properties acquired.

In each and every subsidiary Company incorporated, whether Mining, Milling, Smelting, Water Power, or Electric Light, the Exploration Company will take 90 per cent. of the capital stock of each Company so incorporated, and will put 10 per cent. of the Capital Stock of each Company in its treasury. It will probably never become necessary to sell any of this Treasury Stock.

Out of the total Capital Stock of each Subsidiary Company, the EXPLORATION COMPANY will retain 50 per cent. as its "Holding Stock." This will always control the Company. It will take and hold 40 per cent. for the mutual benefit of all stockholders in the EXPLORATION COMPANY. This 40 per cent will be known as "Selling Stock," and as a market is created it will be sold, and the proceeds received will be distributed pro rata to the stockholders in the EXPLORATION COMPANY, as their interests may appear.

The stock of the Subsidiary Companies will be inlisted on the New York Curb and Mining Exchanges of the country, and started at 50 cents a share, where it can be bought and sold according to the daily market quotations. This will afford a channel by which stockholders can sell the 40 per cent. "Selling Stock" from time to time, if they wish.

PROPERTIES. — Many different mining properties will be acquired and developed as stock in the EXPLORATION COMPANY, is subscribed for. All properties will be described, and reports submitted regarding same, as soon and as often as they can be examined by the engineer.

The mining properties that will be acquired for this proposition will be located in the gold and silver belt, extending from the Montreal River through Northern Ontario, eastward into Quebec, and will include properties in the Lady Evelyn District, the new Montreal River Silver District, Cobalt District, and the gold districts around Round Lake, Larder Lake, Lake Abitibi, and in the great undeveloped mineralized section of Quebec lying just east of Larder Lake and extending northward to Lake Abitibi.

We shall try and make every dollar count, and make as few mistakes as possible. We hope to create such an interest in this enterprise with investors, that will result in extensive and widespread co-operation.

Under this plan no one can truthfully say that it is not a great mining investment. We want every investor to feel a personal interest in this Mine Development. The investors in this Company will own this enterprise, and we want them to co-operate with us and our associates to make it a great success.

We are now organizing THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY with what we consider sufficient capital ($500,000). We now have options on, and propose to acquire five distinct and separate properties which will be incorporated at $100,000 each (100,000 shares—par value $1.00). The Exploration Company will at all times hold a controlling interest in each of these companies, so that sixty per cent. of the dividends earned and declared will be paid into the treasury of the parent company, and the other forty per cent. distributed among the stockholders on record. This in our opinion will enable us to pay dividends and large ones in the very near future.

The Board of Directors of THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY will be composed only of engineers of national repute, setting a precedent in this line—Mr. Robert Morton will be president, which fact in itself guarantees conservative and able management

Investors have been pouring their money into over capitalized mining companies, they have been plunging about wildly in the hope of some day "striking it rich" never stopping to think for one instant that the greater part of their money never reaches the ground, as a rule 75 per cent. of the money invested in stock schemes goes into the broker's hands. He pays his salesmen 20 to 50 per cent. on every dollar turned in, he must get his own commission and engineers must be paid.

We never had associated with us a stock salesman we require no commission and our engineers will be our directors, so that every dollar invested with us on this proposition will be honestly used in the purchasing and development of the different properties.

We are now offering for subscription the first allottment of stock in THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY—every hundred shares entitles the holder to forty shares of stock in each of the subsidiary companies to be incorporated, making in all 200 shares of stock in five separate companies, which, as soon as development work is started and dividends announced, will make the stock of the Larder Lake Exploration and Development Company almost invaluable. This first allottment of only 50,000 shares ($1.00 par value) will probably be largely over-subscribed in a few days.

The next allottment will be put out Sept 25, 1907, at 75c per share or higher.

This price (15c.) will positively be withdrawn Aug. 3, 1907. If this allottment is over-subscribed remittances will be promptly returned. Checks, drafts and money orders must accompany all applications and be made payable to the financial agents.

Interim certificates will be promptly returned to subscribers. The stock certificates of the Company representing the shares purchased will be issued and delivered as soon as allottment can be made, after the 3rd of August, to all subscribers who purchase at the first underwriting price prior to that date.

Don't wait! Be wise! Act NOW! NOW IS THE TIME! Here is an opportunity that excels that which you had two or three years ago at Cobalt. Perhaps you will say as you did then, "How do we know they have got any silver up there? Perhaps you say now "How do you know there is any gold at Larder Lake?"

SON'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Shoots Brothers and Sisters at Father's Death-Bed.

Versailles, France, July 29.—Henry H. Huntington, son of Douglass St. George Huntington, former attache of the American embassy in Paris, was arrested here last night on the charge of shooting his two sisters and one of his brothers. The condition of the sisters was said to be serious.

The tragedy occurred at the bedside of the father, who was dying. Henry had returned to ask his father's forgiveness after having been estranged from his parents for some time past. Mr. Huntington, Sr., was suffering from pulmonary consumption, and as it was believed that he was near death a telegram was despatched to Henry to return. The latter hurried to the beside, around which were grouped the weeping wife, the daughters, Edith and Elizabeth, and the sons, Alonzo and Douglass.

Henry pleaded for forgiveness for the sorrow he had caused, and had received his father's blessing, when Douglass requested him to seek the pardon of his mother also. This Henry declined to do, and thereupon Alonzo asked him to leave the room.

According to the police, Henry drew out a revolver and fired at Alonzo. He then wheeled and shot both his sisters and his brother Huntington, and endeavored to make his escape. He was captured, however, by a guard who ran into the house to investigate the cause of the shooting.

Mr. Huntington, Sr., who is 60 years of age, survived the shock of the tragic scene, but at midnight was sinking rapidly and was not expected to survive the night. The sister, Elizabeth, is dying from a wound over the heart.

Imprisonment for Life.

Bialystoke, Russia, July 29.—The District Court on Saturday handed down sentences in the cases of the men placed on trial for complicity in the anti-Jewish attacks here during the month of June, 1906. The trial of these individuals has been postponed many times.

The court sentenced a man named Demyanovitch to eight years' hard labor in the mines, and four other men were given life terms of imprisonment.

Douks to Be Arrested.

Winnipeg, July 29.—The wandering Doukhobors who left Swan River some two weeks ago, about 300 miles northwest of Winnipeg, arrived in the neighborhood of the city last night.

Hundreds of people drove out to Portage avenue to meet them.

Mayor Ashdown has issued orders to have them arrested as vagrants as soon as they reach the city.

Cobourg Won Great Game By Bunching Hits On Quinlan

Locals Lost Through Their Inability to Hit Downs at Opportune Times---Feature of the Contest Was Work of Burge in Centrefield---Work of Umpire Weeks Was Quite Unsatisfactory

Superior base-running and bunched hitting enabled Cobourg to win from the locals by six runs to two at the Riverside Ball Yards on Saturday afternoon, and, as a result, sent the homesters sliding down the chute to third place.

The game on the week-end was easily the best of the season. It was fast and exciting at all stages, and the five hundred fans in the stands all went away satisfied that they had got their money's worth, even though the locals did lose. The visitors were the best exponents of the diminond game seen here for some time, and how that Port Hope outfit manages to put it over them is a mystery, for, on their showing here Saturday, they should be able to put it on Blake Crawford's cluster of stars any place and about six times a week.

It was certainly a busy day for the guardians of the initial cushion. Turpin had 17 chances, while Graham had 15, most of which were quite difficult to handle. There was considerable loose fielding, which was partly due to the heavy wind, which made it hard for the gardeners to judge fly balls.

"Prunes" Quinlan was put on the plateau by Manager Johnston to do the heaving for the locals. He pitched splendid ball for seven of the nine innings, being all but invincible. He slipped badly in the sixth and eighth sessions, when the visitors got seven of the eight safeties credited to them, and sent runs enough over the plate to win.

Leo Downs, who uses the sidewheel delivery, was on the mound for the invaders, and his serpentine twisters had the locals all tied up in knots, and in only two innings did they accumulate more than one single off his twirling. Besides his fine work on the rubber, Downs also gunched out three of the eight hits credited to his team.

A regrettable feature of the contest was in the second innings, when the umpire called Burge out at first. Dwyer run out to dispute his decision, and Graham, who made the putout, tossed the sphere back to pitcher, and, in doing so, the ball quite accidentally hit Dwyer, who ran in front of it. The hot-headed second-baseman thought it was done purposely, for he picked up the ball and threw it at Graham, hitting him on the knee, and, as a result, there was considerable excitement for a few minutes.

In the fourth session, Tommy Bulger was hit on the head with a pitched ball by Quinlan when he was trying to purloin second, and was forced to retire, Harcourt taking his place.

The fielding features of the contest were two running catches by Burge, the visitors' centre fielder, and the work of T. Burns around the difficult corner. The batting honours went to Downs, who had three hits out of four times up. Gorney Burns and Tommy Burns were a close second, with two each.

Umpire Weeks of Bowmanville was inaccurate in his decisions the greater part of the afternoon. His work on the bases was poor, and in calling balls and strikes he was rank, but didn't show any favours to either team, and both suffered alike.

Cobourg bagged the game in the sixth session. J. Bulger, the first man up, singled to centre and went second when Graham let Quinlan's throw to catch the runner napping get away from him. Dwyer was out, Cheatham to Graham. Floyd hit to Quinlan, who made a wild throw to first. Graham threw to Burrage to catch Bulger coming home, but the throw was late. Then Burrage threw to third to catch Floyd, but there was no one on the bag, and the spheroid went to the fence. T. Burns tripled to centre, Harcourt fanned, but Downs singled to right, scoring Burns. Burge grounded to Quinlan. Three runs.

The visitors were retired in one, two, three order in the seventh, but in the eighth, with one down, Floyd singled, and Burns, who came next, did likewise. Harcourt, Bulger's substitute, doubled to centre, scoring Floyd and Burns. Downs walloped the leather to right for two customs, and Harcourt scored. Downs went out trying to purloin third. Burge was hit by a pitched ball, but McKinnon ended the chapter by grounding to Quinlan. Three runs.

The locals threw away a number of chances to score by poor base-running and rank coaching, and also by being unable to hit Downs when hits meant runs. In the second, with one down, Haliburton got a life on Turpin's slip-up and went to second on Callaghan's sacrifice. Graham tingled, and Haliburton was held on third when he had plenty of time to score. Graham stole second, but Quinlan's best contribution was a long fly to centre.

The boys in the blue and white got their first run in the fifth. Quinlan got a life on Turpin's fumble, but was run down trying to steal second. Flaherty was out, Dwyer to Turpin. Burns got first when Turpin dropped Burns' throw, and took second when Dick was thinking about pitching it. Cheatham's grounder was fumbled by Turpin, and Burns scored from second by good running. Burridge fanned. One run.

A couple more good chances for scores were thrown away in the sixth and seventh sessions.

The homesters rallied in the ninth, but it was too late. With one down, Graham was safe on Burn's bad throw to first. Quinlan doubled to centre, advancing Graham to third. Flaherty flied out to Downs. Burns singled, scoring Graham, but Cheatham ended the game by going out, Burns to Turpin.

FACTORY WARD WILL HAVE A STRONG NINE

A Determined Effort to Bring the Championship South Next Year

While it is rather premature to refer to what may be done next summer in the Intermediate Baseball League, there is an understanding among the players in the south end to have but one team representing that part of the city and a united attempt will be made to cinch the pennant. This year there were two teams from the south which did each other more harm than they combined did to the other teams. (Next summer a team will it is expected be organized, under a new name, it will be placed under the best of management and if the cup does not lodge in the factory ward there will be many missing. The League should be strengthened all around next year and a more successful season is bound to result.

BASEBALL AND LACROSSE IN TORONTO ON SATURDAY

Kelly's Pets Win a Double Header—Querrie's Braves Defeated by Shamrocks

The Toronto ball club advanced a little in the Eastern League by defeating Rochester in a double-header by the same score in each game, 9-3. Jacobson, the new left-hand twirler, secured by Toronto from Boston, made a good beginning by winning his first game. Applegate was on the slab for Toronto in the second contest. A large crowd saw the games. These wins make Toronto's position in the race a little stronger.

Those who expected the Tecumseh Lacrosse Club to turn the tables on the Shamrocks in the game at the Island, Toronto, on Saturday, were disappointed, for the Irishmen repeated the trick of a week ago and squelched for the present the Indians' hopes for the headership to the Union. The final scores was 4-3, and at one time the Shamrocks were leading by 4-2. According to reports it was one of the best games ever witnessed, and the 10,000 spectators who filled the grounds was an ecora-breaking attendance at an athletic event in Ontario. The Shamrock win is popular in the eastern towns.

Interesting games were played on Friday and Saturday at the Brookside bowling lawn, the following being the scores as posted in the club house:

Mr. Medd vs W. O'Brien.

The following are scheduled for the 30th:

Mr. McIlroy vs R Waddell.
D Bellegham vs Mr Cox.
Mr Ferguson vs Dr McClelland.
A H Stratton vs Dr McKinnon.

The Port Hope bowlers who were to have played here on Wednesday, have sent word that it will be impossible for them to come on that date.

The members of the executive are reminded of the meeting of that committee to-night at the office of Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald.

TO GIVE A CONCERT AT CHEMONG PARK

To-night a concert will be given in the Pavillion at Chemong, when a good programme will be presented. It will consist of songs, readings and recitations by all known local artists, and will be well worth hearing. A special bus service has been arranged and parties from the city wishing to attend can return after the concert.

At the City Hall

This afternoon a Finance Committee meeting was held at 2.30 o'clock and this evening the Board of Works and the Property Committee will meet before the council meeting, at eight o'clock. The Charity Board will also hold a meeting this evening, so that the city hall will be a busy spot to-night.

Regular Meetings

The services at Mark street Methodist church this week will be as follows:—Regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting on Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Brisbin, 370 Burnham street. On Sunday next in connection with the communion service the Love Feast will begin at 10 o'clock.

Error Corrected

In Thursday's issue of last week, in the Board of Works' report, an error was made in reference to the payment of a doctor's bill by the city. It should have said that Mr. Hammond, who was under foreman Mr. R. Tivey, in the work of the diversion of the East City creek, was injured, and that his doctor's bill would be paid by the city.

New Chestnut Team

Mr. P. F. Boland, proprietor of the Simcoe street cab livery, successor to Mr. P. Grady, purchased a fine team of chestnuts, which he has added to his stable, and will be used for general work, funerals, weddings and pleasure parties. They were bought from Mr. W. Fanning of Lindsay, and with one of those new cabs should make a good appearance.

Mrs. M. Coughlin, Gilmour street, and daughter, Miss Mary, have returned from an extended visit with relatives in Buffalo. While there, Mrs. Coughlin had the great pleasure, at a private recital, of hearing Mr. John Ball, the eminent tenor of Buffalo, who is a native of Peterborough, where he has relatives, is well known, and has many friends. Mr. Ball is not only a first-rate singer, with a tenor voice of fine quality, but a pianist of ability, and an excellent teacher of voice building and training. On the same occasion was heard an exceptionally talented pupil of Mr. Ball, a young Italian soprano, Signorina Morgana, who has a remarkably brilliant voice, finely developed under competent cultivation methods. It is probable that the coming season, Mr. Ball and Signorina Morgana will be heard in concert in Peterborough. Those who know Mr. Ball will appreciate the treat in store for them if Mr. Ball and his talented pupil appear in the city.

Cylinders Broken In The New Fire Engine

While at Work in Lakefield on Saturday—Did Not Prevent Her Working, However — Operated Five Hours.

VIBRATION THE CAUSE

The new fire engine recently purchased, was given its first test in actual work on Saturday at the Lakefire fire, when it was in continuous operation for practically five hours. The special train with the engine on board arrived at the scene of the fire before six o'clock, and was soon put into commission. Speaking generally, the engine worked satisfactorily, the only exception being that two valves in the water cylinders, one in each, were broken, shortly after the engine was started. It did not however prevent its operation. The breaking of the valves does not necessarily indicate any inferiority in the engine, since it is stated that they are liable to break at any time under severe vibration.

It is probable that this is the cause of the breakage of the engine. The foundation on which it was resting was not secure and when the work had been finished the whiffletrees were broken in pulling the engine out of the hole into which it had worked itself.

It is a somewhat significant fact that the first time the engine should be placed at work at a fire should have been to relieve the distress of a neighbouring municipality.

TROUBLES OF A LADY AIRED IN COURT

Young Man Charged With Indecent Assault, Proved Satisfactory Alibi

A PITIFUL TALE TOLD

Mrs. Perry, a young married Englishwoman, told a story at the Police Court this morning which apparently incriminated a youth, whom she had charged as the guilty party, but from his evidence, and that of his employer and fellow workmen, Mrs. Perry had made a mistake, and the court dismissed the case. At the same time, some man who is the real offender is at liberty, and every effort should be made to bring him before the court.

Mrs. Perry, who is but a young woman, was waiting at the C. P. R. station on July 2 for the train from Toronto, expecting some friends to arrive. A young man passed her several times, and then accosted her, asking her to go for a walk with him. In her evidence she said that she told him she was married, but believing him to be an Old Countryman, she started off with him. They went west on the C.P.R. to Park street, and then south. Witness said that she has been in this country only five weeks. She attended Canterbury Road School in London, and thought she recognized in this young man one of her old school-mates. He answered her questions as if he were well acquainted with England. Her real friend, who was a clergyman, came out on the same boat with her, and even about the voyage he seemed to speak knowingly.

Real Character

The couple walked to the Driving Park and turned east. Near her he revealed his true character, and, by vile language, showed his evil mind. She subdued him after striking him in the face and he returning the blow and pulling the sleeve out of her coat.

To Mr. Kerr she said she knew it was not her clergyman friend when he used the filthy language, as her friend would not so degrade himself. She returned to the C.P.R. station just as the train was arriving at noon, being a little late. Four hours later she went to Lakefield to work, and remained there a fortnight. She returned on the 16th, and on the 19th saw the young man on the streets and told her husband about him. She told the police last Monday, so she said, chiefly because she could not wear her coat any more.

Defence

The defence showed conclusively that the young man was working at the time in question on a new house in East City and could not possibly be the guilty party. The alibi satisfied the court, and the man was honourably discharged.

WAS SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL ON SATURDAY

On Saturday morning, at the market, Mr. John B. Shafe, painter and wagon maker, was taken suddenly ill and required medical attendance. The Dan Spence ambulance made a quick run to the place and removed Mr. Shafe to his home on Pearl avenue. Dr. Malcolm McCulloch was called, and attended him, his condition being quite serious.

THE FLORAL SERVICE ENJOYED

Interesting Service at the Park Street Baptist Church Yesterday—Flowers For the City's Sick

Flower Sunday was duly observed at the Park street Baptist church yesterday. The platform was transformed into a beautiful bower and looked charming. Large congregations gathered for the floral services, which were conducted by Rev. A. H. Brace, his morning text being Math. 6; 28: "How they Grow." The different features of the topic dealt with were: "The Conditions of Growth;" "The Beauty of Growth;" "The Value of Growth." The lessons taught by the flowers were emphasized.

The flowers were sent to homes of suffering and willing hands carried them to 8 sick beds in homes and to the hospitals.

Right to the Point!

The following letter has been received by the District Manager of the Canada Life which explains itself.

S. E. SALLS, Esq.,
DISTRICT MANAGER,
The Canada Life Assurance Company,
TORONTO

PORT PERRY, ONT., April 15, 1905.

MY DEAR SIR:—

I yesterday received Bonus Addition Certificate from the Canada Life Assurance Company amounting to the handsome sum of $382.65 being the profits on my $1000 policy and in writing you at the present time, I wish to express my gratification in having nearly $1000 more insurance than when I took out my policy in 1899.

With only three more payments to make I find the Limited Payment Life Policy ever so much more satisfactory than any other as under my policy all the premiums will be paid while I am yet under forty years of age and I have an insurance in the Canada Life which will be largely increased in amount, and particularly so, as life expectancy is nearly thirty years.

I think I have a right to feel pleased with the result of my insurance and investment in the Canada Life.

With best wishes,
Yours truly,
W. G. MONET.

The Alleged Pickpockets

Some Damaging Evidence Yesterday G. T. R. Conductor Testifies P. C. Newhall's Cross-Examinatio

Another Link Added To Chain Of Evidence In Pick-pocket Case

Conductor Charles Mitchell, of G. T. R. Train From Toronto, Testified That the Four Prisoners Came to Peterborough Together on Circus Day From Toronto ---Not Sure About Bradford---Detectives Had Records and Measurements of the Men to Which Defence Objected

P. C. NEWHALL'S EVIDENCE REMAINS UNSHAKEN

The court room in the county buildings was again crowded yesterday afternoon, when the trial of the four alleged pickpockets was resumed. His Honour Judge Weller, who is hearing the evidence, and will pass judgment on the accused, was present, entering shortly after the four men were escorted to the prisoners' box. Bradford and Lewis were handcuffed together, and Phelps was handcuffed to Goldfarb. Phelps does not show the interest in the proceedings that he formerly manifested, while his companions, especially Bradford and Goldfarb, displayed increased concern. The proceedings seemed to wear on the latter's nerves, for he would frequently lean forward and sigh deeply, as if mentally weary of the whole affair. The men were attired as nattily as when first arrested, and they showed no outward sign of their month's confinement. The feature of the afternoon session was the rigid examination that P. C. Newhall was subjected to by the counsel for the defence, especially Mr. D. O'Connell, who, with Mr. Gordon, is representing Lewis and Bradford. Mr. Kerr is acting in behalf of Phelps and Goldfarb. There was also some new evidence offered by the prosecution, Conductor Charles Mitchell, of the G. T. R., stating that he had seen the men together coming from Toronto, and that one of them had tried to get through without buying a ticket, but his game was forestalled by the conductor, whose long service has skilled him in remembering faces. Detectives Greer and Anderson gave their testimony, which was more for the purpose of identifying them than of proving anything about the case in question. At six o'clock an adjournment was called, and the hearing was enlarged until Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The fate of the prisoners will be settled on Thursday or Friday, County Crown Attorney Wood is conducting the prosecution.

Mr. Charles Mitchell, a conductor on the G.T.R. morning train from Toronto, was sworn, and stated that his run is between Peterborough and Port Hope. On the morning of June 25 his train left Toronto about 7.55 and among the passengers were three men, whom the witness recognized as Lewis, Phelps and Goldfarb. He was not sure that Bradford was there, but he thought he had seen him sleeping in one of the coaches. The first three, he said, were together in the smoking car. They got off at Peterborough. Witness said that Chief Rogers had shown him four photographs, and three of these he had recognized, but was not sure of one of these three, who was either Goldfarb or Lewis.

To Mr. Wood witness related an experience that occurred after the train had left Toronto.

Slick Was Fooled

Witness said he collected two of the men's tickets and gave them checks, which they put in their hats. Shortly after, one passed into a rear coach, and, when witness asked another of the quartette, who was then in a rear coach, he said, "You've got my ticket; there is my check." The conductor told the man, who was Lewis or Goldfarb, he was not quite sure which, that someone had given him the check, and that he must produce his ticket. The man saw that he was cornered, and paid his fare. The witness was not sure, as he said before, which of the men had done this, but he was really a member of the gang. When witness was leaving the box His Honour paid him a pretty compliment on his ability as a conductor, in these words: "They did not know that you had been on that train for so many years, or they might not have tried that game."

Detective Greer

Provincial Detective Greer was the next witness. He stated that he had followed Forepaugh and Sells Bros' circus through seven or eight cities in Western Ontario. He said that he had seen all four in Woodstock and two of them in Stratford. He exhibited a part of a page taken from a hotel register, on which were a number of names. Among them were Phelps' and Bradford's, now familiar names, the former having room No. 8; the latter apparently had no room. Witness did not see them write the names, but compared the writing with the prisoners' signatures, which were obtained on July 3, at the police station.

Mr. F. D. Kerr objected, saying that this was not evidence, that the detective admitted he was not an expert in hand-writing, nor was he familiar enough with the prisoners to be a competent judge.

Continuing, witness said that yesterday morning, in company with Detective Anderson, he interviewed the prisoners individually in the jail corridor. He told each of them that

LOCAL POLICEMAN EFFECTING ARREST OF ALLEGED PICKPOCKETS

P. C. NEWHALL

Whose evidence was taken yesterday in trial of four men charged with being pickpockets

COUNTY GRANT IS $250 A YEAR

This Sum is Given the Children's Aid Society Instead of $75 as Stated at Council Meeting

A statement, made at the meeting of the City Council last night in connection with the Children's Aid Society, calls forth a correction from the president of that organization. It was to the effect that the Society received from the county but $75 a year, and in this connection it was pointed out that the city was, it was believed, paying more than its share. The president, however, to-day states that instead of the county paying but $75 a year, it actually pays $250 a year.

He further points out that it should be remembered, in dealing with the question of providing a new Children's Shelter, that it is not the Society that is being benefitted, but the children, the friendless little ones,

Getting Value For His Money

"I want you to return the $2.00 I paid for that marriage license last night," was the somewhat remarkable request an issuer of marriage licenses in Peterborough received from a young man a few days ago. He had come in the night before for the legal document which, provided he secured the consent of the young lady would give him the right to enter into the state of matrimony. It appears, however, that the course of true love in this case was not running smoothly, for, after having the license over night he made the discovery that it was useless, the woman in the case having changed her mind in the meantime. Asked as to the reason for wanting his money back and the license cancelled he said "The darn thing's no use to me now; she won't have me."

It was explained, though, that he could not get a refund in a deal of that kind, and further, that it was non-transferable, and he went away expressing his disgust at such conditions.

He was found, however, that he was not going to throw away that two dollar bill if he could help it, and, upon being informed that it would be valid if used inside of three months from that date of issue, he hunted up the young lady again, and the latest report is that he succeeded somewhat better in his suit the next time. At any rate he overcame her scruples and they were married a short time ago by a local clergyman.

CATTLE WERE KILLED BY FREIGHT

Mr. Delong of Smith Suffers Loss of a Valuable Cow

A Grand Trunk freight train coming into the city Sunday afternoon, struck and killed two cattle at Swinton's crossing, on the cross road between the first and second lines of Smith. One of them belonging to Mr. Alfred Delong of Smith, was a very valuable animal, and, when struck, had been separated from the remainder of the herd.

The cows were knocked off the track about 60 feet by the engine, but apparently none of their bones were broken, nor was the flesh cut in any way.

AN INVESTIGATION MIGHT HELP

Charge of Delays in Lockages at Kirkfield Lift Lock

The Fenelon Falls Star points out an annoyance prevalent at present at the Kirkfield lift locks. It says—Excursionists and others are complaining of the long delays at the new Kirkfield lift lock, caused by the operators in charge, who keep the boats waiting while they pass among the excursionists offering for sale photographs of the lock, some of the steamers being detained there fully an hour. If this route is to become at all popular with excursionists the government will have to take immediate steps to remedy the causes of complaint. Commenting on the same complaint, the Lindsay Post says, That the complaint is well founded will be admitted by those who patronized the C. M. B. A. excursion to Beaverton the other day.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEE TO PROTECT INTERESTS OF CITY'S RESIDENTS

The formation of a Citizens' Vigilance Committee is being discussed in the city, it is understood, and it is probable that steps will be taken in the near future towards its institution. The men who are at the bottom of the movement claim that the citizens' rights are not being respected, and that, particularly in the matter of the assessment of property and the taxes to be paid on it, they are being bled. This idea however, is not to confine the operations of the committee to this particular question, but to have a general oversight over municipal affairs in the interests of the citizens, in other words to act as a censor upon the actions of the council and the civic officials.

The Wasting Process of Disease

Disease is a tearing down, wasting away and destroying of the tissues of the blood and a shrivelling up of the nerve cells and blood corpuscles. Nature demands assistance to overcome this dreadful waste and the needed help is best supplied by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative.

ANTI-SPITTING ALDERMEN ORDER CUSPIDORS FOR COUNCIL CHAMBER

Not long ago, the City Fathers waged a stout campaign to obtain an anti-spitting bylaw, which was supposed to prevent the citizens from expectorating too freely. Last night these anti-spitters decided to secure one half dozen cuspidors for use in the council chamber, which, of course, will have the tendency to waste considerable saliva. One of the aldermen wanted to spit, but there was only one cuspidor in the chamber, and that happened to be too far distant. There was but a single course left for the alderman—and he had to swallow it—and aldermen do not care to be compelled to swallow anything. When the cuspidors arrive, it will certainly be dangerous to allow any boots to get in the way. Upon Ald. Duncan's suggestion, the chairman of the Property Committee will look after the installation of the brand new half dozen gilt-edged cuspidors.

Brave Somerville Girl Rescued Her Father

Miss Hopkins Saved Her Father From Infuriated Bull—He Was Being Gored and Trampled.

A VERY COURAGEOUS GIRL

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, July 30. — But for the bravery displayed by his young daughter, Mr. Edward Hopkins, one of the best known residents of Somerville township, would undoubtedly have been gored to death by an infuriated bull on his own farm on Monday afternoon. As it was, he was trampled and tossed, sustaining serious injuries, before his daughter was able to drive the bull away.

Mr. Hopkins essayed to drive the animal from a field near the barn to one adjoining. The animal turned on him without warning, knocked him down, and had already trampled him before the daughter became aware of her father's serious position. With true filial devotion and remarkable self possession she ran to her father's aid, with a heavy club, with which she belaboured the bull until he turned tail and ran away.

Mr. Hopkins escaped with a broken rib and a number of painful bruises.

WALKED FROM CHEMONG; CARRIED 25 POUNDS BUTTER IN SIXTY MINUTES

"I can tell you of a performance that beats walking from Chemong in an hour and thirteen minutes all to pieces" said a man in the Best Stove Company on Saturday, and then he proceeded to tell the story which did. This is it—The mother of the man telling the story left home at Chemong at 6 o'clock in the morning, carrying twenty-five pounds of butter, arriving in Peterborough at seven o'clock, exactly an hour. She remained here an hour, leaving for home precisely at nine o'clock, and arrived at her destination in another sixty minutes. She covered the round trip in one hundred and twenty minutes, walking both ways, and resting an hour. That record stands.

Favourable Crop Prospects Reported In United Kingdom

Broomhall's Weekly Crop Summary Indicates an Improved Condition of Affairs in Majority of Countries.

ARE POOR IN RUSSIA

(J. R. Heintz & Co. Special.)

Liverpool, July 30.— Broomhall's weekly foreign crop summary says:

United Kingdom—The favourable weather during the week has caused improvement, and forced harvesting. The first cutting of oats occurred last Saturday, and the prospects are that the cutting will be general next week.

France—All reports are of an improved outlook. Harvesting will begin next week. The importing of wheat for the province is unlikely.

Germany—The weather during the week has been more favourable.

Austria—Recent heavy rains caused much damage to outlying crops.

Bulgaria—New wheat is appearing in small lots and bringing high prices. The prospects for corn have been improved by the recent rains.

Turkey—The outlook on the whole is good, and the yield in some districts will be above expectations.

Russia—The winter wheat crops has been harvesting and is in poor condition. The reports of spring crops are less favourable.

Italy—New wheat is being offered freely.

Sweden—The outlook for the crops shows improvement, but is very backward.

Norway—Reports received are unfavourable.

Important Function Is The Corner Stone Laying

An Epoch in Educational Matters in Peterborough Will be Reached To-morrow — New Collegiate Institute.

THE PUBLIC IS INVITED

To-morrow afternoon the corner stone of the new Collegiate Institute will be laid, the ceremony being timed to take place at 4 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the ceremony, which will be one of more than usual interest, by reason of the significance of the occasion. For the first time Peterborough will have a Collegiate Institute building, built for that purpose, and it is fitting that the occasion of laying the corner stone on such a building should be participated in by the citizens as a whole. Mr. Jas. Stevenson, the veteran School trustee of the city, will lay the stone and the chairman for the event will be Dr. Burnham, himself one of the oldest members of the present Board of Education, and the acting chairman, in the absence of Mr. Robt. Fair. In addition to the addresses by these two gentlemen there will be other prominent men present, and they will give addresses. Among them will be the members of Parliament and of the Legislative Assembly, the Mayor, ex-members of Parliament, the chairman of the special Collegiate Institute Committee and other members of the Board of Education, as well as prominent private citizens who are interested in the case.

The programme for the ceremony in connection with the laying of the corner stone has been arranged, and is as follows:—

Dr. Burnham, chairman.
Introduction by the chairman.
Laying of the corner stone by Jas. Stevenson, Esq.
Dr. Morrison, chairman of the Collegiate Institute Building Committee.
Mayor McWilliams.
Warden McNulty.
R. R. Hall, M.P.
Senator Cox.
John Finlay, M. P.
T. R. Bradburn, M.P.P.
Wm. Anderson, M.P.P.
Rev. J. G. Potter.
Rev. Father McColl.
Judge Weller.

WAINWRIGHT GETS THE APPOINTMENT

Will Again Have Charge of Fire Engine and Steam Roller

The difficulty in connection with the engineer appointment at the Fire Hall has been solved by the acceptance of the position of engineer and operator of the road roller by Mr. Samuel Wainwright. At the last meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee it was decided to offer Mr. Wainwright the position at $600 per year which was the same as he had been receiving before the difficulty arose. He will still have charge of the road roller and the fire engine and as his duties have been clearly defined no more trouble between him and the foreman of the hall is expected.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING GRANTED THE REQUEST

St. Andrew's Church Give Approval of Church to be Built at Stewart Settlement

A congregational meeting was held at St. Andrew's Church last night to consider an application from the people of the Stewart Settlement for the privilege of erecting a new Presbyterian Church there. Rev. J. G. Potter presided, and, after a little discussion, it was decided that St. Andrew's congregation give their assent. St. Paul's and Knox Churches had approved of it, so that the matter is now settled.

In the first place the Presbytery was petitioned, and this body left the matter with the local Presbyterian Churches.

There are about fifteen families at the Settlement who attend St. Paul's Church and four or five whose members attend St. Andrew's, and the idea is to build a church in the neighbourhood which would accommodate all. It is likely that the erection of the church will be soon commenced.

WEDDING BELLS.

O'CONNOR-O'GORMAN

Examiner Special.

Enniscorthy, July 29.—This morning at 10 o'clock an interesting wedding ceremony took place at St. Martin's church, when Miss Maggie O'Gorman, daughter of the late Edward O'Gorman, of this township, was married to Mr. William O'Connor, late of Douro, but who for the last number of years has resided in Alberta were married, the nuptial mass being said by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, parish priest. The bride, who wore white silk was attended by her niece, Miss Mary Sullivan, while Mr. John O'Gorman, of Douro, supported the groom. Following the ceremony the bridal party, together with about 30 friends drove to the home of Mr. Edward O'Gorman, brother of the bride, where a wedding breakfast was served, and a delightful social hour spent in extending and receiving congratulations. In about two weeks Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will leave for their home in the far west. The bride is a very popular young lady, evidence of which fact was furnished by the very large number of presents of which she was the recepient.

OBITUARY.

EMMA INGRAM

At four o'clock this morning, Emma Ingram passed away after a lingering illness at her sister's, Mrs. Wm. Kinoid's residence, 173 Stewart street. The deceased was born near Manvers about 40 years ago and has lived in Peterborough for some 15 years.

Her mourning relatives are Mrs. Wm. Kinoid and Mr. Jas. Ingram of Peterborough, Mr. John Ingram of Lindsay, Mrs. Wm. Fallis of Hartney, Man.; Mrs. F. Hamilton, Mrs. Hinson and Mrs. Gilbert Kinoid, of Bethany.

The remains were taken to Bethany on the G.T.R. noon train. The funeral will be held on Thursday from Mrs. F. Hamilton's residence to the Janetville cemetery.

Sergeant-Major Brittain Made Post Office in 1 Hour and 3 utes—Says He Can Do It in Hour—Old Record Lowered

WALKED BACK FOR DIN

From Chemong Hotel to Park, in exactly one hour, on was the record established for six-mile walk this morning by Major Brittain. The Sergt. left the hotel at Chemong Park 10 o'clock, intending to reach post office in one hour, and only three minutes out in his calculations. He arrived at the post and called for his mail at minutes past eleven, lowering Best record by 16 minutes.

Not many knew of the walk, that only a few greeted him finished. A reporter was there asked the Sergt.-Major how he feeling.

"Oh, I'm not the least bit tired," he said, "and I intend to walk for dinner. I started a little after breakfast and only that I would have reached here inside the hour. I have done it fore, and I intend to do it again."

He was dressed in white trousers and light shirt, and neither coat nor hat. Towards end of his journey the perspiration began to appear, but otherwise there were no indications of fatigue. walked briskly down Water at the finish and up along Hunter street to George, where he was stopped several times to receive congratulations. He was well satisfied with his time, considering his condition, and the fact that he started soon after partaking of his noon meal.

He stated that he could from Chemong to Peterborough an hour, and he reached the north west corner of Central Park at 1 o'clock. This point is about the centre of the city. He informed a reporter, however, that he intended to cover the distance between the park and the post office within an hour, and would probably try it towards the beginning of next month.

The Sergt.-Major was accompanied down by Messrs. W. H. Hill of the Sun Life, and Mr. George Hall, proprietor of the Chemong Hotel, who drove behind him, and the time as stated above was given by them. Sergt.-Major Brittain therefore holds the record between Chemong and the post office, and it is now "up to" some of the alleged pedestrians to beat it.

ADOPT PLANS F NEW GALLERY

New Interior Arrangement of the Church Will Greatly Improve Accomodation

CALL FOR TENDE

At a special meeting of the Board of Managers of Knox Church, last night the plans and specifications for the new gallery to be erected in the west end of that building were submitted for the approval of the board, and after a full discussion, which it was found that the plans as submitted suited the purpose admirably it was decided to leave the matter of calling for tenders for the work with Mr. J. F. Morrison, and at the next meeting of the Board of Managers the tenders will be considered. The regular meeting will be held on Monday, August 12th, but it is probable in view of the fact that that day will be Civic Holiday, the meeting will be held a few days later.

The new arrangements of the interior of the church will effect a great improvement in the accommodation especially for the Sunday School. The gallery will be fitted with folding doors, which may be closed making two rooms upstairs and the usual number downstairs. When required, however, they may be opened and the whole building thrown into one.

Work will be commenced as soon after the contract has been awarded as possible.

LOW WATER AT STONY LAKE

In the Stony Lake correspondence of the Examiner, printed yesterday, reference is made to the low condition of the water in the lake, and the resulting interference with the navigation of those waters, and with the convenience and comfort of the lake dwellers. The difficulty of adjusting the waters to a constant level, is recognized, but it should be possible to arrange for the avoidance of extreme difference in levels, as represented by abnormally low, or abnormally high, water. The primary object of the canalization of the waters of our lakes and rivers, is to promote the interests of navigation, and facilitate its practice to the greatest possible degree. This is not gained by either very high or very low water. Another thing needing to be remedied, is the unsatisfactory condition of the buoys that mark the channels. It seems that instead of being an aid to steamers, yachts and launches, in keeping the proper channel, they are a positive hindrance. This is not as it should be. Waters that are in such constant use as Stony Lake waters, where the interests of thousands of summer dwellers are in question, should be well looked after, and it is assumed that the authorities will continue the efforts that have been made in the past to retain these waters in a satisfactory condition. As it is at present, the water is exceedingly low, and great inconvenience results. If there is a remedy it should be immediately applied. This is the height of the season, and it is desirable that the people should be placed in a position to enjoy to the fullest the comfortable and convenient use of the waters of the lake.

THE WAR OF LABOUR

The United States National Bureau of Labour has issued a summary statement of its report devoted to labour troubles of the twenty-five years from 1881 to 1905, and while it is not easy to interpret much of the mass of statistics presented, some of the outstanding facts may prove interesting to Canadian readers.

There were in the period covered by the tables, no fewer than 36,757 strikes, and 1,546 lockouts, affectively, respectively, 187,407 and 18,547 establishments. The number os strikers was 6,728,048, and of those locked out 716,231. The average duration of strikes was 25.4 days and of lockouts 84.6 days.

The greatest prevalence of strikes and lockouts was in 1894 and the least in 1905. The greatest number of strikes was in the building trades, being 26.02 per cent. of the total, and the greatest number of employees affected was in the coal and coke industry, the building trades coming next, and the clothing industry third. About 70 per cent. of the strikes in number, with 90.34 per cent. of the establishments and 79.69 per cent. of the employees affected, were ordered by labour organizations.

Of the results of the difficulties, the report indicates that the strikes succeeded in 47.94 per cent. of the cases, partly succeeded in 15.28 per cent., and wholly failed in 33.78 per cent.

The employers succeeded in 57.20 per cent. of the lockouts, partly succeeded in 10.71 per cent., and failed in 32.09 per cent.

The causes of strikes are thus classified: For increase of wages, 40.72 per cent., "recognition of unions," 23.35 per cent., against reduction of wges, 11.90 per cent., for reduced hours, 9.78 per cent.

The strikes most successful were those for higher wages and against reduction of wages. Strikes for recognition of unions and union rules have been increasing in number and becoming less effective, while sympathetic strikes are rapidly decreasing and mostly fail. There is more inclination to settle labour troubles by negotiations and arbitration, and thus avert much foolish loss. As to whether the workers are gainers by the net result of the struggles chronicled by the Bureau, it is not easy to decide, but it is very much to be doubted. The day when strikes and lockouts become a bad memory will be a joyful one for modern industry, and none will benefit more than the man who has only his labour to dispose of. And the public will welcome any less foolish and wasteful system.—Hamilton Times.

The Whitney Government cannot take much comfort out of the bye-election record. It is recognized that bye-elections, generally, go with and strengthen the Government of the day. In its first parliamentary term, with only one session between the present and a general election, the Whitney Government has not berreaved a single seat from its opponents. On the other hand, the Government has had a rather disheartening experience with the bye-elections in Kingston and West Middlesex.

CAPITAL INTERPRISE

The enterprise of the Ottawa Free Press found a splendid opening in the publication last Saturday of a historical number. This special number, which, by the way, is a triumph of fine printing, is especially valuable as a worthy journalistic souvenir of the fortieth anniversary of Confederation, which the Capitol of the Dominion is elaborately celebrating this year. The illustrated section is brilliant with beautiful half-tone photogravuers depicting not only the beauties of the Capital, but showing portraits of the great men and women of Canada, who have had a share in the up-building of the Dominion. Ottawas' charter as the Capital of Canada is represented by the proclamation of the late Queen Victoria, setting apart "By-town" as the Capital of Canada and consequaptly, in course of events, the Capital of the Dominion. Ottawa in its natural and developed beauty, and its enterprise, is a worthy capital of this great country, the Free Press is a worthy journalistic representative, and its magnificent souvenir edition is worthy of the great occasion which called it into existence.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Mail and Empire contends that Mr. Osler, a gentleman, but a reputable lawyer was appointed Police Magistrate of Brantford. This is mere quibbling. The spoilsmen created the vacancy, but when rogues fall out, honest men get their plues, and that is doubtless the explanation of the appointment of a reputable lawyer.

It cannot be urged that the sentences imposed upon the Dundurn counterfeiters are unduly severe. In view of the interests affected, many persons think that they are unduly lenient. We must have our money, like Cæsar's wife, above suspicion. We may stand water and embalming fluid in our milk, sand in our sugar, and other forms of spuriousness, but our money must be sound, and worth its face value.

Those nations who think Britain decadent and hastening to collapse, perhaps get the idea partly from the fact that Britain is not always blowing a trumpet and making a fuss over its achievements. There may be calmness on the surface, but still waters run deep. While other nations cackle loudly over laying a battleship, Britain quietly hammers away at her work, and some fine morning a battleship, the greatest of its class, slips into the water with no more splash than comes from the plunging of 20,000 tons of displacement into the quiet waters. Day before yesterday there was launched the greatest battleship ever built, with as little fuss as would attend the sliding of a dinghy into its "native element." The Bellerophon is Great Britain's largest and most perfect battleship. While other nations talk war vessels, Britain builds them. The day seems to be very distant when Britain's supremacy of the seas will be successfully challenged.

British newspapers comment rather bitterly upon the conditions disclosed by the trial of Haywood at Boise, Idaho, in the United States. The London Chronicle says that "the state of society revealed by the trial is more terrible than any civil war, because it is more treacherous, and likely to be more lasting. From the beginning to the end it reveals a state of brutal rapacity, confronted with savage, despairing violence, a condition which gives America's boasted civilization a very dubious look." The conditions certainly disclose rather more than suspicions of a smouldering class war, and do much to justify the comment of the Daily News, which states that, "the whole movement, both in the revelations of the trial and its accompaniments, in public excitement, has illustrated the insecurity of authority in America and profound scepticism concerning the identity of law and justice."

BRONCHIAL TROUBLES

Readily Yield to Soothing, Healing Treatment of Hyomei

Bronchial troubles are purely local. They cannot be helped by stomach dosing. They are caused by irritation in the air passages, and can be relieved and cured by medicated air alone. In this lies the secret of the great success of Hy-o-mei in the treatment of bronchial troubles.

The first breath of Hy-o-mei's medicated air soothes the inflammation, stops the cough, and relief soon becomes permanent, and a cure results.

Hy-o-mei has made many remarkable cures in the worst and most chronic forms of bronchial troubles, and is sold by Wm. Madill with the same guarantee as he gives when Hy-o-mei is purchased for catarrh, that is to refund the money in case the remedy does not give satisfaction. The complete outfit costs but $1.00.

ANOTHER LINK ADDED TO CHAIN OF EVIDENCE IN THE PICKPOCKET CASE

he was about to ask them some questions, which they might answer as they chose, and anything they said could be used as evidence against them. Phelps was the first man. Witness asked him if he had ever been arrested, and he admitted that he had. A list of convictions was read to him, but he replied that he had not been arrested on those charges.

Goldfarb's Answer

Goldfarb, who was next questioned, said, in answer, "You've got it right, and you've got it all."

Lewis admitted an arrest, but had nothing to say further.

Bradford, according to the witness, acknowledged the list that was read to him.

The defence again objected to this evidence, but His Honour ruled in order.

To Mr. Wood, Detective Greer stated that he saw the four men purchase tickets at Woodstock for Stratford, and afterwards board the train. They must have got scent of the detective, for Bradford and Phelps were missing from the train after it was in motion.

Detective Anderson

Detective Anderson, of the Toronto police force, was next sworn. His evidence was mostly in connection with measurements taken under the Bertillion system, and photos he had taken in Peterborough. He had others which were furnished by the Police Department of New York City. The measurements were taken by himself and by authorities in several cities of the United States. Pictures of Bradford, Goldfarb and Lewis had been received from the American metropolis. Witness had also the list of convictions, which was read by the judge.

The defence again made strong objections to this witness' evidence.

Postponement

Following this, and concluding the day's hearing, P. C. Newhall was put through an exhaustive examination by Mr. O'Connell, but the officer replied steadily and remained unshaken in his direct testimony. There was practically nothing new brought out, except that he said that the disguise which he had used had been prepared beforehand, to be used in an emergency, if needed. Witness said he anticipated some sort of trouble on circus day, and was ready for just such a case as was presented. However, he stated that he had not expected that it would have been as serious as it proved.

The official took objection to Mr. O'Connell's looking indiscriminately through his note-book, in which he had written the facts of the arrest and the other details. He said that there were private matters referred to in it. Mr. O'Connell replied that he was not searching through the book, but merely turning over the pages. Again, the officer was facing Judge Weller while speaking, and not looking towards Mr. O'Connell. The latter demanded that the witness face him, that he might at least have the pleasure of looking at him.

At the conclusion of P. C. Newhall's evidence an adjournment was called until Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The case should be concluded on that day or on the following.

PRESENTATION TO THEIR TEACHER

Miss Steep Given Bible by Grace Sunday School

At Grace Church Sunday school, on Sunday afternoon, an interesting event occurred, the occasion being the presentation to Miss Steep, who for some years has been a teacher in the Sunday school, of a Bible, on the eve of her departure from the city for her home in Guelph. Mr. J. J. Hartley, the superintendent of the school, made the presentation, and in doing so referred in appreciative terms to the excellent work done by Miss Steep during the time she had been associated with the school, and voiced the wish of every member of the school, for her continued success and happiness. Miss Steep has been connected with the office of the Barnardo Home here for some time.

PLAN FOR CITY HALL ALTERATIONS

To Be Fully Discussed To-morrow Evening in Committee of Whole Council

At the conclusion of the council meeting at 11.30 o'clock last night, it was discovered that the question for which the meeting was particularly called, had been overlooked. That was the consideration of the revised plans for the alteration of the city buildings. The Mayor then called for another Committee of the Whole meeting downstairs, but, after a brief discussion the meeting was adjourned until to-morrow evening. The plans will then be submitted to the Property Committee to the council for approval.

HAVELOCK IMPORTANCE NOT CONFINED TO OPERATIONS OF THE RAILWAY COMPANY

The Refrigerating Station of Swift and Co. a Busy Place in the Summer—Many Thousands of Tons of Ice Used.

METHOD OF OPERATION

Special Correspondence

Havelock, July 27th. Swift & Company's ice house here of which Mr. J. W. Bryans is manager, is at its busiest just now. During this week there have been 250 cars iced or an average of 36 cars per day. Considering that these cars take from 6 to 15 cakes each according to the lowness of the ice in the tanks, it can be seen that a large amount of ice is used in a season.

Although once in a while during the winter there are a few cars iced, the regular season does not commence until March or April.

The icemen have considerable trouble in judging what time they must commence to prepare the ice for the cars. First, the ice which is put in in cakes is frozen together and these must be loosened up. Next, the ice is hauled up to the platform which is the same height as the cars, and there it is broken into pieces about as large as a man's fist. Considerable judgment is necessary to be taken as the ice will melt if left on the platform any great length of time. A report is first got by mail that certain cars have been shipped out, the next report is got from Windsor when the cars leave there, when it is necessary to loosen up the cakes in the rooms. A report is also got when the cars arrive in Myrtle or Burketon and then they commence to pull the ice up, which work is done by means of a horse. Generally if they start to pull when the cars leave Myrtle they have the ice fully prepared for the cars when they arrive at Havelock. But sometimes the train is delayed for some reason or other and a large amount of the ice is melted before it reaches here.

When the cars arrive, the tops which are placed on each end are opened and the ice already in the cars pounded down and the water in them allowed to run out. Rock salt is then placed on the old ice in the tanks and ice placed on top of that up to the top, when another layer of salt is placed on top of that.

Some of the cars which just go as far as Montreal where the contents are transfered to steamboats to be taken to foreign countries are merely filled with the large cakes of ice.

Sometimes a shipment of cars will be divided and will come in on two different trains, when it is necessary to pull up ice twice.

The regular shipment of provision cars generally comes in on train No. 82 due at Havelock at 11.30 p.m., but cars come in on all trains, sometimes in the middle of the night. For night purposes ice is kept in a room level with the platform already loosened up which can be pulled on to the platform without the aid of the horse. The men who are called out for an hour or so during the night do not have to get around as early as the others in the morning.

A large amount of rock salt is used in icing the cars and it is stored in a large room and drawn to the platform and placed in large salt boxes as it is needed.

The walls of the ice house are about two feet thick and are filled with very fine saw dust which is tightly packed in. When a room is completely filled with ice it is covered over with marsh hay. The roof of the building is flat covered with a coat of tar with small stones and gravel on top of that. There are several large boxes built on the roof where air may go down to the rooms below. The platform is placed on the north side of the building and has a covering over it to keep the sun from melting the ice when it is on the platform. Electric lights are also installed for night work. The ice is broken into pieces by large wooden mallets and is shovelled into the cars by hand.

They begin to fill the ice houses in the winter as soon as the ice has reached the thickness of 12 inches. It has been got from Norwood for the last few years. If there is any snow on the ice it is necessary to scrape it off before commencing operations. The ice is then cut into pieces about 20 inches square. This done by first cutting the ice to a depth of about six inches when it will easily break off by striking forcibly with an iron bar made for the purpose. The ice is then run on a skid from the water onto the sleighs which carry about two dozen cakes which convey it to the cars where the sleigh is placed on a bridge built so that the cakes will slide easily into the car, where they are placed two deep.

When the ice reaches Havelock, five cakes at a time are run up a skid to a height from which the cakes will easily run around the galleries to the back, where they are placed side by side into which position they freeze together.

It requires 20 or 30 men to load the ice at Norwood and they must be hardy men accustomed to stand the cold, for they have to stand on the ice for the space of five hours holding in their hands an iron bar or tongs, or some like instrument. It also requires 4 or 5 teams of horses to convey the ice to the cars.

At Havelock, during the storing of ice it generally takes 20 or 25 men according to whether the ice runs easy on the skids or not, and also according to the number of cars loaded, and it is necessary to unload it as quickly as possible or it will freeze to the bottom of the car, or the cakes will freeze together. It also takes 2 or 3 teams to pull the ice up the skid so that it will run around to the back. It requires an engine to stop cars which has to be done about every every fifteen or twenty minutes, which is the length of time it takes to unload a car of ice. It generally takes about 225 cars of ice to fill the ice house, but the number is increasing each year accordingly as the amount used increases.

The number of cars iced is increasing every year, as the packing companies are shipping more dressed beef instead of the large amount of live stock they used to ship. It is necessary that the cars be promptly iced as soon as they arrive, in order that they may proceed without delay, and as the cost of ice is increasing every year it is necessary that as much as possible be saved. With this end in view the company who owns the ice house proposed to install some modern and better methods which will do the work quicker and thus the ice will not have to be got out ahead of time and a large amount allowed to melt.

There will be many improvements made to the ice house within a very short time. The old galleries for carrying the ice up to the rooms to be stored, which extend along the side and back, will be replaced by new ones, built by a better method which will make storage of ice more easy. Instead of hoisting ice up to the galleries by means of horses, a steam engine will be used and a contrivance will also be made for stopping cars by means of the steam engine, which has always been done by the C. P. R. yard engine.

A gasoline engine will be installed in one of the rooms for hoisting ice to the platform in the summer, which work has always been done by means of a horse. A machine for crushing ice into the size required will be installed in one of the rooms to which all the ice from the other rooms will be taken to be crushed. This crusher, which will be run by the gasoline engine, will be a great convenience, as at present all the ice has to be broken up by hand on the platform which besides being hard work takes a long time to do, and thus the congealed moisture has to be got out a long time before the train arrives. Chutes will also be constructed for carrying the broken ice from the platform direct to the tanks of the cars whereas now the ice is loosely shoveled from the platform to the car, causing a great loss as quite a large quantity falls between and over the cars. Salt, which is stored on the ground floor will be hoisted up to the boxes on the platform by means of the gasoline engine.

Most of the dressed beef which passes through here goes to the eastern states although a large quantity is shipped to other countries from Montreal and Providence.

Besides dressed meats, all other kinds of perishable goods such as oranges, bananas, butter, eggs, fruits etc., are iced.

A great many visitors at Havelock call at the ice house to watch these ice the [illegible] and many [illegible] cooler method [illegible] replace, as it [illegible] improved [illegible]

Warsaw Party Caught In Big Storm On Stony Lake

Went Huckleberrying and According to Report, Had Narrow Escape—Forced to Land on Lock in the Lake.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

A report comes from Warsaw telling of the thrilling adventure of a number of Dummer residents including Mr. Levi Payne and party of 14, who went on a huckleberrying expedition to the vicinity of Eel's Creek last week. After failing to locate many of the blue berries, they left for home on Saturday afternoon to row and paddle across the lake. The northern portion of Stony Lake is by no means narrow and a storm arose which was feared would capsize the small crafts.

The waves were dashing higher than the boats and it was with great difficulty that they succeeded in landing on Blackrock, where they were forced to remain until the storm subsided. The escape from upsetting in the lake was a narrow one and as many of the party belonged to the feminine sex, a disaster would certainly have been caused it they had done so.

With the calm after the storm the party were enabled to get across to the Dummer shore in safety.

Bogus Fifty Dollar Bill Passed In Peterborough

Supposed to Have Been Circulated by Mrs. Bradford, Wife of One of the Alleged Pickpockets—Passed Through Several Hands Before Detected

WHO WILL BE THE LOSER?

A few days ago a sensation was caused in the central portion of the city by the discovery of a bogus $50 Toronto Bank note, which had fallen into the hands of the Toronto Bank officials. At that time the story was suppressed from the public as the authorities were in hopes that the ladies, Mrs. Bradford, wife of the prisoner on trial for picking pockets and his mother, would return to the city, as they, according to local evidence, passed the bogus $50 bill on one of the merchants.

The two ladies went into Mr. Samuel Ray's tobacco store on Hunter street, and the younger, it is said, purchased a package of cigarettes, giving the bill in payment. Mr. Ray did not have the change at the and his son went into Mr. Harry LeBrun's clothing store, returned with the money and gave the lady $49.90.

The following morning Mr. LeBrun had the bill deposited in the Dominion Bank, from where it was taken to the Toronto Bank. It was next, according to reports, sent to headquarters, and was returned as counterfeit money. The bill was then traced to Mrs. Bradford, who by this time had left for her home in New York.

It was expected that she would have returned for the trail yesterday, but did not, and the police are of the opinion that she is not likely to. It is reported that she heard of the affair, and that she promised to return and clear matters up. It may be of course that she knew nothing of the bogus note, and innocently passed it to Mr. Ray.

The question now arises as to who should suffer the loss sustained by the introduction of the bogus money, and that promises to be an interesting case. At present it is believed the bill is in the office of Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon.

Annual Concert And Tea At Carmel Church

Interesting Gathering at Church Near Crowe's Landing—It Was Attended by Many Stony Lake Visitors

A GOOD PROGRAMME

Examiner Special.

Crowe's Landing, Stoney Lake. The annual tea and concert of the Carmel Methodist church was held July 26 night and as usual proved a great success. There was a very large attendance not only of people living in the neighborhood, but of the cottagers on Stoney Lake, and many people drove from Warsaw and Norwood for the occasion. Nearly every cottage at the east end of the lake was represented by part or all of its occupants, and the programme was furnished chiefly by them.

Tea was served in the driving sheds of the church which is about a mile from the lake, and the appetizing repast that had been prepared by the ladies of the congregation was done ample justice to showing that the bracing breezes of the lake were having their effect.

The programme was given in the church which was crowded to the doors, many having to listen to the numbers from vantage points outside the structure. The programme was a delightful one and was much appreciated by the large audience which indicated its approval by unstinted applause. Rev. Mr. Nichol, pastor of the church made a very efficient chairman and the programme was as follows:—

Chairman's Address—Rev. Mr. Nichol.
Solo—Mrs. John Davidson, Norwood
Solo—Mr. Jack Roxborough, Norwood
Address—Mr. R. J. Winch, Peterboro'
Solo—Miss Cora Hunter, Lakefield
Address—Rev. Mr. Steadman
Address—Mr. Hugh Lees, Peterboro'
Solo—Mrs. Geo. Burnham, Toronto
Solo—Miss Dot Hackett, Peterborough
Duett—The Misses Hunter, Lakefield
Solo—Mr. M. Bennett, Peterborough
Solo—Miss Irene Pentland, Peterboro'

Financially the affair was a great success, the proceeds amounting to $95, which sum was augmented by the sale of cakes that were left over.

The lake was visited by a terrific wind storm accompanied by thunder and lightning early this morning. No damage is reported, although the storm was almost a hurricane, the lake being lashed into foam.

Mr. Norman Darling of Peterborough came up to the Landing yesterday afternoon.

Mr. M. Bennett, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. H. LeBrun at Belle Chasse.

Mrs. C. H. Winch, Mrs. Pentland, and Irene Pentland went down to Peterborough this morning to spend a day or two.

THE HAYWOOD REVELATIONS.

American Civilization Is Given Very Dubious Look.

London, July 30.—Commenting on the result of the trial of William D. Haywood at Boise, The Chronicle yesterday says:

"The state of society revealed by the trial is more terrible than any civil war, because it is more treacherous and is likely to be more lasting. From beginning to end it reveals a condition of brutal rapacity, confronted with savage, despairing violence, a condition that gives American boasted 'civilization' a very dubious look."

The Daily News says: "From the outset the question has been complicated by the fierce prejudices of a kind of smoldering class war. The whole movement, both in the revelations of the trial and its accompaniments in public excitement, has illustrated the insecurity of authority in America and the profound skepticism concerning the indentity of law and justice."

Both editorials refer to President Roosevelt's "undesirable citizens" statement.

The News calls it one of his frequent public indiscretions, and The Chronicle predicts that it will cost him dear.

Bryan Is Glad.

Peoria, Ills., July 30.—W. J. Bryan is quoted as follows on the Haywood verdict:

"I am glad to learn of the verdict and that it was not guilty. I watched the trial and did not see how any one could be found guilty on Orchard's testimony. Every crime he charged was one he himself suggested, and it was shown he was in communication with the mine owners and attempting to induce the defendants to engage in crime.

"The manner in which the prisoners were taken from Colorado was hardly in keeping a fair prosecution."

Rubbing It In.

Oyster Bay, N.Y., July 30.—Without comment President Roosevelt made public this telegram received by him yesterday referring to the verdict in the Haywood murder trial:

"New York, July 28, 1907.

"President Roosevelt:

"Undesirable citizens victorious. Rejoice.

(Signed) "Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman, Hippolite Havel."

Second Brother Drowned.

St. John, N.B., July 30.—George Smith, aged 25, a prosperous farmer, was drowned yesterday in the river near his home. He was a brother of Fred Smith, who a few weeks ago was burned to death in the fire which destroyed the river steamer Crystal Stream.

The drowning took place only a short distance from the scene of the fire. Smith, who was married only a few months, entered the water while overheated from working in the hay field, and took a cramp, sinking within a few feet of his brother, who, on shore, was unable to swim and could not help him.

STEAD IS BITTER.

Describes British Delegates as an Incompetent Set.

London, July 30.—William T. Stead, editor of The Review of Reviews, who has been conducting a publication at The Hague devoted to peace conference matters, when interviewed on the progress of the peace conference, delivered a serious indictment against the British delegates. He said:

"Until last Saturday, when, under the pressure of angry protests, the British Government instructed its delegates to make a belated declaration of adhesion to the American plan of obligatory arbitration, nothing, in short, for anything the British people believed they had been sent to The Hague to do.

"Their action, and still more, their inaction has been the amazement and despair of all the friends of peace. I do not exaggerate in the least when I say that, as far as every principle the British Government is supposed to have at heart is concerned, it would have been far better to have had no delegates at all than the men who have shown skepticism where they ought to have shown enthusiasm; who have repelled where they ought to have attracted; who have been a wet blanket upon every aspiration of the peace crusaders, and who have succeeded in utterly destroying England's reputation as the leader of the peace-loving nations of the world.

"As members of a conference striving for peace ideals, they are about the most incompetent set of beings that ever achieved an unmitigated failure.

"Great Britain having abandoned her traditional position, the leadership has fallen into the hands of Germany and the United States, and we taught the Americans that the Germans are warmer friends and stouter allies than the British."

Britain and Germany Agree.

The Hague, July 30.—Great Britain and Germany have practically agreed on a proposition regarding the establishment of an international prize court under the terms of which the tribunal is made permanent and is to have fifteen judges.

There are still differences between Great Britain and Germany regarding the laws under which the prize court will operate.

ADULTERATED TEAS.

New Customs Regulation Not Well Received by Japan.

Ottawa, July 30.—Canada's new customs regulations making more stringent provisions against the importation of adulterated teas are not regarded favorably in Japan. Reporting on the subject to the Trade and Commerce Department, Alex. McLean, commercial agent in Yokohama, says:

"It happens that the bulk of the teas exported from this country to Canada are described as low grade, and it is mainly the low grade of cheap teas that are affected by the regulations in question.

"As they are regarded here, the regulations subject the exportation of tea to Canada to the delay involved in examination and testing, and possibly to chemical analysis, before the product can pass the customs and then to the delay is added the cost of return transportation in the case of such quantities as may be rejected.

"It is represented that the trade cannot be carried on under these conditions.

"At the present time shipment is actively going on, and the putting into force now of regulations, however salutory, not anticipated when the season's trade was being negotiated, may prove very embarrassing to exporter and importer alike."

TRACK TAMPERED WITH.

Attempt Made to Wreck the Canadian Northern Express.

Port Arthur, July 30.—An attempt was made Sunday to wreck the Canadian Northern express.

When a freight train, west bound, reached the forty-three-mile post, it was noticed that the track had been tampered with, and the train was stopped.

At the curve the fishplates and spikes had been withdrawn, and there was nothing holding the rails.

The place where it had evidently been decided to wreck the train is one of the most dangerous on the road. It is at the bottom of a hill, and there is a sharp curve.

The train would have been hurled some distance into the river, and very few would have escaped.

Detectives have been sent out to investigate the affair.

Fell 25 Feet on Head.

Galt, July 30.—A serious accident happened yesterday morning at Cowan & Co.'s works. William Miller was engaged in working on a scaffold putting a belt on a pulley when he over-balanced and fell headlong, a distance of 20 feet, striking the side of his head on a casting, sustaining very severe injuries.

Kaiser to Meet Czar.

Berlin, July 30.—Emperor William, on his way home from his cruise in Scandinavian waters, is due at Swinemuende Aug. 1, to witness the target shooting of the fleet. He probably will meet the Emperor of Russia off Swinemuende Aug. 2.

IN PERILOUS POSITION.

Caid MacLean Is Located Near Battle-Swept District.

Tangier, July 30.—The Shereefian troops Saturday attacked villages belonging to the Kmass tribe, in whose territory the bandit Raisuli holds Caid Sir Harry MacLean prisoner. The troops burned and looted the villages, killing many of the inhabitants and taking a large number of prisoners. The Government forces were completely victorious, but as the battle was fought within six hours' journey of where Caid MacLean is believed to be located, his position is regarded as more precarious than ever.

Having reached the walled town of Sheshuan on Saturday, the heads of the Kmass villages met Bouchta and offered to discuss with him terms for the release of Caid MacLean. The Government officials declined to discuss this matter and demanded the surrender forthwith of Raisuli.

He then burned the villages, occupied Sheshuan and beheaded the rebels who had been killed in the fight.

Smuggled Clothes Seized.

Montreal, July 30.—An extensive business has been carried on smuggling clothing from Montreal into the United States, Portland being the line largely used to ship the goods. Frank Johnson, a United States officer, has to a large extent broken up the business, having seized about $25,000 worth of goods and arrested a Pullman conductor, who was alleged to be concerned.

The goods were hidden in the boxes under the Pullman seats. Seizures have been going on for some time. Many people in the United States have been getting their clothes here, as it is claimed they can do better in values than at home.

Warrants are out for the arrest of at least a dozen Montreal tailors, which, however, cannot be executed unless they go to the United States.

C.P.R. Inspection.

Toronto, July 30.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and a party of C.P.R. officials, including General Manager Leonard, Superintendent Osborne and Divisional Superintendent Everett, are making a tour of inspection over the company's lines in Ontario this week. They left by special train yesterday morning for Muskoka and go west to-day as far as Windsor. Their next visit will be to Guelph and Goderich division, which they will inspect to the end of the line.

The Deadly Auto.

North Attleboro, Mass., July 30.—An automobile owned by Louis D. Barrows, and containing also Mrs. Florence Murray, Dr. Thomas Ford, and Mrs. Howard Black, crashed into an iron bridge last Saturday night, instantly killing Mrs. Murray and seriously, injuring Ford.

Blake Asked to Remain.

London, July 30.—(C.A.P.)—Hon. Edward's constituents have requested the Irish party not to accept his resignation till a reply is received from him to a communication sent him.

They would esteem it a compliment if he would continue to represent them pending his recovery.

An Editor Elected.

Brampton, July 30.—Samuel Charters, editor of The Brampton Conservator, was yesterday elected mayor for the unexpired term of Mr. Milner, who resigned a few weeks ago to go to the Northwest.

Preference From Australia.

London, July 30.—(C.A.P.)—At Melbourne it is rumored the Federal Government will include a general British preference in the forthcoming tariff.

One Child Cured of Summer Complaint and Six Cured of Cramps by Half a Bottle of DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY.

Mrs. Wm. Flewelling, Arthur, Ont., says: "I find it much pleasure to recommend Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry as a grand cure for Summer Complaint. My little boy, one year old, was very bad with it, and a few doses cured him. I also used it on my other six children for cramps, and still have half the bottle left. I cannot praise it too much."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the greatest of all cures for all bowel complaints such as Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Summer Complaint, etc.

Quaker Oats Company Make Request---New Shelter for Children's Aid Society Talked Of---City Gives Grant of $400 to Industrial Fair---Publication of Milk Tests

Before the regular council meeting last night, the Committee of the whole met to discuss some questions of importance. The problem of the provision of a Children's Shelter came up among other things, the matter was talked over but nothing definite decided.

An application was made by the Quaker Oats Company to make a slight change on Hunter street in front of their property and steps will be taken to look into the request.

The committee, too, decided that the annual grant to the Industrial Fair be the same as during the past two years.

Those present were, His Worship Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Wilson, Elliott, McIntyre, Morrow, Morgan, Johnston, Stevenson, Bradburn, Phelan, Duncan and Leary.

The first problem before the committee was presented by Mr. W. H. Denham, of the Quaker Oats Company in reference to a change in the Hunter street in front of the buildings of the company.

Mr. Denham stated that Mr. Cameron had drawn up a plan of the proposed changes. The end of Quaker Oats building, he said, was parallel now with the sidewalk as it is, and asked that the street be made parallel with the building. The north end of the bridge now is not on a line with the northern side of the street.

The change will not have any effect on the roadway, Mr. Denham stated, the only difference being that the Quaker Oats Company get a small piece of land on one side of the street giving the city the same quantity on the other side. Mr. Denham further stated that as soon as the council was prepared he would have the company's solicitor confer with the city to negotiate the change.

It was moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that the city engineer look over the ground and report to the Committee of the Whole council.—Carried.

For Children's Shelter

The Mayor introduced the question of obtaining a site for the new children's Aid Society building. He and Ald. Stevenson had been over the Hilliard property and had considered it a good site. He believed that the council should take the initiative in this case and advised that something should be done at once.

Ald. Leary did not think that a site on the Hilliard farm should be deeded over to the Society for nothing and considered a small rental should be charged.

If the city gave the site and building thereon to the Society it would be the same as giving it a yearly amount of $200, Ald. Stevenson stated.

The law provides that any city with a population of more than 10,000 must provide a Children's Shelter, but instead of this the city has been giving them an annual gift of $300.

Ald. Leary and Wilson were not in favour of selling the property to the Society. Ald. Duncan and Bradburn thought that the land should be sold to them if they wished to purchase, so that the city would have no more trouble.

Ald. Elliott did not think that the city should sell the property and agreed that a nominal rent, it only $1 per year, should be charged.

The house on the farm is situated on a gravel pit which is a valuable one so that the house there may be removed.

Moved by Ald. Wilson and Duncan, that the council express their willingness to confer with the Trust Commissioners of the Hilliard Property in conveying or leasing a site on the Hilliard property to the Children's Aid Society and that the matter be referred to the Property Committtee.

Ald. Stevenson and Elliott believed that the commissioners should know whether the council was in favour of selling or leasing the property.

The motion carried.

Exhibition Grant.

Ald. Leary brought up the question of the grant by the city to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. During the past two years the annual grant was $400 and Ald. Leary thought that a grant of $500 should be given. He stated that no subscriptions were asked for in the city and that the citizens were greatly beenfitted by the exhibition.

Ald. Elliott and Wilson moved that the grant be $400. Ald. Leary and Johnston moved that the grant be $500.

Ald. Leary stated that the benefit to the city was so great that the merchants had refused to keep their stores open half a day during the fair. Ald Elliott's motion was carried.

Ald. Wilson moved that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be authorized to erect four incandescent lamps on Brock street between Bethune street and St. Andrew's church. It was decided to leave the matter with the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

Milk Test Question

Ald. McIntyre suggested that the milk tests be published once a week and that the tests be made at the creamery, on Aylmer street. Some discussion arose as to whether the tests should be made here or in Toronto. Ald. McIntyre stated that when the reports came from Toronto they were never ready for publication for months afterwards.

Moved by Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the matter be left in the hands of the Property Committee with power to act.—Carried.

PAVILION TO BE OPENED

Special Staff Correspondent.

Crowes' Landing, Stony Lake, July 28.—The date of the grand concert forming the formal opening of the pavilion here, which is being erected by the East End Cottagers' Association, has been changed from Friday night next to Monday, August 5, and the event promises to be a great success.

Good progress is being made in the construction of the pavilion, which, it is expected, will be completed by Sunday next, when divine service will be held there, the announcements for which will be made later.

It is the intention of the association to have the opening of the structure marked by the presence of several of the well-known public men of the district, and invitations will be extended to Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.; Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., and Mr. John Fisby, M.P., to be present and deliver addresses. There will be a choice musical programme, and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. A good representation of the cottagers from the lower end of the lake is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Leven and daughter of Hamilton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gibson.

Mr. Norman Harling of Peterborough is spending his vacation at the lake.

Mr. T. Hooper, a well-known architect of Vancouver, B.C., has been the guest of Mr. R. J. Winch at Yarrow Brae.

Crowe's Landing, July 24.—It is reported among the cottagers here that the McDonald estate of Peterborough has purchased two islands at this end of the lake, which formed part of the Indian reservation, and intend to cut down the trees. One of these islands, about half a mile from here, is one of the most beautiful of the surrounding group, and is covered with a heavy growth of magnificent pines, the removal of which will destroy the beauty of the island, as well as have an effect upon the scenery of the neighbourhood in general. It is said that the company will commence operations on August 1.

To-morrow, the annual tea meeting and concert of the Carmel Church will be held. This is an event that is looked forward to by both cottager and farmer alike and is always a great success. The programme will be furnished by talent from the lake.

Mr. Mitchell of Toronto made a somewhat unusual catch on Tuesday afternoon. He was fishing for bass from a rock, with a worm as bait, and was surprised and delighted to annex an 8-pound 'lunge, which he landed after a hard fight.

Judge Hudspeth of New York is expected on Friday, and his arrival at Kawartha Lodge will be a welcome addition to the East End circle. Mr. Lloyd is repairing and re-painting Judge Hudspeth's cottage.

The quarry near Eel's Creek is now in active operation, about a dozen men being employed, the majority of them from the Old Country.

There was some excitement around Yarrow Brae, Mr. R. J. Winch's cottage, the other night, when a porcupine made its appearance near the house. Mr. Winch took a shot at the animal in the dark, and found it dead in the morning.

The pavilion at the landing is to be rushed as rapidly as possible, and will be opened on Monday, August 5, with a dance and concert.

Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell of Peterborough has been the guest of Mrs. H. P. Goula at Woodcot Hall.

Mr. Ackerman of Norwood opened his cottage for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Finlay and children, Mrs. W. Finlay and family of Norwood and Mr. and Mrs. A. Fitzgerald and family of Tweed, are spending a few weeks at the lake.

Mr. H. LeBrun came up to his cottage on Wednesday to spend a few days.

Reciprocal Assistance Rendered By Navigators

An Exemplification of the Truth of the Statement That "One Good Turn Deserves Another"—Interesting Experience.

LAUNCHES WERE ASHORE

The principle of helping a friend in distress, and the good which may follow such an act to the person lending the assistance, was given an endorsement the other night on the Otonabee River, when, at different periods the same evening, two launches were called upon to help each other out of a difficulty. A club launch, with a small party of young men and their young lady friends, went down the river for a run, and on the way down they noticed another craft in apparent difficulty, and went to the assistance of the occupants. The boat was soon pulled off the shoal and was able to Hooper up steam at a good rate of speed. But the experiences of the night were not ended, for, after continuing down the river a few miles, the Good Samaritans were on their way back, and at the Yankee Bonnet, the wheelsman was more busily engaged in conversation with his fair companion than with his duties, and the result was that the boat ran hard aground on the shoal at that point. This is where the party met its Waterloo. Consternation was depicted on the countenances of the occupants of the boat, as it became apparent that they would in all probability have to spend the night in the boat.

The good results coming from a kind act, however, were soon made apparent, for the very boat which had been helped earlier in the evening now came to their assistance, and after a few minutes they were released from their perilous position, and are able to proceed on their journey in safety.

Peterborough Man Who Befriended Zulu Chief

Mr. Geo. Forbes, of Orrville, Who Gave Alleged Free Mason Money on Strength of Claimed Fraternal Relations.

HAS WIFE IN OTTAWA

Mr. George Forbes, a former resident of Peterborough, now living at Orrville, sends the Examiner some further details in connection with the exploits of the man who passed himself off as a son of a Zulu chief, and Fred Mason, and, on the strength of those statements, obtained money from persons whom he met, and forgot to return it. Mr. Forbes informed the Examiner that he was one of the unlucky persons to be taken in by the smooth statements of the stranger. He came to him, representing himself as a society brother and a Government prospector. On the strength of his alleged fraternal associations, Mr. Forbes gave him the best there was in the house, and, when he asked for the loan of some money, secured five dollars from his landlady and gave it to him. Mr. Forbes was also liable for the amount of his board, about ten dollars. He represented that all he wanted was enough to take him to Parry Sound, or any town where there was a bank.

His wife is said to be living in Ottawa.

Canadian Astronomer At The Lick Observatory

Prof. Chant, President of Royal Astronomical Society, in Letter to Dr. Marsh, Tells of His Successful Research.

CANADIANS ARE AHEAD

The persons who heard the excellent lecture given here by Prof. Chant, Professor of Astronomy in the Toronto University, and President of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, will be interested in reading the following letter written by him from the Lick Observatory, University of California, to Dr. Marsh, president of the local branch of the society:

Mount Hamilton, July 23, 1907.

Dear Dr. Marsh,—I reached this place on June 11, six weeks ago, and the time has passed very quickly. I found the director and the staff very cordial, and they have put at my disposal every facility for learning how every part of the work is carried on.

I have spent much time assisting with the spectrograph on the great refractor, and I have also used the 12-inch refractor for studying Mars and Saturn. By occulting the planets' disc I have been able to see the satellites with the 12-inch. They are easy enough with the 36-inch. I have been able to see Saturn's ring every time I have examined the planet, and on July 27, next Saturday, the sun is in the plane of the ring, and then I am promised a view with the 36-inch. Dr. Aitken, who spends his time with the large telescope in double star measurements, also takes a turn at the satellites of Uranus and Mars. The former are pretty hard to get, but I have seen them all.

The situation here is simply beautiful. Upon the summit of Mount Hamilton we can see about in every direction, canyons and ridges, and the walks are very interesting and full of fine exercise, as there is so much climbing. There are deer in the brush, and the men go out early in the morning to take a shot. They do not always come back with the game, however.

I have prepared a pretty full account of the work in progress here, which will appear in the next number of the Journal. In the following number I hope to have photographs of Daniel's comet, which is photographed here on every available morning. A fine tail several degrees (10 or 12) in length can be found on the plate.

I hope all is well in Peterborough with your section. The people out here think we are ahead of them in the popular interest shown in the subject, and I have been asked to write a note on astronomical work in Canada for the publications of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific Coast.

I expect to stay here until near the end of August. Then I go to Los Angeles and Mount Wilson. Then to Portland and Vancouver, and home by the C.P.R. I will likely reach Toronto about September 20.

Please give my compliments to the good Peterborough friends, and, with regards to Mrs. Marsh and your family, I remain,

Ever sincerely,
E. A. CHANT.

Examiner Special.

Chemong Park, July 30. — An enjoyable evening was spent at the pavilion last night, when an enjoyable concert was held under the auspices of the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association. The programme consisted of solos, instrumentals, recitations and readings, and was very much enjoyed. Among the musical contributors was Mrs. Alguire, of Toronto, who is staying at the hotel. After the concert a dance was held in the pavilion, which proved to be a delightful affair.

On Saturday evening a dance was held at the Park Hotel, which was attended by all the young folks, and many of the older population also. Splendid piano music was supplied by Mrs. Alguire, and Mrs. Brown and violin music by Mr. Truver of Peterborough. A number of old-fashioned Canadian and Yankee dances were the specialties.

Miss Lexa Ritchie was the guest of Miss Brooks on Sunday.

Mrs. S. Ray and family have returned to Peterborough.

Miss Irene Munro went down to Peterborough to-day.

Mr. John Pattle of Brantford, was a guest at Mr. Ray's cottage on Sunday.

Mr. John McDonald, who is staying at the park, went to Buckhorn, on Thursday, on a fishing expedition. He returned home on Friday.

Messrs. S. Gibbs and R. Nicholls, were guests at Mr. Brooks' cottage on Sunday.

Great interest was taken in the walking contest against time this morning in which Sergt.-Major Brittain was the central figure. Many were at the hotel to see the start.

Sailing has become very popular here and many dinghys are daily seen skimming the surface of Lake Chemong.

No fewer than 13 Roman cinerary urns have been discovered in a quarry at Portland, Eng.

Mention Of Carter's Shelter Rouses Ald. McIntyre's Ire

Ald Bradburn and Property Committee Chairman in Interesting Repartee---Lively Moments at Council Meeting---Deputations Heard and Reports Presented ---Suggestions For Street Naming

The only lively feature of the council meeting last night, was an interesting tilt between Ald. McIntyre and Bradburn, when the latter mentioned carters' shelter. He wondered what was going to be done in reference to taking the draymen off the street,and was charged by the chairman of the Property Committee with causing unnecessary fun. The dialogue was brief, but while it lasted amused the remainder of the aldermen.

The reports of the various committees were read and some discussion took place on the first three clauses of the Finance Committee's report, but the report was finally adopted.

The usual number of bylaws were passed, the most important being the third reading of the bylaw to assist the Colonial Weaving Company.

Mr. Hickey, who was present, complained that at the extreme north end of Bethune street, where he resided, water was lying in large quantities, and he asked that the city assist in draining it.

Ald. Duncan said that unless the street could be extended through Mr Kern's property no drainage could be made as the water could not be drained up hill to the south. The question on motion, was referred to the Board of Works.

Mr. Pollock of East City, asked for an extension of the water main on Concession street as far as Dufferin street. At present men are working on the laying of mains as far a Hslitt street, which is only one block away.

Ald. Morgan moved that if the Water Commissioners would extend the water main that a hydrant be located at the corner of Dufferin and Concession streets.

It was moved in amendment by Ald. Phelan and Morrow that the matter be left with the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Ald.Phelan's motion carried.

Finance Report.

The reports of the various committees were then read, the following being that of the Finance Committee, read by Ald. Bradburn:

Your Finance Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the collector of taxes be paid $100 a year to cover the expenses of his guarantee bond and postage.

2. That the City Treasurer be paid $1000 a year from June 1st, 1907, on the same basis as at present, and that the question of havall assitance required employed by the council, be taken up later.

3. That the salary of the City Clerk be increased $150 per year from June 1, 1907, and that the question of engaging assistance for his office be dealt with later.

4. That the following accounts be paid:

5—That the annual membership fee of $15 be paid to the Ontario Municipal Association.

6—That the city assessors be paid $100 each on account of their salary for this year.

Ald. Bradburn moved that the report of the Finance Committee be adopted. Ald. McIntyre moved that clauses one, two and three of the report be struck out.

The former motion was carried.

Ald. Johnston read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, which was adopted, and afterwards moved that the telephone in Foreman Pakenham's residence be left there, the expense to be borne by the city. Ald. Wilson seconded the motion, but it was lost.

Naming of Streets

Ald. Stevenson condemned the manner of the naming of the streets which now exists. The names, he said, read the wrong way. In all other cities he knew of they were printed on the street for which they stood, and not on the corners, as if they might represent others. Strangers have often made mistakes in this respect, he said, and he further suggested a total revision of the names, calling them first, second and third streets. He promised to go into the discussion of this matter at no distant date.

Bylaws Passed

Bylaw No. 1330 was passed, authorizing the increase of salaries of City Clerk, Treasurer, and Tax Collector.

Bylaw No. 1331 was passed, authorizing the construction of granolithic sidewalks on certain streets of the city.

Bylaw No. 1332, authorizing the construction of sewers on certain streets, was passed.

Bylaw No. 1333 was passed, authorizing the granting of $400 to the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

The third reading of a bylaw, aiding the Colonial Weaving Company, was given and the bylaw passed.

A Spicy Tilt

Ald. Bradburn asked what was being done with the carters' shelter, which was recently constructed. Money was spent on its erection, he said, and the carters were still on the streets.

"You'll get your money's worth," said the chairman of the Property Committee, "so don't fret about it."

"I'm not fretting very much about it," said Ald. Bradburn.

"You seem to be trying to make a lot of fun about the carters' shelter, and you think yourself very smart."

Ald. Bradburn assured Ald. McIntyre that he had no such intentions, but he did want to see the carters on the streets when a shelter had been provided for them.

The chairman came back again and charged the other with attempting "to be too smart altogether."

A few other matters of no great importance arose, after which the meeting adjourned and went into Committee of the Whole to discuss the plans for the remodelling of the old fireball.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But it Makes Trouble

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Bald heads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs — that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs, and healthy hair is sure to result.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury, Special Agents.

SUSPECTED OF BEING SMUGGLER

Native of Lindsay Arrested at Barrie, and May Have Been Connected With Alleged Smuggling of Furs

Lindsay, July 20. — A man taken in charge at Barrie on Friday, because he was acting in a demented manner, and who gave his name as John McDonald, was later identified as Simon Marshall, of Lindsay, who is wanted here in connection with the fur-smuggling case.

Marshall is now in the Barrie Hospital suffering from an attack of pneumonia. His wife left this morning to see him there.

Marshall has been in town several times since he was "wanted" but never just when the police were looking for him.

Simon Marshall is a man of about fifty years and has been a resident of Lindsay for many years. He will be brought here as soon as he sufficiently recovers to stand the journey.

HELP THE ASSESSORS TO CORRECT ASSESSMENT

Request to Notify Assessors of Property Changes

Mr. T. McGrath, assessor for wards 3, 4 and 5, asks the Examiner to request property owners, who have sold or exchanged property since the last assessment, to notify him of the fact. Attention to this request will prevent mistakes and obviate a great deal of trouble to those concerned, save recourse to the Court of Revision with all the annoyance that involves. This is a very reasonable request and compliance with it will prevent a great deal of trouble, and result in a more correct assessment. Changes of property are so frequent that it is impossible for an assessor to know of them unless he is notified by the parties immediately concerned. Persons who have purchased or sold real estate since the last assessment should notify Mr. McGrath, and also Mr. McKee, of any changes, which they may easily do by enclosing a specific statement of transfers, giving full particulars as to ward, street, street number, etc., to T. McGrath, P. O. Box 714, city.

OBITUARY

MRS. WM. ADAMSON

After a stroke of paralysis, the third which she has experienced during the last five years, Mrs. Wm Adamson passed away this morning at the age of 75 years, her death occurring at the home of her son, H. T., in North Monaghan, where the deceased lady has been living for the last year and a half. The late Mrs. Adamson was born in the township of Hope, and lived there until eighteen months ago, and was one of the most highly respected residents of that township. She leaves to mourn her loss a family of six sons and two daughters, her husband having predeceased her several years. The sons are H. T., of North Monaghan; Charles, of Port Hope; Fred, in Saskatchewan; W. P., of Peterborough; Edward, of London, Ont.; Joseph, of Hope. The daughters are Mrs. Ryckman, of Detroit, Mich.; and Mrs. Thomas, of Port Hope. One brother of the deceased, John Dixon, lives in this city, and another, William, resides in Millbrook. A sister, Mrs. Brothlwell, lives in Blain, Mich.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday, from the residence of her son, H. T. North Monaghan, to the G.T.R. station, for the 11.45 for Port Hope, where interment will take place.

MRS.H. LUSH

Word was received in the city yesterday of the death in Deloraine, Manitoba, of Mrs. H. Lush, a sister of Mrs. T. Lush, of this city, and a former resident of Peterborough. The death occurred on Sunday night after an illness of six months, from apoplexy. Up to four years ago the deceased lady lived in Peterborough, and has one son, Thomas, living on the Gravel Road, in North Monaghan, in addition to three other children, Misses Maud and Mabel, and Frank, who live in Deloraine.

The late Mrs. Lush was born in Dorset, England, in 1850, so that at her death she was 57 years of age. The body will be brought to Peterborough for burial, arriving here on Thursday, and the funeral will take place from the residence of the deceased's sister, Mrs. T. Lush, Dublin street, to Little Lake Cemetery. The time of the funeral has not been decided on yet.

LINDSAY COUNTERFEITERS GO TO KINGSTON

Burke and Logie Passed Through City To-day on Their Way to Serve Their Terms in Penitentiary

This morning's 8.10 G.T.R. train from Lindsay carried two interesting passengers. They were the two convicted counterfeiters, Burke and Logie on their way to Kingston, to serve the terms in the Penitentiary, the former for three and the latter for two years. They were in charge of the sheriff of the County of Victoria, and were handcuffed together.

SPEND HALF MILLION IN ONE YEAR

One of the Indications That the Canadian Industrial Exhibition is a Great Fair — $35,000 in Prizes for Agriculture

It is not many annual exhibitions that can boast an expenditure of half a million dollars in any one year. This, however, the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto is doing this year, $400,000 going into new buildings and $50,000 each into prizes and attractions, and this half million dollars is independent of the ordinary running expenses, which amount to at least $75,000 more. It is not necessary to say in view of these facts that the management are putting forward extra efforts to make the exhibition worthy of the enormous patronage it annually receives, the number of admissions last year running up close to three-quarters of a million. This year the executive hope to come near touching the million mark. With $50,000 given in premiums, $35,000 is devoted to the interests of agriculture, nearly $30,000 being given in prizes for the various classes of live stock. Entries in those classes, it might be mentioned, close with the manager at the city hall, Toronto, on Saturday next.

STONY LAKE TRIP

A DOMESTIC STOLE NIGHTDRESS

Thought It Belonged to a Former Girl and Appropriated It—Was In Court To-day

THREATENED WITH A KNIFE

A familiar individual about town, John Fritz, the wandering opposition to the local shoe shine artists, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on a rather serious charge. This fellow who regularly plys his trade on band nights at Victoria Park, made a serious threat to Arthur Cutgrave on Sunday evening last. In his own words he said, "I will stick a knife in you the first chance I get." Cutgrave wanted him bound over to keep the peace and His Worship committed him to gaol until he offered sureties binding him to keep the peace for one year.

Fritz, who according to the small boys, can shine shoes any colour except white and by his own words he has taught them all how to produce the lightning shine, was boarding at the same place with Cutgrave. The latter said he believed him to be a little unsound in his mind, moreover he has not paid his last month's board and the people do not want him about the place. Fritz said in his own behalf that Cutgrave tried to pick a row with him endeavouring to prevent him from pursuing his business as a polisher of boots.

A juvenile case from the south end of the city was dismissed being but a petty misunderstanding between a few boys while playing baseball.

Two girls Bella Campbell and Jane Turner were the next to answer to His Worship. They were charged with having stolen a night dress belonging to Mrs. William Duncan, while in her employ, on the 29th of July. The evidence of Mr. Duncan who appeared on behalf of his wife, proved that Miss Turner had nothing to do with it as she had not worked there, but merely visited her friend now and then. The other girl, Bella Campbell, with pronounced Scotch accent admitted that she had taken a night dress, believing that it had belonged to some former domestic. Miss Turner was let go, but the other girl was detained until to-morrow when further evidence will be offered.

The facts of the arrest are as follows:—

Mr. Duncan told his story over the telephone to the chief at ten minutes to nine. He was advised to lay an information against them and point them out to one of the police. At five minutes to nine he came down to the Police Station and accompanied P.C. PAdams up Water street and point-out the girls who were quite a distance ahead. The officer followed by rigs, etc., followed them to Brock street, where they turned west to George street. They were stopped in front of Clarke's jewelry store and persuaded to return to the police station where the case was proceeded with. P. C. Adams brought a package of clothing from a store where the girls had left it and gave it to Mr. Duncan. It contained Miss Campbell's brown jacket and after rummaging through the parcel to the amusement of the court, Mr. Duncan produced a white night dress which he recognized as his wife's by lace trimmings on the yoke and about the neck. Mr. Duncan said he did not want any proceedings taken against the girls on such a trifling affair, but he did not want them at his place any more. They were "keeping off hours" and plaintiff would not allow that. It was decided to enlarge the case until to-morrow.

TO RETAIN OFFICE FOR TWO YEARS

Suggestion For Municipal Convention Respecting Aldermen

While meeting in Committee of the Whole last night, the question whether any proposed changes in the Municipal Association Unions, which meet in the near future were desirable, came up for discussion. The committee deemed it advisable, on the suggestion of the Mayor, to advocate a change in the length of time aldermen should hold office, and decided to advocate that only six be elected each year.

A beginning would, of course, have to be made, so that the first year the scheme would be attempted the six who obtained the highest number of votes would remain in office during the two years. The six elected the second year would hold office then for two succeeding years.

On motion of Ald. McIntyre and Wilson, it was decided to advocate the change at the Municipal Conventions.

A CHANGE PROPOSED IN PAYING ASSISTANTS

Ald. Elliot and Others Strongly Urge a Change

The problem of whether the assistants of the City Clerk and City Treasurer should be engaged and paid by the city, occupied a considerable portion of the time at the Council meeting last night, when the discussion on the first three clauses of the Finance Committee's report was in progress. Ald Elliott took a firm stand against the present system, stating that it was contrary to all common sense for the city officials to engage their own assistants.

He advocated that the City Council should have the power to stipulate the salaries of the assistants and to appoint them whenever needed. Often they might deserve a raise in salary, he said, when the Clerk or Treasurer would not be in a position to grant it without lessening their own. Other admirers of the proposed change in the system were Ald. Bradburn and Phelan. Ald. Wilson was strongly opposed to the scheme, and spoke in favour of the present.

No action was taken in the matter last night.

Wild Raspberries---Picking Them In Vicinity Of The City

A Heavy Crop This Year---A Delicacy Found in the Woods and for Which No Price is Demanded---Recollection of Patches That Were Famous Among Pickers.

SOME VERY LIVELY TIMES

In keeping with the tardiness that has marked the budding and ripening of nature's products this season, the wild raspberries have just now reached their maturity, and it is said by those who have already gathered this luscious fruit that it is the heaviest yield in many years. This fact may not mean anything to the majority of the citizens, but there is a certain number who will take advantage of the abundance of the berries and the cellar shelves will be laden with jars of this ambrosia which as a delicacy is the equal of any of our Canadian fruits.

The strawberry harvest was large, but the price to the ordinary housewife was too prohibitive to permit an extensive purchase. The result therefore is that there are many homes which will not have the usual large supply of this fruit preserved, and to make up the deficiency those fruits will be bought which the general means will allow.

A Berry Patch

Within a radius of a few miles from the boundaries of the city there are woods on every side where the red raspberry grows wild and is easily reached after a half-hour's walk. The fruit thrives best on ground that is damp and moist, and in consequence the pickers often go about their work in mud and water although in many patches the conditions are ideal. The tame raspberry is larger and as a fruit is delicious but it is generally conceded that in its wild state the bees have imbued a nectar of Hyblan sweetness, which is dainty even when fresh from the bushes, but when preserved as our grandmothers knew how, this fruit is unsurpassed.

While the market gardener carefully plants his young shoots in rows that he may pick the tame berries, in the woods the method is quite different. The earliest pickers arrive at the patch while the dew is heavy on the grass and leaves, and the morning air is dank, just before the sun has begun to exert its warmth. They search for the largest fruit and thus beat a track which is invariably followed by the later arrivals and thus in a week's time the patch is a regular net work of paths crossing one another in every direction.

Gathering the Fruit

For the first two hours in the cool of the morning the work in the berry patch is delightful, but when Old Sol begins to exert its strength unless the wind is fresh and the place well shaded berry-picking becomes toilsome and oppressive. However, there are many incidents that serve to enliven the time such as falling into pools of water, singing and when nature demands it, partaking of a lunch with pure spring water as the accompanying beverage. The writer also remembers being in patches which the owners forbade trespassers to enter and the wild scramble to the road when the lookout gave the word that they were near. Sometimes their dogs would be the forerunners but in one case the owner always tried to take the pickers unawares and on many occasions he confiscated the fruit, spilled it on the ground and jumped on it, and finishing by taking the pail home. His patch was the scene of several hot fights in which the women "put it all over him" when he tried to take the berries and he was vanquished by these amazons until he was taught to be more careful. The mothers also sent their oldest sons out the day after they had been deprived of the result of their hard work and a fight was usually the outcome, the owner getting the worst of it.

Exciting Times

Of this particular man it may be said that a road lay between his patch and one to which there was free access. The pickers would thus come early, go into the forbidden place and pick until they would be startled by a "I see you there, come right out; I'll have no more of this." Another time he would scare the timid who would be hidden, by yelling, "Are you there behind the bush?" And the women would scurry for the road. These were exciting times and there was generally something doing every day. This patch is still looked upon by the people as the location of the largest berries and the same conditions exist as in the summers that are now long past.

To walk home with a pail of berries in all perhaps 10 or 12 quarts, fills one with delight even though the labour was quite arduous; but the thought that the family board would be graced with these wild fruits when the woods were deep with snow and ice is sufficient reward for the trouble in picking them. Then, too, there is the satisfaction that no market gardener has tried to make a fortune out of his crop as he does with strawberries and tame raspberries.

Gathering raspberries is as healthful a work as one can possibly essay and promotes an appetite such as is only gained from an outing in the wilds.

But the farmers in the idle winter days take to the woods with their axe and make a clearance which yearly increases until the woods disappears and of course the berry bushes go with them. Thus many well known patches are becoming smaller and smaller and as the country is cleared the berries will disappear altogether. It is not so many years since the present site of the C.G.E. buildings was a fine berry patch and in fact nearly all the surrounding land was covered with timber and in these confines grew large berries. Thus as the city grew the woods were cleared and in a few years from now berries may be expected to be quite scarce.

TRENT RIVER FISHING GROUNDS GREATLY VALUED BY TOURISTS

Special Correspondence

Havelock, July 27. — The Trent River is one of the most beautiful and picturesque of Ontario rivers, running out of Rice Lake northeastward, and then south-east to the Bay of Quinte. It has become best known to the people of Ontario, and, indeed, of Canada, through its prominence of being one of the principal waterways of the Trent Valley Canal.

But, though, it is known best to the most of people in connection with the Trent Canal, tourists and campers have become intimately acquainted with it through its good fishing qualities, the west part of it from Rice Lake to Crow Bay being valued the most by anglers and sportsmen, as this is the part where the heavy lunge and the largest bass are to be found in the greater number.

When the Trent leaves Rice Lake it runs eastward to Hastings, a distance of six miles, where it has become much reduced in width, and then flows at a moderate rate for a distance of eight miles, when Trent Bridge is reached, a small unincorporated village, three miles directly south of Havelock, and nine miles from the town of Campbellford. The direction of the river changes more easterly here, and flows for seven miles to Healey's Falls, where picturesque scenery and good fishing are found combined. Below the Falls the river flows much faster, passing through Campbellford, and gradually turning south and flowing into Lake Ontario.

The Trent River flows at a moderate rate, quickening and slackening its pace in certain places. It is from 100 yards to a quarter of a mile wide, in some places expanding into large bays. There are many islands in the course of the river between Trent Bridge and Healey's Falls, one of which about a mile east of the bridge covers 700 acres.

When going to the Trent via Havelock it is not necessary to write ahead arranging for rigs and boats, as liverymen are always at the train and five minutes after you step off the train you can have a rig ready to transport you and your luggage to your destination. After a ride of twenty minutes over a good road, Trent Bridge is reached, where several large boarding houses are situated, one of which is on an island in mid stream, on the direct road to Campbellford. On the south side of the river is Jeff's Grove, where there are a number of cottages, which can be rented at a reasonable rate. If the boarding houses or the cottages at the Bridge do not suit your fancy a splendid place can be found to pitch a tent, on the shaded shores, east or west of the Bridge. Many find it much nicer to be away from the Bridge, as that beautiful and cool spot attracts a good many picnics, which might interfere with the comfort and fishing of the camper. Row boats or canoes can be rented by the hour, day or week. The regular price is 10 cents an hour, or 50 cents a day. Rowers who can give you good advice as to the time and place for fishing can be engaged. Rods, or trawling lines can also be hired or bought, and minnows, frogs and worms for bait, can also be easily secured.

Above the village of Hastings there are also some first class places for camping and fishing, during almost all the summer. At Hastings there is a lock and below this and as far down as Trent Bridge is an ideal place for trawling, for the lordly 'lunge, which bite freely at either spoon or a live minnow. Below the bridge there are some fine places for still fishing, but trawling will generally give good results between the hours of 4 and 7 a.m. Down the river about a mile there is a large expansion where a branch of the river flows around an island which is called 'Lunge Bay, where, just outside the weed beds a plentiful supply of small lunge and black bass can be had, as they go there for the minnows, which swarm among the weeds. Going still further down the river about three miles, below the bridge, there is an expansion called Mud Lake, and there 'lunge from 5 to 20 lbs. may be taken during the open season.

But the spots of spots for the prize black bass of all weights is below Healey Falls, where the stream widens considerably after falling 30 feet over a rocky ledge, and there, in the deep, fast-flowing waters, the bass are found in all their glory.

After leaving Healey Falls, the Trent flows into Crow Bay, where fishing is excellent at all times during the season. After leaving Crow Bay, fishing is of practically no importance.

Trent River is especially valued by campers from Toronto and Buffalo as being conveniently reached. Leaving Toronto in the morning, Havelock, a distance of 100 miles, is reached at noon, and before 2 o'clock you can be on the river at Trent Bridge. It takes a little longer to reach Healey Falls, as it is nine miles from Havelock. There is a large boarding-house at Healey Falls, which can also be reached from Campbellford, a distance of six miles. Those who intend spending the holiday under canvas can get supplies near the station at Havelock, and potatoes, butter, eggs, milk, etc., can be got from the farmers in the neighbourhood of their camp. A half a day could be added for those who have not long to spend in search of the finny tribe, by leaving Toronto at 10 o'clock the night before, and reaching Havelock at 1 a.m., where hotel accommodation can be had close at hand. By rising early you can be on the river at 5 o'clock, just in time to catch some of the large "fresh water sharks" which are out at that time in search of breakfast, and before the sun is dropping below the western horizon you will have all that is allowed you by law.

Trent Bridge is a very entertaining place, for there is something new to see and admire each day. It is indeed a pleasure, and of much interest, to listen to some of the old hunters and trappers, who make their homes along the river and who live in the summer by fishing and catching the large frogs, whose legs are very valuable, and in the winter by hunting and odd jobs, such as, mending boats, nails and paddles. By consulting one of these sons of nature you are sure to be able to find the good places in a short time.

The mail comes into Trent Bridge once a day from Campbellford and Havelock, and the Toronto and Peterborough papers reach you next day at noon.

A bath in the cool, sparkling waters of the Trent is a most refreshing operation, which, by opening the pores of your skin, is as valuable as a large stock of medicine in keeping the body in the best of health.

Persons residing in Peterborough, and who wish to visit this beautiful summer resort, may come down to Havelock by any train and soon reach the river. A most delightful trip for those in possession of a yacht would be to sail down the Otonabee River, across Rice Lake, and thence down the Trent.

If those from Toronto have only a few days at their disposal, it would be best to leave Toronto Saturday morning, arriving on the Trent at 2 p.m., and they need not leave until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Those doing this can procure half rate tickets on the C.P.R.

The camping season at Trent River is well advanced, and so far has been a very successful one, the summer resorts being crowded all the time. The lunge are biting good but the black bass are not biting as good as at the first of the month.

Among the guests at Cedar Island summer resort at Trent Bridge are I. Wagner, Harry Anderson, A. J. Schnider of Dayton, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Jas Gress of Toronto, Mr. D Crawford of Toronto, Lewis Carr, Mrs. Carr, Walter Carr of Dayton, O.; and W. D Fletcher, of Toronto.

Messrs. Davis, Jackson and Braund of Toronto have pitched tent at Healey Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Croft, Master Anthony and Master Christopher Croft and Miss Hilda Caplan of Toronto are camping at their cottage on Cedar Island, Trent Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Christie and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Christie of Toronto have taken possession of their cottage at Jeffs' Grove, Trent Bridge.

Mr. F. C. McMaster of Havelock who has just gone into camp, has bought a large, beautiful gasoline yacht.

Mr. Fred Keller of Toronto is spending the summer months at his home at Healey Falls.

Mr. A. C. Dunlop of Havelock has taken possession of his cottage at Cedar Point, Trent Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Beatty and family of town are camping at Trent Bridge.

Mr. Crosset of Buffalo spent a few days fishing at Trent Bridge last week.

Mrs. Burns and family, of 17 Caer street, Toronto, spent a few days at Trent Bridge last week.

FLOOD PROPERTY ON CHARLOTTE STREET

Lack of Proper Drainage is Alleged and Consequence is That Property Owners are Losers

On the newly graded end of Charlotte street, east from Water street, a wash-out is reported opposite to the entrance to Mr. Edward Green's property, where formerly a culvert carried off the water from his premises. Since the filling in of this new piece of work, none was provided and the want of a drain is evident. With the number of rigs entering these premises, the city is liable to be called on for heavy damages, until the natural conditions called for, are restored.

WORTH TAKING

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime, is pronounced by a prominent physician to be the best mixture—for the cure of the kidney, bladder, and all urinary troubles.

This says the doctor, is the most simple though remarkable prescription ever written to cleanse the system of impurities and waste matter. It acts as a powerful tonic to the kidneys, forcing them to filter out the acids and poisons, overcoming rheumatism, lame back, sciatica and other afflictions arising from sour, impure blood.

The ingredients can be procured at any good drug store, and being purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can easily be mixed at home.

If you have a suffering friend show this to him, as he will undoubtedly be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended a remedy.

Moran of the Lady Letty

ture of the leak until low water the next morning.

"Well, here we are," said Moran, her thumbs in her belt. "What next? We may be here for two days; we may be here for two years. It all depends upon how bad a hole she has. Have we 'put in for repairs,' or have we been cast away? Can't tell till tomorrow morning. Meanwhile I'm hungry."

They pledged each other.

Half of the stores of the schooner were water soaked, but upon examination Wilbur found that enough remained intact to put them beyond all fear for the present.

"There's plenty of water up the creek," he said, "and we can snare all the quail we want, and then there's the fish and abalone. Even if the stores were gone we could make out very well."

The schooner's cabin was full of water, and Wilbur's hammock was gone, so the pair decided to camp on shore. In that torrid weather to sleep in the open air was a luxury.

In great good spirits the two sat down to their first meal on land. Moran cooked a supper that, barring the absence of coffee, was delicious. The whisky was had from aboard, and they pledged each other, standing up, in something over two stiff fingers.

"Moran," said Wilbur, "you ought to have been born a man."

"At all events, mate," she said—"at all events, I'm not a girl."

"No!" exclaimed Wilbur as he filled his pipe. "No, you're just Moran—Moran of the Lady Letty."

"And I'll stay that, too," she said decisively.

Never had an evening been more beautiful in Wilbur's eyes. There was not a breath of air. The stillness was so profound that the faint murmur of the blood behind the eardrums became an oppression. The ocean tiptoed toward the land with tiny rustling steps. The west was one gigantic stained window, the ocean floor a solid shimmer of opalescence. Behind them sullen purples marked the horizon, hooded with mountain crests, and after a long while the moon shrugged a gleaming shoulder into view.

Wilbur, dressed in Chinese jeans and blouse, with Chinese wicker sandals on his bare feet, sat with his back against the whale's skull, smoking quietly. For a long time there was no conversation. Then at last:

"No," said Moran in a low voice. "This is the life I'm made for. In six years I've not spent three consecutive weeks on land. Now that Ellert"—she always spoke of her father by his first name—"now that Ellert is dead, I've not a tie, not a relative, not even a friend, and I don't wish it."

"But the loneliness of the life, the solitude," said Wilbur—"that's what I don't understand. Did it ever occur to you that the best happiness is the happiness that one shares?"

Moran clasped a knee in both hands and looked out to sea. She never wore a hat, and the red light of the afterglow was turning her rye hued hair to saffron.

"Hoh!" she exclaimed, her heavy voice pitched even lower than usual. "Who could understand or share any of my pleasures or be happy when I'm happy? And, besides, I'm happiest when I'm alone—I don't want any one."

"But," hesitated Wilbur, "one is not always alone. After all, you are a girl, and men, sailor men especially, are beasts when it's a question of a woman—an unprotected woman."

"I'm stronger than most men," said Moran simply. "If you, for instance, had been like some men I should have fought you. It wouldn't have been the first time," she added, smoothing one huge braid between her palms.

Wilbur looked at her with intent curiosity—noted again, as if for the first time, the rough, blue overalls thrust into the shoes; the coarse flannel shirt open at the throat, the belt with its sheath knife, her arms big and white and tattooed in sailor fashion, her thick, muscular neck; her red face, with its pale blue eyes and almost massive jaw, and her hair, her heavy, yellow, fragrant hair, that lay over her shoulder and breast, coiling and looping in her lap.

"No," he said, with a long breath, "I don't make it out. I knew you were out of my experience, but I begin to think now that you are out of even my imagination. You are right, you should keep to yourself. You should be alone—your mate isn't made yet. You are splendid just as you are," while under his breath he added, his teeth clinching, "but I love you!"

It was growing late, the stars were all out, the moon riding high. Moran yawned.

"Mate, I think I'll turn in. We'll have to be at that schooner early in the morning, and I make no doubt she'll give us plenty to do." Wilbur hesitated to reply, waiting to take his cue from what next she should say. "It's hot enough to sleep where we are," she added, "without going aboard the Bertha, though we might have a couple of blankets off to lie on. This sand's as hard as a plank."

Without answering, Wilbur showed her a couple of blanket rolls he had brought off while he was unloading part of the stores that afternoon. They took one apiece and spread them on the sand by the bleached whale's skull. Moran pulled off her boots and stretched herself upon her blanket with absolute unconcern, her hands clasped under her head. Wilbur rolled up his coat for a pillow and settled himself for the night with an assumed self possession. There was a long silence. Moran yawned again.

"I pulled the heel off my boot this morning," she said lazily, "and I've been limping all day."

"I noticed it," answered Wilbur. "Kitchell had a new pair aboard somewhere, if they're not spoiled by the water now."

"Yes?" she said indifferently. "We'll look them up in the morning."

Again there was silence.

"I wonder," she began again, staring up into the dark, "if Charlie took that frying pan off with him when he went."

"I don't know. He probably did."

"It was the only thing we had to cook abalones in. Make me think to look into the galley tomorrow. This ground's as hard as nails, for all your blankets. Well, good night, mate. I'm going to sleep."

"Good night, Moran."

Three hours later Wilbur, who had not closed his eyes, sat up and looked at Moran, sleeping quietly, her head in a pale glory of hair—looked at her and then around him at the silent, deserted land.

"I don't know," he said to himself. "Am I a right minded man and a thoroughbred, or a mushhead, or merely a prudent, sensible sort of chap that values his skin and bones? I'd be glad to put a name to myself." Then more earnestly he added, "Do I love her too much, or not enough, or love her the wrong way, or how?" He leaned toward her, so close that he could catch the savor of her breath and the smell of her neck, warm with sleep. The sleeve of the coarse blue shirt was drawn up, and it seemed to him as if her bare arm, flung out at full length, had some sweet aroma of its own. Wilbur drew softly back.

"No," he said to himself decisively; "no, I guess I am a thoroughbred after all." It was only then that he went to sleep.

When he awoke, the sea was pink with the sunrise, and one of the bay heads was all distorted and stratified by a mirage. It was hot already. Moran was sitting a few paces from him, braiding her hair.

"Hello, Moran!" he said, rousing up. "How long have you been up?"

"Since before sunrise," she said. "I've had a bath in the cove where the creek runs down. I saw a jack rabbit."

"Seen anything of Charlie and the others?"

"They've camped on the other side of the bay. But look yonder," she added.

The junk had come in overnight and was about a mile and a half from shore.

"The deuce!" exclaimed Wilbur. "What are they after?"

"Fresh water, I guess," said Moran, knotting the end of a braid. "We'd better have breakfast in a hurry and turn to on the Bertha. The tide is going out fast."

While they breakfasted they kept an eye on the schooner, watching her sides and flanks as the water fell slowly away.

"Don't see anything very bad yet," said Wilbur.

"It's somewheres in her stern," remarked Moran.

In an hour's time the Bertha Millner was high and dry, and they could examine her at their leisure. It was Moran who found the leak.

"Pshaw!" she exclaimed, with a half laugh. "We can stick that up in half an hour."

A single plank had started away from the sternpost; that was all. Otherwise the schooner was as sound as the day she left San Francisco. Moran and Wilbur had the damage repaired by noon, nailing the plank to its place and calking the seams with lamp wick. Nor could their utmost careful search discover any further injury.

"We're ready to go," said Moran, "so soon as she'll float. We can dig away around the bows here, make fast a line to that rock out yonder and warp her off at next high tide. Hello! Who's this?"

It was Charlie. While the two had been at work he had come around the shore unobserved and now stood at some little distance, smiling at them calmly.

"Well, what do you want?" cried Moran angrily. "If you had your rights, my friend, you'd be keelhauled."

"I tinkum velly hot day."

"You didn't come here to say that. What do you want?"

"I come hab talkee-talk."

"We don't want to have any talkee-talk with such vermin as you. Get out!"

Charlie sat down on the beach and wiped his forehead.

"I come buy one piece bacon. China boy no hab got."

"We aren't selling bacon to deserters," cried Moran. "And I'll tell you this, you filthy little monkey: Mr. Wilbur and I are going home—back to Frisco—this afternoon, and we're going to leave you and the rest of your vipers to rot on this beach or to be murdered by beachcombers." And she pointed out toward the junk. Charlie did not even follow the direction of her gestures, and from this very indifference Wilbur guessed that it was precisely because of the beachcombers that the Machiavelian Chinaman had wished to treat with his old officers.

"No hab got bacon?" he queried, lifting his eyebrows in surprise.

"Plenty, but not for you."

Charlie took a buckskin bag from his blouse and counted out a handful of silver and gold.

"I buy um last two pieces tobacco."

"Look here," said Wilbur deliberately, "don't you try to flimflam us,

"I t'ink him want catchum schooner."

Charlie. We know you too well. You don't want bacon and you don't want tobacco."

"China boy heap plenty much sick. Two boy velly sick. I tinkum die pretty soon tomolla. You catchum slop chest; you gib me five, seven liver pill. Sabe?"

"I'll tell you what you want?" cried Moran, aiming a forefinger at him, pistol fashion. "You've got a blue funk because those Kai-gingh beachcombers have come into the bay, and you're more frightened of them than you are of the schooner, and now you want us to take you home."

"How muchee?"

"A thousand dollars."

Wilbur looked at her in surprise. He had expected a refusal.

"You no hab got liver ill?" inquired Charlie blandly.

Moran turned her back on him. She and Wilbur conferred in a low voice.

"We'd better take them back if we decently can," said Moran. "The schooner is known of course in Frisco. She went out with Kitchell and a crew of coolies, and she comes back with you and I aboard, and if we tell the truth about it it will sound like a lie, and we'll have no end of trouble. Then, again, can just you and I work the Bertha into port? In these kind of airs it's plain work, but suppose we have dirty weather? I'm not so sure."

"I gib you ten dollah fo' ten liver pill," said Charlie.

"Will you give us $1,000 to set you down in San Francisco?"

Charlie rose, "I go back. I tell um China boy what you say 'bout liver pill. Bimeby I come back."

"That means he'll take our offer back to his friends," said Wilbur in a low voice. "You best hurry chop-chop," he called after Charlie. "We go home pretty soon."

"He knows very well we can't get away before high tide to-morrow," said Moran. "He'll take his time."

Later on in the afternoon Moran and Wilbur saw a small boat put off from the junk and make a landing by the creek. The beachcombers were taking on water. The boat made three trips before evening, but the beachcombers made no show of molesting the undefended schooner or in any way interfering with Charlie's camp on the other side of the bay.

"No," exclaimed Moran between her teeth as she and Wilbur were cooking supper—"no; they don't need to. They've got about $150,000 of loot on board—our loot too. It goes against the grain."

The moon rose considerably earlier that night, and by 12 o'clock the bay was flooded with its electrical whiteness. Wilbur and Moran could plainly make out the junk tied up to the kelp offshore. They had slept but a short time when Wilbur was awakened by Moran shaking his arm.

"There's something wrong out there," he whispered—"something wrong with the junk. Hear 'em squealing? Look, look, look!" she cried of a sudden. "It's their turn now."

Wilbur could see the crank junk, with its staring red eyes, high stern and prow, as distinctly as though at noonday. As he watched, it seemed as if a great wave caught her suddenly under foot. She heaved up bodily out of the water, dropped again with a splash, rose again and again fell back into her own ripples, that, widening from her sides, broke crisply on the sand at Wilbur's feet.

Then the commotion ceased abruptly. The bay was quiet again. An hour passed, then two. The moon began to set. Moran and Wilbur, wearied of watching, had turned in again, when they were startled to wakefulness by the creak of oarlocks and the sound of a boat grounding in the sand.

The collies, the deserters from the Bertha Millner, where there. Charlie came forward.

"Ge' lup! Ge' lup!" he said "Junk all smash! Kai-gingh come ashore. I t'ink him want catchum schooner."

CHAPTER IX.

"What smashed the junk? What wrecked her?" demanded Moran.

The deserting Chinamen huddled around Charlie, drawing close, as if finding comfort in the feel of each other's elbows.

"No can tell," answered Charlie. "Him shake, then lif' up all the same as we. Bimeby too much lif' up. Him go all to smash. Four pieces Chinamen diown."

"Drown! Did any of them drown?" exclaimed Moran.

"Four piece diown," reiterated Charlie calmly. "One, thlee, five, nine, come asho'. Him other no come."

"Where are the ones that came ashore?" asked Wilbur.

Charlie waved a hand back into the night. "Him make um camp topside ole house."

"That old whaling camp," prompted Moran. Then to Wilbur, "You remember—about a hundred yards north the creek?"

Wilbur, Moran and Charlie had drawn off a little from the Bertha Millner's crew. The latter squatted in a line along the shore—silent, reserved, looking vaguely seaward through the night. Moran spoke again, her scowl thickening:

"What makes you think the beachcombers want our schooner?"

"Him catchum schooner sure! Him want um boat to go home. No can get."

"Let's put off to-night—right away," said Wilbur.

"Low tide," answered Moran, "and besides—Charlie, did you see them close? Were you near them?"

"No go muchee close."

"Did they have something with them reeved up in a hammock—something that smelled sweet—like a joss stick, for instance?"

"No savvy; no can tell. Him try catchum schooner sure. Him velly bad China boy. See Yup China boy, velly bad. I b'long Sam Yup. Savvy?"

"Ah, the tongs?"

"Yass. I Sam Yup. Him," and he pointed to the Bertha's crew, "Sam Yup. All we Sam Yup; nisi him," and he waved a hand toward the beachcombers' camp; "him See Yup. Savvy?"

"It's a tong row," said Wilbur. "They're blood enemies, the See Yups and Sam Yups."

Moran felt thoughtful, digging her boot heel into the sand, her thumbs hooked into her belt, her forehead gathered into a heavy frown. There was a silence.

"One thing," she said at last, "we can't give up the schooner. They would take out stores as well, and then where are we? Marooned, by Jove! How far do you suppose we are from the nearest town? Three hundred miles wouldn't be a bad guess, and they've got the loot—our ambergris—I'll swear to that! They didn't leave that aboard when the junk sank."

"Look here, Charlie," she said, turning to the Chinaman. "If the beachcombers take the schooner—the Bertha Millner—from us, we'll be left to starve on this beach."

"I tinkum yass!"

"How are we going to get home? Are you going to let them do it? Are you going to let them have our schooner?"

"I tink no can have."

"Look here," she went on, with sudden energy. "There are only nine of them now to our eight. We're about even. We can fight those swine. I know we can. If we jumped their camp and rushed them hard, believe me we could run them into the sea. Mate," she cried, suddenly facing Wilbur, "are you game? Have you got blood in you? Those beachcombers are going to attack us tomorrow before high tide; that's flat. There's going to be a fight anyway. We can't let them have the schooner. It's starvation for us if we do.

"They mean to make a dash for the Bertha, and we've got to fight them off. If there's any attacking to be done, I purpose to do it! I propose we jump their camp before it gets light—now, to-night, right away, run in on them there, take them by surprise, do for one or two of them if we have to and get that ambergris, then cut back to the schooner, up our sails and wait for the tide to float us off. We can do it; I know we can. Mate, will you back me up?"

"Back you up? You bet I'll back you up, Moran! But"— Wilbur hesitated. "We could fight them so much more to advantage from the deck of the schooner. Why not wait for them aboard? We could have our sails up anyhow, and we could keep the beachcombers off till the tide rose high enough to drive them back. Why not do that?"

"I tink bes' wait topside boat," assented Charlie.

"Yes; why not, Moran?"

"Because," shouted the girl, "they've got our loot! I don't propose to be plundered of $150,000 if I can help it."

"Wassa dat?" demanded Charlie. "Hunder fiftee thousand you hab got?"

"I did have it—we had it, the mate and I. We triced a sperm whale for the beachcombers, and when they thought they had everything out of him we found a lump of ambergris in him that will weigh close to 200 pounds. Now look here, Charlie. The beachcombers have got the stuff. It's mine; I'm going to have it back. Here's the lay: Your men can fight; you can fight yourself. We'll make it a business proposition. Help me to get that ambergris, and if we get it I'll give each one of the men $1,000 and I'll give you $1,500. You can take that up and be independent rich the rest of your life. You can chuck it and rot on this beach; for it's fight or lose the schooner. You know that as well as I do. If you've got to fight anyhow, why not fight where it's going to pay the most?"

Charlie hesitated, pursing his lips.

"How about this, Moran?" Wilbur broke forth now, unheard by Charlie. "I've just been thinking. Have we got a right to this ambergris after all? The beachcombers found the whale. It was theirs. How have we the right to take the ambergris away from them any more than the sperm and the oil and the bone? It's theirs, if you come to that. I don't know as we've the right to it."

"Darn you!" shouted Moran in a blaze of fury. "Right to it; right to it! If I haven't, who has? Who found it? Those dirty monkeys might have stood some show to a claim if they'd held to the one-third bargain and offered to divvy with us when they got me where I couldn't help myself. I don't say I'd give in now if they had—give in to let 'em walk off with a hundred thousand dollars that I've got as good a claim to as they have! But they've saved me the trouble of arguing the question. They've taken it all—all—and there's no bargain in the game at all now. Now, the stuff belongs to the strongest of us, and I'm glad of it. They thought they were the strongest, and now they're going to find out. We're dumped down here on this God forsaken sand, and there's no law and no policeman. The strongest of us are going to live and the weakest are going to die. I'm going to live, and I'm going to have my loot, too, and I'm not going to split fine hairs with these robbers at this time of day. I'm going to have it all, and that's the law you're under in this case, my righteous friend!"

She turned her back upon him, spinning around upon her heel, and Wilbur felt ashamed of himself and proud of her.

"I go talkee-talk to China boy," said Charlie, coming up.

For about five minutes the Chinamen conferred together, squatting in a circle on the beach. Moran paced up and down by the stranded dory. Wilbur leaned against the bleached whale skull, his hands in his pockets.

"All light," said Charlie, coming out from the group at last. "Him fight plenty."

"Now," exclaimed Moran, "we've no time to waste! What arms have we got?"

"Wo've the cutting-in spades," said Wilbur. "There are five of them. They're nearly ten feet long, and the blades are as sharp as razors. You couldn't want better pikes."

"That's an idea," returned Moran, evidently willing to forget her outburst of a moment before, perhaps already sorry for it. The party took stock of their weapons and five huge cutting-in spades, a heavy knife from the galley and a revolver of doubtful effectiveness were divided among them. The crew took the spades, Charlie the knife and Wilbur the revolver. Moran had her own knife, a hatless dirk, such as is affected by all Norwegians, whether landsmen or sailors. They were examining this armament and Moran was suggesting a plan of attack when Hoang, the leader of the beachcombers and one other Chinaman appeared some little distance below on the beach. The moon was low, and there was no great light, but the two beachcombers caught the flash of the points of the spades. They halted and glanced narrowly and suspiciously at the group.

"Beasts!" muttered Moran. "They are up to the game. There's no surprising them now. Talk to him, Charlie. See what he wants."

Moran, Wilbur and Charlie came part of the way toward Hoang and his fellow and paused some fifteen feet distant, and a long colloquy ensued. It soon became evident, however, that in reality Hoang wanted nothing of them, though with great earnestness he asserted his willingness to charter the Bertha Millner back to San Francisco.

"That's not his game at all," said Moran to Wilbur in a low tone, her eyes never leaving those of the beachcomber. "He's pretty sure he could seize the Bertha and never pay us a stiver. They've come down to spy on us, and they're doing it too. There's no good trying to rush their camp now. They'll go back and tell the crew that we know their lay."

It was still very dark. Near the hulk of the beached Bertha Millner were grouped her crew, each armed with a long and lancelike cutting-in spade, watching and listening to the conference of the chiefs. The moon, almost down, had flushed blood red, violently streaking the gray, smooth surface of the bay with her reflection. The tide was far out, rippling quietly along the reaches of wet sand. In the pauses of the conference the vast, muffling silence shut down with the abruptness of a valve suddenly closed.

How it happened, just who made the first move, in precisely what manner the action had been planned or what led up to it Wilbur could not afterward satisfactorily explain. There was a rush forward—he remembered that much—a dull thudding of feet over the resounding beach surface, a moment's writhing struggle with a half naked brawn figure that used knife and nail and tooth, broken only by the sound of their own panting. In that whirl of swift action Wilbur could reconstruct but two brief pictures—the Chinaman, Hoang's companion, flying like one possessed along the shore; Hoang himself flung headlong into the arms of the Bertha's collies, and Moran,

"How will you talk?"

her eyes blazing, her thick braids flying, brandishing her fist as she shouted at the top of her deep voice, "We've got you, anyhow!"

They had taken Hoang prisoner, whether by treachery or not Wilbur did not exactly know, and, even if unfair means had been used, he could not repress a feeling of delight and satisfaction as he told himself that in the very beginning of the fight that was to follow he and his mates had gained the first advantage.

As the action of that night's events became more and more accelerated Wilbur could not but notice the change in Moran. It was very evident that the old Norse fighting blood of her was all astir—brutal, merciless, savage beyond all control. A sort of obsession seized upon her at the near approach of battle, a frenzy of action that was checked by nothing, that was insensible to all restraint. At times it was impossible for him to make her hear him, or when she heard to understand what he was saying. Her vision contracted. It was evident that she could not see distinctly. Wilbur could no longer conceive of her as a woman of the days of civilization. She was lapsing back to the eighth century again—to the vikings, the sea wolves, the berserkers.

"Now you're going to talk!" she cried to Hoang as the bound Chinaman sat upon the beach, leaning his back against the great skull. "Charlie, ask him if they saved the ambergris when the junk went down—if they've got it now?" Charlie put the question in Chinese, but the beachcomber only twinkled his vicious eyes upon them and held his peace. With the full sweep of her arm, her fist clinched till the knuckles whitened, Moran struck him in the face.

"Now will you talk?" she cried. Hoang wiped the blood from his face upon his shoulder and set his jaws. He did not answer.

"You will talk before I'm done with you, my friend. Don't get any wrong notions in your head about that," Moran contigued, her teeth clinched. "Charlie," she added, "is there a file aboard the schooner?"

"I tinkum yass; boss hab got file."

"In the tool chest, isn't it?" Charlie nodded, and Moran ordered it to be fetched.

"If we're to fight that crowd," she said, speaking to herself and in a rapid voice, thick from excitement and passion, "we've got to know where they've hid the loot and what weapons they've got. If they have a rifle or a shotgun with them it's going to make a big difference for us. The other fellow escaped and has gone back to warn the rest. It's fight now, and no mistake."

The Chinaman who had been sent aboard the schooner returned, carrying a long, rather coarse grained file. Moran took it from him.

"Now," she said, standing in front of Hoang, "I'll give you one more chance. Answer me. Did you bring off the ambergris, you beast, when your junk sank? Where is it now? How many men have you? What arms have you got? Have your men got a rifle? Charlie, put that all to him in your lingo, so as to make sure that he understands. Tell him if he don't talk I'm going to make him very sick."

Charlie put the questions in Chinese, pausing after each one. Hoang held his peace.

"I gave you fair warning!" shouted Moran angrily, pointing at him with the file. "Will you answer?"

"Him no tell nuttin'," observed Charlie.

"Fetch a cord here," commanded Moran. The cord was brought, and, despite Hoang's struggles and writhings, the file was thrust endways into his mouth and his jaws were bound tightly together upon it by means of the cord passed over his head and under his chin. Some four inches of the file protruded from his lips. Moran took this end and drew it out between the beachcomber's teeth, then pushed it back slowly.

The hideous rasp of the operation turned Wilbur's blood cold within him. He looked away—out to sea, down the beach—anywhere, so that he might not see what was going forward. But the persistent grind and scrape still assaulted his ears. He turned about sharply.

"I—I—I'll go down the beach here a ways," he said quickly. "I can't stand—I'll keep watch to see if the beachcombers come up."

A few minutes later he heard Charlie hailing him.

"Chin-chin heap plenty now," said he, with a grin as Wilbur came up.

Hoang sat on the sand in the midst of the circle. The file and coil of rope lay on the ground near by. The beachcomber was talking in a high keyed singsong, but with a lisp. He told them, partly in pigeon English and partly in Cantonese, which Charlie translated that their men were eight in number and that they had intended to seize the schooner that night, but that probably his own capture had delayed their plans. They had no rifle. A shotgun had been on board, but had gone down with the sinking of the junk. The ambergris had been cut into two lumps and would be found in a couple of old flour sacks in the stern of the boat in which he and his men had come ashore. They were all armed with their little hatchets. He thought two of the men carried knives as well. There was neither pistol nor revolver among them.

"It seems to me," said Wilbur, "that we've got the long end."

"We catchum boss, too," said Charlie, pointing to Hoang.

"And we are better armed," assented Moran. "We've got the cutting-in spades."

"And the revolver, if it will shoot any farther than it will kick."

"They'll give us all the fight we want," declared Moran.

"Oh, him Kai-gingh, him fight all same devil."

"Give the men brandy, Charlie," commanded Moran. "Well rush that camp right away."

The demijohn of spirits was brought down from the Bertha and passed around. Wilbur and Moran drinking from the tin cup, the coolies from the bottle. Hoang was fettered and locked in the Bertha's cabin.

"Now, then, are we ready?" cried Moran.

"I tink all light," answered Charlie.

The party set off down the beach.

The moon had long since gone down, and the dawn was whitening over the eastern horizon. Landward, ragged blankets of morning mist lay close in the hollows here and there. It was profoundly still. The stars were still out. The surface of Magdalena bay was smooth as a sheet of gray silk.

Twenty minutes passed, half an hour, an hour. The party tramped steadily forward, Moran, Wilbur and Charlie leading, the coolies close behind carrying the cutting-in spades over their shoulders. Slowly and in silence they made the half circuit of the bay. The Bertha Millner was far behind them by now, a vague gray mass in the early morning light.

"Did you ever fight before?" Moran suddenly demanded of Charlie.

"One time I fight plenty much in San Flancisco in Washington stleet. Fight um Soo Yups."

Another half hour passed. At times when they halted they began to hear the faint murmur of the creek, just beyond which was the broken and crumbling shanty, relic of an old Portuguese whaling camp, where the beachcombers were camped. At Charlie's suggestion the party made a circuit, describing a half moon, to landward, so as to come out upon the enemy sheltered by the sand dunes. Twenty minutes later they crossed the creek about 400 yards from the shore. Here they spread out into a long line and, keeping an interval of about fifteen feet between each of them, moved cautiously forward. The unevenness of the sand breaks hid the shore from view, but Moran, Wilbur and Charlie knew that by keeping the creek upon their left they would come out directly upon the house.

A few minutes later Charlie held up his hand, and the men halted. The noise of the creek chattering into the tidewater of the bay was plainly audible just beyond. A ridge of sand covered thinly with sagebrush and a faint column of smoke rose into the air over the ridge itself. They were close in. The coolies were halted, and dropping upon their hands and knees, the three leaders crawled to the top of the break. Sheltered by a couple of sagebushes and lying flat to the ground, Wilbur looked over and down upon the beach. The first object he made out was a crazy, roofless house, built of driftwood, the chinks plastered with adobe mud, the door fallen in.

Beyond, on the beach, was a flat bottomed dingey, unpainted and foul with dirt. But all around the house the sand had been scooped and piled to form a low barricade, and behind this barricade Wilbur saw the beachcombers. There were eight of them. They were alert and ready, their hatchets in their hands. The gaze of each of them was fixed directly upon the sand break which sheltered the Bertha Millner's officers and crew. They seemed to Wilbur to look him straight in the eye. They neither moved nor spoke. The silence and absolute lack of motion on the part of these small, half naked Chinamen, with their apelike muzzles and twinkling eyes, were ominous.

There could be no longer any doubt that the beachcombers had known of their enemies' movements and were perfectly aware of their presence behind the sand break. Moran rose to her feet, and Wilbur and Charlie followed her example.

"There's no use hiding," she said. "They know we're here."

Charlie called up the crew. The two parties were ranged face to face. Over the eastern rim of the Pacific the blue whiteness of the early dawn was turning to a dull, roseate gold at the core of the sunrise. The headlands of Magdalena bay stood black against the pale glow. Overhead the greater stars still shone. The monotonous, faint ripple of the creek was the only sound. It was about 3.30 o'clock.

CHAPTER X.

Wilbur had imagined that the fight would be hardly more than a wild rush down the slope of the beach, a dash over the beachcombers' breastworks of sand and a brief hand to hand scrimmage around the old cabin. In all accounts he had ever read of such affairs and in all ideas he had entertained on the subject this had always been the case. The two bodies had shocked together like a college rush, there had been five minutes' play of knife and club and gun, a confused whirl of dust and smoke, and all was over before one had time either to think or be afraid. But nothing of the kind happened that

First allottment of 50,000 Shares at Fifteen Cents per Share

Our Option on this small block of Underwriters' Stock expires August 3rd, 1907—Subscriptions Post-marked at later date will be returned

Do you realize that investments of a hundred or a thousand will grow rapidly into hundreds and thousands and millions of dollars? The over-conservative and skeptical will smile—they will laugh at these predictions, some will even consider this a joke—but remember COBALT, if you please, two or three years ago? Then it was a "vision," it was a "dream," "a flash in the pan," "a bubble," somebody Was "crazy"; bu now it is different. These crazy men are now classed among the smart and keenest business men of the day. The actual value of a few mines are worth at the present date more than one hundred millions of dollars. These are facts.

In presenting this investment for subscription we appeal to the good judgement of sensible persons as to its merit.

It embodies, we believe, a correct method of developing and establishing successful and paying mining enterprises.

We desire to conduct, first of all a successful Mine Developement. We intend this to be done in a way that will be absolutely fair and honest, and bring the largest profit possible to those who co-operate with us.

We, therefore, desire this proposition to be well understood by investors. We wish it to be known just how we propose to develope, establish and operate dividend paying Mining Companies by and through this investment.

THE PLAN.—The plan involved in this proposition is that of uniting or consolidating the investments of a limited number of persons into one sum, and under one management, to be used in acquiring and developing mining properties in this wonderful region.

THE PRINCIPLE involved in this investment we believe, is one of absolute fairness to all interested. The "promotion interest" common to all mining companies, and which is the great unfair feature to investors who put their money into stocks of these companies, and whose money develops and makes the mine, if a mine is developed—does not exist in this proposition. There is no "promotion interest set aside, and against the interest bought and paid for by the investors.

In this proposition the investors, and all the investors, become promotors. They take the "promotion interest" and all the interest. They own the whole enterprise. No matter how large or how small the investment—all stand on an equal basis. Our field of operation is probably one of the greatest, and without doubt the richest, mineralised region in the world.

For its basis, upon which we will establish and build us several great producing, paying mining companies, we will exploit and develop in a mining-like and careful manner exclusive mining properties now known to us, other properties which we may acquire for the mutual benefit of all investors in this Company.

SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES.—The Larder Lake Exploration and Development Comany will incorporate a series, not to exceed five, of Subsidiary Mining Companies upon only the real proven properties acquired.

In each and every subsidiary Company incorporated, whether Mining, Milling, Smelting, Water Power, or Electric Light, the Exploration Company will take 90 per cent. of the capital stock of each Company so incorporated, and will put 10 per cent. of the Capital Stock of each Company in its treasury. It will probably never become necessary to sell any of this Treasury Stock.

Out of the total Capital Stock of each Subsidiary Company, the EXPLORATION COMPANY will retain 50 per cent. as its "Holding Stock." This will always control the Company. It will take and hold 40 per cent. for the mutual benefit of all stockholders in the EXPLORATION COMPANY. This 40 per cent will be known as "Selling Stock," and as a market is created it will be sold, and the proceeds received will be distributed pro rata to the stockholders in the EXPLORATION COMPANY, as their interests may appear.

The stock of the Subsidiary Companies will be inlisted on the New York Curb and Mining Exchanges of the country, and started at 50 cents a share, where it can be bought and sold according to the daily market quotations. This will afford a channal by which stockholders can sell the 40 per cent. "Selling Stock" from time to time, if they wish.

PROPERTIES. — Many different mining properties will be acquired and developed as stock in the EXPLORATION COMPANY, is subscribed for. All properties will be described, and reports submitted regarding same, as soon and as often as they can be examined by the engineer.

The mining properties that will be acquired for this proposition will be located in the gold and silver belt, extending from the Montreal River through Northern Ontario, eastward into Quebec, and will include properties in the Lady Evelyn District, the new Montreal River Silver District, Cobalt District, and the gold districts around Round Lake, Larder Lake, Lake Abitibi, and in the great undeveloped mineralized section of Quebec lying just east of Larder Lake and extending northward to Lake Abitibi.

We shall try and make every dollar count, and make as few mistakes as possible. We hope to create such an interest in this enterprise with investors, that will result in extensive and widespread co-operation.

Under this plan no one can truthfully say that it is not a great mining investment. We want every investor to feel a personal interest in this Mine Development. The investors in this Company will own this enterprise, and we want them to co-operate with us and our associates to make it a great success.

We are now organizing THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY with what we consider sufficient capital ($500,000). We now have options on, and propose to acquire five distinct and separate properties which will be incorporated at $100,000 each (100,000 shares—par value $1.00). The Exploration Company will at all times hold a controlling interest in each of these companies, so that sixty per cent. of the dividends earned and declared will be paid into the treasury of the parent company, and the other forty per cent. distributed among the stockholders on record. This in our opinion will enable us to pay dividends and large ones in the very near future.

The Board of Directors of THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY will be composed only of engineers of national repute, setting a precedent in this line—Mr. Robert Morton will be president, which fact in itself guarantees conservative and able management

Investors have been pouring their money into over capitalized mining companies, they have been plunging about wildly in the hope of some day "striking it rich" never stopping to think for one instant that the greater part of their money never reaches the ground, as a rule 75 per cent. of the money invested in stock schemes goes into the broker's hands. He pays his salesmen 20 to 50 per cent. on every dollar turned in, he must get his own commission and engineers must be paid.

We never had associated with us a stock salesman, we require no commission and our engineers will be our directors, so that every dollar invested with us on this proposition will be honestly used in the purchasing and development of the different properties.

We are now offering for subscription the first allottment of stock in THE LARDER LAKE EXPLORATION AND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY—every hundred shares entitles the holder to forty shares of stock in each of the subsidiary companies to be incorporated, making in all 200 shares of stock in five separate companies, which, as soon as development work is started and dividends announced, will make the stock of the Larder Lake Exploration and Development Company almost invaluable. This first allottment of only 50,000 shares ($1.00 par value) will probably be largely over-subscribed in a few days.

The next allottment will be put out Sept 25, 1907, at 75c per share or higher.

This price (15c.) will positively be withdrawn Aug. 3, 1907. If this allottment is over-subscribed remittances will be promptly returned. Checks, drafts and money orders must accompany all applications and be made payable to the financial agents.

Interim certificates will be promptly returned to subscribers. The stock certificates of the Company representing the shares purchased will be issued and delivered as soon as allottment can be made, after the 3rd of August, to all subscribers who purchase at the first underwriting price prior to that date.

Don't wait! Be wise! Act NOW! NOW IS THE TIME! Here is an opportunity that excels that which you had two or three years ago at Cobalt. Perhaps you will say as you did then, "How do we know they have got any silver up there? Perhaps you say now "How do you know there is any gold at Larder Lake?"

A PORTABLE STOVE.

The Latest Boon to the Housekeeper and Automobilist.

DENATURED ALCOHOL IS USED

The New Stove Is No Use For Heating Purposes—It Is Intended For Cooking Only—It Can Be Packed In a Suit Case With Plenty of Extra Room.

The very latest boon to the housekeeper comes in the shape of a portable stove that fills so many long felt wants in the culinary department that it is difficult to know where to begin in enumerating them. This portable blessing follows naturally the introduction of denatured alcohol into the kitchen. It is so light that a child can carry it. It is absolutely safe to handle, and it burns with the obliging readiness of a gas stove without the objection of being a fixture to the source of supply.

The stove can be prepared for cooking purposes in a very few moments. At the top, above the two burners, there is a reservoir holding a quart of alcohol. The material is put up in quart bottles, just enough to fill the reservoir.

The alcohol is poured into the reservoir, and then by turning one of the handles in front of the stove the liquid is released, to run down into a dish underneath the burner. When the little dish is filled with the liquid the alcohol in it is set alight. It burns with a gentle flame until entirely consumed.

THE FIRST THING TO DO IS TO FILL THIS RESERVOIR.

The heat from this source acts upon the supply in the reservoir, vaporizing this and setting free the supply of gas for cooking purposes.

After this little preliminary operation the gas is set to work just as with a regular luminating gas stove, by turning the tap and allowing the vapor to escape through the burners. A match sets it alight, and the stove is immediately bubbling over with eagerness to help in the family cooking. The gas is turned off in the same way. There is no danger at all of explosion at any stage of the process.

The new stove is no use for heating purposes. It is intended for cooking only. Its advantages besides the one of providing a stove that is readily manipulated is that it can be carried with ease to any place where the cooking operation is to be performed. For picnic parties this stove will be invaluable. It can be packed in a suit case, with plenty of space to spare, and when the rendezvous is reached it can be put into commission in less time than it takes to gather wood for a gypsy fire. It can be used on board the launches and catboats that are popular for summer parties and will make motorists serenely independent of wayside lunch houses.—Philadelphia Press.

DUE TO NEGLECTING TO KEEP THE LIVER RIGHT, THE DIGESTION GOOD, THE BOWELS HEALTHY BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You may shudder to think of yourself as a dyspeptic—as one who, through stomach troubles, has come to look on the dark side of things, and to be ill-tempered and grouchy—but if you neglect treatment for repeated attacks of indigestion you will most assuredly become a chronic dyspeptic.

The great mistake is to put the blame on the stomach, and strive in vain for lasting benefit from tablets and so-called digestives. The real cause of trouble in nine cases out of ten is with the liver.

Thousands of persons are being cured of complicated cases of indigestion by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct action on the liver, thus ensuring a good flow of bile—good digestion and healthful action of the bowels.

Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes: "I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up, I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured, and can eat any kind of food without feeling any bad effects. They have made a new man and a younger man of me, and I cannot say too much in their praise.

"Dr. Chase's Ointment cured a friend of mine of piles when he was so bad he could not work or even stand up."

Mr. Wm. G. Purdy, Bridgetown, N. S., writes:—"When I wrote to you for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I was a sufferer from kidney disease, stomach troubles, and liver and bowel disorders. By using one pill at bedtime every night my health has gradually improved until I can say that I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. All other medicines failed, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me."

This treatment is thorough, far-reaching and of lasting benefit, and cures the most severe cases of chronic and intestinal indigestion, as well as biliousness and constipation; 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Glove Handkerchiefs.

The glove handkerchiefs are very small and are edged with lace. They are tiny enough to tuck in the glove and are most elaborate in design. A bride whose penchant is pretty handkerchiefs has nearly a hundred, all worked in various ways. They are of lawn, lace, pongee, silk and cotton. And they are in all colors and in many kinds of stripes and plaids. They are in three sizes—the tiny glove mouchoir, the handkerchief for the drawing room and the larger one for the street gown.

Headache Cure.

One of the quickest known ways of dispelling headache is to give some of the muscles—those in the legs, for instance—a little hard, sharp work to do. The reason is obvious. Muscular exertion flushes the parts engaged in it and so depletes the brain. When your head aches take a stiff walk or a short bicycle ride.

CROCHET BRIDGE PURSE.

It May Be Achieved by the Skilled Worker.

With Irish crochet of any and all types so very modish, this dainty bridge purse becomes interesting. It is made in fine linen thread and shows a lining of rich silk, from which it can be readily detached for cleaning purposes. It hangs suspended from the wrist by two drawstrings, which form the fastening of the purse.

The purse at its best is made in fine purse silk, ivory or cream shade, lined with lambskin leather and tiny gold chains used instead of the drawstrings. It then looks the very acme of exquisite perfection and would form a very acceptable present, especially when made by the nimble fingers of the giver.

IN FINE LINEN THREAD.

While the separate motifs appear bewildering to the novice, they may all be blended with no great labor. In silk the purse is really beautiful.

Good Things to Eat.

For a delicious afternoon dainty try nut wafers. To make them, butter the inside of a granite saucepan, then put into it a cupful of light brown sugar, a cupful of granulated sugar and two-thirds of a cupful of sweet cream. Cook until the mixture forms a soft ball when tested in cold water, add a cupful of chopped nut meats of any kind, flavor with vanilla and stir until of a cream consistency and commencing to harden. Reheat over hot water until melted, stirring constantly, then paper.

Salmon Croquettes.—Drain a can of salmon and pick it over well; make half a cup of rich white sauce and beat the two together, stirring and beating until the fish is smooth; season with salt and pepper and spread in a mass two inches thick on a platter and set aside for two hours. Then cut into pieces and mold in small pyramids; dip each in sifted breadcrumbs, then in slightly beaten egg yolk, then in crumbs again and fry, two at a time, in deep fat in a wire basket. Drain on brown paper in the oven.

Crisp Ginger Cake.—One quart of dark molasses, half pound of butter, or lard and butter mixed if you prefer, half pint of sugar, one tablespoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one tablespoonful of bread soda, half pint of either milk or water, one tablespoonful of salt and flour enough to make a dough to roll out. Beat sugar, butter and molasses, add spices and salt, dissolve the soda in the milk and then quickly add the flour. Roll out in thin sheets and bake in a quick oven. You can add other spices if you desire. This is the same quantity I make for three people.

CHIC STYLES.

Stunning Effects In Striped Voile. Smart Silk Sunshades.

Checked voile in a dark color with white dots makes a stunning bodice that will be particularly serviceable for wear on cool spring days. As the material is too sheer to be practical, a slip of some dainty light silk must be used as a lining.

Although the linen parasol is still exceedingly fashionable, the silk parasol seems to be also decidedly popular among the newest early summer fashions. The lingerie parasol, with its wealth of lace and embroidery, will undoubtedly hold its own, but the plain linen parasol for less elaborate occasions, which was so overwhelmingly popular last season, must this year share the honors with silk sunshades.

THE FASHIONABLE STRIPE—5640, 5662.

All sorts of weaves in straw are fashionable, although the preference is for the lighter and more transparent. Crin is used again, but the extremely fine straw is really smarter, the best hats being light in weight, no matter how much trimming there is on them.

For morning the brown silk sunshades are rivaling the green shades which have been popular for so many seasons. They are shown not only in the ruffled parasols, but in those finished in tucks and hemstitching.

The gown pictured is of green and white striped voile. The ruffled skirt is very smart and easy for the home dressmaker to manage. The skeleton bodice has a blouse and sleeves of lace.

MODISH CONCEITS.

Athletic Girl Has Golf Sticks, Rackets and Cars Worked on Her Stocks.

The embroidered stock is the thing this season. The smartest neckwear displays a variety of designs, and some of them are in colored flowers and emblems. Tennis rackets, golf sticks, oars and even yachts are seen on the stocks of the athletic girl.

Smart women are wearing high cut slippers with front portion—toe, vamp and long instep plastron—in one piece and beautifully beaded in gold and jet or in colors. Side laced sandals, with delicate instep straps beaded and embroidered, are favorites of fastidious women for house wear.

THE MODISH STRIPE—5675, 5444.

A long filmy scarf is a charming addition to a summer toilet. In color it must harmonize with the costume, though it need not match it exactly. The scarf is not tied, but thrown over the shoulder and allowed to fall in long straight folds to the hem of the dress.

Spider cloth is among the summer novelties in cottons. A beautiful design in blue and white spider cloth has a wide stripe of shaded blue, light even in its deepest tone, alternating with a wide stripe of white, and over both stripes are thrown clusters of white daisies.

The girl's costume illustrated is of black and white striped Panama cloth. Such a suit makes a charming summer traveling gown.

IN VOGUE.

New Wrinkles In Neckwear For the Summer Girl.

High stiff collars, with natty, equally stiff cravats, are the proper throat finish to washable blouses at the present moment. Ruchings and plain collars with a seeming magic have vanished from view. The collars are much embroidered, and to be absolutely correct the bow must be of material that will launder.

WHAT IS WORN.

French hand work is seen in the embroidered edge of No. 1, the collar being of a fine linen. The tie is of fine lawn, having a border of graduated dots in delicate pink.

The supplementary plaited front does service on various blouses. This deep collar is of heavy linen, while the bow is a perky one of organdie.

Eyelet embroidery is the feature of the third part of collar, cuffs and bow. The latter is a tiny slipper affair of bebe blue satin held in place by a bar pin.

Laundering Lingerie Waists.

To launder a lingerie waist so that it looks like new is a piece of work that even the most inexperienced can do if they will but give the time. No previous knowledge of ironing is necessary, though a certain deftness must be exercised to bring the best results. I would say, indeed, that lightness of touch and patience were the two most necessary requisites.

Washing is the simplest part of the operation, yet the blouse may be quite ruined or made to look thick if it is in any way hurried or slurred over.

The soap used in this cleansing should be a fine quality of white, and ammonia or washing powders are quite superfluous. The best way to launder is to make a basin of hot water quite soapy and then plunge in the waist. Do not rub any soap on the material, for the effect of this will be to thicken the quality of the goods. Instead, squeeze the garment, keeping it under water, and avoid rubbing the least bit, even between the hands. Let all the work be squeezing.

As the laundering must be such a delicate piece of work, it is well to let the waist stand all night in this water.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate. Entry by proxy may, however, be made on certain conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of an intending homesteader.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, to 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

MODISTIC MATTERS.

Something Smart In High Shoes Stunning Frock of Crepe de Chine.

A novelty in high shoes is in mordore leather fastened with little tabs instead of buttons or laces.

Over in Paris long lace cuffs are being worn when long gloves are not desirable. The first choice in them is the plain filet cuff of the same tone as the gown. Elastics are run in the tops so that they can be put on and taken off quickly.

tened in the back. Shoulder pieces tucked and placed to form upper sleeves gradually slope to the waist line, the points being hidden with a heavy band of cream insertion, which outlines the collar and vest portion. The skirt is finished around the bottom with four bias ruffles about four inches wide, headed with a wide band of cream insertion and six one-inch tucks. With this costume is worn a large Japanese hat of cream straw finished in the front with large pink roses and encircled with one immense ostrich plume.

Such a fascinating little frock as the one illustrated will delight every mother's heart. The skirt is made from flouncing, and white lawn with simple embroidery beading that harmonizes with the flouncing makes the body portion, with the aid of a few tucks.

Sunbonnets For the Summer Girl. Ginghams Smart Morning Gowns.

A dainty little sunbonnet can be made for the baby of very simple and inexpensive materials. White dimity is used for the full crown and pale pink for the straight piece, which folds back, forming the brim, and also for the ruffle, which is attached to the lower part of the crown. The wide strings are of the pink dimity. A pretty finish is a row of white feather-stitching worked on in stems or scrolls or single lines.

Ginghams are in unusual request. One of the prettiest phases is in the popular jumper frock, with stripes of mixed colors going around instead of crosswise. The plaid ginghams deserve a whole story to themselves. They come in every sort of mixture and color blend that the imagination of woman could lead her to desire. The silk ginghams, too, have arrived at an advanced state of perfection, and the woman who has not looked over their range this season will do well to do so, and do it soon, before the stock has become any more depleted. Lavender linen when combined with white linen and lace is very becoming to those who can wear this delicate shade. A pretty dress of this color is made in a jumper suit, with all the edges piped with white linen. The front and back part of the waist, instead of being closed with straps running from side to side, are fastened together with plain panels, the front one being joined at the bust and buttoned to the jumper straps with three white pearl buttons on each side. The back is of a similar design. This is to be worn over a white guimpe, the full, short lace sleeves being caped with white piped Chinese sleeves. The skirt is nine gored, with no trimming.

Here are pictured two sunbonnets, one with and one without a cape, that can be made from lawn or dimity. As illustrated, white lawn with frills of white embroidery makes the bonnet without the cape, while Dresden dimity with a frill of white embroidery is used for the one with the cape.

Alpaca For Traveling Gowns—Antebellum Jewelry—The Capeline.

Coarse alpaca resembling granite cloth will be much used for summer traveling. This is self trimmed and is made with a trotteuse skirt and generally with a long, plain coat with pockets across the bust. When buttons are employed, it will be those covered with the cloth.

The displays of cameos and intaglios suggest a use for the semi-antique brooches and eardrops worn by our grandmothers in antebellum days in Etruscan mountings of dull gold, held together by slender bracelets for the twentieth century belle.

There is a new way of wearing the capeline. Hitherto the hat was placed lengthwise, shading the face. Today, however, it is pinned widthwise in the center of the head. The French are making these capelines in a large variety of shapes, one more becoming than the other. One is in black crin, with loops of black moire ribbon around the crown and a couple of gold and steel galloon buckles, a Louis XVI. in antique blue and gray straw, profusely trimmed with black and blue plaited taffeta, and a directoire shape in black crin, with a long, sweeping peacock blue paradise concealing the high crown.

The fashionable stripe effect is evidenced in the suit illustrated of gray and white flannel. The plaited skirt flares gracefully at the feet, while the coat is half fitted and of three-quarter length.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Modish Shoes of Bronze and Patent Leather—Kimono Tendencies.

A complete departure from previous styles of colonial ties are those of bronze or patent leather with a strap buckling across the base of the tongue. They are to be worn with pale colored summer gowns and will take the place of the white canvas and colored suede shoes that have become too common. Tan leather will be more worn than for years—in fact, shoes of this shade are a whim of the season. Bronze or black stockings, clocked in groups between conventional stripes, are the latest designs in hosiery.

Paris has introduced a dainty summer slipper with a jeweled heel. The jewels are very tiny, almost inconspicuous, but very attractive in outline. Another French fancy for dressy occasions is the graceful colored slipper edged around the top with tiny flowers exactly matching slippers and the gown.

Kimono tendencies are observable all through the scheme of dress. There are kimono sleeves in many of the negligees, while the little coats are fitted out with wide sleeves that fall below the waist line. Not a few of these are gorgeously decorated in the style of the orient.

The illustration shows a very stylish model for a street suit in heavy pongee. It is of the natural color and piped with brown velvet. The short waisted coat gives a modified empire effect that is generally becoming. The skirt is plaited after a novel and graceful fashion.

COMING INTO FAVOR.

Current Vogue of Old Work Stands and Tea Tables.

Judging by the widespread prevalence of the desire to possess a work stand like those used in the good old times when the needle was the symbol of femininity, there is to be a revival of hand sewing and more hours spent in womanly handicraft than at the clubs, for the fact is that all the clubs in creation have never yet been able to eradicate the love of sewing, and, though for some time past the home industries have seemed to wane almost to inanition because of club attractions, the charm of the old work table is now making itself felt to such a degree that the antique survivals will not go round, and reproductions by the score, if well executed, are gladly accepted in their stead, many of them being as worthy in every particular as their prototypes.

These shown are some of the most admired old work tables, though this same design often has little drop leaves, and those are even more sought after.

All of them have either wooden, brass or glass knobs, the glass ones belonging to a later period than the others.

These mahogany tables are true empire style, in which the American workman of a century ago excelled the English and even the French craftsmen.

They find their proper setting in a dainty bedroom papered with the old fashioned striped or landscape paper where there is other mahogany furniture, such as a dressing table or a bureau. Of course they harmonize with either a brass or a white enameled bed.

One seen recently in a corner of a library furnished in mahogany, with a low sewing chair beside it and a little workbasket on top of it, gave a most homelike and motherly look to a room that needed just that touch of femininity.

But the desire for the empire work stand is no greater, if as great, as the eagerness for a tea table of the colonial style shown in the picture. The top of this one is hexagon shaped; others are round, and some have the edges scalloped, known as "pie crust" tables, which are rare and expensive.

She Smacked of Books.

"They tell me you kissed Miss Sonnet, the poetess, on yesterday's automobile excursion."

"Yes. That is true."

"Indeed! And how did you—ah—find her?"

"Miss Sonnet has a marked literary taste."

How to Mend Kid Gloves.

Very few people really know the art of mending kid gloves so they will be wearable for some time. To make the work as well as the glove presentable, buttonhole closely with a good brand of sewing silk the exact color of the glove the tear or split. After finishing the first row of buttonholing, then buttonhole again that edge, making a second row, and continue until the space is filled. By so doing a network is formed over the tear and is very durable and not apt to give way if perfectly done.

If any of the seams split, buttonhole the rent once around and then whip together both edges. If there is a bad tear between the fingers, the buttonholing should not be done too closely or too tightly, the netting again serving as a protection against a second tearing. The same buttonhole stitch may be applied when the buttonhole itself tears away from the glove button.

Vogue of Bordered Materials—Hatpins Ornamental and Useful.

Bordered materials are shown in some of the lightest and filmiest fabrics. When the border is wide and the design elaborate, the plain plaited skirt is the best model of all, but the narrow borders are frequently cut off and used as bandings, bringing about many original and charming effects.

The useful hatpin has come to be used largely as an ornament. Elastic supplies its place in hats which are likely to be harmed by constant pinning. The pin heads are more ornamental than ever, and they are fastened permanently in the bow of ribbon.

Gray pongee petticoats are a good investment, as they wear like iron, wash beautifully and are light as a feather. A petticoat of ribbon is a novelty. Pompadour ribbon was used in one seen recently. The skirt is in alternate stripes of ribbon and lace insertion.

Many women who think their shirt waist suit is neatly made pay too little attention to the opening at the cuff. Unless this is finished neatly the waist looks slovenly.

Illustrated is a dainty model for a foulard gown of white silk with a green dot. The bodice is trimmed with taffeta overlaid with applique of cream lace, and the chemisette is of filet net.

BLUE WEDDINGS IN VOGUE.

Many June Bridesmaids Will Carry Forgetmenots.

There has of late been a tendency to branch out a little from prescribed lines for wedding decorations, and now that white satin is no longer indispensable for the bride one looks involuntarily for other and perhaps more startling changes.

In color schemes many recent brides seemed to have realized at last the possibilities of blue as the prevailing tone in the wedding procession. Forgetmenots are particularly beautiful in early June, and no prettier effect can be imagined than bridesmaids in sheer white frocks carrying hat baskets of forgetmenots tied with blue satin ribbon. They might wear leghorn hats trimmed with forgetmenots and small pink rosebuds, or lingerie hats if preferred. The sashes may be blue.

In this case a pretty variation would be to have the maid of honor dressed in a blue chiffon and carry a bunch of pale pink roses or a bunch of white lilacs or peonies.

Again, all the bridesmaids may wear blue. If the solid blue does not seem desirable, blue marquisette or net over white taffeta foundations gives a paler shade. In this case the flowers should be white—as, for instance, white peonies or roses. The maid of honor in this case might wear a white frock made exactly like the others and carry the forgetmenots.

For early summer weddings flower trimmed hats seem very appropriate for bridesmaids, but long ostrich feathers will still be worn. For the blue wedding just spoken of white leghorn picture hats, with long shoulder length blue ostrich feathers, would be most attractive.

DEAR SIR:—

I have received your cheque for $75.00 in settlement of claim for injury which I sustained some weeks ago, covered by Policy No. 5326 in the General Accident Assurance Company of Canada. This settlement was prompt and in every particular satisfactory. Please convey to the company my warm thanks for the business-like manner in which the claim has been adjusted.

Respectfully yours,
T. W. D. YOUNG

P. S.—I have other Accident Policies, but this has been settled before any other.

TWENTY MET DEATH IN EXPLOSION

Women and Children Perish in New York Tenement.

FIRE FOLLOWS EXPLOSION

One Hundred Inmates in Wild Panic —Many Mortally Wounded—House Front Fell Out— Victims Had No Chance to Escape—Beaten Back From Safety by Smoke and Flame—East Side Holocaust.

New York, July 30.—After an all-night search of the ruins of the six-storey tenement at No. 222 Christie street, which was burned shortly after midnight, the police announced that there were twenty victims of the fire.

The bodies of the dead were found in all sorts of unexpected places, to which persons had fled after the fire broke out. Almost all of the bodies were burned beyond recognition, many to such an extent that it was impossible to distinguish the sex. A majority of the victims, the police believed, were women and children.

The burned building was one of those old-fashioned tenements common to the east side, with a store on the ground floor and the apartments upstairs crowded with tenants, mainly Italians.

The fire started in the store and swept through the building with such rapidity that a fifth of the 100 tenants in the place met a horrible death.

Another score, though they escaped with their lives, were more or less burned or otherwise injured.

A passer-by was attracted by the explosion, which apparently occurred on the basement floor. As he turned toward the building the whole front, with its flimsy fire-escapes, fell into the street and from the sagging floors a score of half awakened persons dropped into the street.

Many of these were badly hurt, but they proved to be the more fortunate of the tenants, for in another moment the building was wrapped in flames and the cries of the persons burning to death rent the air.

In the wild panic that followed many suffered mortal injury. The police and firemen, who soon reached the scene, attempted to take the imperilled tenants from the side and rear windows, but few who were free to act did not wait for assistance, but jumped into the street.

Several who sought escape by a rear stairway were driven back by choking smoke. Some of these made their way through the fire to other exits, but more fell, overcome in the hall, to be dragged out insensible.

Of the dead and dying the larger part were women and children. In the mad scramble for exit and safety, the stronger in most cases survived.

The flames were not controlled until the building was practically in ashes, when the search for the bodies began.

Children Smother In Bin.

South Windsor, Conn., July 30.—Etta and Frank Prior, 10 years and 9 years old respectively, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank N. Prior, were found dead in a grain bin on the farm of Henry Pease, their grandfather, Sunday. They had hidden themselves there in play.

Lords Denounce Tyrannies of the State Government.

LORD MONKWELL'S MOTION

Humiliating Question Declares Archbishop of Canterbury—System Described as a Powerful Engine of Greed — Enforced by the Lash and the Bullet, by Cruelty and Murder—Papers Called For.

London, July 30.—"The system of government in the Congo Independent State is one of unrestrained tyranny enforced by the lash and the bullet, by cruelty and by murder.

These words were spoken by Lord Monkswell, who raised the Congo question in the House of Lords yesterday, and moved for the papers. The attendance in the House was slight.

Lord Monkswell said that the Congo Government was a powerful engine of greed, which impudently and insolently violated the limitations and restrictions under which its rights over this territory had been granted. The speaker quoted authorities to support his statements, and added that an especial responsibility attached to Great Britain, because, except for her determined action, the King of Portugal and not the King of the Belgians, would at this moment have been the ruler of the Congo.

The Archbishop of Canterbury declared that the Congo was one of the most disheartening and humiliating of contemporary questions. He said it was a ghastly irony to read to-day the words of the address presented to King Leopold by the City of London in 1884, congratulating His Majesty upon his "bloodless victory." He declared the British Government should be regarded of the sense of responsibility of all Englishmen in this matter.

A general debate on the Congo question followed, and a number of bishops were among the speakers. The Earl of Mayo advocated another international convention in the matter of the Congo, and failing that, the appointment of more British consuls in the upper Congo. Lord Fitzmaurice, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, speaking for the Government, said they were not blind to the fact that this matter was surrounded with grave difficulties. The Government had asked the Congo state, he said, not to disregard the experiences of previous governments of native states, and had instanced the early history of British East India. The present system, the speaker said, was certain to have evil consequences.

Lord Fitzmauriec admitted that the House of Lords had a right to ask what progress had been made, but he said it was an international question, and if the House took any sudden, rash action, it would run the risk of injuring the cause it had at heart.

At the conclusion of Lord Fitzmaurice's address Lord Monkswell withdrew his motion.

THE WARRING NATIONS SIGN TREATY

Russia and Japan Come to Amicable Agreement.

RECENT WAR FORGOTTEN

Last Traces of Contention Wiped Out by Political Entente—Two Powers Agree to Apply the Most Favored Nation Clause—Kwantung Province Is Excluded From the Provisions—Fishing Rights.

St. Petersburg, July 30.—The signing yesterday at the Foreign Office here of the treaties of commerce, navigation and fisheries between Russia and Japan will be followed shortly by the publication of a political entente wiping out the last traces of the contentions and hostilities arising from the late war.

The Foreign Office yesterday confirmed the despatch to the Associated Press from Tokio on this matter, and admitted officially that a general political agreement between the two states was in course of preparation, that the negotiations to this end had almost reached their conclusion, and that the signatures would be affixed to this document within a few days.

This entente is conceived along the same general lines as the recent similar agreement between France and Japan. Under its terms Russia and Japan will mutually guarantee their rights and territory.

The negotiations looking to this entente have been conducted with complete secrecy because of the Japanese dislike of publicity, but it was learned yesterday that Foreign Minister Iswolsky's desire to settle pending questions in the Far East and inaugurate a new policy of peaceful colonization and development in the Rusian provinces bordering on the Pacific was met in a spirit of moderation and conciliation on the part of Japan which enabled satisfactory progress to be made, and assured a successful outcome. The relations between Russia and Japan are on such a satisfactory basis that the recent occurrences in Korea exercised no influence upon them.

New Commercial Treaty.

The commercial treaty between the two countries is of a temporary nature. It expires in 1911. No provision is made for a tariff agreement, but the two powers agree mutually to apply the most favored nation clause. They stipulate further that the subjects of each shall enjoy equality under the law and equal commercial opportunity without hindrance or discrimination, and that neither shall be subject to special imposts. The most important feature of this convention consists of an article excluding Kwangtung Province from the provisions of the treaty.

The fisheries convention is to last for twelve years. There has been much dissatisfaction over the question of fishing rights. The convention embraces the Okhetak, Yellow Sea and Behring Strait areas. It includes all sea animals except the sea otter.

Russia makes unusually liberal concessions to Japanese fishing on the Russian coast and the Amur River, and it is claimed that under these privileges Japan will dominate the fisheries of the Pacific.

The Japanese are to pay the same taxes as Russians, and the export of fish to Japan is declared to be free from all export duty. The Japanese concessionaries are allowed to employ Japanese laborers along the coast, except at the mouth of the Amur River, where they are obliged to employ Russians.

In view of the cheap price of coolie labor it is believed that the Japanese will be able to become possessed of nearly all the fishing concessions.

Plotters Must Die.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, July 30.—A court-martial has sentenced 15 soldiers implicated in the recent political plot against the President of the republic, Gen. Alfaro, to death by shooting.

Eight of the men were executed in this city yesterday morning and the remainder probably will be shot this afternoon.

Nine other soldiers have been sentenced to penal servitude for life on the same charge.

The Government has discovered a new conspiracy at Quito and the leaders of this movement, fleeing from the capital, have arrived here.

Death Accidental.

Hamilton, July 30.—A coroner's jury investigated the death of James Green, known as "Jimmy the Walker," who was killed last Friday at the rolling mills, and brought in a verdict of accidental death. No one saw the accident, but Green was killed by a heavy bar of iron, which fell upon him.

Summer Hotel Burns.

Long Beach, N.Y., July 30.—Eight hundred guests of the Long Beach Hotel, one of the largest seashore hotels on the Atlantic coast, had to flee for their lives early yesterday when the hotel was burned to the sands. There was no loss of life, and no one was injured. Loss $200,000.

Actress, Despondent, Suicides.

Colorado Springs, Col., July 30.—The body of Miss Laura Matthews of New York City was found lying in a lane near Ivy Wild yesterday with a bullet hole in her head. Developments indicate suicide. Miss Matthews was a well-known musical comedy actress, 19 years old.

It is said she was engaged to a wealthy Chicagoian and was despondent because of his failure to fulfill his promise of marriage.

Fatal Auto Accident.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., July 30.—In a collision at 10 o'clock last night, near the city line, between an automobile and a carriage, four persons were badly hurt.

One of them, Miss Frances Grace of Niagara and Sixth street, will die. Her skull is badly fractured.

In the automobile were William Harrigan and wife, and in the carriage Miss Grace and Henry Pierce.

TORONTO JUNCTION MOURNED.

Victims of the Humber Bay Tragedy Laid to Rest.

Toronto Junction, July 30.—Places of business and industry were closed; heavy crepe draped the buildings on the principal streets, and flags floated at half-mast on the public buildings yesterday during the funerals of Frank Kyle, Leonard and Frank Daly, John Irving, Walter Rundin and Reginald Miller, six of the nine young men who were drowned in Humber Bay on Friday morning last.

A joint service was held in Victoria Presbyterian Church. The funeral was of public character, attended by representatives of the different municipal bodies, and hundreds followed the hearses which conveyed the deceased from the homes of their parents to the church and thence to their last resting-place. The streets through which the solemn cortege wended its way were lined with people bowed in reverence as the procession passed.

At Petawawa Camp.

Petawawa Camp, July 30—The British light artillerymen opened the competition yesterday morning in composite battery firing. Direct and indirect methods were used with good results, the most effective work being done at 3,200 and 3,000 yards respectively. The heavy artillery competition takes place to-day.

No official scores will be given out until all shooting is concluded.

Lord Stradbrooke and Countess Stradbrooke watched the manoeuvres yesterday morning.

The British team was commanded by Capt. Davies with Capts. Flowers and McHugh in charge of the subsections.

Gas Company Wins.

New York, July 30.—The application of Attorney-General Jackson for permission to bring an action to annul the corporate existence of the Consolidated Gas Co. on the ground that the merger of the various gas companies with the parent company has created a monopoly, was denied yesterday by Supreme Court Justice McCall.

S. E. SALLS, Esq.,
DISTRICT MANAGER,
The Canada Life Assurance Company,
TORONTO

PORT PERRY, ONT., April 15, 1905.

MY DEAR SIR:—

I yesterday received Bonus Addition Certificate from the Canada Life Assurance Company amounting to the handsome sum of $262.65 being the profits on my $4000 policy and in writing you at the present time, I wish to express my gratification in having nearly $1000 more insurance than when I took out my policy in 1889.

With only three more payments to make I find the Limited Payment Life Policy ever so much more satisfactory than any other as under my policy all the premiums will be paid while I am yet under forty years of age and I have an insurance in the Canada Life which will be largely increased in amount, and particularly so, as life expectancy is nearly thirty years.

I think I have a right to feel pleased with the result of my insurance and investment in the Canada Life.

With best wishes,
Yours truly,
W. G. MONET.

More Applicants Than Children For Homes

Officials of Children's Aid Societies Find Difficulty in Filling all Applications for Girls in Children's Homes.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

Examiner Special.

Toronto, July 30. — A curious condition of affairs is revealed by the publication of the last report of the superintendent of Neglected and Dependent Children for this province. It shows that while there are in the orphanages and other institutions for the care of children in the province nearly 3,000 children it is necessary to turn thousands of applicants for children for adoption, away empty-handed.

That there are thousands of childless, and as a consequente, unhappy homes in Ontario, is made evident by the numerous requests made for children, and it is a peculiar fact that the greatest demand is for girls. It is impossible to supply the demand made on these institutions for infant girls.

The report of the superintendent dealing with this matter says, in part:

During the past year there were 980 children placed in homes for the first time through the various Societies and this office. This does not indicate the total number provided for as some societies are forgetful in the matter of reporting their wards and it would be quite safe to say that at least fifty to seventy-five others were sent to homes, in addition to children transferred from one relative to another.

Girls Preponderate

Of those placed for the first time it may be interesting to note that according to sex the figures read as follows: 764 girls and 135 boys. The reason that more girls have been taken in charge and placed in foster homes is because there is usually greater concern felt for girls, who are exposed to special dangers and temptations.

It might be noted also, that the two special ages when children were in demand were babies from one to three years and boys and girls 11 years and upward. The figures are as follows: Under 3 there were 49 baby girls adopted and 21 boys, the greater demand being for girls. Between the ages of 3 and 6, another popular age, the total number was 53, between 6 and 10, 54; from 10 to 12, 92; 12 years and over, 111.

Of the 187 children placed by Societies Hamilton stood first, with 32 children reported; London second, with 26; Toronto, 25, Ottawa, 24; Peterborough, 21; and Brantford, 14.

While foster homes are scattered in all parts of the province the larger number of the children went to the following counties: Middlesex, 21; Wentworth, 18; Peterborough, 12; Brant, 11; Grey, 10; Oxford 8; Lambton, 8; Carleton, 6 York, 7; Victoria, 6; Leeds, 5; and Simcoe, 4.

The Pittsburg Professor Brings Choir To Stony Lake

15 Boys Who Are Annual Guests of Mr. Dodsworth—A Fast Launch to Arrive—Knights of Columbus Excursion.

NEW YORK JUDGE ARRIVES

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, July 31.—Last night Professor J. R. Dodsworth of Pittsburg arrived at Boschink to begin his annual outing at the lakes. He was accompanied, as usual, by about fifteen of the boys from the choir of Immanuel Church, Pittsburg, who have enjoyed the professor's hospitality annually for a number of years. Some time during this week his fast, new gasoline launch will be brought up from Rochester. The launch is said to be a speedy one and capable of making at least sixteen miles an hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Weir of Otonabee and party of twelve came up the lake on the moon boat to-day and will spend a few days at Mr. Weir's cottage above Boschink.

Mr. Percy Smith and party of eight came up to Crowley's cottage, Boschink, yesterday.

Miss Katie Leary went down to Peterborough this morning, after spending some time at Burleigh.

Judge Hudgeth and his wife arrived at their cottage, Kawartha Lodge, yesterday.

Mr. Fred. Young of the steamer Majestic went down to Peterborough this morning and returned at noon.

The steamer Stoney Lake carried about two hundred excursionists of the Knights of Columbus around the Kawartha Lakes to-day.

Mr. John Green of Peterborough arrived here yesterday on a holiday trip.

Many Witnessed Brave Rescue Of Two Brothers

Young Howland Responsible for Saving of Hillier Brothers—One Got Beyond His Depth and Other Came to Rescue.

SWIMMING IN OTONABEE

A score of persons stood on the Smith street bridge on Monday and watched young Willie Howland pull from the brink of a watery grave the two sons of Mr. H. H. Hilber, who resides at the corner of Smith and Harvey streets. Willie and Charlie Hillier were swimming below the Smith street bridge, when the former, who is only about 10 years of age, jumped from the end of a punt and, unfortunately, got beyond his depth.

The little fellow was unable to swim, and his brother Charlie, who was standing on a nearby pier, came to the rescue. The drowning boy seized his brother in an effort to save himself from sinking, and prevented him from swimming to shore.

Both boys then began to struggle against death in the water, while several persons watched them from the bridge, and it was only the presence of mind of young Willie Howland, son of Mr. Robt. Howland of Smith street, which saved the youths from a watery grave. He hurriedly boarded the old punt with another boy and made his way to the drowning brothers. Coming alongside of the two, one of them was able to climb into the boat, but Willie Howland had to pull the younger brother, exhausted and ready to sink for the last time, into the punt.

Those who witnessed the brave and thoughtful rescue of Howland have great praise for the youngster, as he appeared to be the only cool-headed individual among the crowd.

JIMMIE REYNOLDS GETS A PURSE

Citizens of Port Hope, at Public Reception, Give Him Purse of Gold of $250

Port Hope, July 30.—Port Hope's 56-year-old walking barber, Jimmie Reynolds, who recently made a plucky attempt to walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return in 38 hours, was the recipient this evening of a purse of $250 in gold at a public reception given in his honour in the drill shed by the local band and citizens of the town. Ex-Mayor White made the presentation and Reynolds made a suitable reply, in the course of which he announced his intention to again attempt the feat in October.

A dose of Miller's Worm Powders occasionally will keep the children healthy. Sold by W. Medill.

Couldn't See Her Before He Died

Last Wednesday night in the prayer meeting at the Park Street Baptist Church there was a strange voice heard in the devotions. After the service the pastor, seeing that the owner of the voice was a stranger in the church, sought him out and gave him a warm welcome. Said he, "You're a stranger in town, who are you and where did you come from? The man gave him the information asked for, stating that he was from Creemore, near Owen Sound, and that he was here to work in the Electric Works, and intended to remain in the city. Mr. Brace asked him, "Where's your wife?"—he was a young fellow about twenty-seven—and he said, "I haven't one, but I've got a girl who is going to be my wife some day before long." "That's right; I'm glad to hear it," returned the preacher and added, "we want you to come right into the church and help us; we need you." The young fellow promised that he would do all he could, and said he would be at church on Sunday, but when Sunday morning came he was not able to carry out his promise. Instead he sent his room-mate to tell the preacher that he was sick—had appendicitis; and was going to the hospital to be operated on the next day. Monday morning, bright and early, Mr. Brace went to the hospital, where he found the young man on the operating table, and the doctors ready to perform what they believed was an operation necessary to save his life. Yesterday he again went to see him, and he was very sick; was failing rapidly and to-day he was worse. This afternoon the faithful preacher went again to see him and when he came back this is the report he gave: "He's dying—he cannot live until night," and his girl is coming on the 8 o'clock train, but he'll be gone before she comes. Before his minister left him this afternoon he gave final instructions as to his funeral and the disposition of his effects. He would be happy if SHE could only be there with him. But she won't be there, and he'll have to pass over alone.

LEAVES TO-NIGHT FOR LONDON TRIP

Miss Thompson Will Join the Toronto World Party for Trip to the World's Metropolis

Miss Birdie Thompson, Peterborough's representative with the 11 young ladies who will take the trip to London as guests of the Toronto World, will leave the city on her trip this evening. A special coach will be attached to the C.P.R. train leaving Toronto at 10 o'clock, and will pass through here at 12.26. Miss Thompson will join the party here, and it is expected that a number of her friends in the city will be at the station to wish her bon voyage. Upon arrival at Montreal to-morrow morning the party will be taken on a tour around the city, and will go aboard the steamer Virginian to-morrow night, ready for sailing at daybreak the following morning.

Miss Thompson's many friends here will wish her a pleasant and safe journey. Peterborough is being well represented on the trip.

NO BUTTER ON MARKET THIS MORNING

Housekeepers Couldn't Even Obtain the Light Weight Variety

Housekeepers to-day who visited the city market in search of butter met with disappointment. There was not a pound of butter to be had, although there were enough housekeepers there to purchase a few hundred pounds. By actual count there were exactly two pails of beanes and three chickens offered for sale. Butter, light weight, right weight, or over weight, was not there; it was sought for in vain, and the seekers went away empty-handed.

The market, apparently, is on the wane, and at the rate of its present downfall, will almost be obscure in a few years. On the market square this morning five hogs were offered for sale, and the buyers numbered fourteen.

DON'T DIE AT 45

Cure the Indigestion Which is So Liable to Lead to Apoplexy

People who suffer with headache, giddiness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, drowsiness, distress after eating and any of the other distressing results of indigestion, are in serious danger. Their digestive organs cannot care for the food properly, and hence the coats of the blood vessels in the brain get little nourishment, become brittle and finally yield to the fierce blood pressure, and one is then said to have a "shock," be paralyzed, or die from apoplexy.

In all diseases of digestion and nutrition the prescription called Mi-o-na has proven itself of great value. It is relied upon to-day as a certainty to relieve the worst cases of indigestion and make a complete cure.

That Mi-o-na will cure the worst forms of stomach troubles, cancer excepted, and give quick relief in indigestion, is proven by the guarantee Wm. Medill gives with every 50 cent box to refund the money unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this must inspire confidence.

CARTERS MUST GO TO SHELTER

In Future They Will Not be Allowed to Use Streets to Solicit Trade—Police Commissioners Meet

At a meeting of the City Police Commissioners held this morning P. C. Newhall was given six weeks leave of absence. It is understood that Mr. Newhall will leave shortly on a trip to London, England, a member of the police force of which city he was formerly a member. While there he will renew acquaintance with the members of the Scotland Yard force.

The Carters' By-law was amended according to the request of the city council, the amendment prohibiting the carters using any part of the public streets as a stand. This will probably result in the newly-erected shelter coming into general use by the carters.

P. C. Mahaffy made application for an increase of salary, but nothing definite was done in connection with it at this meeting.

Some arrangements for holidays for some of the members of the staff were made.

OFFERED THE ASSISTANT RECTORSHIP

Rev. J. H. Teney, of Omemee, May Go to Toronto as Assistant Rector to Rev. Alex. Williams

It is understood that the assistant rectorship of St. John's church, Toronto, has been offered to the Rev. J. H. Teney, rector of Omemee. The present rector, Rev. Alex. Williams, is about to retire from the active ministry, and has written Rev. Mr. Teney regarding the matter.

Whether Mr. Teney will accept the offer could not be ascertained.

HOW LONG?

In the Examiner of a day or two ago appeared a statement from His Worship the Mayor in reference to street numbering, which contained a plea for the adoption of a good system. In this respect, the statement was most timely and convincing.

But if the Mayor is very justifiably enamoured of the advantages of system in the comparatively trifling matter of street numbering, who does he confine his efforts to that? Why does he not advocate, urge and enforce some ghostly semblance of system in the matter of street construction, maintenance and care?

We have painful experience every day of the effects of the utter, complete, absolute, shameful, and, in the matter of results, disgraceful, absence of system in dealing with our streets. The results are deplorable, and we have the distinction of having, for our opportunities, the worst streets of any town or city within the knowledge of the suffering citizens who are compelled to use them.

In the first place, there is an utter absence of anything like system in the matter of street drainage. When will our street authorities subject themselves to an apparently necessary surgical operation to get into their heads the fundamental idea that adequate drainage is the basic and indispensable condition of good streets?

As has been stated before in these columns, and as the facts stand, there is no city any where with topographical conditions more favourable to providing, with comparatively little expense, perfect surface drainage than Peterborough. Yet what do we find? Almost universal neglect of this simply performed and indispensable condition of good streets.

Within the past few days complaints have been published in these columns from citizens who have rank, noisome pools of stagnant water and oozy mud in the streets fronting their premises. On Albert street, towards the west end, there is a pool of water in the street nearly the whole year round, and in the autumn and spring it takes the form of a miniature lake. The residents on this street have suffered long from this state of affairs, and there is no remedy provided.

The city has spent hundreds of dollars in putting in a storm drain on Simcoe street, from George street to the creek, but at this very moment there is a noisome pool of dirty water and mud on the north side, near George street. On another street, another pool and extended mud hole is formed by a dam placed cross the gutter. This dam is the mound left by an improperly filled service trench to an adjacent building. At the junction of Downie and Charlotte streets there are iniquitous pools of water and mud formed by water from the hill, prevented by a mud crossing from finding an outlet. Following Charlotte street east in this vicinity the street side is a wallow of mud.

There are only a few samples. This column and many others could be filled with the slimy details of the mud holes and pools that, from lack of drainage, occur all over the city.

As a consequence the streets adjacent to the roadside pools become saturated with water—softened and pulpy. Traffic breaks the crust, holes develop and are permitted to remain, growing deeper with the impact of every passing wheel. This largely accounts for the wretched condition of our streets as a whole.

This is aided by the gross neglect to make repairs. A hole forms and it is endowed with perpetual life; for no systematic attempt is made to retain fairly good street surfaces in good condition by timely repairs. George street, which has cost thousands of dollars per square, is filled with holes and it was only after a year's delay that the street at the junction with Hunter, was treated with street metal and made smooth, a work which took only a few hours and cost only a trifle of money.

What is most surprising is the absolute apathy and indifference of the aldermen. How men entrusted with the proper expenditure of the people's money for the benefit and convenience of the citizens can pass through our streets, blind to the neglect which makes them a menace to life, limb and vehicle, passes comprehension.

Yet they meet in solemn conclave and trifle with such things as raising the salaries of officials, and buying spittoons for themselves, while the money of the taxpayers is being buried and wasted in dabbling with street making and mending, without the slightest attempt at system or even intelligent action. They watch our assessment and taxation rising but neglect giving the people fair or even approximate value for the money contributed., and are from lack of system. So far as the expenditure of money on our streets is concerned representative instructors seem to be a failure. It appears to be hopeless to look to the aldermen for anything like rational, reasonable and common sense treatment of the street problem. Citizens feel constrained to form themselves into a protective association to protect the rights and interests of the taxpayers, which the aldermen are elected to serve. Unless some improvement is soon made the idea of placing our streets under a commission will have to be contemplated. How long shall such conditions as referred to be allowed to exist?

EDITORIAL NOTES

A section of the United States is inclined to be envious of the great prosperity and growth of Western Canada, whose fertile acres are attracting the cream of the population of the Western States, as well as of the British Isles. The actual conditions—the adaptability of the country to profitable farming operations and the opportunities of making prosperous and happy homes disarm the critics, and rob their quivers of ammunition. In default of any other excuse for decrying the West, the New York Medical Journal comes out seriously with an article, seeking to demonstrate that the prosperity of the Northwest will be shortlived, for the excess of sunshine, either in quantity or quality, makes the country unfit for occupation by white Europeans. A crusade of this kind, founded upon self-evident nonsense, cannot be taken seriously. The wide sweep of the sunlit prairie may, at the first, be something new, if not trying, to immigrants from the British Isles, where sunlight has to wage a losing battle with fogs and rain nearly the year round. All common sense and all history are against the theory that we can have too much sunlight, which is, in one sense, the breath of life to the world. Until the United States cranks can bring out something more objectionable in the climate and conditions of the West than excess of sunlight, we shall see no cessation of the inflow of population.

Bowel Troubles

Liver pills, cathartics, mineral waters, often make Constipation worse. They merely irritate the bowels and force them to move—stop taking purgatives and the bowels become "tight" again.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the one certain cure for Constipation because their action is upon the liver, "Fruit-a-tives" are a liver tonic. They stimulate the secretions of bile by the liver, this bile causes the bowels to move in the natural, regular way and completely cures Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices with tonics and antiseptics added. In "Fruit-a-tives" one atom of bitter replaces one atom of sweet in the fruit juices, forming a new compound which is many times more active, medicinally, than the fruit juices could possibly be. 50c. a-box — $2.50 for 6 boxes. OBITUARY

MRS BELLA RITTS

On Monday of this week there passed away at North Bay, Mrs. Bella Ritts, mother of Mrs. Fred Ruetsch, Dalhousie street, Peterborough. The deceased, who was a former resident of this city, died very suddenly at the age of 65 years. She lived in Peterborough until two months ago, and, before her marriage, was a nurse. Her death occurred at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Brooks, at North Bay, and the funeral was held to-day at Brockville.

ONTARIO FLOUR IS A FAVOURITE

People of the Eastern Provinces Prefer it to That Made With Manitoba Wheat

Only by wisely adopting new discoveries can the farmers of this Province compete on even terms with the West, whose specialty is wheat. Western flour has invaded Ontario, and the decline in the demand for Ontario wheat is to-day a fact only too evident to farmers. Ontario agriculturists, in many instances, buy Western flour, raise little or no wheat, and for what they do raise, are not receiving a price commensurate with their labour—all, largely because they will not use the flour made from wheat that they grow themselves, owing to a mistaken belief that the Western flour is better. In addition to this loss of market, the cost of feed is too high to enable stockmen and dairymen to realize the profit which, under proper conditions, ought to be assured.

It will be somewhat of a surprise for most farmers, to learn that Ontario flour is a favourite in the Eastern provinces; and that, in the face of strong competition, it has for several years been preferred to the best Western brands. The discovery of flour-blending bids fair to re-open the demand for Ontario wheat; and this ought to attract the attention of Ontario farmers to a question of vital importance to the agricultural interests of the Province.

Blended flour is simply the best of Ontario's finely flavoured product to which a small proportion of Western wheat is added to bring up the percentage of gluten, or "strength." Free from technicalities of chemistry and milling. It means both strength and flavour in the daily loaf. Viewed economically, it means an increased market for an Ontario-grown product which has won the unprejudiced favour of the East.

Whether this will prove true of Ontario, and whether such a demand will be created that the price of wheat will improve, and the cost of bran and shorts become lower, depends upon the individual farmer. Buying Western flour means a negative answer to the query; if, however, the Ontario farmer is alive to the situation, he cannot financially afford to neglect the latest discovery in practical economics, and will insist on buying only the flour milled in Ontario.

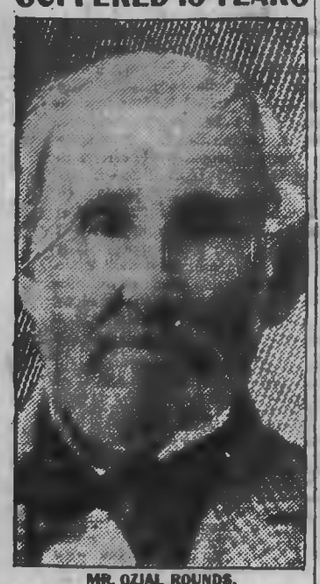
SUFFERED 15 YEARS



MR. OZIAL ROUNDS.

A Resident of Welland Finds Relief in Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Ozial Rounds, Welland, Ont., a retired lumberman and a resident of Welland for half a century, writes:

"For fifteen years prior to 1900 I was a sufferer from hay asthma and chronic diarrhea. I grew weak and emaciated and was tortured with insomnia.

"I was treated by eminent physicians but, if anything, was worse than ever. In fact, I was in as miserable a condition as a man could be.

"However, I chanced to try Peruna and noticed an improvement. Thus encouraged, I continued, and after taking several bottles of your precious Peruna, I was entirely well and a wonder to myself and friends.

"If, at my advanced age, 83 years, I have obtained such good results from Peruna, after so many years of needless suffering, there can be no doubt of its efficacy in the treatment of younger persons."

ELEGANCE AT MODERATE COST

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fills the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realise the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

Make Public Terms Of Public Works Transfer

The Agreement by Which Dominion Government Takes Over Dams on the Route of Trent Canal.

PUBLIC WORKS REPORT

The terms upon which the public works on the Trent Canal were transferred from the Ontario to the Dominion Government are made public in the recent report issued by the Minister of Public Works of the Ontario Government. Referring to the transfer the report says: After several interviews between representatives of the Ontario Government and of the Department of Railways and Canals, a formal application was made on January 6, 1904, for the transfer to the Government of Canada of the several dams owned by the Ontario Government on the head waters of the Trent Canal.

A scheme for an extensive reservoir system was contemplated by the Department of Railways and Canals, to ensure sufficient water supply at all seasons for the purposes of navigation on the Trent Valley Canal. Negotiations were conducted between the officers of the Department of Railways and Canals and the officers of the Department of Public Works, Ontario, when the terms of the proposed transfer were thoroughly gone into, and the views of all parties concerned were obtained and considered.

An agreement upon the terms of the transfer was finally reached between the Governments of the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario, and an order-in-council was approved by His Honour, the Lieut-Governor, on the 22nd of July, 1905, transferring the works to the Dominion Government. A confirming order of the Privy Council was approved by His Excellency, the Governor-General, on the 16th day of February, 1906, assuming their control.

The following are the terms upon which the waters and works were transferred to the Department of Railways and Canals—

(1) That all the locks, dams, rights in waters and flooded lands, and other works, as shown by the thereto attached list and plan be transferred to the Dominion Government, represented by the Department of Railways and Canals free of all cost.

(2) That the Dominion Government shall assume, operate and keep in good repair, and condition for all time, the lock and three swing bridges at Lindsay; the lock at Balsam Lake, and the lock and swing bridge at Young's Point, together with all minor works in connection with the maintenance and operation of the locks and swing bridges at Lindsay, Balsam Lake and Young's Point, relieving the province from all expense and responsibility in connection therewith.

(3) That the right of reservoir construction by the Dominion Government shall be exercisable on and limited to the following: Gull River, Burnt River, Squaw River, Nogie's Creek, Deer Bay, Mississauga Creek, Eel's Creek and Jack's Creek, and the drainage areas of such rivers and creeks.

(4) That the following dams shall be maintained for all time by the Dominion Government, subject as hereinafter provided.

On Gull River Waters

Balsam Lake.
Gull Lake.
Horseshoe Lake.
Hawk Lake.
Paint Lake.
Hall's Lake.
Kenesais Lake.
Redstone Lake.
Eagle and Moon Lake.
Oblong and Haliburton Lake.
Percy Lake.

On Burnt River Waters

Kookjong Lake.
Drag Lake.
Loon Lake.
Big Bear Lake.
Otter Lake.
Grace Lake.
Farquar Lake.

On Nogie's Creek

Swamp Lake.

On Mississauga Creek

Gull Lake.
Eagle Lake.

5—That with regard to the smaller or other dams not being actually required by the Department for the proposed reservoir system, but now utilized for the flotation of logs, the Dominion Government shall not be required to maintain these dams except only for as long as they are of material use for the purpose of log flotation or log navigation.

6—That the Dominion will pay to the Province at the rate of fifty cents per acre for any unpatented Provincial lands flooded through the construction of the proposed reservoirs, that compensation for the flooding of patented lands and for damage done to timber on patented lands or on unpatented lands under license to lumbermen and others, be a matter of agreement between the Dominion Government and the owners or licensees of such lands or timber, and in the event of failure of such owners or licensees to agree with the Dominion Government regarding such compensation, then the matter shall be left to the determination of the Exchequer Court of Canada in the usual manner.

7—That the Minister of Railways and Canals shall have the right at any time to rebuild and maintain dams at present existing, or at any time to construct and maintain dams in lieu thereof at other than the present sites for the same; to increase or decrease heights of all or any such dams; to determine the size and capacity of the openings therein, and the means of controlling the water supply thereat; and to construct or re-construct, operate, and maintain the works necessary to the same; also from time to time to build and maintain new dams wherever he may deem advisable for the proper carrying out of proposed reservoir system, and to maintain and operate the same.

8—That all mines and minerals in unpatented Provincial lands taken over and flooded in the course of construction of reservoirs, be reserved to the Province; and that all mines and minerals on patented lands are still to remain the property of the patentee until proper compensation be granted therefor, and all reasonable provision essential to the operation and working of the same be allowed, subject to the requirements of navigation of the Trent Canal.

9—That the Dominion Government guarantees to the owners and lessees of timber lands tributary to the streams and lakes affected by this order, and to lumbermen now or hereafter operating on such streams and lakes, all rights they at present enjoy or are entitled to, by any law or statute now in force, and in the event of such rights being injuriously affected by the action of the Dominion Government, their successors, assigns, employees or representatives in connection with such waters and streams, than the owners and lessees of such timber lands, timber and water-power, shall have the right to submit their claims to the Exchequer Court of Canada for adjudication and compensation in the usual manner.

Eczema is Baby's Enemy

CAUSING KEEN DISTRESS FROM THE DREADFUL ITCHING—SOMETIMES LASTS FOR YEARS—CURE EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The first indication of eczema is a red pimple, or blister-like eruption. The points run together, and make a moistened patch, which "weeps" at first, and then dries into a crust.

The intense itching of eczema of the face and scalp is very hard for the little one to bear, and the result is scratching until free bleeding takes place, and recovery is further retarded. Besides the suffering from the distressing itching, the child is restless and sleepless.

When left to itself, eczema runs on indefinitely, covering the body with sores, but fortunately there is positive cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation which by its marvellous soothing and healing powers, brings quick relief from itching and heals up the sores.

Mr. William Crafts, jr., Burk's Falls, Ont., writes: "Our little boy, aged three years, broke out with eczema all over his face, hands and back, and we had a terrible time trying to relieve his suffering. It was so bad that when he scratched it would almost make the blood flow. The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly brought relief and made a thorough cure, as there has never any return of the disagreeable ailment. We always keep Dr. Chase's medicines in the house and find them very useful."

Mrs. M. McCann, 4 Short street, St. John, N. B., writes: "My little girl, three years old, had her face covered with eczema and it was beginning to spread all over her body. I tried many different ointments, and the doctor could not do her any good. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and she was completely cured by one box. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done her."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven especially successful in the cure of baby eczema, as well as the prevention of this torturing disease, when used for chafing and skin diseases, in which eczema finds its beginnings. Sixty cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

WATERING PLACE FOR CHARLOTTE STREET

One Should Be Placed on New Bridge Over the Creek

A citizen suggested to the Examiner last night that the council should authorize the replacing of the water fountain on the new bridge being erected on Charlotte street. The fountain there has not been looked after in the past, and it was only on rare occasions that the water was running. Charlotte street is one of the most extensively travelled streets in the city, and as a watering place for horses none was used more frequently than the one on the bridge, wherever the water was available.

The city council should therefore in the interests of the citizens see that this fountain is not forgotten in constructing the new bridge.

MONAGHAN FARMERS ARE CUTTING WHEAT

Crop Reported to be a Good One—Oat Stalks Are Short

The South Monaghan farmers are now in the midst of the wheat harvest. Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, the local dairyman drove through Otonabee to Monaghan yesterday and he states the wheat crop in the latter place is very fair. The farmers were busily engaged in reaping their wheat. The oat crop, however, will on the whole, not be extra good, as much of the grain is very short.

Some thief stole Kier Hardie's pipe, tobacco, pouch and vest at Winnipeg.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guarantees cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 35c. at all dealers or EDMANSON, BATES & Co., TORONTO.

The Cheese Dropped To 10 13/16 At To-day's Board

Good Demand for the Product but the Price Was Lower—Eleven Buyers at the Board Meeting.

FOUR FACTORIES REFUSED

Cheese dropped to-day to 10 13-16 cents, in sympathy with the present depressed condition of the cheese market at home and abroad. The feature of the sale to-day was the large number of buyers present, eleven being around the board to bid for the cheese on sale to-day. They were anxious to get the cheese but would not go beyond the price named to secure it.

The number of cheese boarded to-day was 4,595 boxes, and all, except four factories, were sold, the greater portion selling at 10 13-16 cents, and the balance at 10 3-4 cents. The board adjourned for two weeks.

The following factories boarded the number of cheese set opposite:

Keene	155
Warminster	135
Shearer	175
Central Smith	185
Selwyn	190
Villiers	100
Warsaw	130
Westwood	200
Oakdale	130
Lakefield	100
Pine Grove	130
Otonabee Union	72
Maple Leaf	150
Myrtle	180
Ormonde	210
Young's Point	100
Lang	145
Fraserville	100
Indian River	127
North Dummer	70
East Emily	150
Trewern	180
Bensfort	190
Cedardale	86
Cavanville	155
Crown	125
Mount Pleasant	53
Norwood	130
Fleetwood	200
Oakleaf	45
Buckhorn	145
South Burleigh	32
Hope	110
Brickley	60
Killarney	150

The buyers present were Messrs. Cook, Whitton, Gillespie, Squires, Jones, Grant, Wrighton, Morton, Clemes, Weir and Brentnell.

Mr. Wrighton opened the bidding at 10c and it was raised by Mr. Whitton to 10 1-16c. Other offers were Wrighton, 10 1-4c, Squires, 10 5-16c; Martin 10 3-8s; Cook, 1 1-2c; Squires, 10 5-8c; Gillespie, 10 11-16c; Cook, 10 3-4c; Whitton, 10 13-16c. At this price he bought Cavanville, Ormonde, Killarney, Norwood, Brickley and Lang.

At the same figure Mr. Gillespie bought Buckhorn, Westwood, Villiers, Otonabee Union. Mr. Cook bought at that price Bensfort, Shearer, Trewern, Pine Grove, Lakefield, Myrtle, Fraserville, Crown, Central Smith, Selwyn, Warminster, and Warsaw.

Mr. Weir bought Cakdale, Keene, Indian River and Young's Point, at 10 13-16c. He offered 10 3-4c for further selections and Mr. Squires offered the same price for the board, and called Maple Leaf, North Dummer, East Emily, Fleetwood, none accepting. Cedardale, Mount Pleasant, Oakleaf, South Burleigh and Hope at that price accepting.

At 10 3-4 cents Mr. Weir tried to buy Maple Leaf, North Dummer, East Emily and Fleetwood, but they refused to sell.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS EXCURSION TO THE LAKES

About two hundred persons boarded the Lakefield train this morning to make the excursion of the lakes, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. While the brave Knights were not conspicuous by their number, their fair ladies were well represented. Among those composing the party were Rev. Father Fitzpatrick of Ennismore, Rev. Father Hurley, of Galveston, Texas, and Rev. Father Roach, of St. Michael's College, Toronto. The itinerary includes the round of the lakes, broken by a stop at Mount Julian for dinner.

New Normal School A Well Planned Building

Provincial Architect Describes the New Building in Last Report of Department of Public Works.

NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

In the last report of the Minister of Public Works, the Provincial architect gives a statement in connection with the erection of the new Normal School which will be erected here. A cut of the new building, made from the drawings, also appears. Referring to the building, the architect says:

Plans and specifications have been prepared by the Department for four Normal Schools, to be erected in Hamilton, Stratford, Peterborough and North Bay respectively, as shown by the accompanying illustrations. The buildings will be four storeys in height, including the basement. The design is in the style of Italian Renaissance, with a central tower in the front facade, surmounted by a dome, the main entrance being at the side of the tower, with an imposing portico of stone. The building from top of stone to the main cornice will be in brickwork, with stone string courses, capitals, columns, etc., with sufficient enrichments to give relief to the architectural lines, and when completed the composition will give an ornate and substantial appearance. The outside dimensions on the ground line are 78 feet frontage by 108 feet in depth. In the basement are located the heating and ventilating apparatus, three rooms for manual training, a gymnasium, a janitor's room, and men's toilet room. The ground floor is approached by the main entrance in front for the public and teachers, and an entrance at each side for the students, leading to a wide hall, extending through the centre of the building, with two spacious staircases leading to the upper floors. There will be upon this floor three class rooms, a library and a reading-room, a room for the principal, an office for the secretary and two cloak rooms. On the first floor are located two class rooms, a lecture room, chemical laboratory, apparatus room, teachers' rooms and two cloak rooms. The third floor consists of an assembly hall with a seating capacity for five hundred persons, with ample exits at each end, an art room and two rooms for the instruction of domestic science. Contractors have been invited to tender, and it is intended to commence work as soon as the weather will permit.

NOTE.—As a matter of fact, contracts have been entered into for all four schools, and the work of construction is now going forward.

WEDDING BELLS

BAKES-GREER

The residence of Mr. Johnston H. Greer, 704 George street, was the morning the scene of a very pretty wedding, when his daughter, Miss Violet J., was united in marriage to Mr. Harry J. Bakes, son of Mr. Wm. Bakes, of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. A. Pearson, of the George Street Methodist Church, at 11 o'clock, and was attended by about forty-five guests, many of them being from out of the city. The bride was prettily attired in a costume of dotted Swiss with lace insertion and white ribbon trimmings, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Mabel Ash, of Cobourg, who was similarly dressed. The bride carried a shower boquet of white sweet peas and the bridesmaid a pink boquet. Mr. Harry Shore, of Campbellford, a cousin of the groom, was groomsman. The wedding march was played by Miss Bertha Gray. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome silver tea service, and to the bridesmaid a gold locket and chain. Numerous presents to the young couple showed the esteem in which they were held by their many friends. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a tempting repast spread on tables beautifully decorated with red and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Bakes left on the two o'clock G. T. R. train for their future home in Campbellford, accompanied by the best wishes of their numerous Peterborough friends for a long and prosperous wedded life. The bride's going away dress was of green lady's cloth with a hat to match.

LIQUOR AGAIN CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Four Men at Police Court After Night's Foolish Debauch—The Usual Ending

THE NIGHT DRESS CASE

With persistent regularity, the officers of the police force, continue to round up those people who have no regard for law and order. To-day four men were crowded into the prisoners' box, and a charge of having been drunk in a public place, was preferred against them all. They more than filled the narrow quarters of the box, which was built to accommodate offenders when the city was not so populous as it is now. Out of consideration for their comfort one of them was allowed to sit in a chair, thus making enough room for all. It is not so long since a certain quartette of men were forbidden this privilege, and had to remain in a very tiresome position, hour after hour, on a sultry afternoon.

The first inebriate this morning was Albert Long, who pleaded guilty to having been drunk in a public place. "Two dollars, to be paid forthwith, or ten days in gaol," said His Worship. This person paid his fine.

William Upworth was treated to the same dose, but had not the necessary two dollars.

Hiram Long was number three. Regarding his state of intoxication he was not sure that he was drunk, and pleaded not guilty.

Thos. Cleary said, "I am like my friend Mr. Long. I was not very drunk, but I may have had a little in me. It's a funny thing that a fellow can't step off the sidewalk to put a bottle to his moth without being arrested." He pleaded not guilty. The last two men were remanded until to-morrow morning.

Night Dress Case

Miss Bella Campbell who made her debut in court circles yesterday morning was again present to-day, and on a charge of having stolen a night dress from Mrs. Wm. Duncan's residence, was found guilty, but His Worship allowed her to go on suspended sentence. This morning's hearing did not add much light to the case, except that more witnesses gave their testimony, which proved the identity of the garment.

Miss Campbell's evidence will suffice to explain the nature of the case. She went to work at Mrs. Duncan's about three or four months ago, and worked until the first week in July, when she expected to go to Toronto, and gave notice to that effect to her employer. However, she did not leave Peterborough, but took up residence at Mr. Haywood's, 185 Hunter street East, as a boarder. With Mrs. Duncan she still had most friendly relations, and that lady invited her to come often and see her. While working with Mrs. Duncan, she noticed a night dress hanging with some other clothes, and appropriated it for herself. She used it frequently and washed it with the other clothes. The article was only worth about 50 cents. When she left Mrs. Duncan's she took it with her, but it had remained in her trunk until Monday morning, when she parcelled it up with other clothes and gave it to her chum, Jane Turner, who brought it over town, and left it at a store.

The Dress Found

Mr. George Haywood testified that on Sunday at noon he had occasion to be in the room occupied by Miss Campbell, and he noticed a bulged appearance to a black coat that hung on the wall. Thinking it strange, he examined it, and found the night dress. This was on Sunday, and Miss Campbell said it could not have been there, so that some misunderstanding must exist. Mr. Duncan heard about it and learned that it belonged to his wife, and on Monday he traced it to where Miss Turner had left it, and thus the chain of evidence was completed.

Magistrate Dumble said that it was only one of a thousand cases in which domestics take things which do not belong to them. She was allowed to go, but on suspended sentence and warned to be more careful in the future.

Juvenile Case

There were five little tots of boys who were implicated in taking a small express wagon from the verandah of a house. There was nothing important connected with the affair, except that the parents of some of them should be more judicious in the use of the rod that guides. One father took a leather belt from about his waist, which he said he used on his boy, but the Magistrate told him that was a brutal method of punishment, and explained that the best way was to to make a good taws, that would smart but not injure.

DEBENTURES FOR SALE

Sealed Tenders addressed "F. Adams, Esq., City Treasurer" and endorsed "Tender for Debentures" will be received up to one o'clock p. m. on Saturday, Aug. 10th, 1907, for debentures of the city of Peterboro', namely, $29,999.84 payable at the end of 20 years being 4½ per cent. interest and $63,043.95 payable at the end of 30 years bearing 4 per cent. interest, the interest payable half yearly. The attention of citizens and residents of the county is particularly directed to this safe and profitable form of investment. The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

EXCURSIONISTS ENJOY IMPROMPTU GAMES

An Interesting Episode of the Trip on the Steamer Ogemah Yesterday—Local Athletes Excelled

During the operation of replenishing the wood-hold on the steamer Ogemah at the coaling station of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, near Indian Village, yesterday, the passengers enjoyed a series of games arranged on shore by well-known local sportsmen. The games were carried through without a hitch. The weather was all that could be expected. A stiff breeze prevented the stone from carrying as far as some of the contestants would have desired, but an enjoyable time was spent in the presence of some 200 excursionists on the steamer Esturion, just making her way to Bobcaygeon.

Mr. Ernie Best carried off first place in putting the stone, while Mr. Will Cochrane, now of Montreal, came a close second. Mr. Cochrane captured first place in the underthrow, while Rev. Mr. Potter excelled in the overhead throw.

In the high jump the honours went to Mr. Byron Haddie, a Bowmanville young man, now in connection with the C. G. E., Toronto. This event was very fiercely contested, Mr. W. G. Cochrane proving himself a jumper of no mean order.

Mr. Hillyer of Bowmanville was referee throughout the contest, and performed his duties with marked ability, although the Peterborough men are suspicious that it was Mr. Cochrane's feet that carried the string out of Hillyer's hand.

The prize-giving was the most interesting thing, which showed real good friendship. A magnificent bunch of water lilies was the reward of the best all-round man. As there was not time to answer to that degree, it was moved by Mr. Cochrane, seconded by Mr. Best, and carried, that the water lilies be sent to the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, and the Rev. Mr. Potter was asked to carry out the wish of the committee in charge.

LINDSAY MAN ON CHEESE BOARD

Mr. Flavelle, the Prominent Lindsay Produce Buyer, Reported at To-day's Board

The Peterborough Cheese Board is gaining a reputation among other boards of the Province. To-day for the first time, Mr. Flavelle, one of the largest buyers on the Victoria Board, was represented on the Peterborough Board, Mr. Clemes being the local buyer. He did not take part in the bidding, nor buy any cheese, but in all probability Mr. Flavelle's representative on the board will in a short time become as prominent on the Peterborough Board as his employer is on the Lindsay Board.

Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER STREET DIVERSION

Will Meet at Quaker Oats Building—Shelter Building to be Considered

The Committee of the Whole Council will meet again to-night at the Quaker Oats Company's factory at 7.40 o'clock, to consider the diversion of Hunter street in front of the building which was proposed by Mr. W. H. Denham, the superintendent, at the meeting on Monday night. Afterwards the committee will meet at 8 o'clock at the City Hall. The principal matter to be considered there will be what the council intends to do in connection with the changes in the city buildings the plans for which have been looked after by the Property Committee.

There will also be a joint meeting between the Committee of the Whole and the City Trust Commissioners regarding the new shelter for the Children's Aid Society. There may be a council meeting afterwards, if the committee decides on any course which needs the action of the council.

HUNGRY MAN LEFT ONLY THE DISHES

Disposed of Catsup and Worcestershire Sauce After the Eatables

At this season of the year, hunger seems to have a great hold on human beings, and especially upon those whose work keep them in the open air. This is exemplified by the story told by a local plumber, who happened to be in a Charlotte street restaurant recently, when a gentleman entered for a meal. The plumber was busily engaged at his work, but, nevertheless, could not refrain from watching the man at the table who seemed to have a ravenous appetite and a stomach of undue proportions.

With one eye on his work, and the other on the hungry man, he watched the provisions disappear from the quarter-oak in rapid succession. After every particle of strengthening material had apparently passed into the alimentary canal, the plumber saw him place the catsup bottle to his mouth, and empty the contents. This caused the plumber some surprise, but he was simply amazed when he saw the Worcestershire sauce take the same route.

From his attire the man with the voracious appetite was a telephone line [illegible]

LIKELY TO APPEAL FROM ORDER

Grand Trunk May Not Accept Penny-a-Mile Order.

COMMISSION'S JUDGMENT

Company Directed to Put on Third-Class Carriages in Connection With One Toronto-Montreal Train Daily —Order Not to Take Effect Pending Decision of Appeal If One is Entered.

Ottawa, July 31.—The Railway Commission has given judgment directing the Grand Trunk to issue third-class tickets at the rate of one penny per mile, and to run third-class passenger carriages attached to one train per day, each way, throughout the length of the line. The order is as follows:

(1) That the Grand Trunk Railway Co. run every day throughout the length of its line of railway, between Toronto and Montreal, at least one passenger train having on it third-class carriages for passenger traffic, and that the fare or charge for each third-class passenger by any train on that portion of its railway do not exceed two cents for each mile traveled, and that the said company forthwith, after the coming into effect of this order, file with the board of passenger tariffs for the aforesaid portion of its railway, embodying the said rate of two cents per mile for third-class passengers.

(2) That the G. T. R. be, and is hereby granted leave to appeal from this order to the Supreme Court of Canada upon the question whether that portion of section 3 of the aforesaid act of Parliament, which required that the fare or charge for each third-class passenger by any train on the railway of said company should not exceed one penny a mile traveled, and that at least one train having on it third-class carriages should run every day throughout the length of the line of the said railway now in force.

(3) That in the event of an appeal from this order being entered for hearing at the next ensuing sitting of the Supreme Court, this order do not take effect until after the final disposition of the said appeal, but in the event of such an appeal being entered on or before the commencement of the said sitting, this order shall then immediately take effect.

A statement from Montreal is to the effect that the G. T. R. will take advantage of the appeal clause in the order.

Used House for Fortress.

Athens, July 31.—There has been a pitched battle between Turkish troops, supported by Bashi-Buzouks, and a small band of Greek insurgents, who had entrenched themselves in a house in the outskirts of Sares, European Turkey (50 miles northeast of Salonik). The band was completely wiped out, but 30 men were killed before the soldiers, aided by artillery, succeeded in capturing the miniature fortress.

During the fighting the Bashi-Bazouks pillaged over a hundred houses and burned a number of Greek buildings in Seres.

Criminal Appeal.

London, July 31.—The House of Commons, after an all-night sitting, passed the third reading of the bill establishing a court of criminal appeal, and providing for the right of appeal against convictions for crime, similar to that now existing in civil cases.

THE BIG LEGAL FIGHT IS NOW ON

Struggle Between Dominion Coal and Steel.

VAN HORNE WAS SUSPICIOUS

Says He Mistrusted President Ross—Was the Steel Company Justified in Refusing Coal and Was the Coal Company Justified in Breaking Contract?—The Main Issues—Sir William on the Stand.

Sydney, N. S., July 31.—The legal struggle between the two great corporations—the Dominion Steel and the Dominion Coal—to decide whether the Steel Company was justified in breaking its contract with the Coal Company, began yesterday. There was a large attendance in court, Judge Longley is presiding. Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., of Toronto, is leading counsel for the Steel Company, and H. A. Lovitt, K.C., of Halifax, for the Coal interests.

The feature of yesterday's evidence was that given by Sir William Van Horne, who, in telling of his connection with the companies, acknowledged that he distrusted President Ross (head of both companies).

"My feeling against Mr. Ross was caused by an old business transaction. Superficially we have been on friendly terms. I felt I had been cheated by Mr. Ross. The merits were all on my side," said Sir William. Trouble between them dated back eight years.

"I have been heart and soul with the Coal Company. My trouble with Mr. Ross made me feel I could not trust the Coal Company to the mercies of Mr. Ross.

"I was with the Steel people because I believe they were in the right. Before the contract we made enquiries as to the quality of the coal necessary for the making of steel."

W. F. White, general manager of the National Trust, declared that consent had never been given to either of the contending companies for the cancellation of the contract.

F. P. Jones, general manager of the Steel Company since 1901, said that just prior to October, 1903, the date of the contract, there were five collieries on the Phelan seam. So long as the Steel Company was getting coal from the Coal Company there were no other mines known to be on the Phelan seam. The greater portion of the coal supplied before the contract came from these five. There was no official notice given to designate any particular seam. The coal at first was fairly well adapted for steel purposes. In the autumn of 1904, they sent coal which he refused because it was slack. About 30 cars were rejected and the Coal Company took them all back. Some coal that came designated as No. 2 run of mine, was not run of mine at all, but slack.

No Bail for Pettibone.

Boise, Idaho, July 31.—Formal application was made in the District Court yesterday to have George A. Pettibone admitted to bail. The motion was submitted without argument, and was promptly denied by Judge Wood. It was announced that bond for Charles H. Moyer would be ready by noon. It is in course of preparation, and will be signed by Timothy Reagan, president of the First National Bank of Boise. The bond is guaranteed by $25,000 cash on deposit by the Butte, Mont., local of the Western Federation of Miners.

Prohibition Bill Adopted.

Atlanta, Ga., July 31.—The Hardman-Covington prohibition bill passed by the Senate some days ago was adopted by the House last night by a vote of 139 to 39.

Two amendments made yesterday permit the sale of alcohol by wholesale druggists on the prescription of a reputable physician, and also allows wholesale druggists to carry pure alcohol in stock for sale to retailers only.

The new law is to become effective Jan. 1, 1908.

Barrie, July 31.—Simon Marshall of Lindsay, who was brought to Barrie Hospital by the Orillia police on Friday morning, suffering from pneumonia, disappeared from the institution at midnight. His own clothes had been put out of his reach, but he managed to secure a youth's coat and pants and made his escape through a window. He was wanted on suspicion of being implicated in the Algonquin Park fur smuggling case.

Divides Estate Among Employes.

New York, July 31.—The will of John C. Wilson, who was shot in his office, by John Warner, directs that his business and $190,000 personal estate be divided, share and share alike, between employes and Bernard J. McCann, the Bowery hatter, who had been a friend of the deceased for many years.

Salaries Too Small.

Windsor, July 31.—Hon. R. F. Sutherland announced yesterday that all efforts to obtain larger pay or a higher age limit for letter-carriers had failed.

It is probable that free delivery will not be given Windsor for a long time, as two men wish to work for $1.25 a day.

MASONRY GAVE WAY IN THE CANAL

Four Boats Drawn Into Huge Crack in Erie Canal.

FLOUR MILL TOPPLES OVER

Break Occurred Near the Centre of Syracuse—Two Breweries In Danger of Wreck—Canal Boat Drivers Have Narrow Escapes—Traffic Will Be Tied Up for Several Days—The Arches Break.

Syracuse, N.Y., July 31.—The arches of masonry which support the bed of the Erie Canal at a point near the centre of this city, where it passes over Onondaga Creek, gave way yesterday afternoon and four canal boats were drawn into the bed of the crack beneath, fifty feet of the wall of the three-storey Empire flouring mill were precipitated into the water and the Bartels and Greenway breweries, respectively on the north and south banks of the canal, were threatened with demolition.

The driver of the canal boat, Peter J. Roler, of Black River, noticed that the boat was moving too rapidly and hurriedly moored it to the canal bank. The rope snapped like so much thread.

Fred Race, the owner of the boat, brought his wife and eight-year-old daughter on deck, and when the boat neared a safe section of the wall, all jumped to shore.

Henry Race, 80 years old, father of the owner, was standing in the stern of the boat. Employes of the Standard Milling Co. seized him as the boat approached the vortex.

A man, two women and five children from other boats were also rescued in the nick of time.

The canal level at this point is five miles in length and Division Superintendent Thomas Wheeler immediately ordered the water drawn off.

All canal traffic is tied up and it will be several days at least before the damage can be repaired. The boats and cargoes are total losses.

HARRY THAW DENIES IT.

Declares That His Wife Is Not Going on the Stage.

New York, July 31.—Mrs. Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw gave an authoritative statement that she has no present intention of returning to the stage, but will devote her energies to the study of music. This statement was called out by a published report that Mrs. Thaw intended to take a leading role at a Broadway theatre.

The following signed statement was given by Harry K. Thaw at the Tombs:

"This story, like many others, is absolutely false and has been started, I believe, for one of two reasons, either to give a false impression of my wife's character and steadfastness, with cowardly intent of injuring us all, or simply to fill space."

Fortune by Forgery.

Canyon City, Col., July 31.—Chas. B. Hogge, alias Benton, who pleaded guilty to forging a cheque on a bank at Florence, Col., was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten to fourteen years. Hogge told the court that he had practiced forgery for 15 years, and had secured more than $750,000 during that time. He said his system was to secure introductions through preachers.

Involuntary Manslaughter.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 31.—The verdict of a coroner's jury in the case of Miss Elizabeth Cadenhead of Fergus, Ont., who was shot and killed by Pte. Cyrus Gillette, who was aiming at a deserter, charges him with involuntary manslaughter.

A demand will be made on officers at Fort Brady for the man, which probably will be refused until a court-martial is held. This will likely acquit Gillette.

Missionaries Drown.

New Haven, Conn., July 31.—Advices received here from Kuling, China, state that Rev. Warren B. Seabury, Yale, 1900, and Rev. Arthur S. Mann, 1899, have both been drowned. The latter met his death in attempting to rescue Dr. Seabury.

Little Girl Suicides.

Detroit, July 31.—Fearful lest she would be whipped for having dropped a bunch of keys into the river, little Emlie Blumen, aged 12, a daughter of August Blumen, Baldwin avenue, 18th ward, threw herself into the River Rouge, and was drowned.

179 Degrees in The Sun.

McGregor, Tex., July 31.—The most terrific heat visitation ever known in Texas occurred here, continuing about an hour and twenty minutes. The thermometer registered 179 degrees in the sun and 112 degrees in the shade.

Woman Drowns in Creek.

Uxbridge, July 31.—Mrs. Wilkin, probably 75 years of age, was found drowned yesterday morning with her head and shoulders in a small creek that empties into the electric light pond.

COBOURG HAD AMERICAN LEAGUER ON THE LINE-UP

It appears that Peterborough was up against the real thing on Saturday, according to the report in the Port Hope Guide, which states that while the name of the pitcher was given as Downs, that was but an assumed name, and that in reality the slab artist was an American Leaguer. Referring to the game the Guide says:

It is a rather difficult matter to figure out the nine men who represented Cobourg on Saturday last. According to the line-up in the Peterborough papers, Downs was in the box. Leo Downs once did the twirling for Cobourg, but not last Saturday. A great baseball sport of Cobourg told us last evening that he didn't know the pitcher's name, but he was a dandy. It has been rumoured that this southpaw is a Mr. Phaelan, of the New York American League team, but as to the correctness of this we are not prepared to say. Dwyer, who played first in Cobourg against Port Hope, held the second sack down, and T. Burns, of Rochester, played third. Cobourg, of course, were violating the rules of the league by playing Dwyer and Burns, and what their object was in playing the pitcher under an assumed name, we cannot imagine. He struck out four men only and Peterborough hit him safely five times.

ARRANGED DRAW FOR FROST CUP

Interesting Competition Among Members of Lawn Bowling Club Will be Played at Once

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Lawn Bowling Club held last night, the draws for the beautiful Frost trophy, won last year by Mr. McIntyre's rink, was made, and the first draw must be played off by Monday, August 5th. In view of this fact skips are requested to arrange with their opponents and players to have the games played by the date mentioned. TO RUN EXCURSION TO COBOURG

Baseball Team Will Play in That Town on Saturday and Many Fans Will Accompany Players

On Saturday the local baseball team will go to Cobourg to play the team of that town the second of the series of three games between these two teams. While it may be too much to expect the locals to win out against a big league pitcher, such as they were up against in the game here last Saturday, they will do their best to wipe out the defeat.

An excursion will be run from this city and it is expected that a number of the local fans will accompany the team to cheer them on to victory. The defeat of last Saturday has by no means disheartened them and it would not be surprising if the tables were turned, and there are many who believe that the Peterborough team can trim pretty nearly anything in the Midland League this season.

TENNIS

NO GAMES PLAYED.

There were no scheduled games in lawn tennis played last night in the Nicholls Oval Tennis Club tournament.

FAST LACROSSE GAME ON MONDAY

Young Torontos Are Coming With the Intention of Cinching the District Championship

On Monday next one of the best lacrosse games of the season will be played here, when the Young Torontos will stack up against the locals. The first game of the season, the local team played away from home, was with this bunch in Toronto, and the win was rather an easy one for the men from the Queen City. It will be a very different story on Monday, however. The home team is out to win this game, and the players are in much better condition than they were when they played the first game, so that a hard contest is assured.

On the other hand the Toronto team has to win this game to remain in the running for the district leadership, and they will not be put down and out without a struggle. The game will be well worth seeing.

Big Cheque for Province.

Toronto, July 31.—The estate of the late Senator George T. Fulford has paid to the Treasury Department of the province a cheque for $106,000. This with $250,000 makes a total of $356,000.

The estate was assessed at $5,745,000, not including charities and debts.

Guide to Mariners.

Kingston, July 31—The Government has established a steel cylinderal gas buoy, painted red and surmounted by a pyramidal steel frame, supporting a lantern on the southern side of the Northport shoal, in the Bay of Quinte.

Schmitz Still Mayor.

San Francisco, July 31.—Eugene Schmitz, the convicted mayor, has made appointments to fill the vacancies created by the forced resignations of fourteen members of the board of supervisors.

Gored by a Bull.

Ottawa, July 31.—Frank Zavitaki, an employe of Aaron Wright, M. P., was badly gored by a Jersey bull at Renfrew. He escaped by crawling through a hedge.

Insane Man on Train.

New York, July 31.—Frederick Ford of Philadelphia became insane in a train after leaving Albany yesterday and made several efforts to kill his two-year-old daughter by throwing her from a window of the train. He was restrained by other passengers. Ford also tried to leap from the train.

Broken Sleep, Morning Tiredness

Taxpayers Have Taken Advantage Of Discount

Crowds Kept Collector Green Busy During the Past Few Days—Another Day is Yet Granted—Taxes Have Been Largely Paid.

A large number of the property-owners of the city are taking advantage of the opportunity of receiving a discount of two per cent. from their taxes, by paying them within the given time.

During the last two days Collector Green and his assistant, Mr. J. W. Stacey, have been extremely busy receiving the yearly sums which the hard-working citizens have dearly earned, but must contribute their proportion of the support of this fair city, which in spite of the general condition of the streets, and public property, is nevertheless progressive and peaceful — two attributes that cover many deficiencies.

There is still another day to secure the discount and it is expected that the heaviest landowners will have paid their taxes by to-morrow night. Mr. Green's office is just over Brown's feed store, but the great majority of the people thought that the city treasurer's office was the place to pay their bills, and Mr. Adams and his staff have been besieged for the past few days. They are now tired of telling people where the tax collector's office really is located. In the mornings women have formed the majority, the business men snatching any available time they could to get away and relieve themselves of their cash. One gentleman said that he had at least saved the price of a few hair cuts and shaves and promised to be extravagant in his tonsorial tastes until the profit was gone.

Young men who had but the poll tax to pay went along with the others expecting to get 2 cents of each dollar taken off, and they would thus save the price of a stamp. It is funny how everyone is doing the city on this opportunity but it is also a satisfaction that the people are paying their debts to the city with such promptitude, but it is only another proof of Peterborough's prosperity.

TROOPS AGAINST STRIKERS.

Cameron Highlanders Arrive at Belfast With Maxim Gun.

Belfast, July 31.—That the authorities view seriously the local situation arising from the strike of the dock laborers for increased pay and shorter hours, which has been aggravated by the revolt of the police, who are demanding more pay because of the extreme work the strike entails, is evidenced by the arrival here yesterday of the first battalion of the Cameron Highlanders, with a Maxim gun and a detachment of cavalry.

In addition the 13th Hussars are now on their way into Belfast, and the Berkshire and Middlesex Regiments have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to move at a moment's notice.

Special camp accommodations are being provided and it is expected that a total of 6,000 troops will be in Belfast within a few days.

At Cork the police are in full sympathy with the Belfast force and have asked the permission of the inspector-general to hold a public meeting.

RESULTS AT PETAWAWA.

Canada Won Londonderry and Prince of Wales' Cups.

Petawawa Camp, July 31.—The results of the artillery competitions were announced last night.

The Canadian composite team has won the Londonderry Challenge Cup and the Prince of Wales' Cup on the aggregate score.

The results were: British 549 in field artillery and 507 in heavy; Canadians 524 in field and 508 in heavy.

The Canadian heavy artillery team yesterday morning made an excellent showing, surprising many by the accuracy with which they carried out the firing and manoeuvring. Major Leigh was battery commander in the direct firing, with Capt. McKinnon in command of the sections, and on direct firing, Capt. Ewing commanded, aided by Lieut. McGowan.

Lord Stradbrooke and Countess Stradbrooke were present, and along with the party was Major Tanaka, Japanese artillery attache to the embassy at Washington.

Moran of the Lady Letty

By FRANK NORRIS,

Author of "The Octopus," "The Pit," Etc.

Copyright, 1902, by S. S. McClure Company

The Bertha Milliner's crew, in a long line, Moran at one end, Wilbur at the other and Charlie in the centre, came on toward the beachcombers step by step. There was little outcry. Each contestant singled out his enemy and made slowly for him with eyes fixed and weapon ready, regardless of the movements of his mates.

"See any rifles among them, Charlie?" shouted Moran, suddenly breaking the silence.

"No, I tink no hab got," answered Charlie.

Wilbur took another step forward and cocked his revolver. One of the beachcombers shouted out something in angry vernacular, and Charlie instantly responded. All this time the line had been slowly advancing upon the enemy, and Wilbur began to wonder how long that heartbreaking suspense was to continue. This was not at all what he had imagined. Already he was within twenty feet of his man, could see the evil glint of his slant, small eye and the shine of his yellow body, naked to the belt. Still foot by foot the forward movement continued. The Chinese on either side had begun exchanging insults. The still, hot air of the tropic dawn was vibrant with the Cantonese monosyllables tossed back and forth like tennis balls over the low sand rampart. The thing was degenerating into a farce—the Bertha's Chinamen would not fight.

Back there, under the shelter of the schooner, it was all very well to talk, and they had been very brave when they had all flung themselves upon Hoang. Here, face to face with the enemy, the sun striking off heliograph flashes from their knives and spades, it was a vastly different matter. The thing, to Wilbur's mind, should have been done suddenly if it was to be done at all. The best course now was to return to camp and try some other plan. Charlie shouted a direction to him in pigeon English that he did not understand, but he answered "All right!" and moved forward another step so as to be in line with the cooly at his left.

The liquor that he had drunk before starting began suddenly to affect him, yet he knew that his head was yet clear. He could not bring himself to run away before them all, but he would have given much to have discovered a good reason for postponing the fight, if fight there was to be.

He remembered the cocked revolver in his hand and, suddenly raising it, fired point blank at his man, not fifteen feet away. The hammer snapped on the nipple, but the cartridge did not explode. Wilbur turned to the Chinaman next him in line, exclaiming excitedly:

"Here, say, have you got a knife—something I can fight with? This gun is no good."

There was a shout from Moran:

"Look out! Here they come!"

Two of the beachcombers suddenly sprang over the sand breastworks and ran toward Charlie, their knives held low in front of them, ready to rip.

"Shoot! Shoot! Shoot!" shouted Moran rapidly.

Wilbur's revolver was a self cocker. He raised it again, drawing hard on the trigger as he did so. It roared and leaped in his hand, and a whiff of burned powder came to his nostrils. Then Wilbur was astonished to hear himself shout at the top of his voice:

"Come on now, get into them—get into them, now everybody!"

The Bertha's Chinamen were all running forward, three of them well in advance of the others. In the rear Charlie was at grapples with a beachcomber who fought with a knife in each hand, and Wilbur had a sudden glimpse of another sitting on the sand with his handle to his mouth, the blood spurting between his fingers.

Wilbur suddenly realized that he held a knife and that he was directly abreast the sand rampart. How he got the knife he could not tell, though he afterward distinctly remembered throwing away his revolver, loaded as it was. He had leaped the breast-works—he knew that—and between him and the vast bright blur of the ocean he saw one of the beachcombers backing away and watching him intently, his hatchet in his hand. Wilbur had only time to think that he himself would no doubt be killed within the next few moments when this latter halted abruptly, took a step forward and, instead of striking downward, as Wilbur had anticipated, dropped upon his knee and struck with all his might at the calf of Wilbur's leg. It was only the thickness of his boots that saved Wilbur from being hamstrung where he stood. As it was, he felt the blade bite almost to the bone and heard the blood squelch in the sole of his boot as he staggered for the moment, almost tripping over the man in front of him.

The Chinaman sprang to his feet again, but Wilbur was at him in an instant, feeling instinctively that his chance was to close with his man and so bring his own superior weight and strength to bear. Again and again he tried to run in and grip the slim yellow body, but the other dodged and backed away, as hard to hold as any fish. All around and back of him now Wilbur heard the hideous sound of stamping and struggling and the noise of hoarse, quick shouts and the rebound of bodies falling and rolling upon the hard, smooth beach. The thing had not been a farce, after all. This was fighting at last, and there within arm's length were men grappling and gripping and hitting one another, each honestly striving to kill his fellows—for all fighting in barbarous oriental fashion with nails and teeth when the knife or hatchet failed. What did he, club man and college man, in that hideous trouble that wrought itself on there on that heat stricken tropic beach under that morning's sun?

Suddenly there was a flash of red flame, and a billow of thick, yellow smoke filled all the air. The cabin was afire. The hatchet man with whom Wilbur was fighting had been backing in this direction. He was close in when the fire began to leap from the one window. Now he could go no farther. He turned to run sideways between his enemy and the burning cabin. Wilbur thrust his foot sharply forward. The beachcomber tripped, staggered, and before he had reached the ground Wilbur had driven home the knife.

Then suddenly, at the sight of his smitten enemy rolling on the ground at his feet, the primitive man, the half brute of the stone age, leaped to life in Wilbur's breast. He felt his muscles thrilling with a strength they had not known before. His nerves, stretched tense as harp strings, were vibrating to a new tune. His blood spun through his veins till his ears roared with the rush of it. Never had he conceived of such savage exultation as that which mastered him at that instant. The knowledge that he could kill filled him with a sense of power that was veritably royal. He felt physically larger. It was the joy of battle, the horrid exhilaration of killing, the animal of the race, the human brute suddenly aroused and dominating every instinct and tradition of centuries of civilization. The fight still was going forward.

Wilbur could hear the sounds of it, though from where he stood all sight was shut off by the smoke of the burning house. As he turned about, knife in hand, debating what next he should do, a figure burst down upon him, sundowy and distorted through the haze.

It was Moran, but Moran as Wilbur had never seen her before. Her eyes were blazing under her thick frown like fire under a bush. Her arms were bared to the elbow, her heavy ropes of hair flying and coiling from her in all directions, while with a voice hoarse from shouting she sang, or, rather, chanted, in her long forgotten Norse tongue, fragments of old sagas, words and sentences meaningless even to herself. The fury of battle had exalted her to a sort of frenzy. She was beside herself with excitement. Once more she had lapsed back to the vikings and sea rovers of the tenth century; she was Brunehild again, a shield maiden, a Valkyrie, a berserker and the daughter of berserkers, and, like them, she fought in a veritable frenzy, seeing nothing, hearing nothing, every sense exalted, every force doubled, insensible to pain, deaf to all reason.

Her dirk uplifted, she rushed upon Wilbur, never once pausing in her chant. Wilbur shouted a warning to her as she came on, puzzled beyond words, startled back to a consciousness of himself again by this insensate attack.

"Moran! Moran!" he called. "What is it? You're wrong! It's I! It's Wilbur, your mate! Can't you see?"

Moran could not see. Blind to friend or foe, as she was deaf to reason, she struck at him with all the strength of her arm. But there was no skill in her fighting now. Wilbur dropped his own knife and gripped her right wrist. She closed with him upon the instant, clutching at his throat with her one free hand, and as he felt her strength, doubled and tripled in the fury of her madness, Wilbur knew that, however easily he had overcome his enemy of a moment before, he was now fighting for his very life.

At first Wilbur merely struggled to keep her from him—to prevent her using her dirk. He tried not to hurt her. But what with the spirits he had drunk before the attack, what with the excitement of the attack itself and the sudden unleashing of the brute in him an instant before, the whole affair grew dim and hazy in his mind. He ceased to see things in their proportion. His new found strength gloried in matching itself with another strength that was its equal. He fought with Moran not as he would fight either woman or man or with anything human, for the matter of that. He fought with her as against some impersonal force that it was incumbent upon him to conquer—that it was imperative he should conquer if he wished to live. When she struck, he struck blow for blow, force for force, his strength against hers, glorying in that strange contest, though he never once forgot that this last enemy was the girl he loved. It was not Moran whom he fought. It was her force, her determination, her will, her splendid independence, that he set himself to conquer.

Already she had dropped or flung away the dirk, and their battle had become an issue of sheer physical strength between them. It was a question now as to who should master the other. Twice she had fought Wilbur to his knees, the heel of her hand upon his face, his head thrust back between his shoulders, and twice he had wrenched away, rising to his feet again, panting, bleeding even, but with his teeth set and all his resolution at the sticking point. Once he saw his chance and planted his knuckles squarely between her eyes where her frown was knotted hard, hoping to stun her and end the fight once and for all. But the blow did not seem to affect her in the least. By this time he saw that her berserker rage had worked itself clear as fermenting wine clears itself and that she knew now with whom she was fighting, and he seemed now to understand the incomprehensible and to sympathize with her joy in measuring her strength against his, and yet he knew that the combat was deadly serious and that more than life was at stake. Moran despised a weakling.

For an instant, as they fell apart, she stood off, breathing hard and rolling up her sleeve. Then, as she started forward again, Wilbur met her half way, caught her round the neck and under the arm, gripping her left wrist with his right hand behind her. Then, exerting every ounce of strength he yet retained, he thrust her down and from him until at length, using his hip as a pivot, he swung her off her feet, threw her fairly on her back and held her so, one knee upon her chest, his hands closed viselike on her wrists.

Then suddenly Moran gave up, relaxing in his grasp all in a second, and, to his great surprise, suddenly smiled.

"Hoh, mate!" she exclaimed. "That was a tough one, but I'm beaten—you're stronger than I thought for."

Wilbur released her and rose to his feet.

"Here," she continued, "give me your hand. I'm as weak as a kitten." As Wilbur helped her to her feet she put her hand to her forehead, where his knuckles had left their mark, and frowned at him, but not ill naturedly.

"Next time you do that," she said, "use a rock or a belaying pin, or something that won't hurt—not your fist, mate." She looked at him admiringly. "What a two fisted, brawny dray horse it is! I told you I was stronger than most men, didn't I? But I'm the weaker of us two, and that's a fact. You've beaten, mate—I admit it. You've conquered me, and," she continued, smiling again and shaking him by the shoulder, "and, mate, do you know, I love you for it."

CHAPTER XI.

"WELL!" exclaimed Wilbur at length, the excitement of the fight returning upon him. "We have plenty to do yet. Come on, Moran."

It was no longer Moran who took the initiative—who was the leader. The brief fight upon the shore had changed all that. It was Wilbur who was now the master; it was Wilbur who was aggressive. He had known what it meant to kill. He was no longer afraid of anything—no longer hesitating. He had felt a sudden quadrupling of all his strength, moral and physical.

All that was strong and virile and brutal in him seemed to harden and stiffen in the moment after he had seen the beachcomber collapse limply on the sand under that last strong knife blow, and a sense of triumph, of boundless self confidence, leaped within him, so that he shouted aloud in a very excess of exhilaration, and, snatching up a heavy cutting-in spade that had been dropped in the fight near the burning cabin, tossed it high into the air, catching it again as it descended, like any exultant savage.

"Come on!" he cried to Moran. "Where are the beachcombers gone? I'm going to get one more before the show is over."

The two passed out of the zone of smoke and reached the other side of the burning cabin just in time to see the last of the struggle. The whole affair had not taken more than a quarter of an hour. In the end the beachcombers had been beaten. Four had fled into the waste of sand and sage that lay back of the shore and had not been pursued, a fifth had been almost hamstrung by one of the Bertha's coolies and had given himself up, a sixth, squealing and shrieking like a tiger cat, had been made prisoner, and Wilbur himself had accounted for the seventh.

As Wilbur and Moran came around the cabin they saw the Bertha Milliner's Chinamen in a group not far from the water's edge, reassembled after the fight, panting and bloody, some of them bare to the belt, their weapons still in their hands. Here and there was a bandaged arm or head, but their number was complete—or, no, was it complete?

"Ought to be one more," said Wilbur, anxiously hastening forward.

As the two came up the coolies parted, and Wilbur saw one of them, his head propped up on a rolled up blouse, lying ominously still on the trampled sand.

"It's Charlie!" exclaimed Moran.

"Where's he hurt?" cried Wilbur to the group of coolies. "Jim—where's Jim? Where's he hurt, Jim?"

Jim, the only member of the crew besides Charlie who could understand or speak English, answered:

"Kai-ginch him in' pistol, you' pistol. Charlie him fight plenty. Bimeby, when he no see, one piecee Kai-ghing he come up behin', shoot um Charlie in side—savvy?"

"Did he kill him? Is he dead?"

"No. I tinkum die plenty soon. Him no savvy nuttin' now. Him all same sleep. Plenty soon bimeby him sleep for good, I tink."

There was little blood to be seen when Wilbur gently unwrapped the torn sleeve of a blouse that had been used as a bandage. Just under the armpit was the mark of the bullet, a small puncture already closed, half hidden under a clot or two of blood. The cooly lay quite unconscious, his eyes wide open, drawing a faint, quick breath at irregular intervals.

"What do you think, mate?" asked Moran in a low voice.

"I think he's got it through the lungs," answered Wilbur, frowning in distress and perplexity. "Poor old Charlie!"

Moran went down on a knee and put a finger on the slim, corded wrist, yellow as old ivory.

"Charlie!" she called. "Charlie! Here! Don't you know me? Wake up, old chap! It's Moran. You're not hurt so very bad, are you?"

Charlie's eyes closed and opened a couple of times.

"No can tell," he answered feebly. "Hurt plenty big." Then he began to cough.

Wilbur drew a sigh of relief. "He's all right!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, I think he's all right," assented Moran.

"First thing to do now is to get him aboard the schooner," said Wilbur. "We'll take him right across in the beachcombers' dory here. By Jove!" he exclaimed on a sudden. "The ambergris! I'd forgotten all about it." His heart sank. In the hideous confusion of that morning's work all thought of the loot had been forgotten. Had the battle been for nothing, after all? The moment the beachcombers had been made aware of the meditated attack it would have been an easy matter for them to have hidden the ambergris—destroyed it even.

In two strides Wilbur had reached the beachcombers' dory and was groping in the forward cuddy. Then he uttered a great shout of satisfaction. The "stuff" was there, all of it, though the mass had been cut into quarters, three parts of it stowed in tea galls, the fourth still reeved up in the hammock netting.

"We've got it!" he cried to Moran, who had followed him. "We've got it, Moran! Over $100,000! We're rich—rich as beodlers, you and I! Oh, it was worth fighting for, after all, wasn't it? Now we'll get out of here—now we'll cut for home."

"It's only Charlie I'm thinking about," answered Moran, hesitating. "If it wasn't for that we'd be all right. I don't know whether we did right, after all, in jumping the camp here. I wouldn't like to feel that I'd got Charlie into our quarrel only to have him killed."

Wilbur stared at this new Moran in no little amazement. Where was the reckless, untamed girl of the previous night, who had sworn at him and denounced his niggling misgivings as to right and wrong?

"Hoh!" he retorted impatiently, "Charlie's right enough. And, besides, I didn't force him to anything. I—we—that is, we took the same chances. If I hadn't done for my man there behind the cabin, he would have done for me. At all events, we carried our point. We got the loot. They took it from us, and we were strong enough to get it back."

Moran merely nodded, as though satisfied with his decision, and added:

"Well, what next, mate?"

"We'll get back to the Bertha now and put to sea as soon as we can catch the tide. I'll send Jim and two of the other men across in the dory with Charlie. The rest of us will go around by the shore. We've got to have a chin-chin with Hoang, if he don't get loose aboard there and fire the boat before we can get back. I don't propose taking these beachcombers back to Frisco with us."

"What will we do with the two prisoners?" she asked.

"Let them go. We've got their arms."

The positions of the two were reversed. It was Wilbur who assumed control and direction of what went forward, Moran taking his advice and relying upon his judgment.

In accordance with Wilbur's orders, Charlie was carried aboard the dory, which, with two Chinamen at the oars, and the ambergris stowed again into the cuddy, at once set off for the schooner. Wilbur himself cut the ropes on the two prisoners and bade them shift for themselves. The rest of the party returned to the Bertha Milliner around the wide sweep of the beach.

It was only by high noon, under the flogging of a merciless sun, that the entire crew of the little schooner once more reassembled under the shadow of her stranded hulk. They were quite worn out, and as soon as Charlie was lifted aboard and the ambergris—or, as they spoke of it now, the "loot"—was safely stowed in the cabin, Wilbur allowed the Chinamen three or four hours' rest. They had had neither breakfast nor dinner, but their exhaustion was greater than their hunger, and in a few moments the entire half dozen were stretched out asleep on the forward deck in the shadow of the forecastle, raised for the purpose of sheltering them. However, Wilbur and Moran sought out Hoang, whom they found as they had left him, bound upon the floor of the cabin.

"Now we have a talk—savvy?" Wilbur told him as he loosed the ropes about his wrists and ankles. "We got our loot back from you, old man, and we got one of your men into the bar-

SAYS THIS IS BEST

A leading health journal in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue the following:

Fluid Extract Dandelion one ounce;
Compound Salatone, one ounce;
Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, four ounces.

Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known physician states that these are harmless vegetable ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

This mixture will clean the blood of all impurities. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Salatone and Extract Dandelion, works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid, and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

gain. You woke up the wrong crowe, Hoang, when you went up against this outfit. You're in a bad way, my friend. Your junk is wrecked, all your oil and blubber from the whale is lost, four of your men have run away, one is killed, another one we caught and let go, another one has been hamstrung, and you yourself are our prisoner, with your teeth filed down to your gums. Now," continued Wilbur, with the profoundest gravity, "I hope this will be a lesson to you. Don't try and get too much the next time. Just be content with what is yours by right or what you are strong enough to keep, and don't try to fight white people. Other coolies, I don't say. But when you try to get the better of white people you are out of your class."

The little beachcomber (he was scarcely above five feet) rubbed his chafed wrists and fixed Wilbur with his tiny, twinkling eyes.

"What you do now?"

"We go home. I'm going to maroon you and your people here on this beach. You deserve that I should let you eat your fists by way of table board, but I'm no such dirt as you. When our men left the schooner they brought off with them a good share of our provisions. I'll leave them here for you, and there's plenty of turtle and abalone to be had for the catching. Some of the American men-of-war, I believe, come down to this bay for target practice twice a year, and if we speak any on the way up we'll ask them to call here for castaways. That's what I'll do for you, and that's all! If you don't like it you can set out to march up the coast till you hit a town, but I wouldn't advise you to try it. Now, what have you got to say?"

Hoang was silent. His cue had become unbound for half its length, and he plaited it anew, winking his eyes thoughtfully.

"Well, what do you say?" said Moran.

"I lose face," answered Hoang at length calmly.

"You lose face? What do you mean?"

"I lose face," he insisted, then added: "I heap 'shamed. You fightee my China boy, you catchee me. My boy no mo' hab me fo' boss—savvy? I go back, him no likee me. Mebbe all same killee me. I lose face—no mo' boss."

"What a herd of wild cattle!" muttered Wilbur.

"There's something in what he says, don't you think, mate?" observed Moran, bringing a braid over each shoulder and stroking it, according to her habit.

"We'll ask Jim about it," decided Wilbur.

But Jim at once confirmed Hoang's statement. "Oh, Kai-gingh kilium no good boss, fo' sure," he declared.

"Don't you think, mate," said Moran, "we'd better take him up to Frisco with us? We've had enough fighting and killing."

So it was arranged that the defeated beachcomber, the whipped buccaneer, who had "lost face" and no longer dared look his men in the eye, should be taken aboard.

By 4 o'clock next morning Wilbur had the hands at work digging the sand from around the Bertha Miliner's

"We've got it!"

bow. The line by which she was to be warped off was run out to the ledge of the rock, fresh water was taken on, provisions for the marooned beachcombers were cached upon the beach, the dory was taken aboard, gaskets were cast off and hatches battened down.

At high tide, all hands straining upon the warp, the schooner was floated off and under touch of the lightest airs drew almost imperceptibly away from the land. They were quite an hour crawling out to the heads of the bay, but here the breeze was freshening. Moran took the wheel, the flying jib and staysail were set, the wake began to whiten under the schooner's stern, the forefoot sang, the Pacific opened out more and more, and by 12:30 o'clock Moran put the wheel over and as the schooner's bow swung to the northward cried to Wilbur:

"Mate, look your last of Magdalena bay!"

Standing at her side, Wilbur turned and swept the curve of the coast with a single glance. The vast, beat scourged heap of yellow sand, the still, smooth shield of indigo water, with its beds of kelp, had become insensibly dear to him. It was all familiar, friendly and hospitable. Hardly an acre of that weep of beach that did not hold the impress of his feet. There was the point near by the creek where he and Moran first landed to fill the water casks and to gather abalones; the creek itself, where he had snared quail; the sand spit, with its whitened whale's skull, where he and Moran had beached the schooner, and there, last of all, that spot of black over which still hung a haze of brown gray smoke, the charred ruins of the old Portuguese whaling cabin, where they had outfought the beachcombers.

For a moment Wilbur and Moran looked back without speaking. They stood on the quarter deck in the shadow of the mainsail, shut off from the sight of the schooner's crew and for the instant quite alone.

"Well, Moran, it's goodby to the old place, isn't it?" said Wilbur at length.

"Yes," she said, her deep voice pitched even deeper than usual. "Mate, great things have happened there."

"It doesn't look like a place for a tong row with Chinese pirates, though, does it?" he said, but even as he spoke the words he guessed that that was not what he meant.

"Oh, what did that amount to?" she said, with an impatient movement of her head. "It was there that I first knew myself and knew that, after all, you were a man and I was a woman, and that there was just us—you and I—in the world, and that you loved me and I loved you, and that nothing else was worth thinking of."

Wilbur shut his hand down over hers as it gripped a spoke of the wheel.

"Moran, I knew that long since," he said. "Such a month as this has been! Why, I feel as though I had only begun to live since I began to love you."

"And you do, mate?" she answered. "You do love me and always will? Oh, you don't know," she went on, interrupting his answer, "you haven't a guess, how the last two days have changed me. Something has happened here," and she put both her hands over her breast. "I'm all different here, mate. It's all you inside here—all you! And it hurts, and I'm proud that it does hurt. Oh," she cries of a sudden, "I don't know how to love yet, and I do it very badly, and I can't tell you how I feel because I can't even tell it to myself. But you must be good to me now." The deep voice trembled a little. "Good to me, mate, and true to me, mate, because I've only you, and all of me is yours. Mate, be good to me and always be kind to me. I'm not Moran any more. I'm not proud and strong and independent, and I don't want to be lonely. I want you—I want you always with me. I'm just a woman now, dear—just a woman that loves you with a heart she's just found."

Wilbur could find no words to answer. There was something so pathetic and at the same time so noble in Moran's complete surrender of herself and her dependence upon him, her unquestioned trust in him and his goodness, that he was suddenly smitten with awe at the sacredness of the obligation thus imposed on him. She was his now, to have and to hold, to keep, to protect and to defend—she who was once so glorious of her strength, of her savage isolation, her unviolate, pristine maidenhood. All words seemed futile and inadequate to him.

She came close to him and put her hands upon his shoulders and, looking him squarely in the eye, said:

"You do love me, mate, and you always will?"

"Always, Moran," said Wilbur simply. He took her in his arms, and she laid her cheek against his for a moment, then took his head between her hands and kissed him.

Two days passed. The Bertha Miliner held steadily to her northward course, Moran keeping her well in toward the land. Wilbur maintained a lookout from the crow's nest in the hope of sighting some white cruiser or battleship on her way south for target practice. In the cache of provisions he had left for the beachcombers he had inserted a message, written by Hoang, to the effect that they might expect to be taken off by a United States man-of-war within the month.

Hoang did not readily recover his "loss of face." The Bertha's Chinamen would have nothing to do with this member of a hostile tong, and the humiliated beachcomber kept almost entirely to himself, sitting on the fo'c'stle head all day long, smoking his sui-yen-hu and brooding silently to himself.

Moran had taken the lump of ambergris from out Kitchell's old hammock and had slung the hammock itself in the schooner's waist, and Charlie was made as comfortable as possible therein. They could do but little for him, however, and he was taken from time to time with spells of coughing that racked him with a dreadful agony. At length one noon just after Moran had taken the sun and had calculated that the Bertha was some eight miles to the southwest of San Diego she was surprised to hear Wilbur calling her sharply. She ran to him and found him standing in the waist by Charlie's hammock.

The Chinaman was dying and knew it. He was talking in a faint and feeble voice to Wilbur as she came up and was trying to explain to him that cost um fifteen hundied dollah. I be bury all same mandarin—all same Little Pete. You promise, sure?"

"I promise you, Charlie. You shall have a funeral finer than Little Pete's."

Charlie nodded his head contentedly, drawing a breath of satisfaction.

"Bimeby Hop Sing send um body back China." He closed his eyes and lay for a long time, worn out with the effort of speaking, as if asleep. Suddenly he opened his eyes wide. "You no flogettee horse?"

"Four horses, Charlie. I'll remember."

He drooped once more, only to rouse again at the end of a few minutes with:

"First chop coffin, plenty much silver," and again a little later and very feebly, "Six piecee—band music—China music; four piecee—gong—four."

"I promise you, Charlie," said Wilbur.

"Now," answered Charlie—"now I die."

And the low caste Cantonese coolly, with all the dignity and calmness of a Cicero, composed himself for death.

An hour later Wilbur and Moran knew that he was dead. Yet, though they had never left the hammock, they could not have told at just what moment he died.

Later, on that same afternoon, Wilbur, from the crow's nest, saw the lighthouse on Point Loma and the huge, rambling bulk of the Coronado hotel spreading out and along the beach.

It was the outpost of civilization. They were getting back to the world again. Within an hour's ride of the hotel were San Diego, railroads, newspapers and policemen. Just off the hotel, however, Wilbur could discern the gleaming white hull of a United States man-of-war. With the glass he could make her out to be one of the monitors, the Monterey in all probability.

After advising with Moran it was decided to put in to land. The report as to the castaways could be made to the Monterey and Charlie's body forwarded to his tong in San Francisco.

In two hours' time the schooner was well up, and Wilbur stood by Moran's side at the wheel watching and studying the familiar aspect of Coronado beach.

"It's a great winter resort," he told her, "I was down here with a party two years ago. Nothing has changed. You see that big sort of round wing, Moran, all full of windows? That's the dining room. And there's the bathhouse and the bowling alley. See the people on the beach and the girls in white duck skirts, and look up there by the veranda—let me take the glass—yes, there's a tallyho coach. Isn't it queer to get back to this sort of thing after Magdalena bay and the beachcombers?"

Moran spun the wheel without reply and gave an order to Jim to ease off the foresheet.

CHAPTER XII.

THE winter season at the Hotel del Coronado had been unusually gay that year, and the young lady who wrote the society news in diary form for one of the San Francisco papers had held forth at much length upon the hotel's "unbroken succession of festivities." She had also noted that "prominent among the newest arrivals" had been Mr. Nat Ridgeway of San Francisco, who had brought down from the city aboard his elegant and sumptuously fitted yacht Petrel a jolly party, composed largely of the season's debutantes. To be mentioned in the latter category was Miss Josie Herrick, whose lavender coming out tea at the beginning of the season was still a subject of comment among the gossips—and all the rest of it.

The Petrel had been in the harbor but a few days, and on this evening a dance was given at the hotel in honor of her arrival. It was to be a cotillon, and Nat Ridgeway was going to lead with Josie Herrick. There had been a scrambling party to Tia Juana that day, and Miss Herrick had returned to the hotel only in time to dress. By 9:30 she emerged from the process—which had involved her mother, her younger sister, her maid and one of the hotel chambermaids—a dainty, firm corseted little body, all tulle, white satin and high piled hair. She carried Marechal Niel roses, ordered by wire from Monterey, and about an hour later, when Ridgeway gave the nod to the waiting musicians and swung her off to the beat of a two-step, there was not a more graceful little figure upon the floor of the incomparable round ballroom of the Coronado hotel.

The cotillon was a great success. The ensigns and younger officers of the monitor, at that time anchored off the hotel, attended in uniform, and enough of the members of what was known in San Francisco as the "dancing set" were present to give the affair the necessary entrain. Even Jerry Haight, who belonged more distinctly to the "country club set" and who had spent the early part of that winter shooting elk in Oregon, was among the ranks of the "revers," who grouped themselves about the drafty doorways and endeavored to appear unconscious each time Ridgeway gave the signal for a "break."

The figures had gone round the hall once. The "first set" was out again, and as Ridgeway guided Miss Herrick by the "revers" she looked over the array of shirt fronts, searching for Jerry Haight.

"Do you see Mr. Haight?" she asked of Ridgeway. "I wanted to favor him this break. I owe him two already, and he'll never forgive me if I overlook him now."

Jerry Haight had gone to the hotel office for a few moments' rest and a cigarette and was nowhere in sight. But when the set broke and Miss Herrick, despairing of Jerry, had started out to favor one of the younger ensigns, she suddenly jostled against him pushing his way eagerly across the floor in the direction of the musicians' platform.

"Oh," she cried, "Mr. Haight, you've missed your chance—I've been looking for you!"

But Jerry did not hear. He seemed very excited. He crossed the floor, almost running, and went up on the platform, where the musicians were meandering softly through the mazes of "La Paloma," and brought them to an abrupt silence.

"Here, I say, Haight," exclaimed Ridgeway, who was near by, "you can't break up my figure like that!"

"G' mo a call there on the bugle," said Haight rapidly to the cornetist. "Anything to make 'em keep quiet a moment."

The cornetist sounded a couple of notes, and the cotillon paused in the very act of the break. The shuffling of feet grew still, and the conversation ceased. A diamond brooch had been found, no doubt, or some supper announcement was to be made. But Jerry Haight, with a great sweep of his arm, the forgotten cigarette between his fingers, shouted out breathlessly:

"Ross Wilbur is out in the office of the hotel!"

There was an instant's silence and then a great shout. Wilbur found! Ross Wilbur come back from the dead! Ross Wilbur, hunted for and bootlessly traced from Buenos Ayres in the south to the Aleutian islands in the north; Ross Wilbur, the puzzle of every detective bureau on the coast, the subject of a thousand theories, whose name had figured in the scare heads of every newspaper west of the Mississippi; Ross Wilbur, seen at a fashionable tea and his club of an afternoon, then suddenly blotted out from the world of men, swallowed up and engulfed by the unknown, with not so much as a button left behind; Ross Wilbur, the suicide; Ross Wilbur, the murdered; Ross Wilbur, victim of a band of kidnapers, the hero of some dreadful story that was never to be told, the mystery, the legend—behold he was there, back from the unknown, dropped from the clouds, spewed up again from the bowels of the earth, a veritable god from the machine who in a single instant was to disentangle all the unexplained complications of those past winter months!

"Here he comes!"

"Here he comes!" shouted Jerry, his eyes caught by a group of men in full dress and gold lace who came tramping down the hall to the ballroom, bearing a nondescript figure on their shoulders. "Here he comes—the boys are bringing him in here! Oh!" he cried, turning to the musicians, "can't you play something—anything? Hit it up for all you're worth! Ridgeway—Nat—look here! Ross was Yale '[illegible]. Ain't we enough Yale men here to give him the yell?"

Out of all time and tune, but with a vigor that made up for both, the musicians banged into a patriotic air. Jerry, standing on a chair that itself was standing on the platform, led half a dozen frantic men in the long thunder of the "Brek-kek-kek-kex, co-ex, co-ex!"

Around the edges of the hall excited girls, and chaperons themselves no less agitated, were standing up on chairs and benches, splitting their gloves and breaking their fans in their enthusiasm, while every male dancer on the floor—ensigns in their gold faced uniforms and "revers" in starched and immaculate shirt bosoms—cheered and cheered and struggled with one another to shake hands with a man whom two of their number, old Yale grads., with memories of athletic triumphs yet in their minds, carried into that ballroom, borne high upon their shoulders.

And the hero of the occasion, the center of all this enthusiasm, thus carried as if in triumph into this assembly in evening dress, in white tulle and whiter kid, odorous of delicate sachets and scarce perceptible perfumes, was a figure unhandsome and unkempt beyond description. His hair was long and hanging over his eyes; a thick, uncared for beard concealed the mouth and chin. He was dressed in a Chinaman's blouse and jeans, the latter thrust into clashed and tattered boots. The tan and weather beatings of nearly half a year of the tropics were spread over his face, a partly healed scar disfigured one temple and cheekbone; the hands, to the very finger nails, were gray with grime; the jeans and blouse and boots were fouled with grease, with oil, with pitch and all manner of the dirt of an ancient for ship. And as the dancers of the cotillon pressed about and a hundred kid gloved hands stretched toward, his own palms there fell from Wilbur's belt upon the waxed floor of the ballroom the knife he had so grimly used in the fight upon the beach, the ugly stains still blackening on the haft.

There was no more cotillon that night. They put him down at last, and in half a dozen sentences Wilbur told them of how he had been shanghaied—told them of Magdalena bay, his fortune in the ambergris and the fight with the beachcombers.

"You people are going down there for target practice, aren't you?" he said, turning to one of the Monterey's officers in the crowd about him. "Yes? Well, you'll find the coolies there, on the beach, waiting for you. All but one," he added grimly.

"We marooned six of them, but the seventh didn't need to be marooned. They tried to plunder us of our boat, but, by ——, we made it interesting for 'em!"

"I say, steady, old man!" exclaimed Nat Ridgeway, glancing nervously toward the girls in the surrounding group. "This isn't Magdalena bay, you know."

And for the first time Wilbur felt a genuine pang of disappointment and regret as he realized that it was not.

Half an hour later Ridgeway drew him aside. "I say, Ross, let's get out of here. You can't stand here talking all night. Jerry and you and I will go up to my rooms, and we can talk there in peace. I'll order up three quarts of fizz, and"—

"Oh, rot your fizz!" declared Wilbur. "If you love me, give me Christian tobacco."

As they were going out of the ballroom Wilbur caught sight of Josie Herrick, and, breaking away from the others, ran over to her.

"Oh!" she cried, breathless. "To think, and to think of your coming back after all! No, I don't realize it—I can't. It will take me until morning to find out that you've really come back. I just know now that I'm happier than I ever was in my life before. Oh!" she cried, "do I need to tell you how glad I am? It's just too splendid for words! Do you know, I was thought to be the last person you had ever spoken to while alive, and the reporters and all—oh, but we must have such a talk when all are quiet again! And our dance—we've never had our dance. I've got your card yet. Remember the one you wrote for me at the tea? A facsimile of it was published in all the papers. You are going to be a hero when you get back to San Francisco. Oh, Ross, Ross!" she cried, the tears starting to her eyes. "You've really come back, and you are just as glad as I am, aren't you—glad that you've come back—come back to me?"

Later on, in Ridgeway's room, Wilbur told his story again more in detail to Ridgeway and Jerry. All but one portion of it. He could not make up his mind to speak to them—these society fellows, clubmen and city bred—of Moran. How he was going to order his life henceforward—his life, that he felt to be void of interest without her—he did not know. That was a question for later consideration.

"We'll give another cotillon," exclaimed Ridgeway, "up in the city—give it for you, Ross, and you'll lead. It'll be the event of the season!"

Wilbur uttered an exclamation of contempt. "I've done with that sort of foolery," he answered.

"Nonsense! Why, think, we'll have it in your honor. Every smart girl in town will come, and you'll be the lion of"—

"You don't seem to understand!" cried Wilbur impatiently. "Do you think there's any fun in that for me now? Why, man, I've fought—fought with a naked dirk, fought with a coolie who snapped at me like an ape—and you talk to me of dancing and functions and german favors! It wouldn't do some of you people a bit of harm if you were shanghaied yourselves. That sort of life, if it don't do anything else, knocks a big bit of seriousness into you. You fellows make me sick," he went on vehemently. "As though there wasn't anything else to do but lead cotillons and get up new figures!"

"Then, what do you propose to do?" asked Nat Ridgeway. "Where are you going now—back to Magdalena bay?"

"No."

"Where, then?"

Wilbur smote the table with his fist. "Cuba!" he cried. "I've got a crack little schooner out in the bay here, and I've got $100,000 worth of loot aboard of her. I've tried beachcombing for awhile, and now I'll try filibustering. It may be a crazy idea, but it's better than dancing. I'd rather lead an expedition than a german, and you can chew on that, Nathaniel Ridgeway."

Jerry looked at him as he stood there before them in the filthy, reeking blouse and jeans, the ragged boots and the mane of hair and tangled beard, and remembered the Wilbur he used to know, the Wilbur of the carefully creased trousers, the satin scarfs and fancy waistcoats.

"You're a different sort than when you went away, Ross," said Jerry.

"Right you are," answered Wilbur.

"But I will venture a prophecy," continued Jerry, looking keenly at him. "Ross, you are a born and bred city man. It's in the blood of you and the bones of you. I'll give you three years for this new notion of yours to wear itself out. You think just now you're going to spend the rest of your life as an amateur buccaneer. In three years at the outside you'll be using your 'loot,' as you call it, or the interest of it, to pay your taxes and your tailor, your pew rent and your club dues, and you'll be what the biographers call 'a respectable member of the community.'"

"Did you ever kill a man, Jerry?" asked Wilbur. "No? Well, you kill one some day—kill him in a fair give and take fight—and see how it makes you feel and what influence it has on you, and then come back and talk to me."

It was long after midnight. Wilbur rose.

"We'll ring for a boy," said Ridgeway, "and get you a room. I can fix you out with clothes enough in the morning."

Wilbur stared in some surprise and then said:

"Why, I've got the schooner to look after. I can't leave those coolies alone all night."

"You don't mean to say you're going on board at this time in the morning?"

"Of course."

"Why—but—but you'll catch your death of cold!"

Wilbur stared at Ridgeway, then nodded helplessly and, scratching his head, said, half aloud:

"No. What's the use? I can't make 'em understand. Good night. I'll see you in the morning."

"We'll all come out and visit you on your yacht," Ridgeway called after him, but Wilbur did not hear.

In answer to Wilbur's whistle Jim came in with the dory and took him off to the schooner. Moran met him as he came over the side.

"I took the watch myself tonight and let the boy turn in," she said. "How is it ashore, mate?"

"We've come back to the world of little things, Moran," said Wilbur. "But we'll pull out of here in the morning and get back to the place where things are real."

"And that's a good hearing, mate."

"Let's get up here on the quarter deck," added Wilbur. "I've something to propose to you."

Moran laid an arm across his shoulder, and the two walked aft. For half an hour Wilbur talked to her earnestly about his new idea of filibustering, and as he told her of the war he warmed to the subject, his face glowing, his eyes sparkling. Suddenly, however, he broke off.

"But, no!" he exclaimed. "You don't understand, Moran. How can you? You're foreign born. It's no affair of yours!"

"Mate, mate!" cried Moran, her hands upon his shoulders. "It's you who don't understand—don't understand me. Don't you know—can't you see? Your people are mine now. I'm happy only in your happiness. You were right—the best happiness is the happiness one shares. And your sorrows belong to me, just as I belong to you, dear. Your enemies are mine, and your quarrels are my quarrels."

She threw her head quickly toward her and kissed him.

In the morning the two had made up their minds to a certain vague course of action. To get away—anywhere—was their one aim. Moran was by nature a creature unfit for civilization, and the love of adventure and the desire for action had suddenly leaped to life in Wilbur's blood and was not to be resisted. They would get up to San Francisco, dispose of their "loot," outfit the Bertha Milliner as a filibuster and put to sea again. They had discussed the advisability of rounding the Horn in so small a ship as the Bertha Milliner, but Moran had settled that at once.

"I've got to know her pretty well," she told Wilbur. "She's sound as a nut. Only let's get away from this place."

But toward 10 o'clock on the morning after their arrival off Coronado, and just as they were preparing to get under way, Hoang touched Wilbur's elbow.

"Seeum ill one piece smoke boat. Him come chop-chop."

In fact, a little steam launch was rapidly approaching the schooner. In another instant she was alongside. Jerry, Nat Ridgeway, Josie Herrick and an elderly woman, whom Wilbur barely knew as Miss Herrick's married sister, were aboard.

"We've come off to see your yacht!" cried Miss Herrick to Wilbur as the launch bumped along the schooner's counter. "Can we come aboard?" She looked very pretty in her crisp pink shirt waist, her white duck skirt and white kid shoes, her sailor hat tilted at a barely perceptible angle. The men were in white flannels and smart yachting suits. "Can we come aboard?"

Wilbur gasped and stared. "Confound it!" he muttered. "Oh, come along," he added desperately.

The party came over the side.

"Oh, my," said Miss Herrick blankly, stopping short.

The decks, masts and rails of the schooner were shiny with a black coating of dirt and grease; the sails were gray with grime; a strangling odor of oil and tar, of cooking and of opium, of Chinese punk and drying fish, pervaded all the air. In the waist, Hoang and Jim, bare to the belt, their cues looped around their necks to be out of the way, were stowing the dory and exchanging high pitched monosyllables. Miss Herrick's sister had not come aboard. The three visitors—Jerry, Ridgeway and Josie—stood nervously huddled together, their elbows close in, as if to avoid contact with the prevailing filth, their immaculate white outing clothes detaching themselves violently against the squalor and sordid grime of the schooner's background.

"Oh, my!" repeated Miss Herrick in dismay, half closing her eyes. "To think of what you must have been through! I thought you had some kind of a yacht. I had no idea it would be like this." And as she spoke Moran came suddenly upon the group from behind the foresail and paused in abrupt surprise, her thumbs in her belt.

"I'm very pleased to meet Miss Sternersen."

She still wore men's clothes and was booted to the knee. The heavy blue woolen shirt was open at the throat, the sleeves rolled halfway up her large white arms. In her belt she carried her hatless Scandinavian dirk. She was hatless as ever, and her heavy, fragrant cables of rye hued hair fell over her shoulders and breast to far below her belt.

Miss Herrick started sharply, and Moran turned an inquiring glance upon Wilbur. Wilbur took his resolution in both hands.

"Miss Herrick," he said, "this is Moran—Moran Sternersen."

Moran took a step forward, holding out her hand. Josie, all bewildered, put her right gloved fingers into the calloused palm, looking up nervously into Moran's face.

"I'm sure," she said feebly, almost breathlessly—"I—I'm sure I'm very pleased to meet Miss Sternersen."

It was long before the picture left Wilbur's imagination. Josie Herrick, petite, gowned in white, crisp from her maid's grooming, and Moran, sea rover and daughter of a hundred vikings, towering above her, booted and belted, gravely clasping Josie's hand in her own huge fist.

CHAPTER XIII.

SAN FRANCISCO once more! For two days the Bertha Milliner had been beating up the coast, fighting her way against northerly winds, butting into head seas.

The warmth, the stillness, the placid, drowsing quiet of Magdalena bay, steaming under the golden eye of a tropic heaven, the white, baked beach, the bay heads, strailed with the mirage in the morning, the coruscating sunset, the enchanted mystery of the purple night, with its sheen of stars and riding moon, were now replaced by the hale and vigorous snorting of the trades, the roll of breakers to landward and the unremitting gallop of the unnumbered multitudes of gray green seas careering silently past the schooner, their crests occasionally hissing into brusque eruptions of white froth or smiting broad on under her counter, showering her decks with a spout of icy spray. It was cold. At times thick fogs cloaked all the world of water. To the east a procession of bleak hills defiled slowly southward. Lighthouses were passed; streamers of smoke on the western horizon marked the passage of steamships, and once they met and passed close by a huge Cape Horner, a great deep sea tramp, all sails set and drawing, rolling slowly and leisurely in seas that made the schooner dance.

At last the Farallones looked over the ocean's edge to the north; then came the whistling buoy, the Seal rocks, the Heads, Point Reyes, the Golden Gate flanked with the old red Presidio, Lime point with its watching cannon, and by noon of a gray and boisterous day, under a lusty wind and a slant of rain, just five months after her departure, the Bertha Milliner let go her anchor in San Francisco bay some few hundred yards off the lifeboat station.

In this berth the schooner was still three or four miles from the city and the water front. But Moran detested any nearer approach to civilization, and Wilbur himself was willing to avoid, at least for one day, the publicity which he believed the Bertha's reappearance was sure to attract. He remembered, too, that the little boat carried with her a fortune of $100,000 and decided that until it could be safely landed and stored it was not desirable that its existence should be known along "the front."

For days, weeks even, Wilbur had looked eagerly forward to this return to his home. He had seen himself again in his former haunts, in his club and in the houses along Pacific avenue where he was received, but no sooner had the anchor chain ceased rattling in the Bertha's hawse pipe than a strange revulsion came upon him. The new man that seemed to have so suddenly sprung to life within him, the Wilbur who was the mate of the Bertha Milliner, the Wilbur who belonged to Moran, believed that he could see nothing to be desired in city life. For him was the steady deck of a schooner, and the great winds and the tremendous wheel of the ocean's rim, and the horizon that ever fled before his following prow; so he told himself, so he believed. What attractions could the city offer him, what amusements, what excitements? He had been flung off the smoothly spinning circumference of well ordered life out into the void.

He had known romance and the spell of the great, simple and primitive emotions; he had sat down to eat with buccaneers; he had seen the fierce, quick leap of unleashed passions and had felt death swoop close at his nape and pass like a swift spurt of cold air. City life, his old life, had no charm for him now. Wilbur honestly believed that he was changed to his heart's core. He thought that, like Moran, he was henceforth to be a sailor of the sea, a rover, and he saw the rest of his existence passed with her aboard their faithful little schooner. They would have the whole round world as their playground; they held the earth and the great seas in fief; there was no one to let or to hinder. They two belonged to each other. Once outside the Heads again and they swept the land of cities and of little things behind them, and they two were left alone once more, alone in the great world of romance.

About an hour after her arrival off the station, while Hoang and the hands were furling the jib and foresail and getting the dory over the side, Moran remarked to Wilbur:

"It's good we came in when we did, mate. The glass is going down fast, and the wind's breezing up from the west. We're going to have a blow. The tide will be going out in a little while, and we never could have come in against wind and tide."

"Moran," said Wilbur, "I'm going ashore—into the station here. There's a telephone line there. See the wires? I can't so much as turn my hand over before I have some shore going clothes. What do you suppose they would do to me if I appeared on Kearney street in this outfit? I'll ring up the wholesale chemists in town and have an agent come out here and talk business to us about our ambergris. We've got to pay the men their prize money. Then as soon as we get our own money in hand we can talk about overhauling and outfitting the Bertha."

Moran refused to accompany him ashore and into the lifeboat station. Roofed houses were an object of suspicion to her. Already she had begun to be uneasy at the distant sight of the city of San Francisco, Nob, Telegraph, Russian and Rincon hills, all swarming with buildings and grooved with streets. Even the landlocked harbor fretted her. Wilbur could see she felt imprisoned, confined. When he had pointed out the Palace hotel to her—a vast gray cube in the distance, overtopping the surrounding roofs—she had sworn under her breath.

"And people can live there! Good heavens! Why not rabbit burrows and be done with it? Mate, how soon can we be out to sea again? I hate this place."

Wilbur found the captain of the lifeboat station in the act of sitting down to a dinner of boiled beef and cabbage. He was a strongly built, well looking man, with the air more of a soldier than a sailor. He had already been studying the schooner through his front window and had recognized her and at once asked Wilbur news of Captain Kitchell. Wilbur told him as much of his story as was necessary, but from the captain's talk he gathered that the news of his return had long since been wired from Coronado and that it would be impossible to avoid a nine days' notoriety. The captain of the station (his name was Hodgson) made Wilbur royally welcome, insisted upon his dining with him and himself called up the chemists as soon as the meal was over.

It was he who offered the only plausible solution of the mystery of the lifting and shaking of the schooner and the wrecking of the junk. Though Wilbur was not satisfied with Hodgson's explanation, it was the only one he ever heard.

When he had spoken of the matter, Hodgson had nodded his head. "Sulphur bottoms," he said.

"Sulphur bottoms?"

"Yes; they're a kind of right whale. They get barnacles and a kind of marine lice on their backs and come up and scratch themselves against a ship's keel just like a hog under a fence."

When Wilbur's business was done and he was making ready to return to the schooner, Hodgson remarked suddenly: "Hear you've got a strapping fine girl aboard with you. Where did you fall in with her?" And he winked and grinned.

Wilbur started as though struck, and took himself hurriedly away, but the man's words had touched off in his brain a veritable mine of conjecture. Moran in Magdalena bay was consistent, congruous and fitted into her environment. But how—how was Wilbur to explain her to San Francisco, and how could his behavior seem else than ridiculous to the men of his club and to the women whose dinner invitations he was wont to receive? They could not understand the change that had been wrought in him. They did not know Moran, the savage, the tamed Valkyrie so suddenly become a woman. Hurry as he would, the schooner could not be put to sea again within a fortnight. Even though he elected to live aboard in the meanwhile, the very business of her preparation would call him to the city again and again. Moran could not be kept a secret. As it was, all the world knew of her by now. On the other hand, he could easily understand her position. To her it seemed simplicity itself that they two who loved each other should sail away and pass their lives together upon the sea, as she and her father had done before.

Like most men, Wilbur had to walk when he was thinking hard. He sent the dory back to the schooner with word to Moran that he would take a walk around the beach and return in an hour or two. He set off along the shore in the direction of Fort Mason, the old red brick fort at the entrance to the Golden Gate. At this point in the Presidio government reservation the land is solitary. Wilbur followed the line of the beach to the old fort, and there on the very threshold of the western world, at the very outpost of civilisation, sat down in the lee of the crumbling fortification and scene by scene reviewed the extraordinary events of the past six months.

In front of him ran the narrow channel of the Golden Gate; to his right was the bay and the city; at his left the open Pacific.

He saw himself the day of his advent aboard the Bertha in his top hat and frock coat; saw himself later "braking down" at the windlass, the Petrel within hailing distance.

A CRIME THAT IS NOT PUNISHABLE.

How many people reading this article have gone into a drug store and asked for some well known and highly tried medicine and some unscrupulous druggist has said, "Yes! we have that, but have you ever tried this remedy, it is just as good and costs less." Any druggist doing this has not the interest of your health at heart, but the interest of his pocket, as he can make more profit out of the cheap substitute.

For the protection and benefit of the public, we wish to say that DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY has been used in thousands of homes for the past sixty-two years and has never failed to give prompt relief and cure in all cases of Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Colic, Stomach Cramps, Summer Complaint, Sea Sickness, Cholera Infantum, Cholera Morbus and all Fluxes of the Bowels. When you buy DR. FOWLER'S, you are not experimenting with a new and untried remedy, but are getting one that has stood the test of time.

Miss Lettie Reid, Vivian, Ont., writes: "Last year I suffered untold agony from cramps in the stomach and did not know what to do until a friend suggested I should try DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and as I was glad to try anything I purchased a bottle.

"When I had taken four doses I found relief and since then I never fail to keep a bottle in the house."

VAGARIES OF FASHION.

Ready Made Buttonholes—Modish Fancies in Beltdom.

Buttonholes are sold by the yard in some of the shops. They are worked in an inch fold of thin muslin and are especially useful on sheer wash waists which are finished with a blind fastening. They are also practical for underclothing. These buttonholes are not made by hand, but are far superior to those seen on most ready made garments. To the woman who has to do her sewing at night they are a veritable blessing.

Colored linen belts are made with stitched plaits and come in pink, blue, brown and lavender. A white embroidered belt that would be becoming to a short waisted woman is extremely narrow in the back, but widens out in front and is finished with a large oval buckle. This belt should be pulled down in front so as to give as long a line as possible. Women who pride themselves on their trim appearance prefer the two piece belt to any of the others. It is a simple matter to put the two piece belt together after it comes from the laundry. One end of the belt is run through the buckle and fastened underneath with a button and buttonhole. A pearl button on the belt is visible in the middle of the buckle, through which the other end is drawn and buttoned.

Striped suitings are extremely smart for the tailored gowns so much worn this season. Gray and white is the favorite combination, but white and brown or tan and blue is very attractive.

The costume in the cut is of natural colored pongee trimmed with bands of light brown silk. The cape wrap has a collar of embroidered muslin that gives a dainty touch to the whole.

Cover the inner vessel closely to keep in the steam and set both over the fire. When the water in the outer pot begins to boil open the inner and stir the contents gently with your wooden ladle to make sure that they are heated to the center. MARTIN-ORME PIANOS

A recognized authority, Mr. Puddicombe, director of the Ottawa Conservatory of Music, says in part:

I was greatly surprised and delighted with the Martin-Orme Piano I played on last night. I found it to be one of the most grateful of all the upright pianos I have ever tried.

That was two years ago. Mr. Puddicombe writes now:

cover the spinach when packed into the jars. Seal immediately.

To Can Beets.—Small beets are the best for canning. Wash as for present use and leave an inch of stalk at top to prevent bleeding. Boil in slightly salted water; peel as for the table. Have ready in a neighboring saucepan enough cider vinegar to cover the beets. You must use your own judgment as to quantity. To each quart of vinegar add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a teaspoonful of strained onion juice and a teaspoonful each of pepper and salt. Bring the vinegar to the boil. Pack the beets while hot into heated cans and cover with the vinegar from the boiling saucepan.

To Can String Beans.—The beans must be young and newly gathered. If toughened by long keeping or if old and stringy they are not available for our purpose. With a sharp knife remove the strings from both sides of the beans. As you do this let the prepared beans fall into ice cold water. Now, cut them into inch lengths, still dropping the bits into water. Put over the fire covered with cold water slightly salted and peppered. Boil until soft, but not broken. Transfer to heated jars, cover with boiling salted water from the kettle and seal.

To Can Asparagus.—Cut the stalks to within two inches of the tips. The rest of the stem is wood. It will not be eaten and takes up room in the jar that might be occupied to more advantage. Lay the asparagus thus abbreviated evenly and close together in a boiler and cover with cold water slightly salted. Put the cover on the boiler and set over the fire. Bring to a slow boil and keep it up ten minutes, never letting the bubble become violent. Remove the asparagus gently with a wooden ladle; put into the jars, the tips, in orderly array, uppermost; fill with boiling salt water and seal.

VAGARIES OF FASHION.

Buckles Trim Costumes of All Kinds. Red Riding Hood Coats.

Never was the buckle more in demand, and never was it adapted to so many uses. Literally it figures from toe to toe. There are buckles on the hats, and there are buckles on the shoes. There are also buckles betwixt and between, buckles on collars, buckles on belts, buckles on decorative ribbons, buckles on laces and buckles on garters. The materials are as varied as the uses to which they are put, ranging from brass to gold. Silver holds its own, and jewels are as high in favor as ever. Cut steel is also very much liked.

For wear with muslin dresses on cool summer nights or when motoring are white serge coats made in full box style, so that they cover the entire dress. The side seams open at the lower edge and are held down with small velvet buttons in a pale shade of water blue. A little flat collar of velvet trims the neck, but the distinguishing feature is the closing. This is apparently effected by a single very large gilt button at the neck, although the wrap really fastens to the very edge by means of buttons and buttonholes set under a fly. The sleeves are coat shaped, ending in a velvet cuff, and altogether this little garment is just the most stylish thing imaginable.

This small girl's frock can be worn over any guimpe and is daintily charming, yet involves little trouble in making. The five gored skirt is plaited, and both it and the pretty waist are joined to a belt.

Pique Revived as a Frock Fabric Mustard Straw Hat.

Pique is again a smart summer fabric for tailored gowns. A particularly good model has a box plaited skirt and a box plaited blouse cut low in the neck and sleeveless. This waist is worn with a lingerie blouse.

Side by side with burnt straw effects, which are so popular this season, one sees a hat or two in actual mustard colored straw. It is not a pretty color, for the sickish, greenish tinge is most unattractive; but, on the other hand, one cannot deny that the mustard hat is extremely chic when trimmed with a big bow of black glace ribbon. A very dark brown trimming might be ventured upon, but black is the safest.

Persian belts to match the beaded pockets are among the most beautiful novelties designed to be worn with dressy frocks. These belts also reflect the porcelain effects of the immense hatpins. One is allowed the widest latitude in the width of the girdle, very narrow as well as very wide effects being worn. The first essential is that it must fit the figure perfectly, and then fancy can run all kinds of riot in the matter of materials and decorations.

The newest monogram for stationery is an inch and a half long, but very narrow. It is often stamped in three colors, of which green, gold and a rose color make a pretty combination.

Here are a really fascinating little apron and cap that can be slipped on over the frock when my little lady descends to the kitchen to make her favorite cake or confection. In the illustration they are made of white butcher's linen, but plain and checked ginghams are both good materials to use.

Tourist Neck Ruching—Lingerie Waist In Attractive Materials.

One of the most convenient things for the woman who travels extensively is the tourist neck ruching. It is white, crisp muslin ruching, which comes with or without a lace edging. ings are particularly useful for the traveler who does not stop long enough at any one place to have collars and turnovers laundered.

Lingerie waists in unusually attractive styles are made of dotted swiss, crossbarred dimity and batiste. The collars and cuffs are trimmed with val lace. Elaborate waists are trimmed with val or cluny lace and insertion and hand embroidery.

Little loose Eton jackets in black peau de soie are seen a good deal and are simply trimmed with black braid, the sleeves full and three-quarter length. They are not elaborate.

The new tulle bows are the fluffiest, daintiest things imaginable. They are white at the center, but shade into a dark blue, brown, red or green at the edges. All white ones are nice for evening wear.

The panama hat has taken a new lease of life since it has been converted into a picture affair.

Here is a bathing suit for the young girl to use at her morning dip. It is made of dark blue mohair, with trimmings of dotted pongee of the natural color, dotted with blue.

New York Policeman Branded as a Coward.

WAS PUBLICLY EXPELLED

Allowed Murderer of Woman to Escape Through Fear of Being Shot—Commissioner Shed Tears as He Spoke of the Tarnished Honor of the Force—This Is the First Offence In Thirty Years.

New York, Aug. 1.—A remarkable scene closely paralleling that memorable one in Paris, when Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was publicly degraded before the French army, was enacted in the trial-room at police headquarters yesterday.

For the first time in more than 30 years a patrolman had been adjudged guilty of cowardice. He is Stephen S. Walsh, who, according to the charge made against him, last week fled from an armed man who had shot and killed a woman.

The keen interest with which the unusual case was followed rose to a point of dramatic intensity when Police Commissioner Bingham, who had presided personally at the trial, announced, in a voice choked with emotion, that the charge against the unfortunate man had been proven.

The commissioner turned to Inspector Richard Walsh, in whose district Stephen Walsh was a patrolman, but who is no relative of the dismissed man, and directed the inspector to strip Walsh of his shield and uniform buttons, so that he might not leave the trial-room with the emblems of his former position as a policeman in good standing on his person.

The dismissed man stood still and offered no resistance as the shield was unpinned from his breast, but when the inspector started to detach the buttons of the uniform, Stephen Walsh stepped back and appealed to his attorney from any further humiliation being put upon him in the presence of his former comrades.

Commissioner Bingham, who was laboring under great excitement, then interposed and directed the inspector to conduct his former subordinate to the steps of the police building and eject him. Stephen Walsh offered no resistance, and went with the inspector to the outer doorway, where he was formally directed to leave the building.

Throughout the unusual proceedings Walsh maintained his composure. As he was being escorted from the room, Commissioner Bingham, with a wave of his hand, indicated that he desired the other men in uniform to remain.

"Come up close in front, all you men in uniform," said the commissioner in a voice choked with emotion, while his eyes brimmed with tears, "I have a word to say to you all, but I can scarcely say it. My cheeks burned with shame here even to think of a charge of cowardice being preferred against a man in this department.

"It has been our pride to say that whatever other faults there may have been, there was no cowardice in this department.

"I gave the accused in this case every chance to defend himself, but it has been clearly proven that he failed just at the moment when he should not have failed. This thing must never happen again while you and I are together. You must forget this, but you must remember the proud record of thirty years before when not one man in the many thousands failed to do his duty in the face of any danger."

Stephen Walsh was one of the two men against whom a charge of cowardice was made last week, when Frank Warner was permitted to escape after killing Esther Norling in 42nd street, Warner then shot and killed John Wilson. It was shown that Walsh had followed Warner into a building and was shot at. Walsh ran down a flight of stair and into an office, where he locked the door and ordered two civilians not to open it. Walsh tried to attach the stigma of cowardice to fellow policemen also.

Cabinet at Work.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived in Ottawa yesterday and Messrs. Patterson, Aylesworth, Lemieux, Templeman and Scott met in Cabinet session.

There is an immense amount of accumulated business to get through and this will occupy the attention of the Premier and his colleagues for some time.

It had been expected that the portfolio of Public Works at least would be filled, but the vacancies were only incidentally referred to.

Grand Trunk to Appeal.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Already notice of an appeal has been received from the decision of the Railway Commission ordering the Grand Trunk Railway to provide a daily third-class service at two cents a mile between Montreal and Toronto. The railway showed the greatest promptness in notifying the Commission of the appeal and it is understood that the case will be carried to the Privy Council.

Australia Will Kill It.

London, Aug. 1.—(C.A.P.)—The Standard is responsible for the statement that as long as Australia remains hostile to the "all-red" scheme, the Home Government will have nothing to do with it, and the impression prevails in Ministerial circles that Premier Deakin is inflexibly opposed.

Japs Protest.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 1.—Five Chambers of Commerce in Japan have addressed a letter to the local Chamber asking that an effort be made to prevent discrimination against their countrymen in the United States.

May Be a Coal Strike.

Pittsburg, Aug. 1.—A strike of 14,000 miners of the Pittsburg Coal Co. has been sanctioned.

Goes Insane on Train.

London, Ont., Aug. 1.—Miss Alderson of Toronto, sister of Mrs. Davis of Maitland street, suddenly went insane while riding on a Grand Trunk train from Toronto to London.

Her condition gives her physicians and relatives the greatest cause for alarm.

Joe Martin Redivivus.

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Joseph Martin, K.C., former Premier, will likely be an independent candidate in the bye-election here opposing Hon. W. J. Bowser, newly appointed Attorney-General in McBride's Cabinet.

The Liberals decline to enter the field.

Gasoline Boat Ablaze.

Rochester, N.Y., Aug. 1.—A match ignited gasoline leaking from the engine of a launch on the Erie canal Tuesday night and six occupants of the burning boat leaped into the canal. Mrs. Margaret Clark and her nine-year-old boy were drowned.

Condemned Murderer Reprieved In Sight of Gallows.

SPECIAL MESSENGER SENT

Frank Capelle, Condemned to Hang To-Day, Secures Two Weeks' Stay of Execution—Counsel Will Apply for New Trial—New Evidence to Be Added—Messenger Raced Against Time.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The death sentence to have been executed on Frank Capelle at Port Arthur this morning was postponed by reprieve until Aug. 15, granted by Judge Britton at noon yesterday. This is the first time such an order has been granted by a judge who did not try the case.

The application was made by C. A. Moss as agent for F. H. Keefer, of Port Arthur, counsel for the prisoner.

Capelle was found guilty at the last Parry Sound Assizes of the murder of one Dow and was sentenced by Judge Teetzel to be hanged on Aug. 1st.

A special messenger, Mr. Hugh Hoyles, was immediately dispatched to Port Arthur with the order of postponement.

The ground on which Mr. Keefer based his application was that he could produce evidence not heard at tht trial when Capelle was sentenced which he claims would change the verdict of any jury from death to manslaughter.

Capelle was indicted jointly with Engnio Marano. The latter was acquitted.

Mr. Keefer also claims that he can produce an eye-witness of the tragedy, who was ill at the time of the trial, whose evidence will show that the death of Dow resulted out of a drunken row in which Capelle was struck on the head where he had been previously injured.

The shortness of the time between his application for reprieve and the day of sentence was due to his not having been advised of the result of his application for clemency from the Crown until July 29, the day he made application.

Capelle will be remanded back into custody until the 15th, and an application for a new trial made.

FOR TRAINING SHIP.

United States Make Application to Canada For Use on Great Lakes.

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—The United States Government has made another application for a training ship on the great lakes.

Some time ago an application was made and granted for a United States cruiser to go through the Canadian canals, to be utilized as a training ship on Lake Erie. This time the application is made for one on Lake Ontario.

While the United States has formally made the application to the Dominion, it is really from the State of New York, and made on behalf of the naval militia, with headquarters at Rochester. It is understood that the application will be granted.

There are no guns on these old cruisers, which are to be used as training ships. Whatever guns are required for the naval officers and cadets will be kept ashore.

The granting of the application is regarded as a neighborly act and in no way interferes with the arrangement as to cruisers on the great lakes which exist between the two countries.

EVERY SEVEN YEARS.

Britain Heads Off United States by Suggesting Future Conferences.

The Hague, Aug. 1.—The British delegation are working on a proposition which, when it is presented, will cause considerable surprise, as it is in the nature of the unexpected.

As already cabled, the representatives of the United States have been privately discussing with other leading delegates the advisability of the United States representing a proposition for the periodical sitting of the conference, this proposition suggesting that it should meet quinquennially on June 2, beginning in 1912.

The British delegation went ahead of the Americans, having already communicated in the strictest secrecy only to a few delegates of the great powers, its proposition on the same subject, establishing that the conference should sit septennially, but that two years before the meeting special representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany, United States, Russia, Italy, Austria and Japan should meet to prepare the work for the conference, prearranging everything connected with its organization and the matters to be taken under advisement.

Thus, when the conference meets again its program will be already so studied by each country that satisfactory agreements will be the most easily reached.

In addition, although nothing has been said against Russia, the conference will no longer be monopolized by one nation, and will not depend, as heretofore, on the will of the sovereign of that country for its coming together and the fixing of the program.

The British proposition for the abolition of contraband was adopted in committee yesterday by 25 votes to 5. The representatives of the United States, Germany, France, Russia and Montenegro expressing themselves as opposed to the measure, and Japan, Spain, Panama, Greece and Roumania abstaining from voting. There were also ten absentees.

The Belgian proposition, that the inhabitants of an occupied territory should not be compelled to participate in military operations against the country, was adopted by a vote of 18 to 15. There were 12 absentees.

Heiress to Miser's Estate.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—An heiress has been found in Glasgow to the estate of the late Neil Brodie, but the old miser was not so rich as popularly supposed, so the heiress will only come in for about $4,000.

TUPPER A WITNESS.

Ex-Premier Gives Evidence In the Alleged Caron Bribery Charges.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 1.—Former Commissioner of Lands and Works R. F. Green's suit against The Vancouver World for $20,000 for libel for saying he was bribed by Sir Adolphe Caron into accepting $37,000 in shares of the transcontinental exploration syndicate, which holds nine leases of provincial lands, is being heard.

Sir Charles Tupper was in the witness box. The court upheld Sir Charles' claim of professional privilege, and Premier McBride, Minister of Finance Tatlow and Hon. Carter Cotton, in turn, claimed the privilege of their oath of office, which the court upheld. The Premier gave Green a certificate for good and conscientious discharge of public duties.

Editor Higgins of The World, former Speaker of the Provincial House, then claimed the privileges of editor, and was also upheld, and the source of information was not revealed. He admitted he wrote the alleged libel, and declared he had verified the information to his satisfaction. Photographs of two destroyed letters were produced, one from Caron to Green, and Green's reply.

These showed the offer of shares made as a gift, and declined by Green, but Barrister Neil McKay of Kaslo, later appointed deputy commissioner of lands and works, had been named by Green as a likely member of Caron's syndicate, and certain shares were later sent to him, which, Caron says, are of the nominal value of $500.

Sir Adolphe Caron in his examination said the article was a dream.

MOURNERS HURT.

Funeral Cab Causes Runaway and Injures Several People.

London, Ont., Aug. 1.—A team of horses attached to a hack belonging to a local liveryman, frightened by a dog, ran away while returning from Mount Pleasant cemetery, the cab swung to one side, crashing into a telegraph pole. The horses broke away from the vehicle unhurt, dragging driver Charles McLeod with them a considerable distance, he receiving serious injuries to his face and legs, but no bones were broken.

William Jones of Dawn has two ribs in his left side fractured and his left collar bone broken. Mrs. Geo. E. Carruthers of 311 Horton street, has her right hand badly smashed, while her back is injured, she also sustained a bad sprain of her right shoulder. Mr. Carruthers sustained injuries to left hand, one finger may have to be amputated.

Mr. Jones, from near Chatham, is badly bruised about the arms, while Mrs. G. Kelly of Lambeth, escaped with a bad shaking up.

Boiler Wrecks Trains.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 1.—A despatch from Milan, Tenn., says: Four persons were killed outright, another was fatally injured, and ten others seriously hurt, when the boiler of an engine attached to a fast Illinois Central fruit train exploded, wrecking the train, as well as another freight train on an adjacent siding.

Adams to Be Tried Again.

Boise, Aug. 1.—Steve Adams who was expected to be an important witness in the trial of Wm. D. Haywood, but who was not called by either side, has been taken back to Wallace to await a second trial on the charge of murder. His first trial resulted in a disagreement.

Sued For $15,000.

London, Aug. 1—An action has been entered by W. J. Reid on behalf of Mrs. Lillian Maud Smith for $15,000 as remuneration for the death of her husband in the Crystal Hall disaster.

Laying Corner Stone in New Collegiate Institute Which Marks New Era in Educational Affairs

THE CORNER STONE WAS LAID

An Interesting Function at the New Collegiate Institute Yesterday Afternoon---Mr. Jas. Stevenson, Veteran School Trustee, Laid the Corner Stone, with Silver Trowel

AN AUSPICIOUS EVENT WAS CELEBRATED

An important epoch, so far as the educational institutions of of the city of Peterborough are concerned, was reached yesterday, when the corner stone of the new Collegiate Institute — the first building ever erected in Peterborough for that purpose — was laid. The laying of this stone, and the event which it portends, the completion, and occupation of a building devoted to the interests of higher education in this city, marks a distinct advance in educational matters in Peterborough, and is an indication that, at last, this city is to take the place in educational matters which its importance from an industrial standpoint, demands that it should occupy.

The erection of the new Institute has not been secured without much work, and it is only after years of agitation that the advocates of its establishment see the fruition of their efforts.

That it will prove a boon to the city as a whole, and to those who are interested directly in the securing of the educational advantages incidental to a Collegiate Institute, there seems no reason to doubt, and the tone of the addresses in connection with the ceremony yesterday seemed to indicate the presence of a conviction that the city was simply providing for its ambitious youth the advantages which it was their right to demand.

The gathering was a representative one. All classes of citizens were present, and that deep interest was manifested in the proceedings, was indicated by the fact that, in spite of the threatening weather, and the disagreeable climatic conditions, there was a fairly large gathering of persons outside of those invited.

A feature of special interest in connection with the event, was the fact that to Mr. James Stevenson, who to-day celebrates his 83rd birthday, and who has the distinction of having occupied a seat on the School Board and the Board of Education, for fifty-six years, was given the honour of laying the corner stone of the new building—a building which was to represent the crystallization of consistent effort on the part of the central educational body of the city for years past. No one in Peterborough has been more intimately associated with the educational affairs of Peterborough than Mr. Stevenson, and it was fitting that he should have been chosen to perform the function, which he did yesterday with so much acceptance.

This was, however, not the only significant feature of the event. The chairman of the day was Dr. Burnham, who in the absence of the chairman of the Board, Mr. Robert Fair, is acting in that capacity, and he, too, is one of the oldest members of the body, having charge of the educational affairs of the city, and has always taken a deep interest in that branch of the city's administration. He filled the position of chairman of the Board for several terms.

At four o'clock, the hour at which the laying of the stone was arranged to take place, there were several hundred citizens gathered on the park, and the invited guests were seated on a covered platform erected on the first floor of the building, at the south east corner of the building. Flags and bunting were used profusely in the decorations, and the unfinished building presented a gay appearance.

The following were the invited guests, the majority of whom, with their wives, being present: His Worship Mayor McWilliams, Aldermen Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Leary, Stevenson, Bradburn, Morgan, ADurnin, Wilson, McIntyre, Phelan; S R Armstrong, City Clerk; E H D Hall, City Solicitor; T A S Hay, City Engineer; Frank Adams, City Treasurer; R R Hill, M P; T E Bradburn, M P P; John Finlay, M P, Norwood; Wm Anderson, M P P, Otonabee; His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Rev Father McColl, Rev Dr O'Brien, Rev J G Potter, Rev E A Pearson, Rev Canon Davidson, Rev Dr Langtelt, Rev H M Manning, Rev H J Keith, Rev J R Webb, Rev Wm Major, Rev A H Brace, Mr R J Todd, Rev E A Stemmanged; C Fearnsides, Principal Collegiate Institute; D Walker, Inspector of Public Schools; Wm Smith, Principal Central School; H A Yeamey, Principal South Central School; W H Walkey, Principal North Ward School; J W Kelly, Principal East Ward School; Jas. Heavy Loads and No Sympathy

Some of us have to start to bear burdens early in life, and the sympathy that one would sometimes expect from those who have been over the road and know the hardships, is not always forthcoming. It is not, of course, always because of a lack of appreciation of the difficulties under which work is done, but often because the others are under just as heavy a load as we are.

The other day an English family landed at the C.P.R. station. There were three in the family, a man and his wife and a boy about six years of age. Their supply of money had run short before they reached their destination, and the result was that when they found themselves on the platform they were face to face with the fact that they had to be their own carters, because carters with horses to feed do not work for nothing. A consultation resulted in the man shouldering an iron trunk the kind ninety per cent. of the English emmigrants use, the wife took another immense valise, and the baby which would apparently have been a good load for a youth of fifteen was saddled on the six year old chap, and the trio started up George Street.

The load soon became too heavy for the youngster who gradually fell behind. Pretty soon he began to cry. Conditions here were not what he had hoped. His mother had told him that in Canada they would have plenty of money and no hardships, and here was his introduction to what he had looked upon as a paradise. The other persons on the street passed by him unheeding his cries, and even his mother and father, themselves struggling under heavy loads, had apparently forgotten him. At last, unable to go any farther he dropped his bundle and sat upon it, his brave little heart doing its best to keep back the tears, but it was no use, they had to come.

A good share of burdens and tears comes to each of us, and generally there is little sympathy of the practical kind coming our way.

MINERS GET AFTER THE SHERIFF

Former Peterboro' Man Object of Wrath of Western Federation of Miners.

Friends in Peterborough of Sheriff Hoolihan, of Duluth, will be interested in the following despatch concerning him:

Duluth, Minn., July 31. — County Attorney Thwing of Itasca county, and citizens of Nashwauk, Bovey, Coleraine and Grand Rapids, now at Nashwauk, Minn., have wired the Governor requesting him to sustain the actions of Sheriff Hoolihan, whose removal has been asked by the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners. The situation is critical.

Mr Hoolihan is a son of Mrs. Bridget Hoolihan, who lives in Peterborough, where he lived until some years ago, when he went to the other side of the line, and was appointed to the position of sheriff. He was born in Young's Point, and before coming to Peterborough, lived near that village.

To be strong you must have a good appetite, good digestion and good assimilation. Miller's Compound Iron Pills bring all these. Sold by W. Madill.

ROUSING SEND-OFF FOR LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE ON WORLD'S TRIP

When the ten young ladies constituting the Toronto, Hamilton, Whitby, Oshawa and Kingston contingent of the world's trip to London reached the city this morning on the first section of the midnight C. P. R. express, running twenty minutes late, there was a large crowd of young people at the station to give a send-off to the representative from Peterborough, Miss Birdie Thompson, and to wish her bon voyage, and at the same time to get a glimpse, if possible, of the ladies who were to be her companions for the next month. In this, however, they were disappointed, for they had retired and the best they could do was to show their kid curtered heads at the Pullman windows. They responded to the cheer given them by the Peterborough persons who were at the station. As the train pulled out Miss Thompson waved her farewell amid the cheers of her friends gathered.

THREE GUILTY ON PICKPOCKET CHARGE; JUDGE'S FINDING

HE LAID HIS THIRD CORNER STONE

JAMES STEVENSON, ESQ.,

Who laid the corner stone of the new Collegiate Institute yesterday, has an unique claim to be the pioneer and veteran in the fight for educational interests. He also laid fifty years ago the corner stone of the building used for many years as a home for the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Stevenson has a personal civic and educational record that it is safe to say cannot be duplicated in Canada. He is the oldest citizen in point of residence, the only survivor of the men in business when it was incorporated as a town, just fifty years ago. He was born in Ireland in 1824 therefore 83 years of age. He has never been a day in bed from illness, never required the services of a physician. He rises at from 4 to 4.30 in the summer and at six in the winter; he uses or has never used, neither whiskey nor tobacco. He has been connected with the civic and other interests of the city for nearly two generations; has been a member of the Board of Education continuously for 35 years chairman of the Board many times; has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Little Lake Cemetery since its organization in 1851; has been continuously a member of the Town Trust Commission since 1851, was its chairman from 1875 to 1881; was mayor of the town for ten terms; Member of Parliament for West Peterborough from 1867 to 1882 has been Justice of the Peace time out of mind; active member of the Horticultural Society for years. At the age of 83 he is still fairly robust and with his own hands, maintains at his residence Simcoe street the neatest, cleanest and best kept grounds and surroundings in Peterborough. May he live, as it is his ambition to do, to see Peterboro' have a population of 20,000 souls.

Phelps, Bradford and Goldfarb, Were This Afternoon Convicted on Charge of Robbing W. J. Hurl.

MORE EVIDENCE TAKEN

Four Additional Charges Yet to be Heard — Lewis Off on the First Charge. --- To-day's Proceedings.

On the charge of picking the pockets of Mr. W. J. Hurl in Peterborough, on Tuesday, June 25, Phelps, Bradford and Goldfarb were this afternoon found guilty by His Honour Judge Weller in special session of the County Court.

Lewis, the younger member of the quartette, is not found to be guilty on this charge.

There are still four other charges to be tried, and it is not probable that the sentences will be imposed until after their conclusion.

At the conclusion of first case Lewis was placed on trial on the charge of picking the pocket of Mr. Hartley, on the same day, in which he is believed to have been implicated. P. C. Newhall went into the witness box to give evidence for the third time in this series of charges.

The hearing of the charge against Phelps, Bradford, Lewis and Goldfarb of having stolen $13.50 from Mr. Richard Hurl of Young's Point was concluded this morning, and the counsel presented their addresses to the Court. His Honour Judge Weller, who is presiding over the case, said at the conclusion that he would deal with the case on Newhall's evidence. There was no reason, he said, for doubting the officer's testimony. It was his duty to follow those men and he did no more than he was bound to do. Bradford and Phelps were clearly connected with the theft, and His Honour considered that they would be found guilty. He held out hopes for Goldfarb, but was not sure.

MANY DIFFICULTIES OVERCOME TO SECURE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

A HARD WORKER FOR NEW INSTITUTE FOR CITY OF PETERBORO'

Work of the Advocates of New Building in Keeping with the City's Importance Under Discouraging Circumstances.

A BY-LAW DEFEATED

Three Times Submitted to the Ratepayers—Persistant Efforts of the Committee at Last Rewarded by Success.

The new Collegiate Institute, the corner stone of which was laid yesterday, has not been secured for the city without an infinite amount of work, and it is only after a chain of adverse circumstances had been overcome that the building which will when it is completed, be a credit to the city has been made possible.

After years of discussion over the matter it was decided in 1906 to submit a by-law to the rate-payers of the city asking for $50,000 for the erection of a new Collegiate Institute building. Consequently the council of the town was asked to submit the by-law, which was done, and the result was that the rate-payers by a good majority voted in favour of the expenditure of the sum then considered sufficient to erect the building.

About this time the question of buying the Separate School grounds for a site for an Institute and an armoury was discussed, and, after negotiations extending over a period of months, it was finally decided that the Government the City Council, and the Board of Education should each give $10,000 towards the purchase of these grounds, which were acquired, leaving the Board with $40,000 for the building. The building committee, of which the chairman was Mr. H. P. Kennedy, went into the matter thoroughly, and, after visiting a number of cities in which there were Institutes, a set of plans were prepared at the direction of the committee, and the building then planned would have been without doubt the most complete, and best constructed public buildings in Peterborough, and the Institute would have been unsurpassed in the Province.

When tenders were call for, however, it was found that it would cost $90,000 to erect such a building and equip it. There was not, of course, sufficient money at the disposal of the Board to warrant the prosecution of the work, and it was decided to again go to the rate-payers for another $50,000. At the municipal elections in 1906 a by-law was submitted and was defeated. The situation then was that the Board found itself with a site costing $10,000 and $40,000 which was practically no use to it because it was insufficient to build an Institute which would meet the needs of the city or be a credit to it from an architectural standpoint.

In 1906 the Building Committee of the Board, with Dr. Morrison, as chairman, and the other members Messrs. Dumble, Crane, Hayes and Hill, again grappled with the question. The problem that confronted the committee was one not easy of successful solution. However, nothing daunted, they set to work; had plans prepared of a building which they thought would meet the needs of the city for some time and be no disgrace to it. It was found that such a building could be erected for about $61,000, and in consequence at the municipal elections in January, 1907 a by-law allowing $21,000 additional to be spent was voted on and carried by a good majority, and on March 26th, 1907, the Building Committee, after having called for tenders, awarded the contract to Messrs. Sheehy and Langford for the erection of the building proper, the contract price being $61,818. The contracts for the heating and electric wiring were given to McGregor & Reid, the contract price of the former

A NEW ODDFELLOWS LODGE FORMED

Mr. J. A. Tully, Assisted in Formation of New Lodge at Frankford, Ont.

Oddfellowship is evidently flourishing in this part of the province. On Tuesday a new lodge of the Order was instituted at Frankford, by Grand Master Johnston, of Toronto, assisted by Mr. J. A. Tully, of this city, who has done considerable work in connection with the extension of the Order in this and the other provinces of the Dominion. The new lodge starts with a list of thirty members and will be known as Lodge No. 382. In connection with the institution and the conferring of the degrees there were members present from lodges in Stirling, Belleville and Trenton; and, following the business of the evening 156 persons sat down to supper which had been provided.

The new Lodge has a splendid set of officers, and starts out under pleasing and encouraging circumstances, which should ensure for it, continued success and usefulness.

PACKING BLEW OUT ON MONARCH

A Slight Mishap Occurred Yesterday on Trip from Gore's Landing— No One Injured.

While on her trip from Gore's Landing yesterday, the steamer Monarch met with a slight mishap, which, while not serious, caused some consternation among her passengers until the nature of the trouble was learned. It appears that some packing on a steam connection blew out, and the escaping steam, and the noise, created some confusion. The connection was re-packed and the steamer proceeded on her trip, after a delay of about an hour.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

The laying of the corner of the new Collegiate Institute building means much more than the erection of a pile of brick and stone. It means, or should mean, the laying of the foundation of an educational edifice which represents an important educational advance and betterment. The new building has come up to its present stage through great tribulations. There has been an unintelligible opposition in some quarters.

Popular opinion does not seem to be seized of the great importance of the event of yesterday, and what it stands for. Judging by the small attendance at the ceremony the public have little interest in the Collegiate Institute. Yet they have a very decided interest. There are persons who object on principle, they say, to a Collegiate Institute maintained by public support. It is argued that it is only a school for the benefit of the children of the well-to-do and that it should be maintained by the direct beneficiaries. As Dr. Burnham pointed out in his address yesterday, the Collegiate Institute is the backbone of the public school. Upon the efficiency of its work depends the efficiency of the public schools. To argue away the Collegiate Institute as not being of public importance is short sighted. As well argue that a flouring mill is the only necessity in the community because everybody consumes bread. When the machinery that operates a flour mill wears out there would be no means of replacing it without foundries and machine shops. The Collegiate Institute is, apart from the purely instructive functions, the machine shop of the public school. When the present supply of public school teachers passes away, the schools would collapse and shut down from lack of the necessary machinery—teachers—unless the Institute maintained the supply. Therefore it needs no argument to demonstrate the necessity of a good Collegiate Institute — the better it is, the better its work, the better for the public schools. We can give pupils their preparatory education in the institute and finish them as teachers in the almost adjoining Normal School. The erection of the new institute building saves the credit of Peterborough, which has long been behind hand in this matter. And though the building may not be as elaborate as that which the Examiner in its persistence advocacy of a new building thought necessary to be in keeping with the importance of the city, especially in view of its future growth—yet it marks a distinct advance movement and will when completed admirably serve its intended purpose. It is a matter of congratulation to the citizens that we shall after April 1st have a Collegiate Institute building well equipped for its important mission and architecturally creditable to the city and to its beautiful environment.

GOOD NATION MATERIAL

There are in spite of the facts, statements made to the effect that the immigrants coming into Canada are composed of the off-scourings of continental Europe. In disproof of such sweeping generalities, and to show that the immigration we have been receiving of late years, is of a good class, facts like the following, may be submitted:

For the last fiscal period, ending March 31st, 1907, the immigration from the British Isles totalled 55,-971, an increase of 18,170 over the same period of 1905-06. The increase in English immigration was 37 per cent., and in Scotch 84 per cent., for the past five years. In the years since 1901-02, English immigration has increased 50 per cent., and Scotch immigration 70 per cent. A minute examination of the records shows that Canada has the preference as a field for immigration over other countries, not even excepting the United States. By far the greater number of immigrants to Canada come from the British Islands. Canada is growing as a centre of British immigration. In 1902, the British immigrants to the United States numbered 151,617. The same year the immigration from the same source numbered only 14,730 to Canada. Last year the conditions were very emphatically reversed. In 1906 the British immigration to the United States had fallen off to 85,941, while that to Canada had increased to 91,263. In 1906 the immigration to Canada from the Mother Country was five times greater than in 1902, while the British influx to the United States was almost half less. When it is remembered that a very large proportion of our new citizens in Canada is composed of people from the United States, largely of the same Angl-Saxon stock as ourselves, the scandals raised by the Conservative journals and by those for whom they speak, are quite unfounded. Not only is the Liberal Government pursuing a policy that is rapidly developing the material resources of the country, but it is furnishing a population of a quality which will be an important aid in helping and hastening that development.

The Chairmans' Address

In opening the proceedings, the Chairman, Dr. Burnham, gave the following address:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—

We are met here on a most important occasion to assist at a most important and significant ceremony. While I appreciate the honour of being asked to preside, I can see no further reason for my selection than the fact that I would not be likely to make a speech, and therefore my remarks will be brief. I have referred to this being an important occasion, and it is so for several reasons. In the first place, in the matter of a Collegiate Institute building, Peterborough enters upon an independent position. We have been a town for nearly sixty years, and a city for two years, yet we have never had a Collegiate Institute building — we have been simply tenants of the Public School Board.

The present building, of which we are to-day laying the corner-stone, has not come before it was needed. The occasion is important because it marks the beginning of better days for the Institute. We have long had one of the best equipped teaming staffs in the country, but they were handicapped by structural disadvantages. With the new building we shall be better prepared to do the work which an Institute is designed to perform, and have a building somewhat worthy of the size and importance of the city. We are well provided with Public School buildings, all of them, nearly, in a good state of repair. We are, in a certain sense, forced out of the Central School building, which is needed for Public School purposes. While we leave that building for the benefit of the Public Schools, we enter upon a more promising field of usefulness to the Public Schools. There are some who deny or ignore the value of an Institute, yet without it our Public Schools would degenerate—would suffer from lack of properly qualified teachers. The Institute is the backbone of the Public School, as one of its chief functions is to prepare pupils for the teaching profession. The occasion in this regard deserves importance from the fact that, with a new Collegiate Institute building and a new Normal School, we are in a position to complete the pedagogic process from beginning to end. The pupil enters the Institute from the Public School, becomes qualified, half-professionally, for a teacher, takes a walk up George street to the Normal School, where he becomes professionally qualified as a teacher. He, or she, may then become employed as a teacher in the very school where his education began—possibly in the kindergarten—thus making the educational circle complete and entire, all within the compass of the city.

Whatever may be thought of the wisdom shown in the selection of a chairman, I think you will agree with me that no more happy selection could be made to perform the formal act of laying the corner-stone of the new Collegiate Institute than an old, highly respected and veteran citizen, Mr. Jas. Stevenson. (Applause.) He has for more than half a century been intimately and officially associated with the educational interests of Peterborough. He has been a member of the School Board in unbroken succession for more than 55 years.

His services must have been of high value to have received so signal a proof of the appreciation of the ratepayers. He has witnessed and had an active part in the construction of our Public School buildings, representing an expenditure of over $100,000. No individual citizen living, no citizen already passed to his reward, has come so much and been so long associated with the educational interests of the city of Peterborough as Mr. Stevenson. It is, therefore, a high testimonial to his services, a practical recognition of his work and of the esteem in which he is held, that he has been chosen to perform the duty which I now have the pleasure in calling upon him to do—the laying of the corner-stone of the new Collegiate Institute of the city of Peterborough.

Amid the cheers of the gathered hundreds, Mr. Jas. Stevenson, with the silver trowel presented by the chairman, and bearing the following inscription:—"Presented to James Stevenson, Esquire, for 56 years a member of the Board of Education of Peterborough, and as a mark of respect, for the laying of the corner-stone of the new Collegiate Institute, July 31, 1907," laid the corner-stone, and in a few words declared it well and truly laid. In a sealed receptacle placed in the stone were the following articles:

Peterborough Daily Examiner.
Peterborough Daily Review.
Peterborough Morning Times.
Toronto Globe.
Toronto Mail and Empire.
Copies of Collegiate Echoes.
List, Members of Board of Education.
List, Members of the City Council.
Set of Canadian Postage Stamps.
Set of Canadian Coinage.
List of Collegiate Institute Staff.
Copy of rules and regulations of Board of Education.
Pictures of Hydraulic Lift Lock.
Souvenir Letter Card of Peterborough.
Report of the City Auditors, Peterborough.

Mr. Stevenson's Address

The formal address in connection with the ceremony of laying the corner-stone, delivered by Mr. Stevenson, was as follows:

"Fifty years ago I as mayor of the then small town of Peterborough and a member of the Building Committee of the School Board had the honor of laying the foundation stone of the "Union," now the Central School." He then expressed his appreciation of the compliment paid him in asking him to lay the foundation stone of the new Collegiate Institute. Mr. Stevenson then said, "I therefore declare this stone wall truly laid and hope the institution may have a divine blessing." Mr. Stevenson said further that his recollection of educational institutions in Peterborough went back to days when in a log school house Rev. Samuel Armour, father of the late Chief Justice, taught both the high and the common school under one roof, though when the speaker arrived in Peterborough Mr. Armour had gone and Rev. M. Williamson was teaching in his stead. Situated in the rear of the present Central school where the play ground now is. The school was surrounded by woods and was a great resort of wild pigeons, that were easily knocked off the roof. This was, for years, the only school in the village and received Government aid. Then a common school overlooked the Otonabee from what had been a Methodist church on the north side of Hunter street, east of Sheridan and about the spot where Rev. J. C. Davidson now lives. These represent our educational institutions until 1853 when the old log house was unfit for the purpose and in 1857 the common and high schools were quartered in the Hunter Street Methodist church. In 1857 a committee of seven was appointed with the late Mr. Jas. Hall, father of the Sheriff, was made chairman. On this committee were W. S. Conger, W. Churtin, F. Ferguson, Rev. Mark Burnham and the speaker. The speaker is the only member of that committee now alive. That the building is still used is good proof of the foresight of the committee. At one time it was advocated that the school should be placed on what is now known as Victoria Park and 3 acres were granted by county council and city council but fortunately not used. As the then site was settled the next question was that of finance, which was most difficult. The Board sold a lot on King street and another on London street, the two sites netting $800. Then the council appropriated the money for the Board, derived from the Clergy Reserve, amounting to $4,000, and finally the members of the Board gave their individual notes for $16,258, the cost of the school. Then they tried to sell debentures before maturity of the notes, and finally their 6 per cent securities were disposed of to W. McMaster, the founder of McMaster Hall, Toronto, at 85 cents on the dollar, but not before the private notes for payment, protested and sued. The original estimate of the school was $16,000 but its actual cost was $16,-258. The speaker trusted that the results of the present building would be more apparent and widespread that what accrued from the efforts of the 3500 people of Peterborough 50 years ago.

After completion of the Union school no great pressure for more accommodation was felt until 1865 when the Baptist church at the corner of Dublin and Aylmer streets was secured on a 5 years lease. In 1868 the late Col. Haultain, moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, that tireless worker in educational matters, that want schools should be built. In September, 1870, a contract for $5000 was let to T. Lasher which resulted in the erection of the Collegiate Institute then called "Central School." The speaker then went on to speak of the solar with present wages. In February, ies paid in these days as compared 1872, the Central school was completed, its cost being $5050, on an estimate of $5000 and accommodation for 8 4pupils. Shortly after completion of the school, when Hon. G. A. Cox was chairman of the committee, lot 13, north of Sherbrooke street and west of Georeg, was bought for $600. A building committee composed of Georg eHilliard, A. Rutherford, J. McClelland and the speaker, expended $597 on the South Ward school when the original estimate was $6,000. By this time the common school pupils had increased from 384 to 582. Two years later the Board purchased another lot for the western section of the town's school for $600 and the West Ward school was built for $8,-433. The most recent history of Peterborough's schools is well known. Much has been done to meet the growing demands. The North Ward school has been built. The Ashburnham school has been acquired and the King Edward school been erected. The Board has done well and has met all demands on it grandly. They should follow the policy of the past and success must crown their efforts. They should employ the best teachers and pay good salaries.

Letters of Regret

Letters and telegrams of regret were read by the chairman from Hon. J. R. Stratton, Hon. Senator Cox and Rev. H. J. Keith, as follows:

Peterborough, July 31, 1907

M. A. Morrison, Esq.,
Chairman Building Committee,
Board of Education.

Dear Sir,—

I came down from the lakes last evening in pursuance of your kind invitation to be present at the laying of the corner-stone of the new Collegiate Institute building. However, when I arrived in the city I found telephone messages awaiting me which compelled my presence in Toronto to-day.

I am therefore deprived of the pleasure of being present and assisting in a ceremony which represents a great educational advance in Peterborough.

I am, in common with every progressive citizen, in full sympathy with the objects the occasion stands for, which is a matter of congratulation to the School Board and the citizens at large.

I rejoice with them in final attainment of a Collegiate Institute worthy of the city; something which I have long advocated. Though the new building may not be as elaborate as might be wished, it will doubtless serve its purpose admirably, and its building represents a distinct educational advance. There is reason to hope that the expectations as to the educational benefit it will confer will be more than realized.

Yours very sincerely,
J. R. STRATTON.

Toronto, July 31, 1907.

Dr. Morrison,—

Regret very much that I am unavoidably prevented from being with you to-day and taking part in the laying of the corner-stone of your new Collegiate Institute, which, I trust, will greatly add to the educational facilities of your city.

GEO. A. COX.

Peterborough, July 31, 1907.

W. (G. Morrow, Esq.,
Secretary, Board of Education,
City.

My Dear Sir,—

I sincerely regret that absence form Peterborough will prevent me from attending the function in connection with laying the corner-stone of the new Collegiate Institute. I hope you will have a good day.

Believe me,
Sincerely yours,
HENRY J. KEITH.

Chairman of Committees

Dr. M. A. Morrison, upon whom, as chairman of the Building Committee of the Board of Education, has fallen much of the detail work in connection with the erection of the new building, and who has worked indefatigably for the securing of this addition to the educational institutions of the city, was the next speaker, and remarked that he believed that no man was more pleased at the event of the afternoon than himself; not necessarily because of the simple fact that the corner-stone was being laid, but because it was proof that this stage in the erection of the new Collegiate Institute had been reached. He rejoiced that the efforts of the Board of Education to provide a Collegiate Institute adequate to the needs of the city were to be successful, and that in providing this needed institution a heavy burden was not being imposed upon the ratepayers.

When he was made chairman of the Building Committee there were three problems facing them. In the first place it was necessary to provide a new institute building; in the second place, that building must not only be one worthy of the dignity of the city, but it must be adequate to the demands which would be made upon it for several years to come, and in the next place it must be erected at a moderate cost. The solution of the first two of these problems was easy, but to solve them and conform to the third was the difficult matter. The people had voted $50,000, but it was found that after a site had been purchased that the remaining money was insufficient to erect a building which would meet the requirements. Estimates on a building, the plans for which had been prepared, were $49,000, exclusive of the heating, plumbing, wiring and furnishings. In view of this fact it was decided to again place the matter before the ratepayers and ask for $21,000, which was done, and the additional money was voted, and work could then be proceeded with. How well the Board had solved the problems facing it may be imagined, when it is stated that the building, the corner stone of which has just been laid, would provide accomodation for 450 pupils; it would contain 12 class rooms; would be provided with library, labratories and a full complement of teachers' rooms and fitted to provide the highest possible degree of educational efficiency, and all this had been secured at a reasonable cost. In 1871, there were 128 pupils in the high school of the then town. Last year there were over 300 pupils in the Collegiate Institute and the last entrance examination results showed that 114 pupils had passed in the city alone, and the majority of these would be attending the institute.

He referred to the substantial and ornate character of the building, which was, he said, at the present stage, as fine a piece of masonry as there was in the city, and the superstructure would conform to the quality of the work already completed. The staff of teachers, he believed, was equal to that in any institute in Ontario, and, with the completion of the building the highest degree of efficiency in the pupils would be assured.

In conclusion he congratulated Mr. Stevenson upon the unique position he was filling, and upon the fact that to-day he would celebrate his 83rd birthday. He hoped that he would have many more years of good health before him.

The Mayor's Address

The mayor believed that this was one of the most auspicious days in the history of the City of Peterborough. It was a day, the importance of which would not be easy to overestimate, and it was probable that in twenty years from now this day would be looked back upon as one marking a decided step in advance for the city. He congratulated the Board of Education and the citizens of Peterborough upon reaching this stage in the realization of their expectations in connection with the provision of a Collegiate Institute building worthy of the city. The Collegiate Institute, he contended, was the People's University. We boast, in Ontario of the best educational system in the world and the branches which would be taught in this building was not less important than any other branch in the whole system.

He advocated the inculcating of high ideals in the schools, the aim of which should be to make good citizens. World, will leave the city on her ship. The ambition of every citizen of Peterborough, he said, should be to place the city upon the highest plane, not simply from a material standpoint, and it was the duty of the teachers in the schools to foster this ambition. We had here the best city in the Dominion, and the motto should be, "Nothing too good for Peterborough."

Warden McNulty

Mr. P. McNulty, on behalf of the County of Peterborough, congratulated the Board of Education and the city upon the erection of a new Institute. The interest of the county in the construction of the building was indicated by the fact that in 1904, the County Council conceded some lots in the Central Park for the purpose of erecting the Institute. He Hoped the pupils in the Collegiate Institute would do credit to themselves in the future, and that the students from the farms of the county would do honour to their progenitors.

Mr. R. R. Hall M. P.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., for West Peterborough, congratulated the Board of Education, on the event of the day. The building when it was completed, would be a credit to the city, and a monument to the progressiveness of the Board. It was also a credit to the architect, Mr. J. E. Belcher. It was an unique position that Mr. Stevenson found himself. After having laid the corner stone of a school about three generations ago, he again was given the honour of laying the stone in the first Collegiate Institute building the city has ever had.

The ceremony was an interesting one in many respects, and for the young persons who would be taught in the building there were many lessons to be learned from the incidents of the ceremony. The corner stone in the structure of success in life, was the love of work, and the determination to do right. Continuing Mr. Hall pointed out that history had proved that the nations which have paid the greatest amount of attention to education, were the most successful, and that as soon as they neglected educational matters their decay commenced.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn M. P. P.

In a short address Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., added his congratulations to the Board of Education and the citizens upon the commencement of the erection of a building, which, when completed, would be a credit to the city.

Rev. J. G. Potter

As the senior member and representative of the Ministerial Association, Rev. J. G. Potter expressed his pleasure at being present on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the building. He felt that it was a tribute to the Board of Education to recognise the claims that religion had upon education, to invite the representatives of the religious bodies to participate in the function. If the Golden Rule was inculcated into the minds of the youth in the schools the results upon the future of this country would be great. The Collegiate Institutes were, he was glad to know, open to all classes of the community, and ample opportunity afforded for acquiring an education which would prepare the youth to take the highest positions in the land.

Rev. Father McColl

In response to his name, Rev. Father McColl explained that he was present as the representative of his Lordship, Bishop O'Connor, who was unable to attend. He was proud to occupy such a position on such an important occasion. Ontario had one of the best, if not altogether the best educational systems in the world, and it was a matter for congratulation that in the schools of this province it was possible for the children of the poorest parents to acquire a thorough education, and to reach the highest positions in the land. In every country there are two classes — the leaders and the mass of the people. The great mass of the people are unable or unwilling to attain to the degree of proficiency in educational attainments aq

ELEGANCE AT MODERATE COST

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fills the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realize the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

enable them to qualify as leaders. In this connection, however, the Collegiate Institutes are doing good work. The youth of the land is being trained to become leaders The speaker pointed out that in the educational institutions of the country the sons of poor men were making better progress than were the sons of rich men, the latter, in many cases, amounting to nothing. In conclusion the reverend gentleman again congratulated the educational body upon the excellent building which would soon house the Institute pupils.

Mr. D. W. Dumble

The last speaker was Mr. D. W. Dumble, who said:

Mr. Dumble's Speech

Mr. Chairman,—

I congratulate you, sir, as representing the Board of Education on the happy accomplishments of this long-desired object—the erection of the Collegiate Institute building.

I congratulate the people of the city, not alone on securing the building, but on the fact that they so freely voted the money required for its erection; for this demonstrates that they realize the importance of a thorough Grammar School education for their boys and girls, and that they no longer are controlled by the idea that anything beyond the term "R'm" is only for the rich.

No class of society gains more from higher education than the poor. God did not plant brains in the heads of the rich only. The world is today getting more from those who struggled hard for their education than from those who were born with the proverbial silver spoon in their mouths, and the people are beginning to realize that the father who secures for his child the means of using his own abilities and parts, to make his own way in life, does better for him than the one who has pinched and starved to save money for children who, never having learned what it costs to get it, spend it improvidently and too often to their own undoing.

Nations, like Germany, which put higher education within the reach of the people, stand at the head of literature, science and commerce, and if England is elbowed aside in the strife for the commercial supremacy of the world, it will be because she has been negligent in this matter. Let her emit the school and suppress the gin shop and she will maintain her proud position.

We are a young nation, but with giant blood and bone of the northern races. We are ambitious, and with our heritage, so rich and broad, we must take our place among the world's great peoples, unless we are unmindful of the lessons of history. Our country's development calls for energy and brainy effort, but it must be energy and effort guided by the highest intelligence.

Let us develop our own resources and let us keep the resulting benefits at home, and not let the capital and skill of our elder neighbour rob us of our children's bread. With this new building and its fine appointments, soon to be completed, our splendid staff will win higher fame than before. The fine lecture hall will enable our learned staff to extend the benefits of their education and culture so that lasting good will ensure to the people, and they will ever be as proud of this fine institution as they have been satisfied with its educational results in the past. It is said that buildings do not make the university, true; but they greatly help. Our Institute has had no home, save a rented building, much lacking in its appointments. With this fine building and staff we will not be obliged to send our children away to expensive boarding schools, for there is no private school in the Province that has such a scholarly staff of teachers as our own Institute.

Here, rich and poor, high and low, in the noble pursuit of learning, sit side by side. There is a levelling both ways, the poor child instinctively appropriates the manner, refinement and culture of those whose home teachings have been more refined—while, to some extent, the unsophisticated manners of the poor impress themselves on the better bred—but all makes for better acquaintance, and fellowship, and mutual respect

None gain so much as the poor, and none should more heartily support the Collegiate than those who are most benefitted. I am satisfied that this splendid building and appointments will inspire in pupil and teacher such a spirit of pride and emulation as to prove a stimulus and motive for higher efforts and attainments, and that the expenditure will more than repay itself, and that long after we are gone this institution will be a credit and honour to the people. Again, sir, I congratulate you, and hope that your expenditure will be more than justified, and your highest hopes more than satisfied.

After three cheers for the King and the chairman, the gathering was brought to a close, and an important incident in the educational history of Peterborough was concluded.

NOTES

The duties of chairman were very ably filled by Dr. Burnham, whose long and honourable connection with educational matters in the city makes him peculiarly fitted to carry such a position.

The decorations were the work of J. J. Turner and Sons, and were a credit to that progressive firm.

When Your Health Fails—What Then?

BETTER TO GUARD AGAINST SUCH AN EMERGENCY BY KEEPING VITALITY AT HIGH-WATER MARK BY THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Good health is the capital of persons who earn their livelihood with brain and muscle.

In these days of strenuous life and keen competition there is no place for tired brains and weak bodies.

Success is for the strong and alert for those whose blood is rich and whose nerve cells are filled with vigour and energy.

It is not pleasant to contemplate what might happen with failing health, and for this reason it is well to heed the first symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as brain fag, headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, failure of memory and loss of power to concentrate the mind.

While Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has succeeded in curing many cases of partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and the most severe forms of nervous prostration and exhaustion, it is not well to delay treatment until these stubborn and dangerous diseases set in.

At the slightest indication of waning nerve force, begin the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and with a few weeks' treatment you will be able to restore the vitality of the body to high-water mark, remove the cause of nervous disorders, and prevent serious results.

Miss Mary Leitch, Coulson, Simcoe county, Ont., writes: "When I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my nervous system was all run down, and I suffered terribly with nervous headache and sleeplessness. Sometimes I could not sleep for three or four nights in succession. By the use of several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food these troubles were entirely overcome, and I consider the preparation an excellent nerve tonic."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—1.

PROMISING YOUNG LIFE ENDS

The Death of Archibald Houston, Under More Than Ordinarily Sad Circumstances.

A particularly sad death was that which occurred at the Nicholls Hospital yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, when, after a few days illness Archibald Houston passed away at the age of twenty-six years, the cause of his death being appendicitis. The deceased came to the city about ten days ago, and commenced to work in the C. G. E. works on Tuesday afternoon of last week. He only worked a day and a half when he was taken ill, and on Friday it developed that he was suffering from appendicitis, and was taken to the hospital, where he gradually became worse, until the end. He was born in Creemore, near Owen Sound, where he has two brothers now living. A peculiarly sad feature of his death is the fact that the lady, who was to have been his wife had he lived was expected yesterday, and his wish, up to the time of his death was that she might reach his bedside before he should pass away. A telegram was received from her, however, after he had died, informing his friends that she was unable to come. Since he has been living here he was boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Jabez Carr, 127 Rubidge street, who were extremely kind to him in his illness. The late Mr. Houston was a Baptist in religion, and was planning to associate himself with the Park street Baptist Church when his illness came. The remains were taken this morning to his home in Creemore, where the funeral will take place.

PARTY OF ITALIANS FOR RAILROAD WORK

Left on Grand Trunk Train This Morning for Temiscaming.

The Italian colony in the city was depopulated this morning by about 45 of their number going to North Bay, and thence to New Liskeard, to work on the railway in the Temiscamingue district. There was certainly no limit to the language and words that were being thrown to the four winds by 45 sons of Italy, who for loquaciousness are without peers. A noticeable fact was that many of the men carried firearms. Some had only the ordinary muzzle loader, slung over their shoulders, others boasted of the kind which are in two sections, and carried in leather cases. Some had musical instruments, guitars being in the majority. They were all as happy as larks, as they piled into the first coach, everyone bearing some article that did not form a part of their regular baggage.

And talk about bags and boxes! The baggage car was simply packed with common sacks filled with nondescript articles whose uses were known only to the owners.

The party was collected here last night in a very short time, and were ready to go the first thing this morning. A pleasing feature was the entire absence of liquor's influence on them.

LONELY WANDERER FELL FROM BUGGY

Was Going Through City Last Night When He Fell Fast Asleep.

The spirit of Morpheus, induced by too many dizzy drops from the golden goblet, crept into the soul of an individual last night as he drove through the city from east to west. He had fallen asleep before reaching George street, where the slow tread of the animal he drove held up the street car, which was brought to a standstill within a few inches of the vehicle. His head appeared to come suddenly heavy on reaching Chambers street, for there he fell completely out of the buggy on to the street. When he rose to his feet his clothes and his countenance were covered with mud, and he was simply an unrecognizable specimen of manhood.

The horse and buggy were taken in tow by a youth who took them back to the owner, while the late driver walked back along Hunter street giving ventilation to considerable profanity in half articulated sentences found in the language of no nation.

EMPLOYEES GUESTS OF EMPLOYERS

After a Busy Morning Richard Hall & Son's Clerks go Down the Otonabee.

Richard Hall and Son's dry goods store was a busy spot this morning from the hour of opening at 8 o'clock until closing at mid-day. Every counter on the ground floor was surrounded by a coterie of ladies soon after the doors were thrown open, and the four-hour sale, originated by the above-mentioned firm, was as brisk as it possibly could be.

This afternoon the busy employees were the guests of the firm on the second annual excursion down the Otonabee. The guests, who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. Richard Hall and Son, included many special clerks who assist on Thursday mornings in the store.

The steamer Monarch carried the excursionists, who left the Wolfe street wharf at 2 o'clock for Gore's Landing.

WAS FINED FIFTEEN CENTS AND COSTS

For Disorderly Conduct on the Steamboat Otonabee.

Fifteen cents was the amount of the fine imposed by County Magistrate Edmison upon John Perkins for disorderly conduct on the steamer Otonabee some days ago. The case came before the magistrate this morning at 10 o'clock, and, after hearing the evidence, he decided that the man was guilty of using obscene language on the steamboat before ladies. It also appeared from the testimony given that a number of youths were teasing him and giving him other troubles that aroused his ire. The magistrate, however, decided that he was guilty of disorderly conduct on account of using profanity, and fined him 15 cents and costs.

SUPERINTENDENT OF BELL BUILDINGS HERE

Mr W. J. Carmichael, Pleased With Progress So Far Made.

Mr. W. J. Carmichael, of Montreal, superintendent of buildings for the Bell Telephone Company, arrived in the city last night, and this morning looked over the progress so far made on the new telephone building on Hunter street, with which he was greatly pleased.

He left again at noon for his home.

Editor Post-Card Column.

It now remains for the City Trust to confirm the action of the Committee of the Whole Council, which met last night, by approving of the grant to the Children's Aid Society of the Hilliard property at a nominal rental for a certain number of years. The Society will have to expend not less than $1,000 in permanent improvements, and it would hardly be fair to ask them to do so without such confirmation as we speak of.

Public opinion warmly approves of the extension to help to the movement of protecting the poor and orphan children. Moreover, the city will be able to take advantage of this increased accommodation when necessary, by putting the temporary guests there for accommodation. It sometimes happens that the police are sometimes confronted by a mother and family of small children who have blown into the city from some foreign country and have not yet been able to reach their destination.

The Council has been actuated by a most generous spirit in this matter, and the bread which they have cast upon the waters will return a hundred fold.

Yours, etc.,
CHARITY.

No Closed Season.

Windsor, Aug. 1.—C. W. Gauthier, one of the most prominent of Canadian fishermen, told the Canadian Fish Commission that there should be no closed season for any kind of fish.

He said if the exportation to the United States were prevented by the Government it would kill the fishing industry along the great lakes. Government hatcheries are the only remedy for the present condition, he said.

He also outlined a plan to have the Government establish canneries along the shores of the northern lakes and supply canned herring to the people at an estimated cost of about six cents per pound.

The London Inquest.

London, Aug. 1.—The evidence given at the sitting of the coroner's jury enquiring into the cause of the Reid disaster was principally that of the employes of the W. J. Reid Co. who swore that there was no especially heavy stock on the floor of the warehouse.

Wm. Foley, the local manager of the Smirlies' concern, stated that from the appearance of things the W. J. Reid Co. seemed to be moving in, instead of moving out.

Old Fire Hall Building Only To Be Remodelled

Council Goes Back To Original Plans of Property Committee---Engineer, Assessors and Collectors Provided for---Estimated Cost is $500--- Repairs for Market Scales.

At last the Council has decided upon what shall be done in connection with the remodelling of the old firehall into city offices. At first, when the matter came up for discussion, it was decided to have plans prepared for the fixing of the firehall alone. These were made by Ald. McIntyre, chairman of the Property Committee, assisted by City Clerk Armstrong, and presented to the Council. However, they were not considered adequate, and plans for the revision of the whole city buildings, including the City Clerk's and City Treasurer's offices, were called for.

Last night, however, the Committee of the Whole decided in favour of the original plans, as drawn by Ald. McIntyre and the City Clerk, so that the work will soon be begun. It was also decided that the City Engineer supervise the remodelling of the building, and that the work be done by day labour.

The committee felt that the extension, as proposed by the second plan, drawn up by Architect Jno. Belcher, would involve too much expenditure. There is also some talk of a new City Hall in a few years, so that, if it is erected, the expenditure of about $3,000 would be wasted.

The chairman of the Property Committee estimates the cost of remodelling, under the original plan, to be about $500.

Those present were Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Elliott, Stevenson, Johnston, McIntyre, Morgan and Leary.

Changes to Be Made

The original plans, which were accepted, provide only for the remodelling of the old firehall. The City Clerk and City Treasurer remain where they are; the Tax Collector's office will be placed in the front of the building bordering on Simcoe street. Alongside this the assessors will have an office for their work, and to the rear of the room the City Engineer will be provided with a compartment. The Street Commissioners will also have an office there. The main entrance to these offices will be on the east side.

In addition to these proposed changes, it was also decided to extend the committee room of the Council westward to the vaults, which will allow about six feet extra on the length of the room.

Ald. Stevenson moved, seconded by Ald. Leary, that the Committee of the Whole, having considered the proposed alterations of the city buildings, as a whole, come to the conclusion that at present no elaborate changes be made, and would recommend the Council to proceed according to the original plan of the Property Committee, which dealt with the disposal of the firehall for offices, and that the Council be also recommended to extend the committee room westward to the vault.—Carried.

In the subsequent Council meeting, the report, including the above motion, was adopted.

Market Scales

Ald. Elliott proposed that the chairman of the Property Committee be instructed to at once go ahead with the fixing of the market scales, according to the previous recommendation.

Moved by Ald. Stevenson and McIntyre, that the Engineer and chairman of the Property Committee be authorized to proceed at once with the repair of the scales.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the work of the revision of the buildings be left to the supervision of the City Engineer, and that the work be done by day labour, and that the labour be paid for on the certificate of the Engineer.—Carried.

The above decision were ratified by the Council afterwards.

In connection with the plans of the proposed new Public Library, these will not be considered until a future meeting of the Property Committee about August 20.

One Englishman Who Is Satisfied In Canada

Interesting Letter Received by Mr. J. J. Turner From Fellow-Passenger—Likes Conditions in This Country.

A LAUDABLE AMBITION

It is refreshing to find among the new-comers to this land, one who can so readily adapt himself to the changed conditions, and who is willing to see that Canada is, at least, of some use, as is indicated by the following letter which Mr. J. J. Turner received yesterday from a fellow-passenger on the steamer on which he crossed the Atlantic on his way home from his trip to England; Dear Mr. Turner,—

I am just writing you a line, as I promised to tell you how I find Canada. But first of all let me express the wish that your trip from England has done you good, and that you are enjoying the best of health. Well, I must tell you that if you tried to explain to anyone how nice Canada is, the scenery, people, and, in fact, everything, why you would surely meet with miserable failure. When I arrived at Toronto I went straight to the Colonization Department, and half an hour afterwards was coming in here full steam. It took me exactly ten minutes to accomplish here what I had been three months trying to do at home. I am farming, and I should strongly advise every fellow who comes out to Canada, no matter what he intends doing, ultimately, to try a month in farming. It broadens the mind, gets him acquainted with the customs of the people before really starting upon his career, and add to this that rising at 4.30 may not be quite what he is used to, but I firmly believe there is nothing better for building up the constitution. Well, I think Canada is a great land. And now, having become fairly acquainted with the customs, I am looking for a position somewhere as a clerk, or as a matter of fact, don't mind a bit what it is. I think I should stand a fairly good chance. I have been, in my short career, a stock broker's clerk, a bank clerk and an optician. You see, my main idea is to begin straight away so that I can soon have my mother over, and, to some extent, make up for the great loss she so recently had. And I don't despair an atom of being able to accomplish that very shortly. So I know that if you should happen to hear of anything, or perhaps, if you wanted anyone yourself, I would do my utmost to give you every satisfaction, and in any capacity. If you do not, perhaps you may know of something and let me know, if it will not be troubling you too much.

Well, I certainly feel better than ever I did in my life. What, with the sea trip and this climate, it is making a new man of me. We had a lovely time aboard, but I don't think I told you of the laughable incident of that pig's eye business. That lady button-holed me, all right. Are the the Mr. Parker on the committee? Yes, madam. Oh! Well, I've been told that you were the judge of the pig eye race! Now, I saw a storm coming aboard, from the steely glitter in her eye, and I remember that although once saw the pig's eye, she didn't see me. I said, "Madam, you have been misinformed; I was not judge, it was quite another person." She looked very suspicious, though; but what could I do? You can't very well tell a lady she cheated, even if she did, can you? But she was bent on having the judge's blood, whoever he was.

Well, now, I won't take up any more of your time, but will close this letter, with best wishes for your future health and prosperity.

Very sincerely yours,
W. W. PARKER.

REAL GOOD INVESTMENTS

Chicago's Merchant Prince Had Faith in Industrial Stocks.

(Montreal Gazette)

Marshall Field, the great Chicago millionaire, had invested over $3,000,000 in industrial stocks, and these were counted amongst the most valuable assets of his estate.

The modern captain of industry, is he who ventures his earnings in safe established industries, rather than in what are known as speculative stocks, which pay very small dividends, and are always being manipulated by the stock brokers.

Canada has embarked on an era of development, and the careful investor can find many established manufacturing industries where the returns are liberal and certain. Few of these are quoted on the Stock markets, but these few are usually rated above par. A report of the Slater Shoe Company was published a few days ago, and in this the directors modestly referred to the preferred dividends of seven per cent., which had been paid on the stock since the inception of the company. This stock is very highly rated among private investors, and no doubt a public offering of such a high class security would attract many investors, who are now receiving smaller dividends on their surplus earnings.

It has been urged that such stocks as these should be listed in the Stock Exchange to facilitate public investment.

There are many bond issues, and a number of new ventures always being offered for subscriptions, but what investors really desire is an opportunity to share in the safe-going concerns, which are paying good dividends and the cost of which has not been advanced to a high figure by speculative investors.

Bishop Scollard Officiated At Laying Of Corner Stone

A New Catholic Church at Fort William in Course of Erection—A Church Required to Meet Increased Demand.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP

The Fort William Times Journal gives an account of the laying of the corner stone of a new Catholic church in that town. Bishop Scollard officiated at the ceremony, which is described in the following article:

Bishop Scollard officiated at an interesting ceremony at the coal docks yesterday afternoon when the corner stone of the new Roman Catholic church was laid by him in the presence of a very large assembly of clergy and laity.

The ceremony, which was very interesting, was opened by Father Menard, who will have charge of the new church. The reverend father addressing the congregation in both Italian and Galacian. The sanctuary was then blessed by the bishop, and then followed the blessing and the laying of the corner stone. At the conclusion of this the bishop addressed the assembly in English, exhorting them to work hard for the completion of the new place of worship.

During the course of the service special music was rendered by a choir of little girls of the coal dock section of the city.

The new church which is being erected by Contractor LeBruin, is being rushed through to completion. It will be of solid brick with cut stone facing and will make a handsome addition to that part of the city. The edifice will, when completed, cost in the neighbourhood of twenty thousand dollars.

PEA PODS GROW TO A GREAT LENGTH

Many Contained a Dozen Peas—Imported by Houdrey Firm.

The Examiner yesterday was shown some pods of peas which in length surpassed everything that has ever come under the notice of the agricultural editor of this paper. They were brought in from Otonabee by Mr. Maurice Houdrey as a sample of the kind growing on the farm of Mr. John Dickson, of that township. The largest of the pods were exactly six inches long and contained eleven peas. Mr. Houdrey stated that there were many of the pods holding twelve and thirteen peas, but that the majority contained nine. The seed was imported from France by the Houdrey brothers and is remarkable on account of the size of the pod and the nature of its structure. The interior is not the same as other classes, haing no lining. The pod can be cooked as well as the pea. It is juicy, palatable and is free from the stringers in the ordinary pod.

Mr. Jackson secured about twenty-five bushels of the seed from the Houdery firm, which he planted on thirteen acres. They will be worth to him $1.00 per bushel when threshed and ready for marketing. The stalks grow to a good height so that there is no trouble experienced in harvesting them. Mr. Houdrey stated that if the experiment of growing them in this country is successful, he intends to introduce them here for gardening purposes.

SOME SOCIAL EVENTS AT OMEMEE

Golden Wedding Celebration—Important Barn Raising There

Examiner Special.

Omemee, July 31. — The farmers here have had a hard time saving their hay, which is a fair crop this year.

The tea and lawn social held at Mount Pleasant was attended by between 30 and 40 from here, besides the band. The refreshments excelled all previous efforts. About 200 attended, altogether.

The barn-raising at the farm of Councillor Fee of Emily proved one of the most interesting in every respect, the building being 45x90 feet, with a 10-foot wall. About 100 able and willing hands assisted. Delightful refreshments were served on the lawn by a number of the ladies. No accident or casualty occurred during the day.

Omemee is wanting a Civic Holiday and hopes to encourage Trent Valley navigation by having the river opened up, as very little would be required to clear a track for parties to fish in, and allow yachts and excursion steamers to run.

Many visitors from the Eaton firm will be here to celebrate the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. McCrea, father and mother-in-law of Mr. J. C. Eaton of Toronto. The caterer and one of Toronto's best orchestra will accompany them. About 100 invitations have been issued here.

Mr. Walter Kingston, merchant of Woodstock, is here spending his holidays, a guest at Mr. W. H. Currie's.

Mr. Thompson, of the Bank of Toronto staff, is here on his holidays as Mr. T. A. McPherson's.

A social event on a very extensive scale will be held on Monday, August 5, when a special train will come from Toronto, carrying about 100 passengers.

Toronto's experts favour bridges as a solution to the waterfront problem.

Another smallpox patient was sent to the Toronto Isolation Hospital, making six in all.

LITTLE RAINFALL REPORTED DURING MONTH OF JULY

The rainfall during the month of July, in this district, amounted to 1 inch and 86-100. This amount, although comparatively small, was greater than in many other places not far distant, and, as a consequence, there are none of the effects of drought to be seen here that are visible farther west. The heaviest fall was on the 20th, when we had .48 of an inch, during a thunderstorm, of which we had six during the month. Rain fell on four other days. No excessive heat was experienced, the highest being 86 degrees on the 17th and 19th. The lowest reading of the thermometer was on the 3rd, when the mercury went down to 42 degrees—a very low mark for July. We had 19 fair, or cloudless days, during the month, and 12 days when the sky was overcast, or showery. The days when we had it above 80 degrees in the shade numbered 17.

From Humble Log School House, To Palatial Pile

A Few Historical Facts in Connection With the Advancement of Education in Peterborough—Many Smart Men Schooled in This City.

NEARLY A CENTURY

The laying of the corner stone of the new Collegiate Institute suggests a brief historical reference to the evolution of the present educational system from those times when Peterborough was a little hamlet among the forest on the Western Bank of the Otonabee River. Years have quickly come and gone and with the slow lapse of almost a century several generations have flourished and many famous men have gone out into the world after being raised and educated in the local halls of learning.

A Comparison

One of the strongest proofs that Canada is a very young country and that Ontario is but practically opened up is gained from a comparison of the splendid edifice that is in its earliest stages of erection with the humble little log building that served as a school house in the years succeeding 1826 and 1827. The progress that this city has made since those days when men possessed constitutions hardened to toil and labour by ceaseless struggles with nature which then held proud away throughout the land, this rapid advancement is strikingly brought home when one's mind reverts to the humble conditions that then existed.

First School

The first school house erected in this vicinity was an unimposing log building of rough but substantial appearance which was begun in the year 1826. It was located on the ground at the rear of the present central school, exactly where the sheds stood until only a short time ago when after the gymnasium was badly burned they were removed and the ground is now unoccupied. It is learned that the Rev. Samuel Armour, first Episcopal clergyman in Peterborough, conducted this school in which the rudimentary as well as the higher branches of education were for a time taught.

It is not difficult to imagine the surroundings of this unpretentious one roomed building surrounded by tall trees and connected with the homes of the scholars by foot paths that seamed the unbuilt lots. The lot of the teacher was no the commonplace routine of lessons that is known to-day, for the pupils were all grown up and any of the boys a match in strength to the professor. It is also gleaned that they were just as fond of fun as children of tenderer years are to-day, and the clashes that must have resulted were nor of the gentlest. But changes have followed one another and the pampered egotistic children of to-day are receiving a training in morals that is vastly different from that which was assisted by judicious applications of the birch and hickory. The old regime developed excellent men who are now being gradually matured in age while the oldest have nearly all passed to their reward. May the next generation be at least their equals! The first school was gradually appropriated to High School purposes and public schools, or, common school as they were then called were organized. One school was situated in practically the place where Rev. Canon Davidson's residence now stands.

Union School

Time began to wear on the primeval school and it began to show signs of dilapidation so that it was untenable during the winter. The board of High or Grammer School trustees applied for amalgamation with the already united public schools, a proposal that was finally accepted and entered upon in February, 1854. From this period until 1860 the united public and high school work was carried on in the Hunter St. Methodist Church just west of the Otonabee river. Early in 1857 in consequence of that building being found insufficient to accommodate the greatly increased numbers then attending school arrangements were commenced for the erection of the fine building which is still in good repair and a memorial to the substantial work of that time. The new school was opened in January, of 1860, at a cost of $16,258.00. The staff at the united school in the church consisted of a head master, two other male and three female teachers.

In 1874 the South Ward School was erected to meet the demands of the south end of the city, and shortly after the same was done in the western district. The town was now rapidly growing and the education of the young folks had been provided for until the past few years which have again been met and Peterborough is now thoroughly equipped with first class schools of which the city and those gentlemen who have been so long interested in educational work are justly proud.

SLIGHT DECREASE IN THE CUSTOMS

Receipts for the Month of July Were Over $4000 Less Than in July 1906.

The customs returns for the month of July, 1907, for this city are somewhat below those of the same month in 1906, the figures being, respectively, $26,612.77 and $31,335.60. It will be seen that the receipts for the past month were $4,692.92 less than in the same month last year. There is, however, no occasion for alarm in this fact. The receipts fluctuate from month to month, and it is an encouraging fact that taking the year as a whole the returns show a decided increase over the past year.

Mrs. Hamilton has given practical evidence of her interest in St. Luke's church on different occasions, and the various rectors have occasion to remember her for many acts of kindness.

Right Breathing Cures Catarrh

Simple Way to Kill Catarrhal Germs in Nose, Throat and Lungs

The only natural and common sense method known for the cure of catarrhal troubles is Hy-o-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that it medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane, and restoring a healthy condition.

Hy-o-mei goes right to the spot where the catarrh germs are present in the nose, throat and lungs and destroys the germs so that perfect health is soon restored.

A complete Hy-o-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00 and is sold by Wm. Madill under guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

MR. TAYLOR INTERESTED IN THE TRIAL

Came Back Again From New York Today—A Friend of Prisoner Lewis.

Mr. Henry Taylor, of New York city, is again in the city, having arrived here at noon to-day. He was present at the latter part of this morning's session of the trial of the four young men charged with with picking pockets, and was pleased to see that in the case of his friend, Lewis, there was no evidence against him in the Hurl case.

Mr. Taylor is confident that Lewis will be given his freedom. He is a fighting man, he says, and may have naturally fallen in with the others, as often occurs in such circumstances.

The New York visitor is certainly one of the most interested at the trial, and none is more hopeful as to the outcome in the case of his friend.

City Offers Shelter To Children's Aid Society

Home Will Be on Old Hilliard Property If Offer Is Accepted---A Building Already Provided with About An Acre of Ground---Joint Discussion Last Night.

The homeless and the delinquent juveniles of the city have been provided with a new shelter, provided the Children's Aid Society accept the proposition made by the City Council last night, when the question came before that body. At a Committee of the Whole meeting, preceding that of the council, representatives of the society were present and requested the city to give them the building and land surrounding it on the Hilliard farm for the purpose of a Shelter at a nominal rental. A representative of the City Trust Commissioners was also present and explained the loss the city would sustain financially if the site and building were given to the society. He also pointed out the desirability of the property as a Shelter site, giving both sides of the question.

In the subsequent council meeting it was decided to give the society a lease of the property for five years at a nominal rental and if the city wishes to retain the land and building at any time afterwards that six months notice be given and that the city pay the society for the value of the improvements at the time the building is taken over.

In opening the meeting the mayor explained the progress so far made in connection with the shelter, stating what course the council had taken on Monday night, when he brought up the question.

Mr. Burnham, the president of the society, was the first speaker and stated that a short time ago a meeting had been held for the consideration of the question of obtaining a new shelter. The society, he said, may lose the shelter any day and that they had been given fair notice by Mr. Best to this effect. He understood that the Hilliard property, which is owned by the city, contains a house which might be used. Mr. Henry, the caretaker of the present shelter, had visited the place and considered it to be a good site and suitable in all respects. Half the house, Mr. Burnham stated, would be of no use as some person had suggested. There must also be water and sewer connections and electric lights placed in the building.

The expense of placing the above improvements in the house was estimated at about $500, which would have to be borne by the society. This amount, Mr. Burnham stated, would be sufficient to deplete the funds without having to pay for a shelter and property. In his opinion and in the opinions of other members of the society the site and property were an excellent one and the proposed scheme of giving it at a nominal rental was a feasible one.

The society here was doing a good work and during the past year was fourth in importance in the Dominion, as far as attending to the children was concerned. He attributed a great deal of the credit for this to Mr. E. L. Goodwill, the secretary, and he was certain that if the city gave the land and building as proposed, their generosity would not be misplaced. The county had always treated the society well and had assisted according to the requests. He was assured that the same treatment would be accorded them in future, and if the city would allow them the Hilliard building with an acre or an acre and a half of land at a nominal rental, he believed the work of the society could be handled with comparative ease.

The society was eager to attend to all children needing assistance, immigrants as well as others in trouble and if the request were granted he considered the city would only be doing an act of justice.

Mr. Peter Campbell added that he did not consider half the building would be of any use for shelter purposes.

Mr. Goodwill stated that the amount of room at the present shelter was too small. It was altogether inadequate as a shelter and often he had to refuse sending children there on that account. A shelter, well ventilated, with good airy dormitories that would hold at least twenty children, was needed. The society, he pointed out, had to deal with the delinquent—those who were arrested for paltry thefts and who now are locked in the police cell instead of being lodged at the shelter.

He considered that if the society had a good spot outside the city they could be safely kept. A shelter with grounds encircling it large enough to accommodate the children who might happen to be placed therein was greatly needed.

Half of the building on the Hilliard farm, he added, would be altogether too small and the society would need the whole or none, in his opinion the building and property on the Hilliard farm were quite large enough and suitable for the purposes for which it would be utilized as a Children's Aid Society.

Mr. W. H. Moore, on behalf of the City Trust Commissioners, considered that the property on the Hilliard farm would be desirable as a shelter, but the commissioners must deal in this matter with the council. The Water Commissioners, he did not think, would be willing to allow the water main to be tapped in front of this building. This would have to be done from a side main.

The property under consideration contains about an acre of land and he estimated it to be worth about $3,000. One-half of the building was rented at $120 per year and he believed that with the expenditure of $50 the other half could be rented for the same amount. Last year the house was painted and improved greatly. The $240 which might be obtained, he said, was considerable, was a large amount to be given up, but the whole matter rested with the council.

The property was a handsome one, being $4,800 and the latter, $371.20. The plumbing contract was awarded to C. H. J. Dumouchesu for $2,216.

The contracts call for the completion of the building in April, 1908, which will give ample time to install the equipment and have it ready for occupancy by September of the same year.

The building is modern in every detail everything entering into its construction being of the very best quality, and in addition it will be an imposing structure, one which will be a credit to the city and to which the citizens will be able to point with pride.

The ground area is 95 by 115 feet, with three stories and basement, the ceilings being 14 feet 3 inches high, except the assembly hall on the third floor which is 21 feet. The latter will have the neccesary complement of retiring rooms, and will have seating accommodation for several hundred persons.

The foundation work under the ground is of concrete, and the foundation walls to the top of the basement is in rock face Longford stone, while surmounting this the structure is of red brick, with window sills and string courses, etc., of cut stone. Two imposing bay windows run through the whole three stories and basement on the front of the building.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, C. E., is the architect who designed the building, and who is superintending its construction for the Board of Education.

Its Great Profusion Was Always a Cause of Wonder

Even at the age of 80 years, Queen Victoria's hair was a marvel of luxuriance. The court physician following Prof. Unna's discovery, undoubtedly, treated Her Majesty's scalp with a germ-destroying preparation, that was not made public. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ-destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY TO MEET

Members and Friends Requested To Be Present on Monday Afternoon.

On Monday afternoon at three o'clock there will be an open meeting in the City Council Chambers, under the auspices of the Children's Aid Society. The meeting will be held for the purpose of considering questions in general and among others the offer of the city council to give the Hilliard property as a site for the shelter will be taken up. All members of the society and all friends of the good work are urgently requested to be present as the meeting will be an important one.

Although not officially stated by any member or officer of the society it is generally supposed that if the City Trust Commissioners are agreeable to the council's decision, the offer will be accepted.

A number of citizens in speaking of the offer to-day to the Examiner were pleased with what the council had offered, but believed that the amount of land connected with the building was altogether too small. Three acres was stated to be the quantity needed in order that the children sheltered by the society should be given plenty of room and where they might be taught to be industrious and to be useful in their youth.

THE CANADA LIFE

A Veteran and Vigorous Insurance Corporation.

The Examiner has received from Mr. S. E. Sills, district manager of the Canadian Life, a copy of two beautifully printed booklets. One contains the sixtieth annual report, which gives interesting details of the phenomenal growth, strength and standing of this veteran and pioneer insurance corporation, whose total assets amount to $32,250,542.59. The other brochure gives an answer to its title, "Is Life Insurance Utopian?", by giving a sketch of the history of the Canada Life, which originated in Hamilton in 1847. It also includes concrete examples of the advantages of policies taken out in the Canada Life on different plans, and the very satisfactory results from holding policies in this progressive company. During the sixty years of its life the company has received fifty-six millions from policy-holders, and to the same time has paid or credited to policy-holders, sixty-four and a half millions, or $115 for every $100 paid in. The moral is plain.

The visiting golfers were very pleasantly entertained by the members of the local club and a delightful afternoon and evening were spent.

MAKES APPLICATION TO DEVELOP ELECTRIC POWER

In pursuance of the action decided upon by the city council, a formal application from the city has been filed with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, for the right to develop power on the Otonabee river, and transmit it to the city for consumption. At a meeting of the commission the application was received and filed. No objection, apparently will be raised to the proposal of the corporation to develop and transmit this power, provided it will not interfere with the vested rights of any individuals or corporations, prejudicially.

MR. WM. ANDERSON, M.P.P., TAKEN TO HIS HOME YESTERDAY

Mr. William Anderson, M. P. P., who has been confined to the Nicholls' Hospital for some time, has recovered sufficiently to enable him to be taken to his home.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Anderson was an interested spectator at the ceremony in connection with the laying of the corner stone at the new Collegiate Institute, viewing the proceedings from a carriage. He is weak, but his friends will be glad to learn that he is feeling considerably better, and that he was able to be taken to his home.

THREE GUILTY ON PICKPOCKET CHARGE; JUDGE'S FINDING

He further said that Lewis was in no way connected with the affair, and there was not the least jot of evidence against him.

At the conclusion of this case the prosecution has other charges that will be preferred against the four men. It appears, from the finding of the judges this afternoon, that in the meantime he had become convinced of Goldfarb's guilt.

Evidence

The first witness was Conductor O'Connor, of the Peterborough Radial Railway Co., who testified that he had seen the four prisoners on circus day together on his car at 15 minutes past 4 o'clock. They were going up George street. P. C. Newhall was at the rear of the car and pointed out Phelps as one of them. They were behaving themselves at that time, and in no way acting suspiciously.

To Mr. O'Connell, witness said that his run was between Auburn and the southern terminus, and on the day in question the runs were being made in a little slower time than that scheduled.

Mr. Fowler

Conductor Harry Fowler, also of the Street Railway Co., testified that he saw Phelps on June 25 at the corner of Crescent and Lock streets. He stepped out to the car and asked where he could hire a boat. Witness saw nothing suspicious in prisoner's actions.

The next witness was Mr. Sam. Wainwright. He was at the circus, and on going through the second gate at the Exhibition grounds he picked up a folding pocket-book. It was after the circus and about 5 o'clock, and the article was found just where the crowd was passing. Witness did not see P. C. Newhall that day, but handed him the purse on the 26th, the day following.

Mr. Larmonth

Mr. J. H. Larmonth was sworn, and stated that on circus day he saw Phelps, Bradford and Goldfarb at the corner of George and Charlotte streets and also at the corner of Brock and George streets. Witness saw them on several cars, and followed them once to the Exhibition grounds, where they disappeared towards the tent. The first time he saw them was about 1.30. Witness saw P. C. Newhall at the police station a short time afterwards.

Joseph Thomas

Mr. Joseph Thomas, a conductor on one of the George street cars, said he saw the four prisoners get on a car about 4 o'clock. They got on in pairs and sat opposite each other, the seats running lengthwise of the car. P. C. Newhall was on the rear of the car.

This concluded the evidence for the prosecution, and His Honour called for the defence.

Defence

Mr. O'Connell sprang a little surprise by calling Mr. John McCann, Inspector on the Street Railway. He was sworn and described his duties. He also stated that the schedule time between the river and Central Park was 14 minutes. The traffic on Circus Day was very heavy from 12 o'clock until 3, which would necessarily make the service a little slower.

Mr. O'Connell questioned the witness as to the time certain runs were made but nothing of importance was elicited.

Mr. Wood then took the witness, and cross-questioned him as to the saving of time, and the following of the schedule as compared with an ordinary day. Witness remained firm in his statement that the cars were running slower than usual between the hours of 12 and 3.

Mr. Charles Barber

Mr. Charles Barber was next called and sworn. He stated that he was employed as a teller in the Bank of Montreal and was formerly with the Ontario Bank. He has had an experience of three or four years as teller. He described the method that tellers have of marking bills, while they are counting, and by this means time is saved. He brought to light practices that are used exclusively by the bankers and which the general public is not schooled in.

Summary

This concluded the testimony that the defence offered following which Mr. O'Connell began his address to the Crown, which lasted nearly an hour.

In presenting his plea for the defence Mr. O'Connell stated that the Crown was endeavouring to bring a case against four men charged with picking pockets and that the sole testimony was practically that offered by Officer Newhall. Mr. O'Connell told how the officer had prearranged in his mind a plan of action against any person who might be found committing a crime such as the officer testified that he did see. He was actuated by a desire to get in some amateur detective work and it was dangerous, the speaker said, to depend entirely on the sole evidence of one man. Mr. O'Connell tried to show that it was impossible for P. C. Newhall to do all the things which he did between the time he left his home at one o'clock and the time he looked at the Post Office clock at 1.55 p.m. Further, he said, that not by any computation of time could the officer have carried out the things he did in less than thrity minutes more than that in which he claimed to have done it.

Mr. O'Connell also asked His Honour that the evidence of the detectives, Greer and Anderson, should not be accepted, being entirely untair and contrary to Canadian justice. In conclusion, he said, that the prosecution was based on the uncorroborated testimony of P. C. Newhall. He asked that special notice be taken of Lewis, against whom, he said, there was not a jot of evidence except that he was in company with the others. Mr. O'Connell represented Lewis and Bradford.

Mr. Kerr also adressed the Crown on behalf of Phelps and Goldfarb.

Mr. R. E. Wood for the prosecution presented the evidence again to His Honour, stating that P. C. Newhall had done a remarkable piece of intelligent work and his evidence was correct in every detail.

The case was then adjourned until this afternoon at three o'clock when they were to receive sentence.

DEATH LURKS NEAR OPERATORS

Telephone Ghost Accused of Terrible Midnight Crimes.

SECOND OPERATOR KILLED

Nine Have Thrown Up the Position —Weird Shrieks and Yells Heard —The Police Suspect Maniac But Can Find No Clue — Assassin Works Mysteriously—Operator Fought With the "Ghost."

Wellesley, Mass., Aug. 1.—The last man who has been brave enough to accept the position of night operator in the Telephone Exchange of this noted college town is dying from fearful wounds, in Wellesley's little hospital.

The first operator has been in his grave for a year with a shot-wound through his head. Between the dead and dying operators nine others, hired to conduct the central office by night, have quit their jobs, declaring that no money in the world can induce them to "work with the supernatural."

Throughout Wellesley, among college girls and citizens alike, the mysterious assailant has come to be known as the "Ghost of the Telephone," and there are many who believe that either a murderous phantom or a maniac lurks about the place to kill every man or woman who undertakes the nocturnal watch of the 'phone.

Joseph McCarthy, the last victim, was attacked while he held his ear to the receiver at midnight. He was alone in the building, and was answering a late call when some one or "something," the residents say, crept up behind him and dealt him two fatal blows on the head. Evidently he struggled with the assailant, for the office was in great disorder when the day operator found the dying man's body in the morning.

McCarthy was taken to the hospital, where he still lies unconscious. The doctors say he cannot survive his wounds, and unless he recovers consciousness before death the police have no hope of solving the mystery.

In the same strange way Perley Parker was murdered in the same office twelve months ago. The assassin had never appeared there before; the police put it down as a sporadic crime, and the telephone company had no trouble in finding a man to take Parker's place. This man was Joseph Puld. He stayed two months, then resigned without any explanation.

After him George Slaney became operator for two weeks. "You couldn't hire me to stay another night for a million dollars," he said, and also quit.

Benjamin Leighton, who followed, fled not only the station but the town, at the end of a single week. So did James Everett and James Friedeth, both hinting at awful sights and sounds by night, but refusing to explain. Then came James McManus, who held out a month.

"I can't stand the shrieks and yells around there," he said when he went away. Clarence Foss, the eighth man, carried a revolver to work with him. The town had heard about the telephone ghost. Ross dared it to come and fight against his gun. He quit in a month.

"A bullet is no good against the supernatural," he explained, when he resigned. "I know, because I tried, and I'm out of that place for good."

Next was Joseph Flynn, who stayed only one night.

"I won't talk about what I saw, because you'd laugh at me," said Flynn. "But people who never lived come there at midnight."

When he had gone away McCarthy undertook the job. He was said to be the most daring and least superstitious young fellow in Wellesley.

Although the police scout the ghost theory, they have been unable to find a single clue to the source of the mysterious crimes.

Approve Grant.

London, Aug. 1.—Both Houses yesterday approved the grant of $250,000 to Lord Cromer, who recently resigned the post of British agent and consul-general in Egypt.

The grant was opposed by the Nationalists and the Laborites on the ground that Lord Cromer had been sufficiently rewarded by his salary and pension, and that if the grant were necessary, it ought to be borne by the Egyptian and not the British taxpayer.

Injured In Runaway.

Belleville, Aug. 1.—What may prove to be a fatal accident happened to County Attorney Anderson of this city, while returning from Trenton Tuesday night, where he had been prosecuting in a case of robbery. His horse became frightened at an automobile and ran away, throwing the county attorney out, cracking several of his ribs and badly bruising him, besides injuring him internally.

Andrew Carnegie Decorated.

The Hague, Aug. 1.—Queen Wilhelmina has conferred on Andrew Carnegie the order of Orange Nassau. It is conferred for favors to the royal family or to the country, and consists of a blue enameled cross which has eight points, the whole surrounded by a laurel wreath. In the centre is the national coat of arms on a blue ground.

Killed In Runaway.

Kingston, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Gilbert Maracle, aged 65, returning from a berry-picking expedition, was instantly killed, three miles from Napanee, during a runaway.

She struck on her head.

Many Lives Lost.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—Fire broke out last night at Marshalsea, Pittsburg's municipal institutions, located on the Panhandle Railroad, 12 miles west of the city. Fire apparatus from here is being loaded on a special train. Hundreds of the city's poor and insane are lodged in Marshalsea.

Four or five inmates are reported to have been killed.

IRELAND'S APPEAL.

Nationalist Wants to Be Put on the Same Footing as Canada.

London, Aug. 1.—Speaking in the House of Commons, John P. Boland, Nationalist representative of the southern division of Kerry, called the attention of Foreign Secretary Sir Edward Grey, to the fact that the United States is the principal market for Irish cured mackerel, and asked the Secretary to use his best endeavors in connections with the negotiations now going on between Great Britain, Newfoundland, Canada and the United States regarding the fisheries question, to have the American tariff of $2 a barrel on mackerel removed in the event of the Canadian fish being allowed to enter the United States free of duty.

Sir Edward replied that if a favorable opportunity occurred to make an attempt to obtain a reduction of American duties on the produce of the United Kingdom, the case of Irish cured mackerel would not be overlooked, but he said the negotiations on the subject of colonial fish that had taken place some time ago had not led to any definite result.

BAPTISM OF FIRE.

For the Fourth Time In Six Months Woodstock, N.B., Is Flame-Swept.

Woodstock, N.B., Aug. 1.—For the fourth time within six months this town was visited by a bad fire yesterday, when one of the largest wholesale houses in the province, the Baird Drug Co., and a number of smaller establishments were destroyed.

One life was lost.

A short circuit, caused by telephone and electric light wires becoming crossed, had set the Baird block on fire. One fireman cut the light wires and just at that moment Charles McKenney caught hold of a wire, no doubt thinking it dead. Without uttering a word he fell dead. Robert Welch standing beside him also received a shock.

The Carlisle Hotel was damaged by the fire.

Surveying Western Ontario.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—A meeting of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission was held yesterday afternoon. The commission is going carefully into the operations of the engineers now on the road surveying the transmission lines for Niagara power through western Ontario. The fourth surveying party has just been sent out to cover the ground from Hamilton to Guelph, this party being in charge of Mr. Fairchild, O.L.S.

Electrocuted at 78.

Auburn, N.Y., Aug. 1.—Charles Bonier, the aged Buffalo murderer, who was twice convicted of brutally killing Franz and Johanna Frehr at their home for their money, was electrocuted in Auburn prison yesterday morning.

Bonier was in his 78th year, and his hair was snow white. He walked calmly to the chair. Tuesday he said good-bye to four other condemned men in the prison.

Ontario Rich.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The total amount of succession duties paid to the Treasury Department of the province in July was $135,524. This brings the amounts for the year to date up to $676,941.

Col. Matheson in his budget speech estimated the receipts from this source for the year at $700,000, and it is likely that this will be greatly exceeded.

During July 18 estates accounted to the Department.

Drowns In Six Inches of Water.

Convicted Pick-pockets Given 18 Months In Central Prison

Bradford, Phelps and Goldfard Sentenced to the Same Term by His Honour Judge Weller—The Famous Case at Last Concluded.

LEWIS WAS LIBERATED

Three Charges Proved Against the Men—Court Room Cleared by Order of the Judge When the Audience Applauded.

The pickpocket case, which has been before the Petrborough public, with varying interest, since the 25th of June, when Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' circus appeared in the city has at last been closed, and Central Prison doors opened on three of the malefactors arrested, tried, and convicted. The result was no surprise to those who have followed the proceedings since they were first commenced. Raymond Bradford, Charles H. Phelps, and Harry Goldfarb, were each sentenced to eighteen months in the Central Prison, Toronto, on two separate charges, namely of having robbed Mr. Richard Hurl, of Young's Point, of $12.50, and Mr. William Hartley, who resides at the corner of Smith and George streets, of about 95 cents. Harry Lewis was given his liberty, as the evidence was not sufficiently conclusive to satisfy His Honour that Lewis was directly connected with the other members of the gang. The charge against the three men of having stolen $40.00 from Mr. Luke Francis, C. P. R. section man, was dropped, Mr. Francis receiving the money which to all appearances was justly his.

A Busy Afternoon

An unusually large crowd filled the court room, and it is many days since such interest has been shown in a criminal trial. The first work of the afternoon was Judge Weller's decision as to the guilt of the prisoners in the charge, viz., of stealing the money from Mr. Hurl.

In the morning all the evidence had been presented, Mr. O'Connell, for Bradford and Lewis, and Mr. Kerr for Phelps and Goldfarb had made their last appeal to His Honour in the prisoners' behalf, and Mr. R. E. Wood, who conducted the prosecution, had pointed out the strong points against the prisoners. It remained for the Court to pronounce whether the men were guilty or not.

Three Found Guilty

His Honour reviewed the facts of the case, dealing chiefly with Police Officer Newhall's testimony, which satisfied him as to its accuracy and truth. The defence had stated that the officer's evidence was not corroborated, but His Honour declared that the law does not require a corroboration. However, in this case Officer Newhall's statements had been substantiated by other witnesses, the defence had not contradicted it, and in its entirety it had withstood rigid cross-examination. Continuing, His Honour said that Bradford was the man who actually took the money from Mr. Hurl's pocket, but Phelps had aided and abetted him by drawing the victim's attention, while the other did the trick Therefore, the two men were equally indictable, and as they shared in the action, they likewise shared in the guilt and its consequences. His Honour then stated that he found these two men guilty of that charge.

Goldarb Also

Of Goldfarb the Judge said that he was not connected with that particular offense, but in other cases he was proved to be acting in conjunction with the other two. Conductor Mitchell had seen them together on the train; Detective Greer had seen them in company at Woodstock, and other towns in Western Ontario, and from their actions in this city, he said, it was clear that they were working together for the same end. Goldfarb had changed his headgear; he said that he had but a little money, and when searched it was found that he had plenty. His conduct showed that he was engaged in the same practices as the others. His Honour declared that his opinion was that all but Lewis had come to Peterborough on the noon G. T. R. train for the expressed purpose of picking pockets. Goldfarb was as liable as the other two men, and each was liable for the acts of the others. He was satisfied as to their guilt, and pronounced Goldfarb, Phelps and Bradford guilty of that offence.

Lewis Not Guilty

The fourth man was Lewis, against whom the judge said there was very little evidence. He had carefully considered all the points, he said, and there was a doubt in his mind as to whether Lewis started out with the others to ply the trade of picking pockets. He might, he said, be as bad as the others, but on this charge he was not sure as to his guilt, and Lewis was therefore acquitted. This ended the first case.

The Result

Following this verdict, Mr. O'Connell gave notice that he would register an appeal for Bradford, and Mr. Kerr did likewise for Goldfarb. The latter counsel said that if Goldfarb had come here to pick pockets, that fact had no relation to the stealing of Mr. Hurl's money, as he had not had a hand in that affair. The first judgment being appealed, Mr. Wood refused to proceed with the other charges until the appeals had been settled. This would not be till some time in September, and Lewis, with the rest, would have to remain in confinement until that time. There was a deadlock on this account for a while, when His Ho-

TWO LINDSAY MEN WERE INJURED

Two Men Named Switzer Were Hurt in Accident in Hay Barn—Fell 35 Feet

Lindsay, August 1.—A. Switzer, of Cameron, had his leg broken in two places at the ankle, his head and face cut, and his back injured.

Henry Switzer, Ops, was badly bruised and cut around the head and back.

These are the results of an accident which happened last evening in Ops township, near Lindsay. The injured men were engaged in placing a track for a hay fork, when the scaffolding broke, and the men fell 35 feet to the barn floor. Switzer is in the Ross Memorial, Lindsay.

REPORT SCARCITY OF YOUNG MEN

Summer Resort Owners and Young Ladies Complain That There Are Few This Year

Cobourg Post.—There is an unusual scarcity of young men at the summer hotels in Cobourg this season. The hotel proprietors, as well as the maidens, are bemoaning the fact. As a result, everything is dull and the functions uninteresting. The cause is undetermined. Some say the men want harder life than lounging around hotels, and others say the expense is too high for pocket-books. The scarcity of men is also reported at the different Thousand Island resorts.

CUT ARTERY WITH SHARP AXE

Serious Injury to Port Hope Man—Cut His Wrist in Accident

On Tuesday morning Mr. Henry Dore of Ridout street met with a very severe accident. He was chopping a board with a newly sharpened axe. The axe glanced and inflicted a four-inch cut on the left wrist, severed the tendons and arteries, penetrating to the bone. Mrs. Dore bound up the wound until the arrival of Dr. Aldrich. Six stitches were necessary to close the cut. Mr. Dore, though still weak, is progressing favourably. —Port Hope Times.

EXPERTS DECLARE BILL A GOOD ONE

The Supposedly Counterfeit $50 Bill May be Again Circulated

It now appears that the $50 Bank of Toronto bill, over which there was so much trouble, a short time ago, is not counterfeit. The bill was sent a few days ago by one of the local banks to the United States Treasury Department, where exerpts examined it carefully, and who have sent back word that the bill is a good one.

If such is the case the trouble which would probably have arisen as to the loser in the transaction, is at an end. Mrs. Bradford, the New York lady, and wife of the prisoner, Bradford, who passed the bill to Mr. Ray, will also be clear of all suspicion. It was thought by many here that she was not guilty of passing the counterfeit bill, and if the experts of the United States Treasury are correct, she was entirely innocent of any wrong.

FAITHFUL WORK IS RECOGNIZED

The friends in this city of Rev. C. E. Cragg and Mrs. Cragg, the latter a former Peterborough girl, will be interested in the following reference to them, from the Christian Guardian of this week:

Before leaving Manilla Circuit, Rev. C. E. Cragg, B.D., and Mrs. Cragg, were generously remembered by their many friends of the different appointments, with handsome gifts. During the three years' pastorate over 160 united with the church, 225 on confession of faith, while the connexional funds were more than doubled.

Undisputed Facts About
Zutoo

Zutoo tablets are now recognized as being without doubt or question, the best and only safe remedy on the market for headaches and colds.

They have practically displaced all other cures, and are now the only one used to any extent.

The reason is doubtless found in this further fact.

Zutoo tablets not only cure headache and colds but, unlike many other remedies, do not affect the heart, nerves or stomach.

AN EXPENSIVE CABINET

If the importance of Ontario is to be measured by the number of trips the members of the Whitney Government find it necessary to take to Europe on public business, then, indeed, are we a great people. They have been in power less than three years, and yet the Premier is now on the ocean on his second trip abroad. Hon. Dr. Pyne has been over; Hon. Mr. Matheson has experienced the "stone-in-London" sensation; Hon. Mr. Foy has just recently returned; Hon. Mr. Beck has the briny mist yet on his brow; Hon. Dr. Willoughby is just starting out to find out something about asylums; Hon. Mr. Monteith will go shortly to investigate emigration. The remnant of the Government will probably go as soon as any earthly excuse can be concocted for touring expending the public money. The Deputy Minister of Education is also ticketed for London on public business. — Brockville Recorder.

CANADAS CENTURY

When the world first swung into a new century, Sir Wilfrid Laurier foresaw the progress this country was bound to make, and declared that as the Nineteenth century had been the great growing time of the United States, so the Twentieth century belonged to Canada. We have entered upon a realization of this forecast with a fullness that justifies the splendid optimism of the Premier. We see evidences of its truth everywhere and no doubt the two parties of visiting British journalists will take home impressions which will find voice in their several journals, telling of the great thrift, prosperity and promise of the country. By no one is the condition in which this country finds itself more frankly recognized than by respectable and influential journals of the United States, whose recognition is all the more to be valued, since there would be a natural unwillingness to gratuitously acknowledge the success of an adjacent nation, rival in resources and enterprise, unless from honest conviction.

As demonstrating, and in justification of, the prophecy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Collier's Weekly, a sane, sober journal, prints the following article illustrative of the parallelism of the growth of the United States in the early years of the last century, and of Canada in the seven years of the Twentieth century:

Like the United States census bureau, the Canadian census office has tried its hand at an estimate of national population. It figures that Canada had 6,504,000 inhabitants on April 1, 1907, an increase of 1,133,585, or 21.1 per cent., in the six years since the census of 1901. This is more than twice the absolute, and nearly twice the relative, increase, in the ten years, between the census of 1891 and 1901, and it is a much greater relative increase than that in any decade since Confederation.

There is a curious parallel between Canada's present position and that of the United States a hundred years ago. In 1901 Canada had 5,371,315 inhabitants. In 1800 the United States had 5,308,483. Before 1901, the Canadian growth had been very slow—only 11.1 per cent. in the ten years from 1891 to 1901, against 35.1 for the United States in the ten years from 1790 to 1800. But since 1901 there has been a sudden leap forward. The increase in the past six years is equivalent to a growth of 35.1 per cent. in a decade — exactly what the United States had in the ten years preceding the census of 1800. It is true that in the ten years succeeding that census the United States grew a little faster, gaining 36.4 between 1800 and 1810. Still, for all practical purposes Canada may be said to stand to-day precisely where the United States stood a century ago, with a fair prospect that the United States censuses for 1910 and the succeeding periods may serve for the Canadian censuses from 1911 on.

On this basis Canada may expect to have seven and a quarter millions of people in 1911, nearly ten millions in 1921, almost thirteen millions in 1931, over seventeen millions in 1941, and more than twenty-three millions in 1951. There is one circumstance, however, which impairs the value of all such comparisons. The growth of the United States in the first half of the Nineteenth bentury was almost entirely by natural increase, and so proceeded at a regular geometrical ratio, never varying from a mean of 34.5 per cent by as much as two per cent. either way. Canada's present spurt is the result of a wave of immigration. It may keep on at its present rate; it may swell to an even greater volume; or it may decline. Historical parallels are not very trustworthy guides in such a matter.

CONVICTIONS FOR CRIMES

A blue book just issued by the Dominion Government covers the year ended September 30, 1905. Turning to the statistics of summary convictions, we find that during 1905 the number of convictions for drunkenness was 21,621, or 39.40 per cent., as compared with 18,895, or 39.21 per cent. in 1904. By provinces it stands thus:

	Summary No. Convictions.	Per Cent. of total.
New Brunswick	1,734	69.92
Nova Scotia	2,520	50.78
Manitoba	3,544	52.45
Prince Edward Island	178	51.96
British Columbia	1,284	45.02
Quebec	4,781	40.83
Territories	1,520	31.48
Ontario	6,047	27.95

The convictions for drunkenness in Canada in 1905 increased by 14.43 per cent. over 1904, in the following order: Manitoba, 41.07; Quebec, 19,94; Territories, 13.92; Ontario, 10.65; Nova Scotia, 7.89; New Brunswick, 3.46; Prince Edward Island showing a decrease of 40.28 per cent. and British Columbia a decrease of one-third of one per cent. In this connection, the statistics of convictions against the liquor license laws are of interest:

Ontario	1028	831
Quebec	583	858
Nova Scotia	371	446
Territories	347	370
New Brunswick	375	327
British Columbia	133	254
Manitoba	122	85
Prince Edward Island	59	74

The showing above made is upon the whole very creditable to Ontario, and at the same time discreditible to Manitoba, in which latter province the outbreak of drunkenness is increasing at a very swift pace, due in no small degree, perhaps, to the increasing foreign population, the number of visitors, and the prevalent prosperity.—Brantford Expositor.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Brockville Times says:

The proper spelling of the name of this city is Peterboro-u-g-h, into the decaudate form, Peterboro, used by outside journals. — Peterborough Examiner.

CONVICTED PICK-POCKETS GIVEN 18 MONTHS IN CENTRAL PRISON

our said he would not hold Lewis, and ordered the Hartley charge to be proceeded with.

THREE GUILTY ON SECOND CHARGE AND LEWIS DISCHARGED

The relieving of Mr. Wm. Hartley of his money by the gang has already been described in a previous issue. He was robbed while on a car going north just at Central Park. P. C. Newhall was a witness of this event and was put on the stand, and began to tell of how this deed was accomplished. He mentioned Lewis' name several times, and said that he had seen him jostling people as the other men did. This immediately aroused Mr. O'Connell's anger, and he began to speak to the judge, saying that the witness was trying to bolster up his former evidence when it did not deal explicitly with Lewis. P. C. Newhall began to make an explanation, but Mr. O'Connell told him he was addressing the Crown. The rag-tag element thought they saw a rebuffal to the officer in this, and began to applaud. Mr. O'Connell continued with the examination in connection with the Hartley case, and especially asked the witness why he had not made the supplementary remarks in his former evidence. The reply was that they were in the copy of the former evidence, if searched for. Mr. O'Connell wanted to know why witness had not sought the aid of one of his fellow officers, and witness replied that he had his instructions from the Chief concerning that matter. Mr. O'Connell said that he (witness) wanted to gain all the glory for himself, and again the chap applauded, and as a result the judge ordered the court room cleared. When nearly all were ejected the hearing was continued, but nothing more transpired. Mr. Hartley was put in the box, but his evidence contained nothing new.

Mr. Cyril Hill was then called.

New Witness

Mr. Hill was a new witness. He stated that he saw Mr. Hartley get on a car just north of Brock street. There were about half a dozen people on the car. Among them was one man whom he knew by sight. This was Goldfarb. Witness did not recognize the other three. The men near the vestibule of the car were jostling and pushing. He saw Mr. Hartley when he was just inside the car proper, after coming from the vestibule. Goldfarb was then inside the bar. Another man was just at the entrance, and Mr. Hartley was remonstrating with him. Witness did not see the theft committed.

Mr. Hartley said he would rather see the men reformed than punished, even although he had been robbed.

Same Three Guilty

This finished the evidence and the case was left with the judge. He stated that he had come to the same conclusion as before, and declared Preels, Goldfarb and Bradford guilty. For the same reasons as before he gave Lewis the benefit of a doubt, and declared him not guilty. Lewis was then told to stand up, and His Honour addressed a few words to him. He said that the rule in Canada is that if there is any reason for a doubt of the guilt of any person, it is the duty of the judge to give that man the benefit of it. He had his own personal opinion, but it must not be allowed to coerce his judicial opinion. In this case, he said, there was a doubt as to whether Lewis was a party to the gang, and granted him his liberty, recommending him to be careful in choosing his companions in the future, and to see to it that no taint of a crime of this character ever be allowed against him. Dewis was then released from the handcuffs which bound him to Bradford, and he stepped from the prisoners' box to freedom. He walked around to the front of the judge's chair, and, making a slight bow, thanked His Honour, and then turned, and was walking away, when he was called back and given his money, which amounted to $38.30. He then left the room and joined his friend, Mr. Taylor, who was an interested spectator in the afternoon's proceedings.

P. C. NEWHALL
The officer who rounded up the light-fingered Yankee trio

ON THIRD CHARGE DECLARED GUILTY; SENTENCE IS GIVEN

There followed some discussion as to the next step. It was said that the Francis charge would have to stand over until the appeals had been settled. The prosecution offered to drop this charge if the defence would hand over the $40 to Mr. Francis.

The counsel consulted with their clients, and they said that since they had not stolen the money they would not surrender it. His Hondur then ordered the case to be proceeded with. The plaintiff, Mr. Luke Francis was the first witness. It will be remembered that his evidence was printed at the time of the preliminary hearing. He had been robbed at the Southern Hotel entrance, and had been crowded by three men, two of whom were Bradford and Lewis. Shortly after he missed his money. It was composed of four ten dollar bills of the Bank of Montreal, two of which were marked with blue pencil, and were thus recognized by the witness. The money was found on Bradford and Phelps, each having two of the bills. His Honour ruled that the money belonged to Mr Francis, and the three men were declared guilty of the offence.

Goldarb Sentenced

"Harry Goldfarb, stand up," said the Judge, after he had heard all the evidence, and was about to pass judgment on the three men; "have you anything to say to me now before the sentence of the Court is passed upon you?" Mr. Kerr, in behalf of the prisoner, spoke for him. He said that he had received letters from his client's wife and relatives, telling of the birth of a child, and that Goldfarb was now a father. The latter had received the news as joyfully as possible under the circumstances. The mother was upset, owing to her husband's position, and Mr. Kerr asked His Honour to take this fact into consideration, and let mercy season justice. Phelps, also is a married man with a wife and two children, and counsel asked that he be leniently dealt with.

His Honour replied that he could not exercise the sentiment that Mr. Kerr had mentioned. Both had started out with the idea that the world owed them a living, and that was the means they took of gaining it. They had not exercised any good sense or they would have foreseen what the ultimate result would be. Phelps and Goldfarb were then sentenced to eighteen months in the Central Prison, Toronto.

Bradford Sentenced

Mr. O'Connell appealed for Bradford. He had given letters to the Judge to read recently, which contained good recommendations for the prisoner. Further, he stated, he was a young man, only twenty-one years of age, married but a short time, having an appearance of unquestionable respectability, and an intelligent countenance. His face bore no traces of dissipation, and he had never before been convicted, and was new to crime. He was in a delicate state of health, and came north on the advice of a prominent New York physician. Mr. O'Connell had the letter. He had a little child and the speaker asked that the young man be discharged and his first false step be forgiven. It would most likely be a means of saving him from a life of crime, and, at least, he would not be marked as a confirmed criminal. He, like all young men, had a future before him, and it would be an encouragement to him to lead a good honest life in the future. Mr. O'Connell asked that his client be given some consideration.

His Honour's first words were:—"It was your hand, Bradford, that actually took the money. I would like to be lenient with you but I do not think it would do you any good. If I let you off I think that you would repeat your actions. I sentence you to exactly the same as the other two, namely 18 months in the Central Prison.

Thus the trial that has been more than a nine days' wonder in the city was concluded, and the four men who have been so often dealt with, were finally disposed of.

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realise that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Ellen Walby

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont. writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to mend and in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain. This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

A Havelock Lady Injured; Fell From Doctor's Window

Mrs. M. McNicholl Meets With Painful Accident at St. Anne de Beaupre—Had Her Leg Broken.

WAS IN DOCTOR'S OFFICE

Mrs M. McNicholl, of Havelock, is lying in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Quebec, as the result of an accident on Wednesday last at St. Anne de Beaupre. Mrs. McNicholl is suffering from a fractured thigh and several injuries about her head, sustained by falling from a two-storey window in a doctor's office at St. Anne's. While waiting for a consultation with the physician Mrs. Mc Nicholl was seized with dizzy spell, and opened the window for fresh air. The window, which extended to the floor, had no balcony attached, and the unfortunate lady fell out, breaking her leg above the knee. She was taken to Quebec at midnight and her injuries attended to in the hospital in that city, where she will remain until able to journey home.

Deer Went Into Church; Ladies Drove It Away

Interesting Episode in Connection With Service in Anglican Church on Sunday Morning.

THE DEER RETURNED

The religious influences surrounding the quiet little town of Bobcaygeon extend not only to the human inhabitants, but it appears that the animals are also of the church-going kind. Last Sunday morning, a Peterborough gentleman was in that town and attended service in the Church of England. He noticed two young ladies, one of whom lives in the town and the other, a Miss St. George, an American lady, her guest, suddenly rise and leave the building, but he did not know until after service the cause for their sudden departure from the house of worship. It appears that they had noticed a deer approaching the church and enter the porch, and, fearing that it would come into the church they went to drive it away.

The deer was persistent in its desire to join the worshippers and this process was repeated twice, the young ladies coming into church again after driving it away the first time, but it returned and the second time they had to remain outside. It developed that the deer was one which had been a pet in the family of one of the families in the village for some years, but it had been away for some months in the woods and it was thought that it had been shot. Sunday morning it returned, and, going to the house found the young lady, with which it used to play absent wandered to the church, which it would have entered had not the object of the deer's search gone outside and driven it away.

LEG BROKEN IN FRIENDLY SCUFFLE AT CHEMONG PARK

Blake Cullen, a member of the Bridgenorth football team, met with an accident yesterday afternoon. With a young man who is staying at the Chemong Park Hotel, he was scuffling in the park near the hotel, and in the friendly encounter the two fell to the ground, and young Cullen's right leg was broken in the fall, the fracture taking place below the knee. Dr, Morgan, who happened to be at the park, was soon on the spot, and attended the injured man.

The accident is a regrettable one, but one for which no one is to blame. The young man will be laid up for some weeks, but beyond this enforced inactivity it is not anticipated that any serious results will be experienced.

$100,000 TAXES RAISED WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT

Mr. W. J. Greene, tax collector, reported the receipt this morning of $100,000 in taxes, the greatest portion of which came in between the 20th of July and last night. There are yet, however, a number who have not paid the first instalment and will be required to pay interest. The bylaw requires the first half to be in the hands of the collector on or before August 1st, and the last on or before November 15th.

Many have paid both instalments at once, and there yet remains only about $36,000 to be collected altogether. The law is that 3 per cent will be added to first instalment if not paid by Aug. 1st, and 5 per cent. if unpaid after November 15.

Woman And Two Children Pursued By Black Bear

Were Picking Berries in a Field Near Their Home—Search Party Organized and Bear Was Shot.

A FRIGHTENED TRIO

Great excitement prevailed in Janetville yesterday, when a lady and her two children arrived in the village with the story that they had been chased by a black bear in the woods while picking berries. The Examiner's informant of the details of the story was in the city last night, having been in the village of Janetville, about twelve miles to the south of Lindsay, when the woman arrived with the tale of the pursuit and the race for life.

She, together with her two youthful children, went out from her home to gather berries a short distance away, when to her horror she heard the animal making rapid progress through the woods. Realising the injuries an enraged black bear might cause on reaching her and her children, the woman made as much haste from the berry patch as she possibly could.

The bear followed fast behind them as if angry that they should attempt to confiscate the wild berries growing for its existence and upon its domain. At times the woman, according to her story of the incident, almost felt that the animal was upon them and it was an exciting time for the trio for some minutes.

After leaving the berry grounds some distance behind the bear seemed to be satisfied that the intruders had been thoroughly frightened away or to be too fatigued to proceed further. At any rate the woman and her offspring succeeded in reaching their home is safety and were very glad of it.

The alarm was soon spread about Janetville. A search party to revenge the presumption of the animal in pursuing the party, was quickly organized. The field was surrounded by a posse armed with rifles and shot guns, bruin was engaged and shot dead a few hours after the incident occurred.

LOCAL SCHOOL TEACHER RECOMMENDED

Mr. T. J. Wallace Given Recommendation By Inspector Hughes, of Toronto

Mr. T. J. Wallace has been recommended by Inspector J. L. Hughes as a new teacher in the new Queen Alexandra School in Toronto, and the Board of Management has adopted the Inspector's recommendation, and the position is Mr. Wallace's if he wishes to accept it. When seen this morning, Mr. Wallace stated that he had not decided what he would do. The salary of the new position offered him was 33 per cent. higher than that paid in Peterborough, and that was a material consideration, of course. He had not, however, made up his mind yet what he would do about it.

CONCLUDING TOUCHES ON THE TRIAL

Bradford and Lewis Were Favourites With The People

The facts regarding the four men who were held for the past month on the charges of picking pockets have been [illegible] and but little [illegible] in twenty-[illegible] are now [illegible] in Kingston. [illegible] in height, is of fair complexion and his hair is slightly [illegible] in colour. He claims as a profession that of the stage, being an actor. Henry Lewis was born in Montreal and is twenty-eight years of age. Weighs 130 pounds and is a [illegible]. He has blue eyes and a medium complexion. His forehead is deeply wrinkled. Chas. H. Phelps claims simply the United States as his native country. He is thirty-two years of age and weighs 156 pounds. His occupation is that of a clerk. Harry Goldfarb is twenty-six years old and was born in New York City. He weighs 135 pounds. He claims as his occupation that of a ladies [illegible].

When the proceedings were drawing to a close yesterday the men were deeply interested in everything that happened. Lewis particularly brightened up when he anticipated that he would be liberated. When the result was pronounced his countenance smiled but no other visible demonstrations were noticed. The remaining three men resigned themselves to whatever was coming until the last charge was proved and they were separately told to stand up. Goldfarb showed no signs of his feelings and took his sentence stoically as if he were accustomed to it. Phelps was somewhat excited, especially after he had received his sentence. His conduct is that of a boss and apparently has a bullying disposition. Bradford's face showed that he was moved by what his counsel said of him and his features twitched as the judge spoke to him. Afterwards he was the gayest of the three, perhaps having expected a longer term than the others. Sympathy was very much in favour of Bradford and Lewis, the other two being not thought much of.

It was Bradford's boyishness that appealed to the spectators and as Mr. O'Connell said, his appearance had no suggestion of crime about it. The men wanted to know when they would be sent to Toronto, being apparently anxious to leave the spot. Phelps was heard to say while their money was being divided among the lawyers, "There'll be more than one circus in Peterborough."

CHARLOTTE STREET BRIDGE IS CLOSED TO TRAFFIC

Notices Tacked Up This Morning—Street Cars Running

The Charlotte street bridge was this morning closed to traffic, by order of the City Engineer. The street cars alone were unobstructed except by persons standing on the tracks. Although notices were erected on either side of the bridge stating that passage was stopped, many buggies and wagons were driven along the narrow street car track.

The workmen to-day began to tear away the northern half of the old structure, and as soon as this is done the concrete abutments will be [illegible]

ELEGANCE AT MODERATE COST

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fills the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realize the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

GUESTS CELEBRATE WEDDING

An Interesting Social Event at Clear Lake Last Night—South Beach Hotel Guests Enjoy Themselves

FISHING REPORTED GOOD

Examiner Special.

South Beach, Young's Point, Aug. 2nd.—Last night there was a merry time here, the occasion being the wedding celebration of some of the American guests at the hotel. There were fireworks and an interesting gollification was indulged in not only by those who were directly connected in the celebration but as well by the other guests at the hotel, who entered into the spirit of the occasion with enthusiasm.

The fishing both for lunge and bass is reported to be excellent, a number of splendid catches have been made the last few days.

South Beach is apparently becoming more and more popular. During the month of July there have been between 50 and 60 guests registered all the time.

Following are the names of those at present staying at this hotel.—Mr Geo A Davis and wife, G G Davis, jr, James T Davis, Rochester; Mrs James McLaughlin, Miss Jennie McLaughlin, Miss W C Way, Clarence Bell and wife, Miss Sybil Bell, Arthur Bell, Toronto; R D Luitchford and wife, Miss Jessie Luitchford, Geo Atkinson, M A Vanhuskirk, Frederick W Smith, W R Southard, Geo A Brayer and wife, James H Obodiles, E C Campbell, Chas. WANTS MONUMENT TO CHAMPLAIN

Suggestion of Hon. Mr. Lemieux to Honour Memory of the Famous French Explorer

Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, in his remarks at Kirkfield recently, intimated the probability of some memorial being placed in Ontario to the memory of the distinguished voyageur, Samuel de Champlain, during the 300th anniversary festivities of the founding of Quebec, to be held next year. We would suggest that no more fitting site for such a memorial could be found than Champlain's Landing on the Trent Canal, a beautiful spot near its mouth, where the old Indian trail and portage between the two water systems commenced, and where, on the 12th September, 1615, Champlain landed on his ill-fated expedition with the Hurons, to Onondaga, and where, later, he returned, wounded and disspirited, to spend the winter among his Huron friends. A monument to his memory at this beautiful spot would be well in keeping with the surroundings and a landmark on this avenue of commerce which would be seen.—Woodville Advocate.

Stomach Troubles Of Long Standing

WHEN DOCTORS' TREATMENT FAILED THIS SEVERE CASE WAS ENTIRELY CURED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Doctors failed to cure Mr. De Courcy because they were satisfied to treat the stomach instead of getting at the cause of trouble in the liver and bowels.

The most complicated and deep-seated digestive troubles yield to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Livro Pills, because of their direct and combinde action on the liver, kidnye and bowels. We are rontinually receiving such letters as the following in regard to the failure of mere stomach treatment:

Mr. Patrick De Courcy, Midgell, lot 40, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I had stomach trouble, and was scarcely able to do anything at all. I was treated by doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Livre Pills, and I did so, to very great advantage, for my old trouble has disappeared, and, though past middle age, I feel young and hearty again. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicine."

Another interesting case of liver derangements and stomach troubles is that described in this letter:

Mrs. James Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe County, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches, and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches, and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

GOOD POSITION FOR MR. PEARSON

Is Now General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at St. Catherines—A New Association

Mr. H. A. Pearson, formerly secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Collingwood, and recently appointed to the position of general secretary of the Association at St. Catharines, is in the city visiting for a few days. Mr. Pearson will spend a week at the Y.M.C.A. summer school at Orillia before taking up his new duties at St. Catharines. The Association at the Garden City is one of the largest in the Province, with a membership about equal to that in Peterborough, and a much more modern building. The Association is a comparatively young one, having been instituted about three years ago, but it is in a flourishing condition, and Mr. Pearson is to be congratulated upon having been appointed at the head of such a promising Association.

CARTERS MUST GO TO THEIR SHELTER

By-law Came Into Effect Yesterday and Corners Are Vacated

The city carters have at last taken to their shelter, so that in future, when a carter is needed, he will be found in the dwelling at the corner of Water and Charlotte streets. Yesterday was the date of their departure from the street corners, and this morning their accustomed haunts were conspicuous by their absence.

Ald. McIntyre's promise that the shelter would soon be utilized has been fulfilled. The policemen have been given orders to see that the by-law against allowing the draymen to remain on the streets is enforced, and their duties have begun.

The chief reason in getting the carters off the streets is to prevent them from being a trouble to the merchants, near which they were accustomed to take their stands. Telephone messages came too freely to the merchants, so that answering them became nuisances. There has not yet been a 'phone placed in the shelter.

WEDDING BELLS

ROWLAND-GARNETT

A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Garnett, Julia street, when their eldest daughter, Eva, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. James L. Rowland of Peterborough, formerly of Port Hope.

Promptly at 1.30 o'clock the bride entered the drawing-room, leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. Rev. R. B. Grobb, curate of St. John's Church, performed the ceremony under an arch of marguerites and ferns. The bride looked well in a dainty gown of white organdie with embroidery, Valenciennes lace and insertion trimmings, and carried a bouquet of marguerites. Miss Edna Garnett, sister of the bride, who acted as bridesmaid, looked very dainty in a pretty dress of hand-embroidered organdie. She also carried a bouquet of marguerites. Mr. Fred Rowland brother of the groom, was best man. After the ceremony the usual congratulations were tendered the happy couple and a very dainty lunch was served. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful lady's secretary, to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, and to the groomsman a gold locket.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland left on the 4.20 train for Peterborough, where they will reside. The bride's going-away gown was a tailor-made suit of grey with silk trimmings, and hat to match. Many beautiful presents were received by the bride, showing the high esteem in which the couple are held by their numerous friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland will take up their residence at 78 Pattenson street, Peterborough, and will be at home after September 1.—Port Hope Guide.

MANY ENTRIES FOR THE MEET

Prospects For Good Racing at Turf Club's Summer Meet Are Excellent

Entries close on Monday next for the summer meet of the Turf Club for Civic Holiday and the day following, and the prospects are at this date that the expectations of the management will be more than realized. Inquiries have been received from a large number of horse-owners and the promise that the best races in the history of the local club would be given seems likely to be realized. In addition to the attraction which a good horse race has for nine-tenths of the people there is an additional attraction this year, the foot running feature. The secretary of the club informed the Examiner today that he fully expected that Longboat, the fast Caledonian Indian, would be on hand and that Peterborough people would have an opportunity of seeing the fleet-footed red man in action.

LETTER OF PROTEST RECEIVED!

"Protection" Points Out That Uncalled For Sympathy Is Shown to Offenders

THE POLICE UNAIDED

To the Editor of the Examiner.—

Dear Sir, — I trust that I will not be intruding too much on your valuable space by making reference to a state of affairs among a certain element in the city which is to say, the least, quite deplorable. The matter was brought to my mind by an incident that occurred in the court room yesterday, at the trial of Phelps and his partners. I allude to the applause which the hoodlum element felt called upon to give vent to when Constable Newhall was giving his evidence. It seems to be a fact that among this clique the policeman has few friends, but that is easily explained, as it is with the offenders against the law that he has most frequently to deal, and he has no doubt incurred their enmity by catching them or their friends in some misdeed.

This is the class of people whom Judge Weller "squelched" yesterday afternoon by peremptorily ordering them to leave the court room. Their conduct towards a police officer who is sworn to do his duty as far as it lies within his power, is nothing more than one would expect from unprincipled people. It reminds one of a common cur's trick. A cowardly dog when cornered drops his tail between his legs, whining and snarling, but when he gets away again he runs yelping around as if hee were as brave as a thoroughbred. The actions of the clique are very similar when they thought they had a chance at the officer they let him see they were present to make matters worse, if possible.

The sympathy that many people in the city show towards offenders is not warranted and the conclusion is that they have no desire for law and order, but prefer to uphold those who have an utter disregard for the rights of others. It is a good thing that this class is confined to a certain number, for if it were universal then the protection of the police and the law would be useless.

Constable Newhall said that he did not think of asking citizens to help him arrest the four men as he knew no one would comply with his demand. This has often been proven, and is just another example of the false sympathy that is extended towards offenders. Let any of these men be robbed or assaulted, and then they are up in arms, and would almost want the Durham Field Battery called out to catch the guilty party. Charity is akin to sympathy and always begins at home, yet how many sympathisers with the men who had their pockets picked? Only the law-abiding citizens, who desire the suppression of crime for the welfare and good name of the city, as well as for individual protection, were in sympathy with them.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, yours, etc.,

PROTECTION.

TWO SMALL FIRES IN ONE AFTERNOON

Peterborough Lumber Company's Mill in Danger Once

Yesterday afternoon fire broke out twice on the roof of the Peterborough Lumber Company's mill and on one occasion made it interesting for the private fire department of the company. A pail of water was all that was required to extinguish the second blaze, but by the hard work of the men the other was put out after a few minutes, with little damage done.

DON'T DIE AT 45

Cure the Indigestion Which is So Liable to Lead to Apoplexy

People who suffer with headache, giddiness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, drowsiness, distress after eating and any of the other distressing results of indigestion, are in serious danger. Their digestive organs cannot care for the food properly, and hence the coats of the blood vessels in the brain get little nourishment, become brittle and finally yield to the fierce blood pressure, and one is then said to have a "shock," be paralyzed, or die from apoplexy.

In all diseases of digestion and nutrition the prescription called Mi-o-na has proven itself of great value. It is relied upon to-day as a certainty to relieve the worst cases of indigestion and make a complete cure.

That Mi-o-na will cure the worst forms of stomach troubles, cancer excepted, and give quick relief in indigestion, is proven by the guarantee Wm. Madill gives with every 50 cent box to refund the money unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this must inspire confidence.

ALMOST UPSET CANOE AT BUCKHORN

Experience of Three Members of George Street Choir

A narrow escape from upsetting from a canoe at Buckhorn yesterday was experienced by a trio on the excursion of the George street choir. Two of the prominent feminine members of the choir, with an escort, went out in search of water lilies. One leaned a little too far over the gunwale in attempting to pull in the lily and a quantity of water was taken in, which mixed considerably with a red cushion.

The only inconvenience caused was the staining of a lily-white costume.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the deseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube, when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Ex-Prisoner Lewis Talks About His Term In Gaol

Seen by an Examiner Reporter Last Night After Receiving His Freedom—Words of Praise for Bradford.

LEARNT FROM HIM IN GAOL

Harry Lewis, the only one of the quartette of prisoners who was liberated yesterday, was one of the most pleased young men in the city, when the trial was over, and he had enjoyed the freedom of the open air for the first time in a month. He in company with Mr. Henry Taylor, the New York friend, who came over with credentials in favour of the young man's character, enjoyed, too, a pleasant walk about the city. There was more than the ordinary pleasantness attached to it, considering that young Lewis had suddenly been given his liberty, after a month of incarceration.

But the prominence given by sitting in the prisoner's dock, handcuffed to Bradford for two days, had not entirely disappeared from the acquitted. A large and curious crowd followed him along the street wherever he was recognized, and he could scarcely repress a smile as he noticed he had become the cynosure of many eyes.

In speaking to an Examiner reporter, who was introduced by Mr. Taylor, he expressed himself briefly as being glad to again be permitted to walk in the free out-of-doors.

"I don't see how I could have been connected with the case," he said to the reporter; "I have been a fighting man ever since I was able to scrap and never picked a pocket in my life." He would say very little about the trial, but spoke of how he spent the month in gaol.

"Bradford," he said, "was a fine fellow. He was one of the smartest youths that I have ever met, and had been educated in a Yankee college. We used to read books at the gaol," said Lewis, "and I was taught a great deal by Bradford." He said nothing about the other prisoners, but said that they often used to have a song together in the lonely corridors to while the time away as rapidly as possible.

When the reporter was speaking to the two men the 57th band happened to pass by on a street car. "That is a fine band," said Lewis; "where are they going?"

The scribe informed him and suggested that they might have a pleasant time at the park, which could easily be reached by street car.

"Oh, no," remarked Mr. Taylor; "he's not going on a street car until he gets out of this town—the police might arrest him for picking pockets."

Messrs. Taylor and Lewis, the late prisoner, left the city together this morning for New York city.

A Writ Issued For $2,000 Against Canadian General

On Behalf of David J. Moore, of Divisinn Street--- Foot Injured About Two Months Ago.

PLACED ON FILE TO-DAY

A writ was to-day issued by Mr. R. F. McWilliams on behalf of David J. Moore, 25 Division street, against the Canadian General Electric Company for $2,000, for injuries sustained while in the employ of the company.

Moore was injured there about two months ago. He was employed on the construction work of the new building of the Canadian General, and while walking through the building from one side to the other, a scantling, which was being hauled towards the roof, fell on his left foot, and crushed it badly. The writ was entered this afternoon.

Goldfarb Has Been Connected With Many Pick-pocket Cases

Phelps Known as a Diamond Thief and Has Also a History---Lewis is Canadian Born---Good Work of Local Police Officers.

P. C. NEWHALL GETS CREDIT

With the finish of the trial of the pickpockets, their past history, as revealed by investigations, the result of which was given the Examiner by Chief Rossel, is now put into print for the first time. They show that the convicted men have been frequently arrested, and picking pockets was their forte. Golfarb especially has a black career in this respect; Phelps has been none too good, and the other two men are apparently not yet steeped in crime. Lewis especially being arrested merely on suspicion. The rounding up going by P. C. Newhall was a stroke that has been referred to before, but it bears special importance when the characters of the four men are taken into consideration. This sentence is the severest that has been imposed upon them, and is the only occasion that any officer has brought home three distinct charges and was able to clearly prove them, with the aid of a few other witnesses. The judge said that he based his evidence entirely on P. C. Newhall's testimony, and indirectly complimented the policeman on his good work. Magistrate Dumble also thought well of it at the preliminary hearing in the police court, and Chief Rossel was highly pleased that one of his force had been so successful in protecting the public. Not only that, but in a different way, Mr. O'Connell and Mr. Kerr emphasized the skill with which the officer had carried out his plans, and the public should be proud that one of the city's policemen had accomplished so much against three professional pickpockets. The records of the four men are given in the rest of the article.

THE PROGRAMME FOR TO-NIGHT'S CONCERT

Band at Victoria Park—A Request From Parents

The 57th Regimental Band will give the following programme in Victoria Park this evening:

March—"American Republic."
Overture—"Nabuca."
Cornet Solo—"Corporale de Sentimani"—Bandsman Hughes.
Novelette—"My Maryland"
The Michigan Serenade—La Polame.
March—"Chazebier."
Medley—Songs of the Day — Renwick's Hits.
Hymn—Selected.
Reminiscences of Scotland.
"God Save the King."

Parents are urgently requested to see that their children do not play around the band stand as they generally do, and cause great annoyance to the bandsmen.

ANOTHER ANECDOTE OF THE PICK-POCKETS

Were Sore About Having Been Arrested In This City

Speaking with P. C. McDonald this afternoon about the recent trial, he said the fact that the four men were arrested here rankled in their minds. After the last hearing at the Police Court, the officer was in charge of Phelps and Goldfarb, accompanying them to the jail. Phelps said to the policeman: "What kills us it to think that after skinning New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit and other cities, we should come over to this —— one-horsed town and get pinched. It is a hard one." This is just another word for the local police.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, August 2.—The market continued irregular to-day. There was no disposition to follow down too aggressively. The drop has given the bear crowd a wholesome respect, especially as scale supporting orders are noticeable. The feeling is a waiting one as a rule. During the afternoon the market slowly hardened and worked higher, although very dull. There was a further reduction in copper metal of 1-4 cent per pound. London sent over fractionally higher prices, but the entire foreign market was dead. The high prices for the day were made just before the close, which was strong, but not very active.

Ontario Produces Many Methodist Presidents

Rev. R. A. Scarlett, a Native of Northumberland, Now President of the Saskatchewan Methodist Conference.

HE IS WELL KNOWN HERE

This section of Ontario produces more Methodist Conference presidents than any other apparently. The county of Peterborough is represented by two this year, and in the last issue of the Christian Guardian, a sketch is given of Rev. R. A. Scarlett, the president this year of the Saskatchewan Conference, and in that sketch it developes that he is also an Ontario man, and that he is a native of the county of Northumberland. Referring to his election, the Guardian says:

Rev. R. A. Scarlett, the President of the Saskatchewan Conference, was born in the old university town of Cobourg, in the year 1865. He is a son of the late Edward Scarlett, who was public school inspector for the County of Northumberland for 39 years. Mr. Scarlett received his education in the Cobourg Collegiate Institute and Victoria University. Prior to entering the ministry he graduated in the Ontario College of Pharmacy and was in the drug business for seven years. Believing that God had called him into the ministry, he entered the work in the Toronto Conference and in 1890 was sent to the Wyevale Circuit, under the superintendency of Rev. J. Morgan of Midland. An urgent call for men to enter the work in the Great Northwest, was given in 1891, and Mr. Scarlett responded, and went out under Rev. Dr. Wordsworth. He served as a probationer on the following fields, Meadow Lea, Franklin, Douglas, Oak Lake. In 1895 he was ordained in Regina, and this year, in the same city and in the same church, where he was ordained 12 years ago, his conference elected him to the presidential chair. Since ordination Mr. Scarlett has served his church on the following circuits: — High Bluff, Medicine Hat, Holland, Elkhorn and Souris, where he is closing a delightful four years' ministry, and Methodist is erecting a $22,000 church. He married Miss Alma E. Parkhill, niece of Revs. H. T. and D. O. Crossley. He is full of energy, an able, forceful preacher and has been abundantly successful upon his different fields of labour.

MORE GAMES IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Darkness Set in and Stopped Two Contests

More games were played in Nicholls Oval Tennis Tournament last night, all of which proved to be very interesting. A. Meyers beat Stewart Lang by 6—4 and 6—0. C. E. Sisson won from E. Dingman by 6—3, 0—6 and 6—4. J. D. Clarke tied D. Keast by 7—5, 0—6 and 6—6 and Miss Edith McClennan tied Miss Laura Gray by scores of 6—4, and 10—10. The last two games were unfinished on account of darkness.

PAYING DIVIDENDS

The local stock holders of the Birkbeck Loan Company, of London, will be interested to know that the liquidators are paying the second dividend at the present time. This company, it will be remembered, went into liquidation some time ago and the first dividend was paid last year.

There are a large number of stock holders in Peterborough and they will certainly receive the above information with pleasure.

A Havelock Lady Injured; Fell From Doctor's Window

Mrs. M. McNicholl Meets With Painful Accident at St. Anne de Beaupre—Had Her Leg Broken.

WAS IN DOCTOR'S OFFICE

Mrs M. McNicholl, of Havelock, is lying in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Quebec, as the result of an accident on Wednesday last at St. Anne de Beaupre. Mrs. McNicholl is suffering from a fractured thigh and several injuries about her head, sustained by falling from a two-storey window in a doctor's office at St. Anne's. While waiting for a consultation with the physician Mrs. McNicholl was seized with dizzy spell, and opened the window for fresh air. The window, which extended to the floor, had no balcony attached, and the unfortunate lady fell out, breaking her leg above the knee. She was taken to Quebec at midnight and her injuries attended to in the hospital in that city, where she will remain until able to journey home.

Deer Went Into Church; Ladies Drove It Away

Interesting Episode in Connection With Service in Anglican Church on Sunday Morning.

THE DEER RETURNED

The religious influences surrounding the quiet little town of Bobcaygeon extend not only to the human inhabitants, but it appears that the animals are also of the church-going kind. Last Sunday morning, a Peterborough gentleman was in that town and attended service in the Church of England. He noticed two young ladies, one of whom lives in the town and the other, a Miss St. George, an American lady, her guest, suddenly rise and leave the building, but he did not know until after service the cause for their sudden departure from the house of worship. It appears that they had noticed a deer approaching the church and enter the porch, and, fearing that it would come into the church they went to drive it away.

The deer was persistent in its desire to join the worshippers and this process was repeated twice, the young ladies coming into church again after driving it away the first time, but it returned and the second time they had to remain outside. It developed that the deer was one which had been a pet in the family of one of the families in the village for some years, but it had been away for some months in the woods and it was thought that it had been shot. Sunday morning it returned, and, going to the house found the young lady, with which it used to play absent wandered to the church, which it would have entered had not the object of the deer's search gone outside and driven it away.

LEG BROKEN IN FRIENDLY SCUFFLE AT CHEMONG PARK

Blake Cullen, a member of the Bridgenorth football team, met with an accident yesterday afternoon. With a young man who is staying at the Chemong Park Hotel, he was scuffling in the park near the hotel, and in the friendly encounter the two fell to the ground, and young Cullen's right leg was broken in the fall, the fracture taking place below the knee. Dr. Morgan, who happened to be at the park, was soon on the spot, and attended the injured man.

The accident is a regrettable one, but one for which no one is to blame. The young man will be laid up for some weeks, but beyond this enforced inactivity it is not anticipated that any serious results will be experienced.

$100,000 TAXES RAISED WITHIN THE TIME LIMIT

Mr. W. J. Greene, tax collector, reported the receipt this morning of $100,000 in taxes, the greatest portion of which came in between the 20th of July and last night. There are yet, however, a number who have not paid the first instalment and will be required to pay interest. The bylaw requires the first half to be in the hands of the collector on or before August 1st, and the last on or before November 15th.

Many have paid both instalments at once, and there yet remains only about $36,000 to be collected altogether. The law is that 3 per cent will be added to first instalment if not paid by Aug. 1st, and 5 per cent. if unpaid after November 15.

Woman And Two Children Pursued By Black Bear

Were Picking Berries in a Field Near Their Home—Search Party Organized and Bear Was Shot.

A FRIGHTENED TRIO

Great excitement prevailed in Janetville yesterday, when a lady and her two children arrived in the village with the story that they had been chased by a black bear in the woods while picking berries. The Examiner's informant of the details of the story was in the city last night, having been in the village of Janetville, about twelve miles to the south of Lindsay, when the woman arrived with the tale of the pursuit and the race for life.

She, together with her two youthful children, went out from her home to gather berries a short distance away, when to her horror she heard the animal making rapid progress through the woods. Realising the injuries an enraged black bear might cause on reaching her and her children, the woman made as much haste from the berry patch as she possibly could.

The bear followed fast behind them as if angry that they should attempt to confiscate the wild berries growing for its existence and upon its domain. At times the woman, according to her story of the incident, almost felt that the animal was upon them and it was an exciting time for the trio for some minutes.

After leaving the berry grounds some distance behind the bear seemed to be satisfied that the intruders had been thoroughly frightened away or to be too fatigued to proceed further. At any rate the woman and her offspring succeeded in reaching their home is safety and were very glad of it.

The alarm was soon spread about Janetville. A search party to revenge the presumption of the animal in pursuing the party, was quickly organised. The field was surrounded by a posse armed with rifles and shot guns, bruin was enraged and shot dead a few hours after the incident occurred.

CONCLUDING TOUCHES ON THE TRIAL

Bradford and Lewis Were Favourites With The People

The facts regarding the four men who were held for the past month on the charge of picking pockets have been nearly all related and but little remains. Ray Bradford is twenty-four years old and was born in Kansas. He is five feet seven and five-eighths inches in height, is of fair complexion and his hair is slightly chestnut in colour. He claims as a profession that of the stage, being an actor. Henry Lewis was born in Montreal and is twenty-eight years of age, weighs 130 pounds and is a speculator. He has blue eyes and a medium complexion. His forehead is deeply wrinkled. Chas. H. Phelps claims simply the United States as his native country. He is thirty-two years of age and weighs 156 pounds. His occupation is that of a clerk. Harry Goldfarb is twenty-six years old and was born in New York City. He weighs 135 pounds. He claims as his occupation that of a ladies tailor.

When the proceedings were drawing to a close yesterday the men were deeply interested in everything that happened. Lewis particularly brightened up when he anticipated that he would be liberated. When the result was pronounced his companions smiled but no other visible communications were noticed. The remaining three men resigned themselves to whatever was coming until the last charge was proved and they were separately told to stand up. Goldfarb showed no signs of his feelings and took his sentence stoically as if he were accustomed to it. Phelps was somewhat excited, especially after he had received his sentence. His conduct is that of a boss and apparently has a bullying disposition. Bradford's eyes showed that he was moved by what his counsel said of him and his features twitched as the judge spoke to him. Afterwards he was the gayest of the three, perhaps having expected a longer term than the others. Sympathy was very much in favour of Bradford and Lewis, the other two being not thought much of.

It was Bradford's boyishness that appealed to the spectators and as Mr. O'Connell said, his appearance had no suggestion of crime about it. The men wanted to know when they would be sent to Toronto, being apparently anxious to leave the gaol. Phelps was heard to say while their money was being divided among the lawyers, "There'll be more than one circus in Peterborough."

CHARLOTTE STREET BRIDGE IS CLOSED TO TRAFFIC

Notices Tacked Up This Morning—Street Cars Running

The Charlotte street bridge was this morning closed to traffic, by order of the City Engineer. The street cars alone were unobstructed except by persons standing on the tracks. Although notices were erected on either side of the bridge stating that passage was stopped, many buggies and wagons were driven along the narrow street car track.

The workmen to-day began to tear away the northern half of the old structure, and as soon as this is done, the concrete abutments will be built.

LOCAL SCHOOL TEACHER RECOMMENDED

Mr. T. J. Wallace Given Recommendation By Inspector Hughes, of Toronto

Mr. T. J. Wallace has been recommended by Inspector J. L. Hughes as a new teacher in the new Queen Alexandra School in Toronto, and the Board of Management has adopted the Inspector's recommendation, and the position is Mr. Wallace's if he wishes to accept it. When seen this morning, Mr. Wallace stated that he had not decided what he would do. The salary of the new position offered him was 33 per cent. higher than that paid in Peterborough, and that was a material consideration, of course. He had not, however, made up his mind yet what he would do about it.

ANNUAL OUTING OF THE CHOIR

Members of the Choir of George Street Methodist Church Enjoydd Trip to Buckhorn Yesterday

The annual excursion of the George street Methodist Choir was held yesterday afternoon to Buckhorn. At eight o'clock about fifty members and their friends left by 'bus for Chemong, thence per steamer Ogemah through the beautiful lakes to Buckhorn, where a sumptuous dinner was partaken of. A couple of hours were spent here in sightseeing, and one former member lately returned from the mountains, undertook to gather waterlilies; but he must have got excited over something, and tipped the load, so that his precious passenger received something extra.

Tea was served at Chemong on the return trip, and the popular leader of the choir was so tired that he had to lie down to eat. Peterborough was reached at ten o'clock, everyone being delighted with the beautiful day's outing, and thankful to the members of the Quarterly Board through whose generosity the trip was made possible.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE OF HORSE ON TUESDAY

Was Tied to a Fence But in a Short Time Could Not be Found

Herbert York, but recently of Buckhorn, bought a horse from a Mr. Sullivan on the southern limits of the city on Tuesday night. He drove into the city and tied his horse to a fence at the corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke streets just at midnight. Twenty-five minutes later he went to get the animal and it was gone and no trace has yet been heard of it. It was a white mare about fifteen hands high and was fourteen years old. The owner valued it at $75.00. He is anxious to get it back and cannot explain how it got away. He believes that it broke the hitching lines for at a place where two ends had been sewn together there was a little tear and it is thought that the horse finished it, as a part of the line was still tied to the fence.

WILL PAY THE FORFEIT WITH HIS LIFE

Pasha of Casablanca to Answer to France With His Head.

THE MOROCCAN MURDERS

France Is Aroused and Demands Accounting — Europeans Killed In Holy War Outrage—Spain Insists on Penalty—British Press Comments Strangely — Sultan's Position Becomes Insecure.

Tangier, Aug. 2.—On the pretext that they were displeased with the harbor works, three tribes raided Casablanca, one of the chief seaports of Morocco, and massacred the native guards and five Frenchmen, two Spaniards and one Italian. The other Europeans in the city, together with a number of Jews, took refuge on a German ship, which has arrived here.

A report from the French charge d'affaires here shows that the slaughter of Europeans in Casablanca was an outcome of a holy war preached by the Arabs for the extermination of Europeans.

On Tuesday morning the natives began their attack by stoning a European and as the man tried to flee he was surrounded and hacked to pieces. This was the signal for a general attack.

As soon as the danger became known the French and Spanish residents rushed to their respective consulates for protection.

M. D'Euville, the French consul, demanded that the pasha provide an escort for the recovery of the bodies of those killed. The pasha pleaded at first that he had no cartridges, but upon further representations he finally supplied an escort.

In the meantime, while the Jews and Christians were taking refuge on board the German ship, the Mussulmens began to attack the laborers employed upon the harbor works. They fired on the shore boats and killed several men whose bodies subsequently were burned. One woman who tried to swim off to a ship was shot down.

It is feared that Casablanca will be invaded by twenty thousand Arabs to-day.

The Pasha of Casablanca will answer with his head to the French Government for the general security of the city. This is the ultimatum which the French cruiser Galilee, due to reach Casablanca to-day is conveying. The French cruiser Forbin now at the Azores, also has been ordered to proceed to Casablanca immediately.

London, Aug. 2.—The morning papers comment strongly on the state of anarchy revealed by the massacre at Casablanca, Morocco, and declare that it is evident that the Sultan is powerless to preserve order. The powers, therefore, they assert, are bound to take measures to exact retribution and stem the lawlessness.

The Daily News says—"Nobody would blame France for deciding that it is useless to proceed with a policy which merely toys with the fringe of the question. In the end, however, the Moroccan difficulties must be solved in Berlin before it is faced at Fez."

"It is impossible to believe," says the Graphic, "In the face of the Casablanca massacre, that Germany will longer oppose drastic action of this kind, and nothing less will meet the grave exigencies of the present situation."

Madrid, Aug. 2.— The Imparcial insists that the murder of Spanish subjects at Casablanca must be punished.

PEOPLE PROTEST.

Riots Follow Revelations of Clerical Immorality In Italy.

Turin, Aug. 2.—The anti-clerical riots, which have broken out in northwestern Italy, are largely a result of popular excitement following the publication of certain alleged revolting and immoral practices of the Salesian fathers at Varezze.

This exposure was printed in L'Avore and in it pupils of the school maintained by the fathers described the rite performed daily at what they called the "Blackmasses," at which the priests and sisters were present, and which the scholars say they were forced to attend. The school has been closed, and the pupils sent to their homes.

The public prosecutor of the district has arrived at Varazze and is conducting an investigation.

A crowd sacked the church at Warazza Wednesday night, and stoned the convent of the Salesians.

FEMALE FIRE FIEND.

Demented Woman Puts Lighted Torch to Welland House and Barns.

Welland, Aug. 2.—Andrew Hoover, whose farm adjoins the Town of Welland, has suffered the loss of his large barn and the season's hay crop, amounting to about fifty tons.

It is thought that the fire was started by his daughter Margaret, a woman of 34 years, who is demented. The men were all in the fields at the time, about 3.30 in the afternoon, and by the time they reached the barn it was impossible to save anything. The contents included a quantity of grain and a bull and all were lost.

While the fire was in progress Miss Hoover attempted also to set fire to the house. The demented woman was placed in custody and will probably be removed to an asylum next week.

Province of Ontario Transfers Locks, Dams, Water Rights and Lands—Owners and Lessees of Lumber Rights Protected—Dominion to Keep Works In Repair — An Important Agreement.

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—An agreement has been reached between the Dominion Government and the Government of Ontario, by which the province transfers to the Dominion all the locks, dams, rights in waters and flooded lands owned by it along the Trent Valley Canal.

The Dominion agrees to keep the works in repair and good condition, including the lock and three swing bridges at Lindsay, the lock at Balsam Lake and the lock and swing bridge at Young's Point, and pledges itself to pay the province at the rate of 50 cents per acre for any unpatented lands which may be flooded by the construction of reservoirs, and to compensate private owners also, with the provision that in case it is impossible to arrive at a settlement the dispute shall be referred to the Exchequer Court for decision.

It is further provided that all mines and minerals on unpatented lands taken over and flooded in the course of the construction of reservoirs, shall be preserved to the province and that all mines and minerals on patented lands are to remain the property of the province until a proper compensation be granted therefor.

The Dominion also guarantees to the owners and lessees of timber lands all rights previously possessed by them, with the provision that in case any such owner or lessee is dissatisfied with the Government's terms he may appeal to the Exchequer Court.

ALLEGE LIBEL.

La Nationaliste and La Patrie Sued by Messrs. Turgeon and Gouin.

Quebec, Aug. 2.—Hon. Mr. Turgeon, Minister of Crown Lands for the Province of Quebec, has entered an action for civil damages against Le Nationaliste, the Montreal paper edited by Oliver Asselin.

Hon. Mr. Turgeon claims that about four weeks ago Le Nationaliste accused him of perjury, and has repeated the accusation several times since. Hon. Mr. Turgeon has also decided to sue several other papers who have followed the course of La Nationaliste by reproducing the articles complained of or accusing him in a like manner.

Hon. Mr. Gouin, Premier of Quebec, has entered an action for civil damages against La Patrie which, in an article published Wednesday night, said that the Prime Minister had something to do with the negotiations which Baron De Lepine pretends to have made with the Government respecting crown lands in Abitibi.

Drank Hot Lard.

London, Ont., Aug. 2.—To drink a large quantity of hot lard and survive is an unusual experience, but that is the experience of the 14 months old baby of Mrs. Jolly of Egerton street, this city.

While the mother was engaged baking, the little one drew a jar of lard from a table, and before the mother could interfere had swallowed a large quantity.

Although frightfully burned internally and externally, the doctors say the child will recover.

Passengers Were Robbed.

Brockville, Aug. 2.—Two members of the crew of the steamer Rapids King were arrested and remanded here yesterday morning on charges of stealing grips from Mrs. Hastie and Miss Griffith, Toronto, from the steamer Prescott.

Korean Troops Disbanded.

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 2.—At 10 o'clock Wednesday night Japanese troops surrounded the Korean barracks, after an imperial proclamation had been issued disbanding the Korean army, composed of 7,000 men. Several hundred Koreans gathered at the great bell during a thunderstorm and were dispersed by a company of Japanese soldiers. The outlets from the Korean army barracks are guarded by machine guns. Two thousand of the Seoul garrison were disarmed and disbanded yesterday.

The proclamation disbanding the troops say that the disbanded soldiers will be granted one year's pay. The Emperor's bodyguard will not be disbanded.

Want a River Patrol.

Windsor, Aug. 2.—Claiming that they have lost several thousand dollars' worth of property through the depredation of river pirates, from whom they have not sufficient police protection, residents on the shore between here and Ojibwa, nine miles south, have started an agitation to have the Provincial Government arrange for a police patrol boat along the river.

WEIRD DEATH IN RED MEN'S DOMAIN

Terrible Indian Tribal Tragedy in Western Canada.

SQUAW CHOKED TO DEATH

Rope Was Slowly Tightened Around Her Neck While Onlookers Applaud—Perpetrators Sought to Foil Evil Spirit — The Executioners Applauded and Honored—Arrests For the Murder Followed.

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Joseph and Jack Fidler, the chief and medicine man of the Sandy Lake Crees, are under arrest at Norway House, about 260 miles from Keuora. They will be tried for the murder of a squaw.

It is a case of a savage tribal custom. The woman became ill last spring and grew delirious. These Indians hold that when a person dies delirious an evil spirit, one Wendigo, escapes from the body to the weeds, frightens away the game, and a famine ensues. The band, according to custom appointed their chief and medicine man to choke the sick squaw, so that the spirit might not escape with the breath, but remain secure in the dead body.

Before the whole band the chief and the medicine man did the deed. A rope about the squaw's neck was tightened by the two leaders of the band until the ravings of the woman were stopped and the evil spirit was imprisoned and the game preserved.

The Fidlers asked the officials not to be too severe with them, as they had no idea that they were doing wrong. They were merely doing their duty by the band and followed the custom of their fathers. The execution of this duty was a high honor, and, according to custom, the executioners were handsomely fed by the parents of the victim.

The authorities here are trying to decide whether it will be easier to send a judge to Norway House to try the case, or have the prisoners and witnesses sent to Edmonton for trial.

HEAD WAS BURIED.

Unknown Man Meets With Ghastly End In Bush Beyond North River.

Sault Ste. Marie, Aug. 2.—The body of an unknown man was found in the bush, 20 miles north of Blind River on the Tote road, near Eddy's lumber camp.

Every indication points to foul play, as the head was missing, and it is said the pockets of the clothes worn by the man were turned inside out.

The head was later discovered buried near by, but owing to the fact that the body had lain in the bush for considerable time identification is rendered impossible. The hands are also missing, and have not been found.

The body was found by a lumberman while passing through the bush.

The coroner and Provincial Constable Graham of Blind River, acting under instructions from Crown Attorney McFadden, have gone to make a thorough investigation.

The body was that of a young man of small size, wearing a dark suit and tan shoes.

Mrs. W. Shewfelt, a young married woman of Blind River, was assaulted in her home there by an unknown man in the absence of her husband, Wednesday night. The man broke into the house, and intimidated the woman by firing a revolver, the bullet from which entered the pillow of the bed. Her husband is foreman in a camp at Blind River.

WERE LISTS STUFFED?

Attorney-General Foy Orders Enquiry Into Trenton Charges.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Attorney-General Foy stated yesterday that he had instructed the crown attorney of Hastings to take such steps as may be deemed necessary in regard to a complaint made to the Department of irregularities in the preparation of the voters' list.

It is alleged that the manhood franchise section of the list has been loaded up with 310 names that ought not to be there. These were written into the assessment roll by Peter Pomery, an occasional clerk, at the instance and from a marked voters' list furnished by Mr. G. W. Ostrom, ex-M.P.P., town clerk.

Mr. Ostrom admitted freely the irregularity of what he had done, but denied any intention of political or electoral dishonesty. A comparison of the inflated list with that of the previous year showed that every one of the 310 names improperly inserted had been approved by Judge Deroche at the revision of Dec. 3, 1906, and finally certified to by him Feb. 5, 1907. Mr. Ostrom explained that this revision completed in February last, had left about 363 names in the manhood franchise part of the list.

No election had been held on this list and he inserted the 310 unauthorized names from it in the list for 1907, adding the 66 names in the assessment roll. He said further that, as the list was to be finally revised in in the presence of representatives of both parties before the county judge, he thought it better to have it printed as near complete as possible; that it would entail less work and less printing to strike off a few not entitled to vote than to virtually reproduce the manhood franchise part by making large additions.

As to the copying of names from the voters' list to the assessment roll, Mr. Ostrom said it was for convenience in reference to the coming revision. In support of his plea of innocent intent, he pointed out that all the names improperly entered on the list printed and exposed in June last were certified to by the judge for the previous year's list in February of this year.

RAISULI'S DIPLOMACY.

Refuses to Treat With Sultan and Demands That Britain Negotiate.

Tangier, Aug. 2.—The Government troops under command of Caid Bouchta have renewed operations against the lawless tribes. They surprised the village of Alkala, inhabited by Raisuli supporters, at daybreak and set it on fire. A brief fight ensued, in which many were killed and a large number of prisoners fell into Bouchta's hands.

The commander of the troops offered a big reward to any one delivering over to him Raisuli, dead or alive.

Raisuli's letter to the Sultan's Minister threatening to kill Caid MacLean and an urgent message sent to Bouchta, acquainting him with the threat and advising suspension of hostilities, have so far had no deterrent effect on the commander of the Moroccan troops.

It is reported that Raisuli has formulated demands, indirectly involving the dilemma of either destroying the Government's authority or sacrificing Caid MacLean's life.

Raisuli refuses to treat with the Sultan, and insists that Great Britain compel the Moorish Government to accede to his terms and guarantee their execution.

The terms include a demand on the part of Raisuli that he be made governor of the northern tribes. Failing this, he threatens that he will kill Caid MacLean.

The Moors feel that the acceptance of the bandit's terms will lead to anarchy, thus affording an excuse for interference by France.

FLEET WILL SAIL.

U. S. to Send Battleships to American Waters on the Pacific.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 2.—Secretary Loeb said yesterday that there had been no change in the plans to send the Atlantic battleship fleet to the Pacific Ocean, and the necessary preparations for the trip are now being made in the navy. Upon this completion and approval by the President, the voyage will be begun when the President gives the word.

This is the first direct announcement that the fleet is going to the Pacific.

No protest has been received at Washington from the Japanese Government against the plan to send the Atlantic battleship fleet to the Pacific and none is expected.

The fleet is to remain in American waters.

Liberal's Easy Win.

London, Aug. 2.—The bye-election for a member of Parliament for the northwest division of Staffordshire has resulted in the return of Albert Stanley, Liberal candidate, with the substantial majority of 2,340 over the Unionist candidate.

The result indicates that the Unionists have little prospects of success at the polls except in constituencies where special conditions have caused a split in the Liberal Labor elements.

A King Unseated.

Paris, Aug. 2.—It is officially announced that by the direction of the French Government the French resident of Annam has interned Thanh-Thai, King of Annam, in his palace at Hue, and established a regency consisting of the Council of Ministers, under the presidency of the Minister of Justice.

The mental condition of the King has been steadily growing worse since last autumn.

SOLDIERS SUMMONED.

Irish Police Rebel at Belfast and Threaten Appeal to Force.

Belfast, Aug. 2.—Constable Barrett, a leader of the disaffection among the police, has been dismissed and five other constables who have taken a prominent part in the agitation have been suspended.

At Dublin yesterday the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, the Earl of Aberdeen, replying to a petition from members of the Belfast constabulary, declared that is was impossible for the Government to entertain a petition presented under such circumstances, and the last paragraph of which was threatening in character.

Troops continue to pour into the city, emphasizing that the authorities are fully determined to grapple promptly with rioting by the striking dock laborers, or the mutinous police, who are demanding more pay because of the extra work the strike entails.

The fourth battalion of the Middlesex Regiment, bringing a Maxim gun, and a section of the Essex Regiment, arrived yesterday, making the military strength about 7,000 men.

This imposing display of force is producing a reassuring effect on the general public, which early in the trouble was somewhat panic-stricken.

The police have issued a manifesto declaring their intention to ignore the inspector-general and communicate directly with Mr. Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland.

Constabulary Mutiny.

London, Aug. 2.—Defending the action of the Government in rushing 7,000 troops into Belfast for strike duty, Chief Secretary for Ireland Birrell declared in the House of Commons yesterday that the mutinous action of a portion of the constabulary and the continuation of the strike necessitated decided measures.

Mr. Birrell added there was good reason to believe that the strike would soon end.

HOT SHOT FROM JUDGE.

Says Sir Adolphe Caron Should Forfeit Insigna of Royal Favor.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 2.—"I haven't the slightest hesitation in saying that Sir Adolphe Caron should have the insignia of royal favor which has been conferred upon him, stripped from him for writing such a letter," said Justice Clement to the jury in the libel suit by former Commissioner of Lands and Works R. F. Green, against The Vancouver World, the end of which came half an hour later in a verdict for the newspaper.

The letter the court referred to was one of the features of the case, written by Sir Adolphe Caron from Ottawa in January, 1905, on the completion of the Telqua Valley leases, and addressed to Green, then B. C. Minister of Mines.

"That matter now being closed," said the letter, "I wish to say that if you care about some friend of yours, and selected by you, joining our syndicate, we should be only too glad to have him as one of us."

Green, while declining himself to accept the offer, named Neil McKay, then private secretary to Premier McBride, later deputy commissioner of lands and works, now Conservative M.P.P. for Kaslo, Green's former constituency.

"That letter reached Green," continued the court, "and I say Green at once should have resented the dishonor done him in making him such a proposition. Either Green must be a most innocent man, unable to see a proposition of that sort was dishonorable, or else he must have thought that in the long run possibly some benefit would accrue to him from it."

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Score Further Rise at Chicago.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—London cables are steady at 12c to 13c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10c per lb

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—Receipts of live stock since Tuesday, at the city market, as reported by the railways, were 94 carloads, composed of 1,235 cattle, 1209 hogs, 1935 sheep and lambs, with 250 calves.

Exporters.

No straight loads of export cattle of good quality were on sale. A few light export lots, averaging 1200 lbs. each, such as are being bought for the Montreal market, sold around $4.90 to $5 per cwt., and one lot of eight steers, 1280 lbs. each, brought $5.30. Export bulls sold from $4 to $4.60. Export cows, $3.75 to $4.

Butchers.

Loads of best butchers sold at $4.50 to $4.80 per cwt.; fair to good, $4.10 to $4.30; medium, $3.60 to $4; common, $3.25 to $3.75; cows, $2.50 to $3.50; canners, $1.50 to $2.25.

Feeders and Stockers.

Trade in feeders and stockers was dull, with very light demand. Common, light stockers are quoted at $2.50 to $3; light feeders, 900 to 900 lbs., at $3.25 to $3.75 per cwt.

Veal Calves.

Trade in veal calves was about steady. Too many, sour milk, or separator milk, and grassy calves are being marketed. Calf-buyers are making strong discrimination against grass-fed calves, and they are selling relatively low. Calves of the right kind are scarce, and sell quickly at good prices. Prices ranged from $3 to $6.50 per cwt., but they had to be top-notchers to bring the latter price.

Milch Cows.

Trade in milkers and springers was more active to-day, as buyers from Montreal were on hand, buying many of the best that had been gathered together during the week, as will be seen by sales given below. Prices ranged from $30 to $60 each, three cows bringing the latter price, and one cow at $65

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep were steady at Tuesday's prices, while lambs were a little firmer, with a fairly strong market. There were many good lambs on sale. Export ewes $4.50; export bucks, $3.50 to $3.75; cull sheep $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; choice yearling butcher sheep $5 to $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

The run was not heavy. Mr. Harris reports prices steady at $6.90 for selects and $6.65 for lights and fats.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 150 head; steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; active and 25c higher; $5 to $8.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 3500 head; slow and 10c to 15c lower; heavy, $6.45 to $6.55; mixed, $6.35 to $6.65; Yorkers, $6.65 to $6.70; pigs, $6.70 to $4.80; roughs, $5.40 to $5.60; dairies, $6.25 to $6.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 400 head; active and steady; lambs, $6 to $8; yearlings, $6.50 to $6.75; wethers, $5.75 to $6; ewes, $4.50 to $5.25; sheep, mixed, $3.50 to $5.25.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Beeves — Receipts, 1783. No trading. Feeling steady for prime and choice steers; weak for others. Dressed beef steady at 8¼c to 12c per pound for common to prime native sides. No later cables. Exports today, 3850 quarters.

Calves—Receipts, 261. Prime and choice veals steady; others weak; grassers and buttermilks not wanted. No sales of grassers or buttermilks; common to choice veals at $5 to $8.75 per 100 lbs.; culls and mixed calves at $4; city-dressed veals, slow at 8c to 12½c per lb.; a few choice carcasses at 13c; country-dressed, dull at 7c to 11½c; dressed grassers and buttermilks are lower at 5c to 7½c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 3165, sheep, steady; lambs, 15c to 25c higher; all sold. Sheep sold at $3.75 to $5; lambs at $7.25 to $8.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 4000; market for best strong to 10 cents higher; others steady; common to prime steers, $4.50 to $7.50; cows, $3 to $5; heifers, $3 to $5.50; bulls, $2.80 to $5; calves, $3 to $7.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 18,000; market 10c lower; good to prime heavy, $6.15 to $6.30; medium to good heavy, $6.05 to $6.15; butchers' weights, $6.30 to $6.35; good to prime mixed, $6.05 to $6.20; light mixed, $6.20 to $6.25; packers, $5.50 to $6; pigs, $5.60 to $6.50; selected, $6.45 to $6.55; bulk of sales, $6.05 to $6.25.

Sheep—Receipts, 12,000; market steady, but slow; sheep $3.75 to $6.50; yearlings, $5.80 to $6.50; lambs, $5 to $7.50.

Free Farm Land.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—A number of townships in the vicinity of Dryden, in the Lake of the Woods district, have been opened by the Ontario Government as free grant lands.

When Hon. Frank Cochrane and Hon. Dr. Reaume visited this district recently, one of the complaints of the settlers was the price of 50 cents an acre put on the land by the Government, while other lands just as desirable from an agricultural standpoint, or more so, have been given to the settlers free. This worked to the disadvantage of the locality, retarding settlement.

Two Hours Ahead.

Rimouski Wharf, Que., Aug. 2.—The Empress of Ireland, arrived here at 9.40 a.m., making the voyage from Liverpool to this port in the record time of five days and 16 hours, eclipsing the run of her sister ship, the Empress of Britain, of two weeks ago, by exactly two hours.

London, Ont., Aug. 2.—Miss Campbell, a young woman residing on the Durham road, about eight miles from here, fell into a cistern Wednesday night and was drowned.

"Imported" Does Not Mean "Better"

There is a fascination about the word "imported," that some men can't resist.

They think that because a beer is imported, it must be good.

In the case of lager, "imported" simply means "higher prices," on account of the excessive duty.

Because—you can get a purer, finer lager that is brewed right here in Canada, for about HALF what imported beers cost.

This Canadian brew—on which there is no duty to pay—is

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 20, Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states, "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called varicose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

The Cow Question Again

Some of the village residents are anxious to know why the Warkworth pathmaster does not attend to his business and look after the wandering cows on the streets. They complain that some of the citizens of the village had to dispose of their favourite cow a few years ago because the law was strictly enforced, but the present pathmaster is very remiss in his duty. Almost everyone would be pleased to have the cattle law observed; it is much more pleasant for pedestrians.—Warkworth Journal.

A GREAT LACROSSE GAME FOR MONDAY AFTERNOON

Those who witness the lacrosse game on Monday afternoon between the Young Torontos and the Peterborough team, in the the intermediate C. L. A. series will see a great game. The Young Torontos defeated the locals in their opening game of the season in Toronto, so that the Peterborough boys will put up a great fight to turn the tables on them.

The Young Torontos will have to win to tie with Beaverton for the district championship. Should Beaverton be thrown out Peterborough has to win to be a tie with the other two teams in the district.

The game will, therefore, be the best seen here this season and should attract a bumper crowd. The locals have lately been demonstrating that they can play the game with the best of them and there is no doubt that if the Young Torontos intend to win they will have to extend themselves considerably. The contest, which begins on the Riverside Park at 3.30 on Monday afternoon, for the above reasons promises to be the fastest seen here this season.

POWERS DIVIDED.

Germany and United States Allied Against Britain at The Hague.

The Hague, Aug. 2.—The American and British delegations are exchanging views on their respective projected propositions relating to periodical meetings of the conference, and they may agree to combine the two propositions.

The general attitude of Great Britain, which in all the propositions regarding naval warfare, particularly seemed only preoccupied in protecting herself against Germany, is causing many comments. On the question of contraband Great Britain, therefore, found herself supported only by small countries. Germany and the United States again were in line against Great Britain on this subject, strengthening the belief that their co-operation in the conference may lead to more important matters outside the conference.

STRATHS AND LILIES PLAY BALL TO-MORROW

Meet at the Riverside Park in the Afternoon.

All arrangements have been completed for the game at the Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon, between the Strathconas and the Lilies and no doubt a large crowd will witness this contest, as both teams have been practising hard and are pretty evenly matched.

The intermediate Strathconas were defeated in the final game for the championship and are determined to pull out a victory to-morrow, while the Lilies are quite confident of being able to take the Strathconas' measure.

The Strathconas will pick their team from the following men: — Wilson, Quinlan, Parnell, Belleghem, Allison, Weeatherstone, Kindred, Curtis, Gucrin, Tobin, Regan, King, Dobson.

The team to represent the Lilies, will probably be: Pilling, Hillier, Price, Crowe, Dusty, Foley, Simmons, Dusty, Ryan.

Residents of Janetville excited over Experience of Mrs. W. Baxter, Chased by a Bear

Janetville Has A Sensation; The Women Are Terrified

Experience of Mrs. Baxter, Who Was Chased by a Bear, Has Had a Disturbing Effect Upon the Women of the Village.

SHE TELLS OF THE EPISODE

Villagers Organized Searching Party for the Bear But Were Unsuccessful — Berry-pickers Now Go Armed.

Special Staff Correspondent.

Janetville, August 2, — Nestled away in the extreme northern end of Manvers township, near the border line of Victoria county, and in the centre of a splendid farming community, Janetville is the last place one would expect to see stirred by a sensation. But it is stirred today. It's all over a black bear, too. It is pretty safe to say that there was little sleep in the village last night, and to-day the industries of the village are quiet. There are not many industries, it is true, two blacksmith shops and a cheese factory constituting the industrial life of Janetville; but there was very little work done in them to-day. The entire population of the village, in the early hours of the day, was gathered on the street corner — there is but one—discussing the incident of the preceding day, when Mrs. William Baxter, one of the best known residents of the village, while picking berries, was attacked by a bear, and escaped only after the greatest run of her life.

The scene of the exciting episode, was in the great "Mash Swamp," a low-lying section covering thousands of acres, and extending through three townships, Cartwright, Manvers and Ops. It is one of the best raspberry grounds in Ontario, and is visited every year about this season, by hundreds of persons from the neighbouring towns and villages.

Mrs. Baxter and the Bear

It was while Mrs. Baxter was in the berry ground yesterday afternoon that she met with the experience which aroused the excitement in the village, and which has wrought the inhabitants to a pitch never before experienced in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant.

The story, as told by Mrs. Baxter herself, is graphic in the extreme. That she was confronted and chased by a bear, no one who hears her story can doubt. She has not yet recovered from the fright which she received; her whole nervous system is upset, and at the bare mention of the experience through which she passed, the whole affair seems to rise before her in review, and she tells again of her emotions as she saw the huge brute rise upon his hind legs, and with forepaws extended to take her form into his deadly embrace, start after her. It was an experience which she does not care to have repeated, and, indeed, if the efforts of the villagers are successful, it will not be repeated, either in her case, or in that of any of the residents of that community.

Mrs. Baxter's Story

Mrs. Baxter, in a few words, told the Examiner to-day of the episode. She was, she said, picking berries in the swamp with several other women from the village. She became separated from the others, however, during the afternoon, and when, about five o'clock she decided to start for home, since she had her pail filled, she was out of sight of any of the party, and, in fact, had gotten considerably farther into the interior of the swamp than she thought, and farther than she had ever gone before.

She was making her way to the edge of the wood, carrying the 12-quart pail of berries, when she noticed a black object in front. At first she did not know what it was, but she was not left long in doubt. As soon as the bear saw the woman he made for her at once. Mrs. Baxter dropped her berries, and picked up a stick to defend herself. This

DECADENCE OF THE CHEESE INDUSTRY; DO PRESENT CONDITIONS INDICATE IT?

Is the dairy industry in its decadence? It would, perhaps, be too strong a statement to say that it is, but there are evidences which point to the fact that in some sections farmers are not working that branch as strongly as they did last year. In Victoria county, a drive through a portion of which was taken yesterday, several cheese factories in some of the best sections were closed; had not, in fact, been operated at all this season.

The tendency to go into other branches of farming more than into dairying is not necessarily due to the belief that the others are more profitable, but is accounted for largely by the difficulty in securing farm help. The care of cattle requires considerable extra help, and in many cases it is impossible to get the necessary help, and the inevitable result follows: the farmers have to get rid of the cows and drop back again to grain-growing and other branches of farming which require less labour, even conscious of the fact that they are losing money. The problem of help on the farm is one that is becoming increasingly difficult of solution.

NEW GRAIN LINE TO BE COMPLETED IN 2 YEARS FROM DATE

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Says Peterborough Will be Connected With Georgian Bay by C. P. R. inside of Two Years.

PLEASED WITH THE WORK

Good Progress Being Made on New Line, but There Are Many Difficulties to be Overcome in Construction.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, August 3.—In two years the new grain line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Victoria Harbour, on the Georgian Bay, to Peterborough, will be in operation. This is the statement made to-day by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R., on his return from an inspection of the lines in Ontario, just completed by him.

He spent considerable time while in that province going over with his engineers, the route of that line, and he expressed himself as satisfied with the progress made with the surveys and with the line as laid out. Substantial progress, he stated, had already been made, but, since the construction of this line would involve a great deal of difficult engineering and structural work in order to ensure a road with the proper grade, it will be impossible to secure its completion next year. It would, however, be ready for operation in two years.

Speaking generally of the outlook in Ontario, Sir Thomas said that so far as his company was concerned, it was very bright. The lines, he said, were in excellent condition, and he was well satisfied with the latest additions that had been made to the system—the line from Guelph to Goderich and the Toronto-Sudbury line—which had been completed as far as the centre of Muskoka.

No further plans of development in that province had been under consideration.

BARNARDO HOME GIRL SUES

On Her Behalf Supt. Owen Enters Suit Against Seneca Township Farmer for Damages

Hamilton, Aug. 2nd.—At the instigation of Superintendent Owen of the Barnardo Home, Toronto, the law firm of Washington and Martin this morning issued a writ against William Moore of Seneca township, claiming $1,000 damages for seduction. The real plaintiff in the case is Lillian Boothe, a sixteen-year-old girl. She was sent by the Barnardo Home authorities to work for a farmer named McAdams in Seneca township. Recently she became a mother, and she claims that Moore, who is a step-son of Adams, is the father of her child.

Acting Mayor Leary Speaks

The question as to whether the assistants to the city officials should be paid and employed by the latter is now one of the chief matter before the minds of the City Fathers. It was brought up some time ago in the council by Ald. Elliott and Bradburn who expressed their opinions that the city should employ all its servants and pay them their wages.

Ald. Leary, who is Deputy Mayor for the month of August, was seen by the Examiner this morning in connection with the proposition and stated that he was decidedly in favour of the City Council fixing the salaries of the assistants as well as the officials. But he believed the officials should be allowed to name those who act as their helpers and to have full control over them including their appointment and dismissal.

"The city," he said, "should see that the assistants received the salaries they are entitled to for the work they do in the employ of the city." He believed, however, that the officials were the men to choose their own helpers as they are more competent to know their abilities and to discharge them when they prove inefficient.

In connection with the city treasurers department Deputy Mayor Leary stated that there the work is divided between the City and Water Commissioners. If the City Council had the privilege of chosing the assistants, there would be a possibility of that body, he said, employing persons not suitable to the Water Commissioners. The only way to get over that difficulty in Ald. Leary's opinion, was to give the treasurer the privilege of employing his own helpers.

THE CITY TRUST COMMISSIONERS ENDORSE ACTION OF CITY COUNCIL; HILLIARD FARM HOUSE FOR SHELTER

The City Trust Commissioners met yesterday afternoon in Chairman W. H. Moore's office to consider the question of ratifying the action taken by the Council last Wednesday night in connection with the Hilliard building and property as a location for the Shelter of the Children's Aid Society. There were present, besides the chairman, Messrs. Richard Hall, Jno. Carnegie, Jas. Stevenson, and Secretary-Treasurer A. Stevenson.

The Commissioners substantially endorsed the decision arrived at by the Council, but will embody in the lease, to be offered the Children's Aid Society, some changes which they consider are necessary. These refer principally as to how the building shall be maintained, and to what shall be done with the fixtures if the city should require to take back the building and property at any time after the five years have passed. In this respect, the Trust Commissioners have fixed ideas which were not considered by the Council, and the Society will be required to conform to them before the lease will be granted.

A difficulty arises from the fact that the present occupant of half of the building, who has a lease until April next, refuses to give his apartment up until the expiration of the lease. It may be, therefore, that, if the Society accepts the terms of the Commissioners, it will have to be content with one half of the building for their Shelter until April next.

A $30,000,000 FINE

John D. Rockefeller and Standard Oil Company Said to Have Been Fined This Amount by Judge Landis--- A Famous Suit

Special to J. E. Heintz & Co.

New York, Aug. 3.—At noon to-day it was reported that Judge Landis of the supreme court had given his decision in the now famous Standard Oil case, and that Rockefeller had been subjected to a fine of $30,000,000, the largest fine ever imposed in any court on earth.

This report is circulated by the large news bureaus, but as yet lacks official confirmation. It is believed in conservative quarters to be correct.

PUBLIC WILL KNOW RESULTS OF TESTS OF MILK SUPPLY

Report of Analyist at Toronto will be made Public in a few Days—No Legal Objection

DR. BINGHAM'S OPINION

He Believed That Dairymen Whose Milk was Below Standard Had Ground for an Action for Damages

The publication of the tests made of the milk supplied by various dealers, which has been under consideration for some time, will in all probability be made next week. The inspector is at present preparing the report and putting it in shape for publication.

At the meeting of the Board of Health held last night the question of publishing the report of the analysis of the different samples submitted for tests was discussed, and on a point raised by Dr. Bingham, as to the responsibility of the board of publishing the results of the tests, it was decided to hold their publication until legal advice had been secured.

Mr. Bingham thought that in case the analysis showed that any particular sample of milk was not up to the required standard, and the business of the dairyman supplying that particular sample should suffer by reason of the publication of the report on his milk, the board might be liable for an action for damages to ther person affected.

Legal advice was secured on this particular point this morning, and it was learned that so long as the report of the analysis showed that the milk was not up to the standard required, the Board of Health was not running any risk of being made the defendants in an action, if the report was published.

The chairman takes the ground, too, that if there are dairymen who are supplying milk of a poor quality the public has a right to know it. As a result of this decision the report will be published in a day or two.

South Ops Farm Residence Burned By Engine Spark

Mrs. P. J. Murphy, While Visiting Here, Learns of Destruction of Her Home by Fire.

LITTLE OF CONTENTS SAVED

Word was received this morning by Mr. T. J. Begley to the effect that the home of his father-in-law, Mr. P. J. Murphy, in South Ops, about two miles from Lindsay, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, the fire originating from a spark from the engine on the C. P.R. express. The track passes quite close to the house, and since there was a high wind blowing at the time it is supposed that the spark was blown up to the roof and fanned into a flame. The house, which was a substantial brick structure, was soon a mass of flames, and, in spite of the heroic work of the neighbours, who quickly gathered on the scene, it was completely destroyed. Only a small portion of the furniture was saved. Fortunately, the new barn erected only a short time ago, was on the side of the house from which the wind was blowing, and it was not destroyed. There is some insurance on both the house and its contents, but not enough to cover the loss.

Mrs. Murphy and her daughter, Julia, were in the city at the time, visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. T. J. Begley. They left, accompanied by Mr. Begley, at noon for Lindsay.

WEDDING BELLS.

BAXTER-WELDY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 56 Waverly street, Rochester, at five o'clock on Tuesday, July 9th, when Miss Minnie F. Baxter, of Peterborough, Ont., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Geo. D. Weldy, of Mount Morris, U. S. Rev. E. P. Hubble, of the Methodist Episcopalian church, officiated. After their return from a short wedding trip the happy couple will reside at 56 Waverly street where the groom has a handsome home.

FANCIFUL "MINNIE" WROTE JUDGE WELLER IN BEHALF OF ONE OF PICK-POCKETS

Rumours as to the Exact Contents of the Letter—Opinion That a Warning Was Given His Honour About the Sentence of One of the Pick-pockets.

CHIEF IS NON-COMMITTAL

A rumour was in circulation last night that just prior to the conclusion of the pickpocket case, His honour Judge Weller had received a threatening letter from some lady who signed herself as "Minnie." His Honour is out of the city and nothing could be gained from that source. Accordingly Chief Rogers was approached and was asked if he had heard anything about the matter. The Chief admitted that there had been a letter but absolutely refused to give it for publication, or disclose its contents.

However, Dame Rumour was busy in the meantime and it was generally said that the writer had referred to one of the four men who seemingly had caught the idle fancy of the mysterious "Minnie." She considered that he was too good looking to be guilty of such a sneak-thief's crime, as picking a man's pocket. Of course in Judge Weller's long career a letter of this nature must be but one of very many, as anonymous writers whose feelings and sympathy sometimes prompt them to write in behalf of the accused. Especially is this the case with the gentler sex, whose tenderer nature is influenced by men of good appearance on whom the law has its clutches.

Not only did the fanciful "Minnie" think that her favourite was not guilty but it is stated that she said she knew who the real pick-pocket was, but it is not known whether she made any direct reference. She also warned the judge to be careful in passing sentence upon her protege and to be sure that he had weighed all the evidence. The letter would be of interest if the exact copy could be procured just as an example of what an impulsive young lady will do on the spur of the moment.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS ON POLICE FORCE

Unique Record of P. C. Robert Adams, Who Celebrates To-day

Twenty-five years ago to-day P. C. Robert Adams joined the police force of the town of Peterborough. To-day he therefore celebrates, in a quiet way, a quarter of a century honourable connection with one of the best police forces in the smaller cities of the Province, and is yet as hale and hearty as ever, and capable of giving many more years of faithful service in the employ of the city.

When Mr. Adams joined the force 25 years ago the police court office was in the old opera house block and about the place where Callahan's pool rooms were located. The cells were then in the cellar of the old firehall, which had to be reached by going down the rear stairs with the offenders of the law.

P. C. Adams was on the force when the present station and court were erected, and that is about 20 years ago. Mr. Adams to-day received many congratulations from friends, some of which included a cigar in addition to a hearty handshake.

AN EXCURSION FROM COBOURG

Two Methodist Sunday Schools Here Next Week

The Cobourg Sentenil-Star says:—Owing to the Grand Trunk being unable to furnish an excursion train yesterday, the Sunday School picnic of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches had to be postponed until next Thursday, August 8th, when no doubt Jackson Park will be teh recreation ground for a big crowd from Cobourg. A featue of the day will be a baseball match between teams from the two Sunday Schools.

ANOTHER IMMIGRANT TRAIN THIS MORNING

The Number of Arrivals Keep Steadily Increasing

The immigrants from the Old Country are still arriving at Canadian ports and are scattering throughout the Dominion. To-day a train passed through the city with a large number who have just come out. They were perhaps a little above the average in appearance and should make good. The heavy influx of foreigners has not made any appreciable effect on the country, but even now with work so much more plentiful than in winter there are many men walking the streets. The question being asked is, what will become of them in the winter? This may be a source for the charitable people to exert themselves. However winter is not here and it is hoped that the worst fears will not be realized.

Miss Ada Whalley and Miss Ethel Gardner of Toronto are visiting Miss Ada Graham, East City.

ROAD REPAIR HAS BEEN COMMENCED ON GEORGE ST.

A Movement That Should be Pursued by The City

A noticeable improvement has been made to the side of George street, west of the car tracks, between King street, and the C. P. R. station. It has been gravelled, rolled and graded, the street roller having been used to good effect and it is a pity that the east side is not treated in the same way, and also the space between the rails, which the railway company is supposed to see to. It is hoped that this work will be continued and the streets put in a good condition and kept that way by frequent repairs.

There's Danger in Every Cold

Once you come to realising the danger of neglecting coughs and colds you will not run the risk of depending on any cough mixture the druggist may choose to hand you out and will insist on getting a medicine with a reputation such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR SHELTER

A special meeting of the Children's Aid Society is called for Monday afternoon in the City Council Chamber, to discuss the situation, represented by the necessity of procuring a new Shelter. The secretary of the society has issued notices, calling the meeting, and in them, he says:

You will have seen by the newspapers that your officers have been for the past few weeks in constant communication with the city council and the city trust regarding the acquirement by lease at a rental of one dollar a year, of the old Hilliard house and grounds, for a shelter. This will entail an expenditure by the society of probably $1000. It is necessary for the Children's Aid Society to meet and concur, if so disposed. You are therefore requested to attend at the above hour. This is the most important venture in the recent history of the society, one that requires the full concurrence and support of a representative meeting of the members. You are earnestly requested to attend.

ONTARIO'S IRON AGE

Tea-fight and church picnic orators are fond of declaring Ontario the "banner province" of the Dominion. There is a little worm and a little wearing metagnor and flap-doodleism in this; but, in many respects, it is very amply justified. Possibly there is no country in the world where better social conditions obtain; where there is a better condition of popular morals; where the people are of higher average intelligence, education and doulture; where there is a more equable distribution of wealth; where the people are more generally in comfortable material circumstances; where law-abiding citizenship more generally exists; where, in a word, approximately ideal conditions obtain.

But we have other things to be proud of besides those mentioned, and the distinction of being, perhaps, the only state in the world where there is no direct popular taxation for state purposes, is worth mentioning. We have some reason to be proud of our timber resources, though we are guilty of cutting into them too freely and carelessly. But we can very justly pride ourselves upon having the finest, and among the finest, deposits in the world of three chief, economic minerals. In the matter of nickel, we occupy an unchallenged position of superiority and, indeed, of supremacy. The same practically applies to our practically inexhaustible silver resources. But that is not all. A party of hard-headed, practical and constitutionally sceptical United States mineralogists are at present visiting Northern Ontario to see, not with the eyes of the speculator and company-promoter, but with the cold-blood eye of scientific exactitude, the truth about our mineral resources. Copper Cliff and Cobalt opened their eyes; but they found that we have something else in the way of minerals besides silver-veneered nickel. This consists of valuable iron ranges in the neighbourhood of Hutton. The Moose Mountain iron range, too, is a wonder, the ore running as high as 62 per cent., with little sulphur and phosphorus, and virtually inexhaustible in quantity. Some idea of the value of this mine can be formed from the statement that the mine was purchased for $25,000, and recently the owners declined a syndicate offer of several millions. The visiting mineralogists were, as well they might be, greatly impressed. The fact of their being impressed is of small moment, but the great thing is that Ontario has something new, and big, an dtypical in the matter of iron deposits, to impress them. The Moose Mountain iron range ore can be shipped to Lake Huron by a shorter rail haul than the ore of the famous Minnesota mines, and with no Soo locks between the mines and the lower lake ports. Our iron deposits are something to be glad of. Iron and steel are the industrial backbone of a country. The golden aged may pass away, but the iron age goes on forever.

There is danger even in concrete work. In Philadelphia a concrete building collapsed, with fatal effects to many persons. The cause, as investigation showed, was that unskilled labourers were employed, where skilled mechanics were called for. Concrete work looks easy, but, like almost everything else, it must be done right. The laws of mechanics must be observed to insure safe and satisfactory results. The temptation to save expense by employing cheap labour is great, but, where this saving is effected at the expense of strength and at the cost of human life, somebody is criminal.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Abdul Aziz, Sultan of Morocco, may be Abdul Azizn't, "if he don't watch out."

If a quorum were something like measles — catching — the members of the Board of Health might contract the malady.

The local optionists of Brantford, in the face of favourable public opinion, will not bring on a local option contest in January. They consider the Whitney Government's three-fifths handicap too much to contend with.

The middle of the Atlantic Ocean would be an ideal climate. In England they are complaining of too much sunless weather. Some crank scientists claim that there is too much sunshine in the Canadian West. The middle of the Atlantic might strike a happy average.

Toronto is growing satisfactorily. From Jan. 1st, to July 31st, 1907, the building permits totalled $10,239,330. For the same period last year, the figures were $7,391,305, representing an increase of nearly three millions. It goes without saying that head expansion of the citizens progresses pari passu.

The spirit of the spoils system seems to have eaten deep into the bones of the officials of the Whitney Government. When the officers took the convicted counterfeiters from Lindsay, to the Kingston penitentiary, on arrival at the railway station, they could not find a Conservative cab. In default of finding a cabman of the orthodox party complexion, the officers, with their prisoners, walked a distance of three miles to the penitentiary. The prisoners, at least, thought this was going, or, rather, walking, too far, in deference to the demands of party loyalty.

STUFFING VOTERS' LIST

The story of the stuffing of the Trenton voters' list is one that will set people thinking.

Briefly stated, it appears that when the list was returned by the assessor on Sept. 13 and corrected by the Court of Revision on Nov. 14 of last year, and confirmed by the Judge, it contained the names of only 66 manhood franchise voters. When on June 25, it was hung up for public inspection 310 names had been added. The alterations in the assessment roll were, it seems, made as late as July 10-12 of this year.

Who made these illegal additions?

Peter Pomeroy, a man who had occasionally done clerical work, and who copied last year's assessment roll, says he wrote in the names.

Why did he do so?

Pomeroy says that after the copying of the roll as from the assessor's blotter Mr. G. W. Ostrom "asked me to write some names in the assessment roll, as he wanted it all in my handwriting. The list he furnished me was the latest voters' list, with the names to be written ticked off in red ink."

George Simpson, assessor, says Ostrom wanted him to sign a declaration in the usual form to the effect that the names written in the assessment roll by Pomeroy, were correct. He refused, and told Pomeroy he had done an illegal act. Simpson says he had been previously "asked to write write additional names in the assessment roll, but refused."

Who is this G. W. Ostrom?

He is a Tory ex-M.P.P. for West Hastings. He was elected to the Legislature on Dec. 28, 1886, defeating E. G. Ellis by 119 votes. He is now town clerk of Trenton.

How could it be possible for such a false list to pass the officials entrusted with its preparation?

G. W. Ostrom, clerk, made a statutory declaration certifying that "Parts I and III of the within list constitute a correct list of 1907 of all persons appearing by the last revised assessment roll of the said municipality to be entitled to vote at elections for members of the Legislative assembly." Part III. really contains 310 names taken not from the assessment roll, but added by a clerk at Mr. Ostrom's order from a former voters' list after the confirmation of the roll by the Judge.

How does he try to excuse that act?

He says the added names were taken from a voters' list revised in 1906, and as the list was to be finally revised, in the presence of both parties, by the County Judge, he wished to have it as complete as possible. It appears, however, that the assessment on which that list was founded was made in the summer of 1905. At the revision on Dec. 3, the Liberals were negligent, and Mr. Morrison, the Tory M.P.P., attended and had 110 names added to the manhood franchise list. While many of these names, now carried forward, may be legally qualified to vote, a list so prepared is a very different matter from a legal one, all names to be placed on which are carefully scrutinized. Moreover, the addition of the names in this way is the very thing the law aims at preventing, as Mr. Ostrom ought to have known.

The illegal and surreptitious addition of 310 names to a voters' list already completed by the Court of Revision and confirmed by the Judge, as provided by law, is a remarkable thing. Done by a sworn official and ex-M.P.P. and covered over by a statutory declaration which is false, it can be excused on no reasonable. It reverses the legal order of preparing the list, and instead of requiring qualification to be proved to get on the list, compels evidence to be furnished to put unqualified names off.

Why should Trenton's voters' list have been stuffed?—Hamilton Times.

WILL IT PAY?

Canadian Courier.

There is one insidious phrase which which indicates the weakness of modern society, both as regards business and politics; that phrase is, "Will it pay?" It is becoming entirely too common. It is relegating the other phrase, "Is it right?" to the limbo of forgotten things.

For example, the newspapers in Toronto, are publishing daily reports of horse races in the United States, though they know by so doing they are encouraging the betting fever. The worst offender is a paper controlled mainly by members who stand high in the Methodist church. Since that paper began to get out a sporting extra late in the afternoon the profits of the bookmakers have materially increased. Errand boys, mechanics, factory girls, barbers, bartenders and even higher grades of society are making daily bets on these horse races. The Attorney-General of the province, closed all betting houses devoted to this business some years ago. It must amuse him mightily to see a Methodist newspaper playing the game of the professional gambler. Of course, the question the publisher asked himself was, "Will it pay?" It does pay; his paper has a greater circulation, and his advertising patronage has increased.

This incident is not singular, and the newspaper concerned will forgive us for taking it as an example. In the business world there are many similar cases. The manufacturer could make his wares much better and truer; but he uses cheap materials and an extra coat of paint. If he is advised to make his goods more honest, he answers, "Will it pay?" The workman is careless about learning his trade thoroughly; he hurries the work and covers up the defects he should have had the patience to eradicate. If you protest, he answers, "Will it pay?" The mining broker puts bad prospects on the market and sells worthless shares to the public at "25 cents to-day; to be advanced to 50 cents on the 15th." Some person protests and tells him he should wait until he is absolutely sure of his mine, but he answers "Will it pay?"

In no walk of life does this line of reasoning obtain more potently than in politics. A politician seeking for votes delivers a stirring appeal to the preudjices of his hearers. You protest and tell him that he should be fair, and state both sides of the case, and he comes back with the question, "Will it pay?" Tell a Minister of Justice that he should ignore petitions for the release of prisoners justly condemned, and he asks, "Will it pay?" Tell a party manager that some of his men are using corrupt methods, and advise him to get rid of them, and he cries, "Will it pay?" Tell the Cabinet Minister that he should not appoint party hacks, without the necessary qualifications, to positions in the civil service, and he repeats, "Will it pay?"

If we could only exchange the question, "Is it right and just?" for "Will it pay?" the world would be a much better place for all of us. It would solve many of the difficulties which present themselves daily to those engaged in government, social reform, religious work, and even in commerce and industry.

ALL WEAK WOMEN

Will Find New Health and Strength in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The weak woman can depend upon it that her blood is out of order, for if her blood is rich and pure she will be strong, healthy and happy. Bad blood is the cause of nearly all the aches and pains from which women suffer. Keep the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and suffering will not exist. Mrs. James R. Kratz, of Jordan Station, Ont., has tested the value of these pills and strongly advises other women to use them. She says: "For more than a year I was a great sufferer from weakness. I was completely worn out. I lost flesh; could not rest at night, and in the morning I arose more tired than on going to bed. I had taken doctors treatment with no benefit. I grew worse day by day and was beginning to look upon my case as hopeless when I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To my great joy before I had taken the pills a month they began to help and by the time I had taken eight boxes every symptom of my trouble had left me and I was once more enjoying perfect health and strength. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a veritable life saver and never lose a chance to recommend them to my friends."

The success of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is due to their power to make new, rich red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives nourishment to all the organs of the body, thus curing anaemia, indigestion, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache and backache, and all the secret ailments of girlhood and womanhood. The pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had direct at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

OMEMEE WANTS THE STEAMERS

New Beginning to Appreciate the Advantages a Line of Steamers Would Confer

Omemee has just begun to appreciate the great advantage that a station at Sturgeon street crossing and a line of steamers running to and from her ports would mean to the town. The electric light will also be a great improvement to the place. Omemee has an influential Board of Trade and a first-class council who are putting forth every effort for the furthering of the town's interests.—Mirror.

ELEGANCE AT MODERATE COST

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fil's the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realize the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

Young Ladies' Success In Operating Cheese Factory

Misses Morrison, of the Newry Cheese Factory, are Making Cheese Which Wins Prizes at the Fair.

UP AT SIX IN MORNING

Young ladies operating a cheese factory is the latest novelty. They're making a success of it, too. In the last issue of the Canadian Dairymen the story of their success is told. That publication says: The Newry Cheese Factory is probably the best known of the factories visited, for two reasons—First, that it is worked by two ladies, the Misses Morrison, with the aid of a young man, and second, that the consistent prize-winning of these ladies has made Newry famous. They are the present holders of the Toronto Industrial Fair trophy, which they have won twice, and, should they win it again, they will then hold it permanently. While the making room is not modern, the equipment is up to date, and a model of cleanliness. The curing room is a spacious, modern one. The milk commences to come in about 6 o'clock in the morning, and the daily make is 16 cheese. It can be seen that these ladies have no slenderness, and deserve the great measure of success they have attained.

Sixteen-Year-Old Manager Of Electric Light Plant

Millbrook Will Have Youthful Head to its New Plant—The Youngest Superintendent in Canada.

HAS A GOOD CONTRACT

Mr John Davidson, general manager of the Smith's Falls Electric Power Company, has just launched an enterprise of his own, which lies in it the promise of success. He has purchased the electric light plant at Millbrook, a small town of something less than 2000 population, between Peterborough and Port Hope, and enters into possession to-day. In connection with the deal, he secured an exclusive franchise from the town of lighting the streets at $700 a year, and exemption from taxation. His son, Jas Davidson, left last night for Millbrook, and will be in charge of the plant. He is probably the youngest superintendent of an electric lighting plant in Canada, being only 16 years old, but he is his father's son, has grown up in the lighting station at Sly's, and knows pretty much what there is to know about the business. Mr. Roy Barnes accompanied him from here, and will be his agristant. — Rideau Record, Smith's Falls.

THE MILLINEUM; IS IT COMING? DOCTORS, BUT NO BILLS

London, August 1.—In convention at Exeter, the British Medical Association has almost unanimously supported a contention advanced by a member that sick persons should be treated at public expense.

The points were made that the physician's work is now done under conditions involving the petty worries of fee collection, the stress of competitive commercialism and the swindling of the profession by hospitals, friendly societies, and similar organizations.

The increasing number of cases treated at voluntary or State aid institutions was a phase of the movement.

ONLY CONSERVATIVE CABS FOR THEM

Burke and Logie Had to Walk in Kingston Because There Were No Conservative Cabmen

Kingston, Ont., August 1. — The Whig, in relating the following, calls it "peanut politics":

"The officers in charge of the Lindsay counterfeiters marched the prisoners from the station through the city to an hotel. The orders communicated to all the counties alike were to hire as cabmen only Messrs. McFadden and Coyle. Neither of those prized Conservatives were present, and Cabman Boyd was told that he would not do. How proud Attorney-General Foy will be of such a grand exhibition of the spoils system! He should also feel like complimenting the officers in charge upon their impressive humanity — taking the prisoners to a first-class hotel for a meal, but exposing them on the main streets during a long walk."

A Message for Pile Sufferers

FROM TWO LADIES WHO HAVE BEEN CURED OF EXTREMELY TORTURING CASES OF PILES BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mrs. Geo. H. Simser, Grant, Russell county, Ont., writes:—"Eleven years ago I began to suffer from piles, and as they caused keen distress, and became worse, I doctored for them, but with little or no avail. They were bleeding, itching and protruding, and oh! the torture suffered at times can never be described. It was with suffering that the bowels moved, and, as nothing brought relief, I could only endure the misery with an aching heart and without hope of cure.

"Finally a lady friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment curing piles, and to my surprise I felt relief at once on using this ointment; the little tumors soon disappeared, the ulcers healed, and the bowels became regular. This was five years ago, and I have never been troubled with this terrible ailment since, a thousand thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mrs. Capt. Clinanamith, Salvation Army, Essex, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Two years ago I was taken with a severe attack of protruding piles, and became so bad that I had to keep my bed, and could lie in no position except on my stomach. Doctors could give me no help, and the various oils and ointments used proved of no avail.

"One Saturday night, when I was suffering untold agony, my husband went to the drug store, for a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I had heard of as a cure for piles. Although I had almost given up hope, to the wonder of those around me, I was able to be up and on my feet by Monday, and have had no difficulty from piles since. As a treatment for all kinds of sores and burns, Dr. Chase's Ointment works like magic."

To persons who have given up looking for a cure of piles or hemorrhoids, this letter should bring new hope. There is, we believe, no more effective treatment for piles than Dr. [illegible]'s Ointment, 60 cents a box at [illegible] Johnson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MINING OFFICIALS ASTONISHED

Prominent Government Mining Men Greatly Surprised When They Saw Rich Veins

MILLIONS IN THE EARTH

Temagami, Aug. 2nd.—Nine days have nearly passed since the government officials and the American Institute of Mining Engineers left Toronto on their inspection of the New Ontario mines, and almost three of these were spent in the vicinity of Cobalt, during which time the engineers received a big surprise as regards the real wealth of Cobalt mines. Many of the members of the institute came to the Cobalt district decidedly prejudiced against it. They frankly admit that many of the reports sent out regarding this fraud, or at least a freak camp where camp seemed to be so extravagant that they believed the whole thing was a fraud, or at least a freak camp where a very few rich deposits might be found but that there must be now great extent to the ore bodies. They came prepared to politely ridicule the many claims of great richness but they had heard, but they had not been in camp two days before they admitted that Cobalt is one of the very great silver camps of the world. They were admitted underground to some of the large mines and there saw thousands of tons of ore blocked out, ore running from 3,000 to 8,000 ounces to the ton. These ore bodies were not found in small pockets, or mere rich deposits but were in great veins 4 to 30 inches wide, and nobody has ascertained how deep. Literally millions of dollars worth of silver were shown in the great wide veins of the La Rose, Jacobs, Town Site, Trethewey, Coniagas and other mines, where they were admired underground. Rich veins of almost pure native silver were shown on the Niplissing, O'Brien, Foster, Lawson, Temiskaming and Hudson Bay, and other properties. The extent and value of the ore bodies were proven beyond the shadow of a doubt and a far greater extent than these mining engineers had deemed to be possible.

Comment Was Favourable

Most favourable comment has been excited by the frankness of the mine owners in admitting these mining experts into the secrets of their properties. It has demonstrated the great value of the Cobalt mines. These experts of the mining world could not have been fooled for a single moment. Nothing but the policy of frankness pursued by the mine owners would have satisfied them. If the actual value of these mines did not exist, not for a moment would these mining engineers, the would these mining engineers, the great er majority of them coming from an alien country, lend any endorsement to the claims of actual wealth in immense quantities in Cobalt if this wealth did not exist. They are cold-blooded, practical men, and the astonishment that they expressed over the richness and extent of the ore bodies in New Ontario can be taken as the strongest assurance possible to be obtained of the actual wealth of the Cobalt mines.

MRS. "ORCHARD" TO SUE

His Ontario Wife Said to be Trying to Upset a Sale of Property Made

Boise, Idaho, August 1.—A sensational story has been published here to the effect that Mrs. Albert E. Horsley, of Northumberland County, Ontario, has arranged to bring suit against Dan Cardoner, to whom her husband sold his interest in the Hercules mine, the claim being that the deed was invalid, as it did not bear her signature.

Added to this story is one to the effect that Peter Breen has secured an interview with Orchard, and has induced him to agree to repudiate his confession, and that Orchard has employed the firm of Breen and Root to defend him when his trial comes [illegible]

CENTREVILLE SOCIAL A SUCCESS

Delightful Programme Given by Ladies' Aid Society

Centreville, Aug. 2nd—The ice cream social held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church at Centreville on Thursday evening August 1st, was a decided success. An excellent programme was given consisting of addresses by Rev. Mr. Emberson, of Bensfort, Rev Mr. Motherell, of Fraserville, Rev. Dr. Marsh, Springville; recitation by Miss Maggie Berry; solo bby Miss Amy Donaldson, duet by Misses Eva and Fanny Porter; quartette by Misses Donaldson and Berry and Messrs. Lang and Isbister.

LINDSAY PEOPLE AT THE REGATTA

Owners of Fast Racing Crafts Will be at Stony Lake With Their Boats

Lindsay yachtsmen will be present in full force at the Stony Lake regatta on Civic Holiday, Aug. 12th. During this year a number of new power launches have appeared on the Sturgeon waters, and the majority of these will be at the regatta, and will participate in the races for that class of craft. Mr. George Wilson, of the Lindsay Post has a racing launch that can make the best of them go some, and he will be at the regatta with his new racer.

Orillia people will hold a regatta on August 14th, two days after that at Stony Lake, and a number of those owning boats will take it in this year. With the opening of the Kirkfield Lift Lock this is made possible.

In Warm Weather

Vinol is as delicious as a fresh orange, and as soothing as can be to the weak, irritable stomach. It coaxes back lost appetite, improves digestion and creates strength throughout the whole system. We strongly recommend Vinol to all who are weak and run-down from any cause,—particularly to delicate women and children, old people and for those who have pulmonary troubles. Money back if you try Vinol and are not satisfied.

Council Will Deal With Laying Of Harvey St. Sewer

Board of Health Decided to Leave the Matter With the Council — Members in Favour of Publication of Milk Tests.

AN INFORMAL MEETING

A number of the members of the Board of Health met last night to to consider several topics that have been pending for some time and which required some immediate action. Those present were, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, Mr. Eyres, Sanitary Inspector Ball, Mayor McWilliams and Mr. Frank Adams. A quorum not being complete the discussion was formal but apparently served the purpose as well as if it had been carried on in the regular manner.

The first matter that was brought up was the laying of a sewer on Harvey street north. Mr. Eyres introduced the subject saying that a petition had been signed and a majority of one was in favour of the sewer. Following this a counter-petition was circulated and Mrs. Ellis, a resident on that street, who had signed the other also placed her name in favour of the second. It turned out that there was the same number for and against the digging of the sewer and Mrs. Ellis' name was the deciding one. The result was that the counter-petition carried the greater number of signatures.

Mr. Eyres continuing, said, that this lady was now in favour of the original petition.

Sanitary Inspector Ball stated that he had paid a visit to Harvey street and found that the majority of the people were in favour of the sewer but they had signed two papers and and were unwilling to sign any more. They, however, wanted to see the sewer laid on the street. Mr. Eyres summing up the affair said that it resolved itself into whether the sewer should be built as a sanitary necessity or whether for the sake of one name that turned the tables when the sewer was in favour the people who now desired to have it should be deprived of it. It was decided to let the Council deal with it at the next meeting and order its construction as a public improvement.

Mr. Eyres also told Mr. Ball of a little matter in the south end that requires attention. It seems that some man is keeping a couple of animals which the neighbours say are a nuisance. The Inspector said he would give it his attention.

Milk Test

The next subject was the publication of the result of the analysis of samples of milk obtained from the vendors in the city. The general opinion was that the tests should be printed. Mr. Eyres believed that it would be a stimulus to the milkmen to keep their milk up to the standard and would be a discouragement to those who are accustomed to putting any kind of extras into the milk. He said that when one of the milkmen heard that tests were going to be published he said he would go out of business and since then he has done so. It was also pointed out that the people would know what they were receiving for their money. All the members of the Board were in favour of putting the result of the test in print, but felt that the City Solicitor, Mr. E. H. D. Hall should be first consulted as to the advisability of that step.

The Sanitary Inspector was asked to prepare the statement of the tests and get it ready for publication.

The Heavy Production In England Makes Low Prices

One Reason for the Present Depression in the Canadian Cheese Market—English Prices.

PROSPECTS ARE NOT ROSY

Not only has the price of cheese taken a drop, but the production has shown a decrease as well, and it is not expected that during the balance of the summer the output of the factories will equal that of the earlier part of the season.

It is reported that in England cheese is selling at a price representing 13 cents a pound in Canadian currency, and that the demand is much smaller than it has been in other years at this date. The reason attributed for the small price and the decreased demand is the fact that this year has been a particularly good one for the dairy industry in England; the pastures have been exceptionally good and the result is that the factories are turning out more cheese than ever before.

So long as these conditions prevail there is no probability of a higher price for cheese in Canada, and the probabilities are that instead of going higher it will be lower before the season is much older.

The next meeting of the Victoria Board will be held on Monday morning, and should the price paid there be lower than at Peterborough at the last meeting, the salesmen will be dissatisfied, doubtless, since they expect that the same price should be paid on that board as prevails on the Peterborough board regardless of the market conditions in the interval.

Landing A Large Bass Upset Canoe Occupant

Kilkenny Guests Hold Contest in Catching Fish—"Mayflower" is Greatly Missed—Boschink for Fast Boats.

PHILIPPINE ISLAND VISITOR

Examiner Special.

Kilkenny, Stoney Lake, Aug. 1st.—A large party of guests from Kilkenny and Glenwood chartered the steam launch Bobs on Tuesday for a trip to Jack's Creek. An enjoyable day was spent and some good fishing reported. One of the party was upset from his boat while landing a large bass. Mr. Rowe of Hamilton secured first prize for largest catch of fish and Mrs. Fyler of Toronto the first in bridge whist.

The Boschink section has been noted for its fleet of beautiful launches. The speed mania has struck here now and an "eighteen miles per hour" boat is to be added to the fleet by Mr. Dodsworth this week. This will be the fastest craft on the lakes.

The trim and well known launch Mayflower which has sailed the lakes for the past eleven summers is very much missed by the cottagers this season. Mr. Donell sold her to a party at Parry Sound in the early part of the season, and has received word that she is giving good satisfaction on the Georgian Bay waters. Mr. Donell intends purchasing a new boat next season.

Mr. Robert Donell is spending a short vacation at Kilkenny.

Messrs. J. C. and C. E. Hyde of Montreal arrived at Kilkenny on Tuesday for a week's stay.

The following guests are registered Kilkenny:—Dr Rolph, Dr Lillian Langstaff, and Miss Carroll Langstaff, of Richmond Hill; Mrs Eleanor Langstaff, Philippine Islands; Mr and Mrs Fyler, Miss Fyler, Miss McCaffrey, and Mr. Grenfell Fisher, Toronto; Mr Louis Potvin, Miss Edna Ackerman, Peterborough; Messer J C and C E Hyde, Montreal.

The need of a regular pianiste at the nightly hops at Juniper Island is keenly felt again this season, and it is hoped the cottagers association will take some action in the matter.

MR. STENTON WILL NOT VACATE HILLIARD RESIDENCE JUST NOW

Mr. Charles Stenton called at this office last evening and asked that a statement which Mr. J. H. Burnham had made at the meeting of the Whole Council on Wednesday night be contradicted. It was in connection with house on the Hilliard property in the northern part of the city, which it is believed will be reented to the Children's Aid Society at a nominal rental. Mr. Stenton said that he had taken considerable trouble to clean up the property which he had found in a bad condition, the land being overrun with weeds. He had spent many hours looking after his garden which was now very promising and would certainly not vacate the house at present. He has a year's lease of the place which will not expire until next April.

Mr. Stenton also said that Mr. Burnham had no authority to tell the council that he was willing to leave the premises at any time. He had visited the house and had spoken with Mrs. Stenton, but she had not said anything about giving permission to Mr. Burnham to say that they were willing to vacate the house. In conclusion Mr. Stenton again said that he would not leave at present, but he intimated that he might, if it was desired, before his lease was terminated.

LIMIT TO RIGHTS OF GOVERNMENT

According to a Citizen the 66 Feet Extends Only Part Way Down River

In connection with the statement made in these columns a short time ago, that the Government owned 66 feet from the high water mark along the Otonabee river, a gentleman stated yesterday that this only holds good as far as Crawford's Grove. The Government he stated only reserved the right as far as the grove and any person damaging trees, etc., below that line is liable to make good the loss to the party who is in possession of the land at that particular spot.

The informant of the Examiner stated he recollected some years ago that lumbermen in attaching logs to trees along the bank below Crawford's Grove pulled them out by the roots and had to pay a fine of $25 for each tree to the owner of the property.

AMUSING INCIDENT ON GEORGE STREET

Rural Gentlemen Fell on Basket of Eggs That Was Carried by His Wife

NEW NAME FOR STREET CAR

A farmer, his wife, son and daughter arrived in the city this morning from somewhere, and, evidently for the first time in many years, set their optics on this busy burg. The woman carried a basket of eggs, the son a pail of cherries, and the daughter a basket of butter. Accompanied by the "governor," they walked about the streets in apparent total ignorance of the nature of their surroundings, and from their puzzled countenances should certainly be catalogued among the collections of rarities.

Not satisfied to dispose of their produce on the market, they went about the streets looking for purchasers among the merchants. The husband and father might easily have been dressed in a suit worn by Adam if one did not know that there was a little orange in the style. The necktie he wore had a great desire to climb around his ears. He bumped into almost every individual he happened to meet, and would generally make an investigation by the time the other party to the collision was half a block away. He spent considerable time in remonstrating with his better half for having brought him to the city on such a busy day.

Arriving at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, he attempted to conduct the party across the street, but was told up by a street car, which he termed "an infernal engine." He gave the order to "keep back" to the remainder of the party, and, in doing so himself, fell over the basket of eggs and the pail of cherries.

If the old gentleman had been painted by an artist he could not have presented a more striking appearance. The yolks of the eggs became mingled with his whiskers, and united with the dust in discolouring his clothing.

The quartette shortly afterwards gathered up the fragments and were soon seen wending their way up George street, behind a team of horses that looked as ancient as the clothing of the farmer.

SUMMER VISITORS ENTERTAINED

Popular Buffalo Lady and Gentlemen Who Visit at South Beach, Hostess and Host at Delightful Function

A LANTERN FEAST

The following interesting description is taken from a recent issue of the Buffalo News. Mr. and Mrs. Justice, of Buffalo, are well known to many of our citizens, especially those summering at our back lakes, where they have been coming regularly every year to spend their summer vacation.

Mrs. William G. Justice gave a charming garden party last evening at her residence on Norwood avenue, inviting a small company of here own friends to a "Freast of the Lanterns," arranged for the pleasure of her little grandson, Edwin, who, in the family reading of Blanche Elizabeth (Wade's "Stained Glass Lady" has been substituted by his fond family for "Little Boy" Miss Wade herself was the guest of honour and her mother, another charming author, Mrs. Elizabeth Flint Wade, was among the guests.

The garden is in the height of its flowerage just now and the trees which form a perfect arcade were hung with ropes of cherry and apple blossoms, quaint and musical windbells and a hundred Japanese lanterns, many of them very beautiful.

The guests were invited for dinner at 6 o'clock, at which time they witnessed the arrival in the garden of the royal procession as described in the book.

Mrs. Justice herself all in white with powdered hair rode in a jinrikisha as the grandmother with the silver crown holding little golden-haired Dudley Fleischmann and drawn by Mr. Justice masquerading as Giovanni, the gardener. Mrs. Simon Fleischmann, as the Stained Glass Lady, in a kimono coloured in keeping with the lady in the book. Edwin Fleischmann, as "Little Boy" and his brother, Justice, in kimonos and carrying Japanese parasols, completed the little procession. There was the moon flower to inspect, the pepper beds to visit, and all the ceremonies performed in the original story, and afterward the dinner was served at a long table spread under the trees of 14 covers. The table was exquisitely decorated, with vases of pink sweet peas all down the centre, tiny fans at the places, with a bunch of sweet peas tied with white ribbon at Miss Wade's place and the idea were in the form of Japanese dignitaries in yellow, white and pink with tiny silver and gold Japanese umbrellas spread over their head.

At 8 o'clock the borders and beds of the garden were all aglow with Josh sticks to simulate fireflies, the lanterns were lighted and there were illuminations from Japanese fire crackers.

The guests included several Hamourg friends, who are staying a day or two with Mrs. Justice, also Mrs. Fleischmann and her children, who will return to Hamburg to-morrow.

An Innovation Introduced In The Banking Business

Sub-Agencies of Financial Institutions Being Established in the Small Villages—A Great Convenience.

"BANKING DAY" NOW

A new era in banking has dawned. Instead of having the farmers go to the banks, the latter are now coming to the farmers. In Janetville, on a building recently erected as a meeting place for the Canadian Foresters' local court, and known, by reason of this fact, as "The Foresters' Hall," there is this sign, "The Farmers' Bank of Canada. Open every Thursday." In addition to having one day a week as a "market day," the farmers now have another special day to remember. It is "banking day," and that they appreciate the advantage conferred upon them by opening a bank at their door is said to be evidenced by the numbers who advantage of the one day in the week on which the financial institution is open, to visit the village and transact their business. The branch from which this sub-agency and four or five others in the little settlements in the community is conducted is at Bethany, which is looked upon as the location of the head office.

Janetville people, as well as those living in the other villages similarly honoured, feel pardonably proud of the distinction of being the banking centre for that portion of Manvers.

BIRTH

LEE—On Saturday, July 27th, 1907, the wife of Mr. Bruce Lee, Simcoe St., Peterborough, of a son.

AN OLD IDEA

Shown to Be Absolutely False By Modern Science

People used to think that baldness was one of those things which are handed down from generation to generation, from father to son—just like a family heirloom.

Science has shown the falseness of this belief by proving that baldness itself is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion of which only Herpicide can effectually rid the scalp.

Washing only cleans the scalp of dandruff, it doesn't kill the germ.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Newbro's Herpicide will do this in every case. It is also a delightful hair dressing.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c also Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. Mollermid & Jury, Spain stamps for sample to the Herpicide Agents.

AMERICAN ANGLERS IN CANADA

Gradually Learning That Best Fishing is in This Region

The Toronto World says: A jovial bunch of a dozen anglers from Pennsylvania are quartered at the Iroquois. They hail from Greensburg and Latrobe, and their destination is Kawartha Lakes district.

"We are getting the habit more and more on our side of the line of striking for somewhere in Ontario for our fishing jaunts," one of the party remarked last night. "A few years ago we used to think we didn't need to go away from home, but we're becoming educated to the fact that the real angler's paradise is farther up north."

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 20 Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states, "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called varicose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

Lightning Starts Blaze At Juniper Island Store

Struck the Coal Oil Barrel, Setting it on Fire---Barrel Was Upset, Spilling Quantity of Oil.

EXTINGUISHED BY WATER

Lightning almost caused a disastrous fire at Stony Lake the other day during a severe electric storm, by striking the rear of the Juniper Island store belonging to Mr. T. W. Robinson. The fluid confined its attentions to the coal oil barrel at the back of the building which was completely upset. The oil began to run out and what was more dangerous it caught fire.

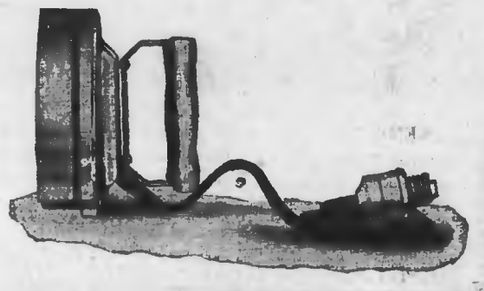
For a few moments the whole store was in danger of being burned. Mr. Clayton Chown, who is employed there, came to the rescue and with a few pails of water the fire was extinguished. The lightning struck about three o'clock in the afternoon during one of the most severe storms of the season at the lake.

Clothes Iron Invented By Two Peterborough Men

Remarkable Piece of Mechanism in One of the Most Improved Irons---Messrs. Collier and Cunningham the Inventors---To be Known as the "Automatic" Iron

Peterborough must be congratulated upon having manufactured within its limits the only electric clothes iron on the market that has an automatic cut-off within the iron itself. But what is more worthy of congratulation, and more remarkable is the fact that Peterborough also is the home of the inventors of the electrical apparatus of the interior, and of the cut-off, which gives the instrument its prominence.

The iron is now manufactured in the Pre-payment Electric Meter Company's works, and the inventors are Messrs. W. H. Collier, B.A., M. E.E., the manager of that company, and A. B. Cunningham, its mechanical superintendent. The two men have been working jointly on the scheme for several months, and now they have an iron on the market, which is superior to any manufactured, either in the United States or the Dominion of Canada.



The "Automatic" Iron as it appears when the switch cuts off the current

An Examiner representative visited the place of manufacture of the irons yesterday, and was surprised to see the simplicity of the device, and the perfect manner in which it operates. There are some new features in its construction thought out by the local inventors, which makes it one of the most unique and best irons for sale to-day on the American continent.

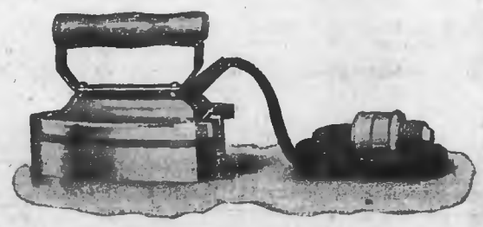
The feature of the instrument is, of course, the automatic cut-off, which is an altogether new idea and placed in such a position that the current can be cut off in a moment, simply by placing the iron on its heel. It is placed in the iron, too, in accordance with Underwriters' rules, and is an improvement on the electric iron, invaluable to the house wife who is seeking for the most modern appliances.

On account of this automatic switch the current is on only when the iron is in actual use, thus saving a large amount of energy. It is well known that in ironing at least half the time is occupied in arranging the material, so that a great economy of energy is effected. This saving in itself, it is estimated, would soon equal the price of the iron.

A Cool Handle

The iron is so constructed as to prevent radiation of heat upwards. A thick abestos pad is placed just above the heating element, and below the top casing. This keeps the handle perfectly cool at all times, and permits the hand coming into contact with the upper metal portion, without fear of burns. This conservation of the heat produces by actual experiment, great economy in the energy as the iron, though cut off from the current, will remain so hot on its base as to forbid touching it an hour afterwards.

Most of the irons now on the market are so delicately constructed, that in order to produce a "rapid" iron, the danger point is reached, and if the iron is left alone for ten minutes with the current on, a burn out will probably result. With the "Automatic" iron this cannot possibly happen. Even if the current were not cut off by the little switch which presses against a spring in the interior, there is practically no chance of it burning out. Proof of this was shown the Examiner by an experiment now in progress. On July 23rd, an iron was placed under current and has remained in that position ever since, day and night. The heat, of course, is tremendous, yet the coils of wire in the interior are yet intact, and the iron is perfect. A test of the automatic cut-out is now in progress at the works, and has already operated over 20,000 times without deterioration.



The "Automatic" Iron with current on, ready for use

A Severe Test

Such severe tests proved beyond a doubt the great durability of the iron, and also indicates its vast superiority over other like articles on the market to-day.

The inventors have certainly produced an article which will command respect in Canada, as it has already done in Peterborough, where a number of the housewives have tested, in a practical manner the iron, and who declare it to be the best they have seen.

The manufacturers are making two kinds — the aluminum and the nickel plated. The former sells at $5 retail, and the latter at $6. By dropping a card to the company the work of the improved iron will be at any time demonstrated.

Grand Trunk Engine Struck Runaway Truck

An Exciting Experience Related by Passengers on the Train From Port Hope Last Night.

ONE MAN WAS INJURED

Passengers who came to the city on the 5.33 G.T.R. train last night from Port Hope tell of an exciting experience which occurred at the Port Hope station, just prior to the departure of the train. Several of the passengers and others were placed in a perilous position for a time.

One of the employees of Mr. James Haw was bringing a truck down the platform when he lost control of it and it went out on the track. The 4.20 train pulled in before the truck could be removed and hurled it across the platform. It struck another truck which was loaded with trunks, etc., near the men's waiting room and the contents were scattered in all directions.

Mr. W. S. Bletcher was at the door and was struck by a flying trunk and knocked on the waiting room floor. Another gentleman who was waiting for the train was pinned to the wall by a trunk and rendered unconscious for some time.

Those who witnessed the mixup are confident that the engineer saw the truck and could have easily brought his train to a standstill and thus avoided an accident which might have proved very serious.

JANETVILLE HAS SENSATION; THE WOMEN ARE TERRIFIED

weapon, however was not sufficient, and the woman decided that her best means of escape, lay in her splinting abilities; and, abandoning her berries, she took to her heels, and ran as rapidly as she could to the edge of the wood, and home. The bear, however, was apparently bent on her destruction, for he followed, and she states it was a race for life. The faster she ran, it seemed the faster the bear came after her, and fear lending strength to her limbs, she covered the space between the place where she first met the bear and the edge of the woods.

Mrs. Baxter, however, did not slacken her speed, but ran to the nearest building, which happened to be the blacksmith shop of Mr. William Arthurs, where, in an exhausted and half fainting condition, she told her story. Knowing that Mrs. Baxter was safe, the next thought of those to whom that lady told her story was of the other women and children still in the woods, and, as they supposed, liable to be attacked by the apparently infuriated bear. There were, probably, fifty other women, many of them with young children, still in the swamp, and Mr. Arthurs, with one or two men who happened to be near at hand, started off in the direction of the swamp to warn, and, if necessary, protect the women still there. They were blissfully unconscious of the narrow escape from a tragedy which had transpired within a short distance of them, for none of them had seen Mrs. Baxter's flight, nor the bear. It needed, however, no second invitation for them to decide that home was the best place for them, and the woods was soon cleared of all the Janetville women.

A Search Party

The next question confronting the men of the village was the discovery and despaton of the animal, which had so nearly effected a tragedy. A party was quickly formed, headed by Mr. Wm. Arthurs, Mr. J. R. Burns, Mr. George Hutchinson, Mr. Richard Granby and Rev. Mr. McConnell of Rothwell, who was visiting at the home of Mr. Arthurs, and, armed with rifles and shotguns, and accompanied by a number of dogs, they started off for the woods on a hunt for the bear. They found evidences of the presence of the animal Mrs. Baxter described. The pail, in which the berries had been, was empty, and the pail was battered. The bear had evidently come back for the berries, and the footmarks were plainly seen. The trail was lost, however, and, after spending two hours scouring the woods, the party returned, driven home by darkness.

Bright and early this morning the search was resumed, though, and a new party was organized. Many of the youths of the village and all the shotguns and rifles that could be gathered together were in the woods all day, and they were accompanied by a large number of women, too, the experiences of Mrs. Baxter the day before apparently not having frightened them.

One of Colony

The affair was the sole topic of conversation in the village to-day, one resident suffering from a painful attack of neuralgia, forgetting his pain long enough to give the newspaper man a graphic account of the affair from his standpoint, and stating his belief that there was a colony of bears living in the woods, and that it would be dangerous to enter the swamp unless one was well armed.

Mrs. Baxter's experience recalls the last time a similar one which another resident of the village met with about two years ago in about the same place. The bear, however, was killed, but it is thought that the one which made its appearance yesterday is a member of the same colony.

No occurrence in years has so stirred the village as the exciting experience of Mrs. Baxter, who is the heroine to-day. She has been living in the village for a number of years, and is known by everyone living in this community. She is a comparatively young woman, and her husband is engaged in farming operations.

SATURDAY MARKET MUCH IMPROVED

An Increase in the Number of Buyers and Sellers

The market this morning was like its old-time self, with a fairly large crowd of buyers and sellers. The truth is that the former were in the majority, and there was soon a dearth of many products. Berries were bought for whatever price was asked, and the farmers, with pails of berries, soon disposed of them. New potatoes of excellent quality sold at 25 cents a peck. Butter was 23 and 24 cents, and eggs 17 cents. There was a rather plentiful supply of fowl.

WILD FIRE RAGES IN NORTHERN TOWN

Town of North Bay Falls Victim to the Flames.

FORTY-MILE GALE BLOWING

Foolhardy Man and Pickpocket Placed Under Arrest—Business Section Almost Entirely Wiped Out—Loss Heavy and Insurance Light—Fire Laddies Worked Heroically Under Difficulties.

North Bay, Aug. 3.—While a fierce gale of wind was raging yesterday, fire broke out at 10.30 in the tailor shop of T. H. Campbell, the second store of the Gilmour Block, and, spreading with rapidity, was not checked until 1 o'clock, when the Gilmour and Richardson blocks were smoldering heaps of debris.

The fire originated from gasoline used in cleaning garments, and Campbell was seriously burned.

The firemen worked heroically in blinding smoke and blistering heat, and succeeded in preventing the flames from spreading to the Purvis Block, adjoining. They were helped by a firewall, which checked the attack of the flames.

J. W. Richardson's large brick block, occupied by him entirely as a hardware store, was the first building to go.

Of the Gilmour Block, adjoining, only a few bricks remain of the front.

The rapid spread of the flames prevented much salvage, and the stocks in the burned stores are almost a total loss.

One man was arrested for stealing while the fire was in progress, and another intoxicated individual was placed in the lock-up for safe keeping, having been rescued by the firemen for attempting to climb along a narrow ledge on the second storey.

The Richardson Block was valued at $6,000, with $4,000 insurance, divided between the Liverpool, London & Globe, Union and North British & Mercantile companies.

Richardson's hardware stock was valued at $25,000; insurance $14,300, divided between Guardian, Canadian, Sun, Commercial Union, Norwich Union, Home, Montreal, Canada, North British & Mercantile and Atlas companies. The stock is a total loss.

The Gilmour Block, owned by J. E. Gilmour, was valued at $6,000; insurance $3,000, in Monarch, London, Mutual and Standard companies; total loss.

T. H. Campbell carried insurance of $700 on household effects. Very little was saved.

J. W. Smith, druggist, carried a stock valued at $3,000; insurance $1,000; part of the stock was saved.

T. H. Mulligan, clothing merchant, had stock valued at $5,000, and insurance of $3,000. Some of the stock was saved.

NAVAL GUN EXPLODED.

Breach Blew Out on French Warship, Killing and Injuring Many.

Toulon, Aug. 3.—Three men were killed and seven others wounded by the explosion of a gun during target practice yesterday on board the French training ship Couronne.

The breach of a 100-millimetre gun was blown off. The recoiling mechanism of the gun failed to work, and the breach was shattered into a thousand pieces.

The chief gunner and two of the gun crew lost their lives. Of the seven men wounded, two are officers.

Minister of Marine Thompson admitted yesterday that some of the large calibre shells used during the recent naval manoeuvres in the Mediterranean had exploded prematurely. He said the reason was that old black powder had been used. The present ammunition will be reloaded with mellinite, which explodes only on concussion.

Diver Suffocates.

Windsor, Aug. 3.—Marshall Townsend, a diver, was suffocated by the parting of his air hose while in twenty feet of water near Algonac yesterday.

There was no warning of the accident, which was only discovered after Townsend had failed to respond to signals and had been hauled to the surface.

His features were horribly distorted, and showed that he must have suffered agonies before losing consciousness.

NO COAL.

Looks as Though Northwest Would Again Suffer Fuel Famine.

Cleveland, Aug. 3.—The northwest will suffer a more severe coal famine during the coming winter than the record-breaking one last year, which cost so many lives, according to local coal shippers.

It is declared that the inability of the railroads to supply the boats with enough coal and the great demand for ore, occasioned by the closing of the strike of ore handlers, will bring about a far-reaching shortage of fuel at the upper lakes. With good fortune the region out beyond the upper lakes will have from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons of coal less than it will require, according to estimates.

Ohio shippers are rushing fuel to the upper lakes ports in every vessel they can charter. Since the opening of navigation shipments to the head of the lakes are considerably greater at this time than a year ago. A prominent mine owner said yesterday:

"There are now 100 big ore carriers up the lakes awaiting cargoes. They cannot get away till the ore reaches the docks, which means a delay of perhaps 10 days. Those huge vessels when they reach Ohio ports with ore are not going to take back coal.

"No vessel owner who is not under contract to carry coal will wait for a coal load, so the northwest probably, even with 12,000,000 tons of coal on the docks by Dec. 1, will experience another fuel famine before next spring."

CROWNED HEADS MEET.

Elaborate Preparations Made to Ensure Safety of Nicholas.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Emperor William of Germany and Emperor Nicholas of Russia are to meet to-day in the Baltic Sea off Swinemunde.

Emperor William will be on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, and the Russian Emperor on his yacht, the Standart.

The German Baltic fleet will be present to give color to the occasion.

The German authorities are taking every precaution to ensure the safety of the Russian Emperor. A large number of marine policemen will be sent to-day from Stettin to Swinemunde to do guard duty on shore.

The Nordeutscher Allegemeine Zeitung publishes a welcome to Emperor Nicholas at the head of its columns yesterday evening. It announces that the Russian sovereign is coming for several days of friendly intercourse with Emperor William. This meeting is pre-eminently personal in character, the paper says, it is dictated by no specific political purpose, and there is therefore no occasion for any one to view it with distrust or suspicion. In conclusion the paper says:

"The German people see in this meeting an expression of the hearty relations existing between the houses of the two rulers and between the two countries, that are bound together by many mutual interests."

PULLS OUT.

Richardson Withdraws From Idaho Case on Account of His Associate.

Denver, Col., Aug. 3.—The News yesterday says that E. F. Richardson of Denver, who was one of W. D. Haywood's counsel at Boise, has withdrawn from any further connection with the defence of officials and others of the Western Federation of Miners.

"The whole sum and substance of the matter is that I cannot endure Darrow's methods," said Richardson. "If I do not sanction Socialism, at least not when it is coupled with trying a legal suit; especially when that case is a murder case and means a man's life."

Money for Mexico.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—It is said that the visit of Eugene C. Creel, Mexican ambassador to the United States, who has gone to Ottawa to discuss with Sir Wilfrid Laurier some developments in connection with the relations of the Dominion and the great Isthmian republic is of great financial significance.

A large amount of Canadian capital has been invested in Mexican enterprises, both electric and mining, and Mr. Creel, who has during the principal part of his life been closely associated with Mexican banks and railways, desires to effect alliances between the banks of which he is the controlling spirit in Mexico, and the principal banking institutions of Canada. The object of this alliance is a freer inflow of capital from Canada to Mexico.

Mr. Creel had conferences with the heads of the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Commerce and other financial institutions.

Pure Food Congress.

Paris, Aug. 3.—When Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States Agricultral Department, returns to Washington he will recommend that the American Government call an international pure food congress to establish international food standards. He says the French Government is favorable to this scheme.

While in France Mr. Wiley has investigated the use of sulphate of copper in peas and other vegetables exported to America.

Furrowed Her Mother.

Kingston, Aug. 3.—About 24 hours after her mother's death, Mrs. Bedborough of Picton, aged 54 years, suddenly expired. One of her sons, Charles, was a crack hockeyist of Picton.

THE "ALL RED" LINE ASSURED

Lord Strathcona Reaches Home and Applauds Project.

BRITAIN PREPARING FOR IT

Canada's High Commissioner Talks on the Dominion's Prosperity—The British Government Is Friendly But Is Not Yet Ready to Adopt the Preference—Favors Halifax Summer and Winter.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—"Naturally I have to keep in daily touch with the Dominion, and I cannot see but what this present prosperity which we are now enjoying all over the country will continue for several years to come. This is, in fact, but a repetition of what took place in the United States after they had recovered from the effects of their civil war," said Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, who reached the city yesterday morning, accompanied by his daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Howard.

Lord Strathcona compared the position of the Liberal party of England under William Ewart Gladstone, with its radically changed policy under Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and stated that, although they had not advanced so far as to adopt the preference policy, they were distinctly friendly to the colonies, and especially to the Dominion of Canada.

This, he thought, was clearly manifest, when they readily adhered to the idea of meeting the representative men of the colonies every four years for the purpose of discussing questions of importance to both the Motherland and the colonies, and also when they consented to the principle of what has been named the "all-red line."

Speaking at length on this matter, Lord Strathcona declared that there was nothing to indicate any change of attitude on the part of the British Ministry since the day they gave their consent to this great project at the recent conference. The British Government, through the Colonial Secretary and other Ministers, accepted this project, which they no doubt realized would be of the greatest possible benefit to the Empire as a whole, and he believed that this adhesion would be carried into practical effect in due season.

He said, however, that the project was a very serious one, and one of supreme importance, consequently nothing could be done in haste and without a mature consideration of every phase of the question. While it was quite true that he had the greatest confidence in the project, it was a mistake to say that he had ever pronounced himself in favor of any particular British port. He, however, always favored Halifax as the Canadian terminal port, and when his lordship was asked if this remark meant all the year round his lordship replied, "Yes, all the year round," and then he went on to calculate the time that a fast railway train should take to make the run from Halifax to Montreal, and arrived at the conclusion that when the track and roadbeds of our railways are put in first-class condition, as they, of course, must be, to admit of such a service, the run will be easily made in from 15 to 16 hours.

"Yes," he added, "the trip across the Atlantic will be made in four days, and from Halifax to the commercial capital of the Dominion in two-thirds of another day, making the route pre-eminently the fastest from the old to the new world."

Outlook Unpromising.

London, Aug. 3—(C.A.P.)—The London Daily Mail says the outlook for the all-red route is unpromising. No definite decision has been reached, but The Mail alleges that all departmental investigations show that economical stability could not be ensured for the scheme. Members of Parliament therefore are beginning to doubt if the scheme can be carried out.

Coal Field Found.

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 3.—The finding of coal in the Eagle Lake country has revived coal excitement here. Some years ago coal was discovered in Shellbrook and also in the Colleston districts. In Colleston loose coal can be shoveled up by the wagon load. No thorough effort has been made to exploit the field, but now that Eagle Lake coal district has been defined steps are being taken to explore Colleston.

Brazil Wants Hotels.

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 3.—A bill granting special privileges to anyone who will put up a hotel in any of the principal towns of Brazil, and then conduct it in accordance with a specified standard, was brought forward in the Chamber of Deputies.

Foreigners In the West.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Yesterday was the national holiday of Iceland, and two thousand natives celebrated at River Park.

A Norwegian vice-consulate is to be established here and also at Regina and Calgary.

Becomes International.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—In order that all metal moulders may become members of the organization, the Iron Moulders' Union of North America, in session here yesterday, changed its name to the International Moulders Union.

Struck by Lightning.

Cayuga, Aug. 3.—George Ferguson of the township of Oneida, had his barns struck by lightning and totally destroyed together with fifty tons of hay and seven loads of wheat in the straw and one horse and all his implements.

Dundas Cadets Win.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—In the cadet series of competitions of the Canadian Military Rifle League, Dundas High School won first place, Guelph Cadet Battalion second, and Ottawa Public School third.

There were twelve entries for this, the first year, of a series for cadets. They shoot on their own ranges.

York Ginger Ale

is made of ideally pure York Springs Water and sugar, with pure vegetable aromatics and Jamaica ginger-root. There is hardly another drink so allaying of thirst; and it is a mild and healthful stimulant.

The quality of the ginger and aromatics used accounts for the spicy pungency, the fragrant aroma, and the delicious flavor of York Ginger Ale. The purity of all the ingredients accounts for the good this beverage does people with weak stomachs.

But all ginger ale doesn't owe its flavor to ginger root. Too much of it gets pungency from cayenne pepper (capsicum).

Too much of it has the harsh, corrosiveness of vitriol, instead of the healthful acidity of lemons.

Some ginger ale is sickly-sweet with saccharine. The use of saccharine is prohibited in those countries where pure-food laws are enforced. Pure sugar, of the best quality, sweetens York Ginger Ale.

You run risks when you drink cayenne-peppered ginger ale—and the more of it you drink, the dryer your throat gets. It burns, not refreshes.

You run risks when you drink ginger ale dosed with glucose or sugar-substitutes,—upsets your digestion, affects your kidneys.

But you run no risk when you drink this pure, honest, wholesome York Ginger Ale, though you pay about the same for it as for spurious ginger ale. Look at the label so you can be sure you get the purest, most aromatic, most refreshing ginger ale made. It is safe to drink, inexpensive to buy, sure to satisfy, when it is labelled

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Two Squadrons Summoned to Action at Morocco.

DEMAND HEAD OF THE PASHA

France and Spain to Co-operate in Humbling the Sultan—A Genuine Holy War Seems Likely to Be Precipitated — M. Clemenceau Says France Will Be Guided by Two Main Considerations.

Paris, Aug. 3.—An extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet to discuss the Moroccan situation was held yesterday afternoon.

Foreign Minister Pichon expressed himself in favor of immediate energetic action by France to secure reparation for the murders of Europeans at Casablanca and to insure the safety of the Europeans still there. In so much as France and Spain are charged, by the Algeciras agreement, to act together in the matter of policing Casablanca, M. Pichon advocated, as a first step, proposing to Spain the immediate landing of French and Spanish troops at the scene of the massacre.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was announced that France and Spain had reached an agreement to concentrate the squadrons on the coast of Morocco.

The French newspapers, excepting the Socialist journals, are unanimous in demanding that the Government take decisive steps to enforce respect for France in Morocco.

Some newspapers express the opinion that Germany will not now stand in the way and think the time is ripe to abandon M. Delcasso's policy of "specific penetration," which they contend has served only to arouse the hatred of the Moors for the French, and march straight to Fez.

La Republique Francaise, says that unless the head of Maalamin Pasha, the governor of Casablanca, is obtained, a genuine holy war is likely to be precipitated, and that this would endanger Algeciras.

Vienna, Aug. 3.—M. Clemenceau, the French Premier, who is taking the cure at Carlsbad, has given out an interview on the Moroccan situation, in which he says that France will be guided by two main considerations in dealing with the situation arising from the Casablanca murders. First, she will, if possible, find a peaceable solution of the difficulty, and, secondly, she will only take action in agreement with the powers who took part in the Algeciras conference.

FOY TO FIGHT.

Will Urge Ontario Government to Meet G.T.R. on 2-Cent Fares.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—The Ontario Government will be represented by counsel before the Supreme Court in the event of the Grand Trunk Railway carrying an appeal to that body against the decision of the Railway Commission of Canada that the Grand Trunk is obliged by the terms of its original charter to run at least one train each way between Toronto and Montreal and carry passengers thereon at the rate of two cents a mile.

Attorney-General Foy yesterday announced this decision. He told a reporter that he would recommend to the Government that counsel be appointed to represent the people of Ontario in opposing the appeal.

He said he was not in a position to say anything further at this time.

Earthquake Prophesied.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 3.—A serious earthquake is prophesied to take place in Uruguay on Aug. 6.

Cause of Unrest.

Chautaugua, N.Y., Aug. 3.—Bishop Henry G. Potter of the Protestant Episcopal Church of New York spoke on "The Church and Social Unrest" here yesterday.

The causes for the social unrest of the country, Bishop Potter said, are popular education, the industrial revolution and extravagance in expenditures.

He declared that there can be no more righteous arraignment of the church to-day than upon its indifference to the physical, mental and social needs of the working people.

The church should be related by profound sympathy to social problems, said Bishop Potter, and it is the duty of the church to create a more benign and fraternal atmosphere through the inspiration of individual members of a Christian ideal of sympathy, honor and social service.

Was Criminally Negligent.

New York, Aug. 3.—A coroner's jury yesterday charged President Ralph Peters and General Superintendent Jno. C. McCrea of the Long Island Railroad with being responsible, through criminal negligence, for the death of Dr. Edward J. Gallagher and Miss Helen Madigan, who were killed by a train at a crossing.

Died at 104.

Detroit, Aug. 3.—At Alpena, Mich., yesterday, Mrs. Mary Kruigilla, aged 104, the oldest woman in that section, died. She was born in Germany. Two daughters and 25 great-grandchildren survive.

Her father lived to be 125.

Stole $600 Worth of Pigeons.

Kingston, Aug. 3.—The pigeon lofts of Dr. J. G. Evans were looted Thursday night and over 100 fancy birds carried off. The loss is over $600. The birds were being made ready for exhibition purposes. The thieves took the best.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE LONDON TRAGEDY.

Coroner's Jury Say Building Collapsed Owing to Alterations Made.

London, Ont., Aug. 3.—That the said Wm. Thomas Tambling came to his death in the City of London in Brewster's store on the 16th day of July, 1907, by the east wall of what was known as the Crystal Hall building falling eastward on the said Brewster store, and destroying it, thus causing the death of said Wm. T. Tambling.

"And we further find from the evidence that the collapse of the said Crystal Hall building was caused by a portion of the middle wall of the ground floor of the said building giving way as a result of certain alterations that had recently been made in the said wall on the floor above."

The above was the verdict rendered by the jury enquiring into the cause of the recent disaster.

Wm. Murray, the architect who had charge of the changes, was recalled and gave evidence as to the strength and carrying power of the pillars which were placed in the building. Mr. Murray figured that it would have taken a weight of 300 tons to break down the columns. They were ten feet four inches long, five inches in diameter and of three quarter inch cast iron metal. They supported the double girders and were tied where they crossed.

IN DEATH STRUGGLE.

Fierce Fighting Between Japanese and Koreans at Seoul.

Seoul, Aug. 3.—Thursday a battalion of Korea soldiers, resenting disbandment, at a given signal attacked three mounted Japanese officers, who had arrived at Little West Gate Barracks to demand the surrender of their munitions.

Two of the Japanese officers escaped on horseback. The third one fell from his horse and escaped afoot when the firing began, and the Koreans sallied out of Little West Gate into the street, but were forced to retire under a Japanese fire from the tower gate.

Gen. Okaziki ordered out reinforcements, and the barracks and adjacent buildings were invested. There was continuous sniping and also fire from the Japanese machine guns.

The entrances to the Japanese section of the city have been under a heavy guard of gendarmes since midnight, and troops and machine guns are stationed in all the streets.

Gen. Okaziki believes that he has ample troops to control the situation. The other three Korean garrisons have not mutinied.

The invested quarter is adjacent to the consulate quarter, which is protected by a strong cordon of Japanese troops.

249 OWNERS.

Shrewd Hotel Man Seeks to Down Local Option With Many Votes.

Neepawa, Man., Aug. 3.—The little local option town of Neepawa is seething with excitement over an attempt at the revision of the voters' list to add 249 names to the list.

D. Hamilton, who has been proprietor of the hotel, presented the names stating that the hotel had been sold to a stock company of 249 persons resident in Winnipeg, who, he claimed, had purchased his hotel and block of land adjoining in shares of $100 each and were entitled to vote upon it. The names were entered, but the matter will be keenly contested before Judge Ryan on Monday.

As there are only 500 voters in Neepawa, the additional names could carry everything.

The temperance people claim that the names consist principally of hotelkeepers and bartenders of Winnipeg. Citizens claim that the temperance question is but a small matter in the issue, and that if these outsiders can vote they can rule the town from Winnipeg, defeat any bylaw, incur any expense, or elect any council or school board they desire.

Awning Saves Life.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—An awning at the Queen's Hotel saved the life of seven-year-old Roddie Buell, son of George M. Buell of Rochester, N.Y., a guest of the Queen's Hotel. The lad in playing at a three-storey window in some way overbalanced and fell out.

The awning, which shades a window on the ground floor broke the fall and the little fellow rolled out upon the soft sod of the hotel lawn unhurt.

Electrocuted.

New York, Aug. 3.—George Wesener, employed by the New York & New Jersey Telephone Co., was instantly killed by electricity at Mineola. Wesener held one end of a measuring tape, made of linen or cotton and coated with a sort of shellac, while his assistant climbed a pole with the other end. There was no metal on the tape. When the man aloft let go the tape it struck a high tension wire.

Housebreakers at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Aug. 3.—A daring case of housebreaking took place here yesterday afternoon, when the residence of Thomas McGill, manager of the McGill Chair Co., was entered during the absence of the family and servants, and considerable jewellery carried off.

Cause of Race Suicide.

Chautauqua, N.Y., Aug. 3.—John Graham Brooks, author-Socialist of Boston, believes the cost of living to be the chief cause of race suicide, according to an address he made at the Chautauqua assembly.

Launch Goes Over Dam.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Aug. 3.—Five persons were drowned Thursday night by the capsizing of a launch in the Des Moines River.

The boat became unmanageable in the strong current, due to the high water, and finally the engine broke down altogether. The boat then drifted over the dam and crashed into the rocks below.

Suicide on Temagami.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Aubrey White, Deputy Minister of Mines, received word yesterday that Wm. H. Moore of Brockport, N.Y., committed suicide a few days ago by shooting himself on island 984 in the Temagami lakes. He had been ill and accompanied by Dr. W. J. Bott had gone north. The body will be sent home.

Worry and Suicides.

Woodstock, Aug. 3.—James Smith committed suicide on the farm of his brother William of Glandford Township, near Ratho, by hanging himself in the barn.

Despondency and worry over his physical condition is believed to be the cause. Smith came home from California a couple of years ago, and has since been in very poor health.

Danced With the King.

Belleville, Aug. 3.— Mrs. Margaret Helferly is dead at the age of 85.

She was for 60 years resident in Belleville, and claimed to have danced with King Edward when he was in Canada 47 years ago.

Judge Clement Resigns.

Windsor, Aug. 3.—Judge Clement has forwarded his resignation to the Minister of Justice, to take effect in September, when he will return to Berlin and become vice-president of the United Life Assurance Co.

She Was Dieting.

"Miss Kitty," said the new doctor, "your trouble is merely indigestion. We can fix that. By the way, have you been doing any dieting?"

"I don't know," answered the little girl. "The other doctor has been making me eat all sorts of things that I just hate."

"Then you're dieting all right."—Chicago Tribune.

REPLY TO ATTACK OF MR. PARKS

Ontario Churchman Refers to References of Visitors to the Anglican Church in Canada

THE PARISH POLITICS

The Ontario Churchman, a monthly churchpaper owned and edited by Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P. Kingston has the following to say regarding a speech delivered at a social church gathering by an English "firebrand" who was paying a visit to this country.

At a lunch given by Toronto Methodist churchmen, leaders like Hon. Geo. Cox, Speaker Crawford and H. H. Fudger, to R. W. Parks, M. P., of London, Eng, this much elated gentleman departed from the graces of a complimentary social occasion to vault from praises of Methodism to attack upon the Church of England. He has reported as saying "In the majority of the Anglican churches in England were to be found all the appurtenances of Roman Catholicism. There were the station of the cross, the confessional and the mass. Incense was regularly burned night and day. The Clergy were robed in vestments gorgeous and ornate. The doctrines taught were Roman Catholicism pure and simple. Prayers were said for the repose of the souls of the dead. The right to interpret the scriptures was denounced and the little children were taught the tenets of the Church of Rome."

The chairman of the gathering was H.H. Fudger, a member of the Canadian council of the Men's Missionary movement, a union of undenominational forces not possible in England, but working happily in Canada. It was execrable in this Englishman, the visitor of a few days, to bring the bitter parish politics of the old land into that company, or even into Canada, where hostilities have practically ceased and where there is a tendency to union, even though beset with almost insuperable difficulties. It recalls two similar outbursts of late years by a Methodist and a Congregational delegate from England to church gatherings and which met bitter resentment.

Apart from the bad taste the statement of this gratuitous firebrand was gross exaggeration of the state of a very small proportion of the English churches. As a statement it is a falsehood, malignant and indefensible. One evidence alone is sufficient—the great advances in the low-church diocese of Liverpool, whose cathedral is also being built with unprecedented strides. The Church has its divisions in the old land as here, and judged by the greatest missionary society of the world, the C.M.S., the moderates are not only giving and a growing party, but vastly in the majority, since "the good old S.P.G.," contains thousands of that class in her fold. Evidence to controvert the bearer of false witness appear in another column of this issue,—the outline reports of a number of low-church societies, auxiliaries of the Church at large; then can be read month by month records of numbers of new church buildings, parish halls, benevolent institutions, the gifts of churchmen singly or in numbers together. The givings to hospital Sundays and at other times are in the proportion 100 to 1, compared with Methodism. The Church in England is a reverent, a sane, a growing church about which the truth can be invited from its enemies. Local bitternesses can be worked out in the old land by men more interested and better able to judge them than Canadians, who are a happier community religiously and should unite in warning off disturbers who have sur-charged feelings to relieve.

PROTEST GAMES WITH THE BEAVERTON TEAM

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club is forwarding to the secretary of the C. L. A. a notice of protest against the Beaverton Lacrosse Club, on the grounds of the alleged professionalism of Mullin, who is said to have played with the Barrie hockey team against the American Soo team. The protest will in all probability be dealt with at once. Should the two games with Beaverton be thrown out on this account, the locals, if they win from Young Torontos, will stand a good chance for the district championship. The fact that a protest has been entered will increase the interest in the game here on Monday with Young Torontos.

Shop Without a Name.

In the Devonshire town of Modbury there is a butcher's shop which has no name nor has it had one for the last 120 years. The reason affords a striking illustration of the superstitious nature of west country folk. When this particular business was started, the owner for some reason or other did not have his name inscribed on the premises. Whether this fact had anything to do with the success of the business or not it would be difficult to say. Trade, however, was brisk, and the butcher duly retired, leaving the nameless shop to his son. The business has been handed down from father to son for more than 120 years, but none of those into whose occupation it has come would have his name put up on any consideration, fearing—as, in fact, the present owner does today—that such a procedure might break the spell of good fortune with which the business has been favored.—London Standard.

Those Who Tie Knots.

Can any one tell why the landlubber in tying a cord around a package or anything else will always make a granny knot instead of a square not? We all do it in spite of thunder. To tie a reef knot or sailor's knot requires thought and experience. Yet it is as easy as a granny knot. Never believe for a moment that sailors are the only people in the world who can tie knots. Go to an operating theater in some big hospital and take note of the skill with which surgeons and even nurses employ bandages and ligatures. Learn from them how to tie the clove hitch, the combined surgeon's and reef knot, the Staffordshire knot, the common surgeon's knot, the friction knot, Hensen's knot, Tait's knot, etc.

Carefully Selected.

One of the most remarkable features of life in New South Wales is the transformation of criminals into hard-working citizens. Of the 30,000 settlers there in 1821, 20,000 were or had been convicts. It is said that on board an American liner a boastful Australian asserted loudly and over and over again that "the men who settled Australia were a remarkably sensible lot."

"Yes," said an American quietly, "I have always understood that they were sent out by the very best judges."

Preparing For Dinner.

One of the residents of the town of Idvor was noted for his parsimony. Let us call him Mr. Wiggles. There was an old major in Idvor who said to his valet one evening, "Go and tell the cook to get me ready a chop and a poached egg." "Pardon me, major," said the valet, "but have you forgotten that you are dining with Mr. Wiggles tonight?" The major frowned. "Yes," he said, "I had forgotten it. Tell the cook to make it two chops and two poached eggs."

Residents of Janetville excited over Experience of Mrs. W. Baxter, Chased by a Bear

Janetville Has A Sensation; The Women Are Terrified

Experience of Mrs. Baxter, Who Was Chased by a Bear, Has Had a Disturbing Effect Upon the Women of the Village.

SHE TELLS OF THE EPISODE

Villagers Organized Searching Party for the Bear But Were Unsuccessful — Berry-pickers Now Go Armed.

Special Staff Correspondent.

Janetville, August 2. — Nestled away in the extreme northern end of Manvers township, near the border line of Victoria county, and in the centre of a splendid farming community, Janetville is the last place one would expect to see stirred by a sensation. But it is stirred today. It's all over a black bear, too. It is pretty safe to say that there was little sleep in the village last night, and to-day the industries of the village are quiet. There are not many industries, it is true, two blacksmith shops and a cheese factory constituting the industrial life of Janetville; but there was very little work done in them to-day. The entire population of the village, in the early hours of the day, was gathered on the street corner — there is but one—discussing the incident of the preceding day, when Mrs. William Baxter, one of the best known residents of the village, while picking berries, was attacked by a bear, and escaped only after the greatest run of her life.

The scene of the exciting episode, was in the great "Mush Swamp," a low-lying section covering thousands of acres, and extending through three townships, Cartwright, Manvers and Ops. It is one of the best raspberry grounds in Ontario, and is visited every year about this season, by hundreds of persons from the neighbouring towns and villages.

Mrs. Baxter and the Bear

It was while Mrs. Baxter was in the berry ground yesterday afternoon that she met with the experience which aroused the excitement in the village, and which has wrought the inhabitants to a pitch never before experienced in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant.

The story, as told by Mrs. Baxter herself, is graphic in the extreme. That she was confronted and chased by a bear, no one who hears her story can doubt. She has not yet recovered from the fright which she received; her whole nervous system is upset, and at the bare mention of the experience through which she passed, the whole affair seems to rise before her in review, and she tells again of her emotions as she saw the huge brute rise upon his hind legs, and with forepaws extended to take her form into his deadly embrace, start after her. It was an experience which she does not care to have repeated, and, indeed, if the efforts of the villagers are successful, it will not be repeated, either in her case, or in that of any of the residents of that community.

Mrs. Baxter's Story

Mrs. Baxter, in a few words, told the Examiner to-day of the episode. She was, she said, picking berries in the swamp with several other women from the village. She became separated from the others, however, during the afternoon, and when, about five o'clock she decided to start for home, since she had her pail filled, she was out of sight of any of the party, and, in fact, had gotten considerably farther into the interior of the swamp than she thought, and farther than she had ever gone before.

She was making her way to the edge of the wood, carrying the 12-quart pail of berries, when she noticed a black object in front. At first she did not know what it was, but she was not left long in doubt. As soon as the bear saw the woman, he made for her at once. Mrs. Baxter dropped her berries, and picked up a stick to defend herself. This

DECADENCE OF THE CHEESE INDUSTRY; DO PRESENT CONDITIONS INDICATE IT?

Is the dairy industry in its decadence? It would, perhaps, be too strong a statement to say that it is, but there are evidences which point to the fact that in some sections farmers are not working that branch as strongly as they did last year. In Victoria county, a drive through a portion of which was taken yesterday, several cheese factories in some of the best sections were closed; and not, in fact, been operated at all this season.

The tendency to go into other branches of farming more than into dairying is not necessarily due to the belief that the others are more profitable, but is accounted for largely by the difficulty in securing farm help. The care of cattle requires considerable extra help, and in many cases it is impossible to get the necessary help, and the inevitable result follows; the farmers have to get rid of the cows and drop back again to grain-growing and other branches of farming which require less labour, even conscious of the fact that they are losing money. The problem of help on the farm is one that is becoming increasingly difficult of solution.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Says Peterborough Will be Connected With Georgian Bay by C. P. R. inside of Two Years.

PLEASED WITH THE WORK

Good Progress Being Made on New Line, but There Are Many Difficulties to be Overcome in Construction.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, August 3.—In two years the new grain line of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Victoria Harbour, on the Georgian Bay, to Peterborough, will be in operation. This is the statement made to-day by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the C. P. R., on his return from an inspection of the lines in Ontario, just completed by him.

He spent considerable time while in that province going over with his engineers, the route of that line, and he expressed himself as satisfied with the progress made with the surveys and with the line as laid out. Substantial progress, he stated, had already been made, but, since the construction of this line would involve a great deal of difficult engineering and structural work in order to ensure a road with the proper grade, it will be impossible to secure its completion next year. It would, however, be ready for operation in two years.

Speaking generally of the outlook in Ontario, Sir Thomas said that so far as his company was concerned, it was very bright. The lines, he said, were in excellent condition, and he was well satisfied with the latest additions that had been made to the system—the line from Guelph to Goderich and the Toronto-Sudbury line—which had been completed as far as the centre of Muskoka.

No further plans of development in that province had been under consideration.

BARNARDO HOME GIRL SUES

On Her Behalf Supt. Owen Enters Suit Against Seneca Township Farmer for Damages

Hamilton, Aug. 2nd.—At the instigation of Superintendent Owen of the Barnardo Home, Toronto, the law firm of Washington and Martin this morning issued a writ against William Moore of Seneca township, claiming $1,000 damages for seduction. The real plaintiff in the case is Lillian Boothe, a sixteen-year-old girl. She was sent by the Barnardo Home authorities to work for a farmer named McAdams in Seneca township. Recently she became a mother, and she claims that Moore, who is a step-son of Adams, is the father of her child.

Acting Mayor Leary Speaks

The question as to whether the assistants to the city officials should be paid and employed by the latter is now one of the chief matter before the minds of the City Fathers. It was brought up some time ago in the council by Ald. Elliott and Bradburn who expressed their opinions that the city should employ all its servants and pay them their wages.

Ald. Leary, who is Deputy Mayor for the month of August, was seen by the Examiner this morning in connection with the proposition and stated that he was decidedly in favour of the City Council fixing the salaries of the assistants as well as the officials. But he believed the officials should be allowed to name those who act as their helpers and to have full control over them including their appointment and dismissal.

"The city," he said, "should see that the assistants received the salaries they are entitled to for the work they do in the employ of the city." He believed, however, that the officials were the men to choose their own helpers as they are more competent to know their abilities and to discharge them when they prove inefficient.

In connection with the city treasurer's department Deputy Mayor Leary stated that there the work is divided between the City and Water Commissioners. If the City Counsil had the privilege of chosing the assistants, there would be a possibility of that body, he said, employing persons not suitable to the Water Commissioners. The only way to get over that difficulty in Ald. Leary's opinion, was to give the treasurer the privilege of employing his own helpers.

THE CITY TRUST COMMISSIONERS ENDORSE ACTION OF CITY COUNCIL; HILLIARD FARM HOUSE FOR SHELTER

The City Trust Commissioners met yesterday afternoon in Chairman W. H. Moore's office to consider the question of ratifying the action taken by the Council last Wednesday night in connection with the Hilliard building and property as a location for the Shelter of the Children's Aid Society. There were present, besides the chairman, Messrs. Richard Hall, Jno. Carnegie, Jas. Stevenson, and Secretary-Treasurer A. Stevenson.

The Commissioners substantially endorsed the decision arrived at by the Council, but will embody in the lease, to be offered the Children's Aid Society, some changes which they consider are necessary. These refer principally as to how the building shall be maintained, and to what shall be done with the fixtures if the city should require to take back the building and property at any time after the five years have passed. In this respect, the Trust Commissioners have fixed ideas which were not considered by the Council, and the Society will be required to conform to them before the lease will be granted.

A difficulty arises from the fact that the present occupant of half of the building, who has a lease until April next, refuses to give his apartment up until the expiration of the lease. It may be, therefore, that, if the Society accepts the terms of the Commissioners, it will have to be content with one half of the building for their Shelter until April next.

A $30,000,000 FINE

John D. Rockefeller and Standard Oil Company Said to Have Been Fined This Amount by Judge Landis--- A Famous Suit

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, Aug. 3.—At noon to-day it was reported that Judge Landis of the supreme court had given his decision in the now famous Standard Oil case, and that Rockefeller had been subjected to a fine of $30,000,000, the largest fine ever imposed in any court on earth.

This report is circulated by the large news bureaus, but as yet lacks official confirmation. It is believed in conservative quarters to be correct.

PUBLIC WILL KNOW RESULTS OF TESTS OF MILK SUPPLY

Report of Analyist at Toronto will be made Public in a few Days— No Legal Objection

DR. BINGHAM'S OPINION

He Beleived That Dairymen Whose Milk was Below Standard Had Ground for an Action for Damages

The publication of the tests made of the milk supplied by various dealers, which has been under consideration for some time, will in all probability be made next week. The inspector is at present preparing the report and putting it in shape for publication.

At the meeting of the Board of Health held last night the question of publishing the report of the analysis of the different samples submitted for tests was discussed, and on a point raised by Dr. Bingham, as to the responsibility of the board of publishing the results of the tests, it was decided to hold their publication until legal advice had been secured.

Mr. Bingham thought that in case the analysis showed that any particular sample of milk was not up to the required standard, and the business of the dairyman supplying that particular sample should suffer by reason of the publication of the report on his milk, the board might be liable for an action for damages to ther person affected.

Legal advice was secured on this particular point this morning, and it was learned that so long as the report of the analysis showed that the milk was not up to the standard required, the Board of Health was not running any risk of being made the defendants in an action; if the report was published.

The chairman takes the ground, too, that if there are dairymen who are supplying milk of a poor quality the public has a right to know it.

As a result of this decision the report will be published in a day or two.

South Ops Farm Residence Burned By Engine Spark

Mrs. P. J. Murphy, While Visiting Here, Learns of Destruction of Her Home by Fire.

LITTLE OF CONTENTS SAVED

Word was received this morning by Mr. T. J. Begley to the effect that the home of his father-in-law, Mr. P. J. Murphy, in South Ops, about two miles from Lindsay, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, the fire originating from a spark from the engine on the C. P.R. express. The track passes quite close to the house, and since there was a high wind blowing at the time it is supposed that the spark was blown on to the roof and fanned into a flame. The house, which was a substantial brick structure, was soon a mass of flames, and, in spite of the heroic work of the neighbours, who quickly gathered on the scene, it was completely destroyed. Only a small portion of the furniture was saved. Fortunately, the new barn erected only a short time ago, was on the side of the house from which the wind was blowing, and it was not destroyed. There is some insurance on both the house and its contents, but not enough to cover the loss.

Mrs. Murphy and her daughter, Julia, were in the city at the time visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. T. J. Begley. They left, accompanied by Mr. Begley, at noon for Lindsay.

WEDDING BELLS.

BAXTER-WELDY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at 56 Waverly street, Rochester, at five o'clock on Tuesday, July 9th, when Miss Minnie F. Baxter, of Peterborough, Ont., was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Geo. D. Weldy, of Mount Morris, U. S. Rev. E. P. Hubble, of the Methodist Episcopalian church, officiated. After their return from a short wedding trip the happy couple will reside at 56 Waverly street where the groom has a handsome home.

FANCIFUL "MINNIE" WROTE JUDGE WELLER IN BEHALF OF ONE OF PICK-POCKETS

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS ON POLICE FORCE

Unique Record of P. C. Robert Adams, Who Celebrates To-day

Twenty-five years ago to-day P. C. Robert Adams joined the police force of the town of Peterborough. To-day he therefore celebrates, in a quiet way, a quarter of a century honourable connection with one of the best police forces in the smaller cities of the Province, and is yet as hale and hearty as ever, and capable of giving many more years of faithful service in the employ of the city.

When Mr. Adams joined the force 25 years ago the police court office was in the old opera house block and about the place where Callihan's pool rooms were located. The cells were then in the cellar of the old firehall, which had to be reached by going down the rear stairs with the offenders of the law.

P. C. Adams was on the force when the present station and court were erected, and that is about 20 years ago. Mr. Adams to-day received many congratulations from friends, some of which included a cigar in addition to a hearty handshake.

AN EXCURSION FROM COBOURG

Two Methodist Sunday Schools Here Next Week

The Cobourg Sentenil-Star says:—Owing to the Grand Trunk being unable to furnish an excursion train yesterday, the Sunday School picnic of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches had to be postponed until next Thursday, August 8th, when no doubt Jackson Park will be teh recreation ground for a big crowd from Cobourg. A feature of the day will be a baseball match between teams from the two Sunday Schools.

ANOTHER IMMIGRANT TRAIN THIS MORNING

The Number of Arrivals Keep Steadily Increasing

The immigrants from the Old Country are still arriving at Canadian ports and are scattering throughout the Dominion. To-day a train passed through the city with a large number who have just come out. They were perhaps a little above the average in appearance and should make good. The heavy influx of foreigners has not made any appreciable effect on the country, but even now with work so much more plentiful than in winter there are many men walking the streets. The question being asked is, what will become of them in the winter? This may be a source for the charitable people to exert themselves. However winter is not here and it is hoped that the worst fears will not be realized.

Miss Ada Whalley and Miss Ethel Gardner of Toronto are visiting Miss Ada Granam, East City.

Rumours as to the Exact Contents of the Letter—Opinion That a Warning Was Given His Honour About the Sentence of One of the Pick-pockets.

CHIEF IS NON-COMMITTAL

A rumour was in circulation last night that just prior to the conclusion of the pickpocket case, His honour Judge Weller had received a threatening letter from some lady who signed herself as "Minnie." His Honour is out of the city and nothing could be gained from that source. Accordingly Chief Rogers was approached and was asked if he had heard anything about the matter. The Chief admitted that there had been a letter but absolutely refused to give it for publication, or disclose its contents.

However, Dame Rumour was busy in the meantime and it was generally said that the writer had referred to one of the four men who seemingly had caught the idle fancy of the mysterious "Minnie." She considered that he was too good looking to be guilty of such a sneak-thief's crime, as picking a man's pocket. Of course in Judge Weller's long career a letter of this nature must be but one of very many, as undoubtedly there are those whose feelings and sympathy sometimes prompt them to write in behalf of the accused. Especially is this the case with the gentler sex, whose tenderer nature is influenced by men of good appearance on whom the law has its clutches.

Not only did the fanciful "Minnie" think that her favourite was not guilty but it is stated that she said she know who the real pick-pocket was, but it is not known whether she made any direct reference. She also warned the judge to be careful in passing sentence upon her protege and to be sure that he had weighed all the evidence. The letter would be of interest if the exact copy could be procured just as an example of what an impulsive young lady will do on the spur of the moment.

ROAD REPAIR HAS BEEN COMMENCED ON GEORGE ST.

A Movement That Should be Pursued by The City

A noticeable improvement has been made to the side of George street, west of the car tracks, between King street, and the C. P. R. station. It has been gravelled, rolled and graded, the street roller having been used to good effect and it is a pity that the east side is not treated in the same way, and also the space between the rails, which the railway company is supposed to see to. It is hoped that this work will be continued and the streets put in a good condition and kept that way by frequent repairs.

There's Danger in Every Cold

Once you come to realising the danger of neglecting coughs and colds you will not run the risk of depending on any cough mixture the druggist may choose to hand you out and will insist on getting a medicine with a reputation such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR SHELTER

A special meeting of the Children's Aid Society is called for Monday afternoon in the City Council Chamber, to discuss the situation, represented by the necessity of procuring a new Shelter. The secretary of the society has issued notices, calling the meeting, and in them, he says:

You will have seen by the newspapers that your officers have been for the past few weeks in constant communication with the city council and the city trust regarding the acquirement by lease at a rental of one dollar a year, of the old Hilliard house and grounds, for a shelter. This will entail an expenditure by the society of probably $1000. It is necessary for the Children's Aid Society to meet and consur, if so disposed. You are therefore requested to attend at the above hour. This is the most important venture in the recent history of the society, one that requires the full concurrence and support of a representative meeting of the members. You are earnestly requested to attend.

ONTARIO'S IRON AGE

Tea-fight and church picnic orators are fond of declaring Ontario the "banner province" of the Dominion. There is a little worm and a little wearing metaphor and flap-doodleism in this; but, in many respects, it is very amply justified. Possibly there is no country in the world where better social conditions obtain; where there is a better condition of popular morals; where the people are of higher average intelligence, education and culture; where there is a more equable distribution of wealth; where the people are more generally in comfortable material circumstances; where law-abiding citizenship more generally exists; where, in a word, approximately ideal conditions obtain.

But we have other things to be proud of besides those mentioned, and the distinction of being, perhaps, the only state in the world where there is no direct popular taxation for state purposes, is worth mentioning. We have some reason to be proud of our timber resources, though we are guilty of cutting into them too freely and carelessly. But we can very justly pride ourselves upon having the finest, and among the finest, deposits in the world of three chief, economic minerals. In the matter of nickel, we occupy an unchallenged position of superiority and, indeed, of supremacy. The same practically applies to our practically inexhaustible silver resources. But that is not all. A party of hard headed, practical and constitutionally sceptical United States mineralogists are at present visiting Northern Ontario to see, not with the eye of the speculator and company-promoter, but with the cold-blood eye of scientific exactitude, the truth about our mineral resources. Copper Cliff and Cobalt opened their eyes; but they found that we have something else in the way of minerals besides silver-veneered nickel. This consists of valuable iron ranges in the neighbourhood of Huttom. The Moose Mountain iron range, too, is a wonder, the ore running as high as 62 per cent., with little sulphur and phosphorus, and virtually inexhaustible in quantity. Some idea of the value of this mine can be formed from the statement that the mine was purchased for $25,000, and recently the owners declined a syndicate offer of several millions. The visiting mineralogists were, as well they might be, greatly impressed. The fact of their being impressed is of small moment, but the great thing is that Ontario has something new, and big, an disposal in the matter of iron deposits, to impress them. The Moose Mountain iron range ore can be shipped to Lake Huron by a shorter rail haul than the ore of the famous Minnesota mines, and with no Soo locks between the mines and the lower lake ports. Our iron deposits are something to be glad of. Iron and steel are the industrial backbone of a country. The golden age may pass away, but the iron age goes on forever.

There is danger even in concrete work. In Philadelphia a concrete building collapsed, with fatal effects to many persons. The cause, as investigation showed, was that unskilled labourers were employed, where skilled mechanics were called for. Concrete work looks easy, but, like almost everything else, it must be done right. The laws of mechanics must be observed to insure safe and satisfactory results. The temptation to save expense by employing cheap labour is great, but, where this saving is effected at the expense of strength and at the cost of human life, somebody is criminal.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Abdul Aziz, Sultan of Morocco, may be Abdul Azis'nt, "if he don't watch out."

If a quorum were something like measles — catching — the members of the Board of Health might contract the malady.

The local optionists of Brantford, in the face of favourable public opinion, will not bring on a local option contest in January. They consider the Whitney Government's three-fifths handicap too much to contend with.

The middle of the Atlantic Ocean would be an ideal climate. In England they are complaining of too much sunless weather. Some crank scientists claim that there is too much sunshine in the Canadian West. The middle of the Atlantic might strike a happy average.

Toronto is growing satisfactorily. From Jan. 1st, to July 31st, 1907, the building permits totalled $10,239,330. For the same period last year, the figures were $7,391,305, representing an increase of nearly three millions. It goes without saying that head expansion of the citizens progresses pari passu.

The spirit of the spoils system seems to have eaten deep into the bones of the officials of the Whitney Government. When the officers took the convicted counterfeiters from Lindsay, to the Kingston penitentiary, on arrival at the railway station, they could not find a Conservative cab. In default of finding a cabman of the orthodox party complexion, the officers, with their prisoners, walked a distance of three miles to the penitentiary. The prisoners, at least, thought this was going, or, rather, walking, too far, in deference to the demands of party loyalty.

STUFFING VOTERS' LIST

The story of the stuffing of the Trenton voters' list is one that will set people thinking.

Briefly stated, it appears that when the list was returned by the assessor on Sept. 13 and corrected by the Court of Revision on Nov. 14 of last year, and confirmed by the Judge, it contained the names of only 66 manhood franchise voters. When on June 25, it was hung up for public inspection 310 names had been added. The alterations in the assessment roll were, it seems, made as late as July 10-12 of this year.

Who made these illegal additions?

Peter Pomeroy, a man who had occasionally done clerical work, and who copied last year's assessment roll, says he wrote in the names.

Why did he do so?

Pomeroy says that after the copying of the roll as from the assessor's blotter Mr. G W Ostrom "asked me to write some names in the assessment roll, as he wanted it all in my handwriting. The list he furnished me was the latest voters' list, with the names to be written ticked off in red ink."

George Simpson, assessor, says Ostrom wanted him to sign a declaration in the usual form to the effect that the names written in the assessment roll by Pomeroy were correct. He refused, and told Pomeroy he had done an illegal act. Simpson says he had been previously "asked to write write additional names in the assessment roll, but refused."

Who is this G W Ostrom?

He is a Tory ex-M.P.P. for West Hastings. He was elected to the Legislature on Dec. 28, 1885, defeating E. G. Sills by 119 votes. He is now town clerk of Trenton.

How could it be possible for such a false list to pass the officials entrusted with its preparation?

G. W. Ostrom, clerk, made a statutory declaration certifying that "Parts I and III of the within list constitute a correct list of 1907 of all persons appearing by the last revised assessment roll of the said municipality to be entitled to vote at elections for members of the Legislative assembly." Part III, really contains 310 names taken not from the assessment roll, but added by a clerk at Mr. Ostrom's order from a former voters' list after the confirmation of the roll by the Judge.

How does he try to excuse that act?

He says the added names were taken from a voters' list revised in 1906, and as the list was to be finally revised, in the presence of both parties, by the County Judge, he wished to have it as complete as possible. It appears, however, that the assessment on which that list was founded was made in the summer of 1905. At the revision on Dec. 3, the Liberals were negligent, and Mr. Morrison, the Tory M.P.P., attended and had 110 names added to the manhood franchise list. While many of these names, now carried forward, may be legally qualified to vote, a list so prepared is a very different matter from a legal one, all names to be placed on which are carefully scrutinized. Moreover, the addition of the names in this way is the very thing the law aims at preventing, as Mr. Ostrom ought to have known.

The illegal and surreptitious addition of 310 names to a voters' list already completed by the Court of Revision and confirmed by the Judge, as provided by law, is a remarkable thing. Done by a sworn official and ex-M.P.P. and covered over by a statutory declaration which is false, it can be excused on no reasonable It reverses the legal order of preparing the list, and instead of requiring qualification to be proved to get on the list, compels evidence to be furnished to put unqualified names off.

Why should Trenton's voters' list have been stuffed?—Hamilton Times.—Mirror.

WILL IT PAY?

Canadian Courier.

There is one insidious phrase which which indicates the weakness of modern society, both as regards business and politics; that phrase is, "Will it pay?" It is becoming entirely too common. It is relegating the other phrase, "Is it right?" to the limbo of forgotten things.

For example, the newspapers in Toronto, are publishing daily reports of horse races in the United States, though they know by so doing they are encouraging the betting fever. The worst offender is a paper controlled mainly by members who stand high in the Methodist church. Since that paper began to get out a sporting extra late in the afternoon the profits of the bookmakers have materially increased. Errand boys, mechanics, factory girls, barbers, bartenders and even higher grades of society are making daily bets on these horse races. The Attorney-General of the province, closed all betting houses devoted to this business some years ago. It must amuse him mightily to see a Methodist newspaper playing the game of the professional gambler. Of course, the question the publisher asked himself was, "Will it pay?" It does pay; his paper has a greater circulation, and his advertising patronage has increased.

This incident is not singular, and the newspaper concerned will forgive us for taking it as an example. In the business world there are many similar cases. The manufacturer could make his wares much better and truer; but he uses cheap materials and an extra coat of paint. If he is advised to make his goods more honest, he answers, "Will it pay?" The workman is careless about learning his trade thoroughly; he hurries the work and covers up the defects he should have had the patience to eradicate. If you protest, he answers, "Will it pay?" The mining broker puts bad prospects on the market and sells worthless shares to the public at "25 cents to-day; to be advanced to 50 cents on the 15th." Some person protests and tells him he should wait until he is absolutely sure of his mine, but he answers "Will it pay?"

In no walk of life does this line of reasoning obtain more potently than in politics. A politician seeking for votes delivers a stirring appeal to the preudjices of his hearers. You protest and tell him that he should be fair, and state both sides of the case, and he comes back with the question, "Will it pay?" Tell a Minister of Justice that he should ignore petitions for the release of prisoners justly condemned, and he asks, "Will it pay?" Tell a party manager that some of his men are using corrupt methods, and advise him to get rid of them, and he cries, "Will it pay?" Tell the Cabinet Minister that he should not appoint party hacks, without the necessary qualifications, to positions in the civil service, and he repeats, "Will it pay?"

If we could only exchange the question, "Is it right and just?" for "Will it pay?" the world would be a much better place for all of us. It would solve many of the difficulties which present themselves daily to those engaged in government, social reform, religious work, and even in commerce and industry.

ALL WEAK WOMEN

Will Find New Health and Strength in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The weak woman can depend upon it that her blood is out of order, for if her blood is rich and pure she will be strong, healthy and happy. Bad blood is the cause of nearly all the aches and pains from which women suffer. Keep the blood rich and red by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and suffering will not exist. Mrs. James R. Kratz, of Jordan Station, Ont., has tested the value of these pills and strongly advises other women to use them. She says: "For more than a year I was a great sufferer from weakness. I was completely worn out. I lost flesh; could not rest at night, and in the morning I arose more tired than on going to bed. I had taken doctors treatment with no benefit. I grew worse day by day and was beginning to look upon my case as hopeless when I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To my great joy before I had taken the pills a month they began to help and by the time I had taken eight boxes every symptom of my trouble had left me and I was once more enjoying perfect health and strength. I look upon Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a veritable life saver and never lose a chance to recommend them to my friends."

The success of Dr. Williams Pink Pills is due to their power to make new, rich red blood. This new blood strengthens the nerves and gives nourishment to all the organs of the body, thus curing anaemia, indigestion, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous debility, headache and backache, and all the secret ailments of girlhood and womanhood. The pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had direct at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

OMEMEE WANTS THE STEAMERS

Now Beginning to Appreciate the Advantages a Line of Steamers Would Confer

Omemee has just begun to appreciate the great advantage that a station at Sturgeon street crossing and a line of steamers running to and from her ports would mean to the town. The electric light will also be a great improvement to the place. Omemee has an influential Board of Trade and a first-class council who are putting forth every effort for the furthering of the town's interests.—Mirror.

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fills the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realize the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

Young Ladies' Success In Operating Cheese Factory

Misses Morrison, of the Newry Cheese Factory, are Making Cheese Which Wins Prizes at the Fair.

UP AT SIX IN MORNING

Young ladies operating a cheese factory is the latest novelty. They're making a success of it, too. In the last issue of the Canadian Dairymen the story of their success is told. That publication says: The Newry Cheese Factory is probably the best known of the factories visited, for two reasons—First, that it is worked by two ladies, the Misses Morrison, with the aid of a young man, and second, that the consistent prize-winning of these ladies has made Newry famous. They are the present holders of the Toronto Industrial Fair trophy, which they have won twice, and, should they win it again, they will then hold it permanently. While the making room is not modern, the equipment is up to date, and a model of cleanliness. The curing room is a spacious, modern one. The milk commences to come in about 6 o'clock in the morning, and the daily make is 16 cheese. It can be seen that these ladies have no sinecure, and deserve the great measure of success they have attained.

Sixteen-Year-Old Manager Of Electric Light Plant

Millbrook Will Have Youthful Head to its New Plant—The Youngest Superintendent in Canada.

HAS A GOOD CONTRACT

Mr John Davidson, general manager of the Smith's Falls Electric Power Company, has just launched an enterprise of his own, which has in it the promise of success. He has purchased the electric light plant at Millbrook, a small town of something less than 2000 population, between Peterborough and Port Hope, and enters into possession to-day. In connection with the deal, he secured an exclusive franchise from the town of lighting the streets at $700 a year, and exemption from taxation. His son, Jas Davidson, left last night for Millbrook, and will be in charge of the plant. He is probably the youngest superintendent of an electric lighting plant in Canada, being only 16 years old, but he is his father's son, has grown up in the lighting station at Sly's, and knows pretty much what there is to know about the business. Mr. Roy Barnes accompanied him from here, and will be his assistant.—Rideau Record, Smith's Falls.

THE MILLINEUM; IS IT COMING? DOCTORS, BUT NO BILLS

London, August 1.—In convention at Exeter, the British Medical Association has almost unanimously supported a contention advanced by a member that sick persons should be treated at public expense.

The points were made that the physician's work is now done under conditions involving the petty worries of fee collection, the strain of competitive commercialism and the haunting of the profession by hospitals, friendly societies, and similar organizations.

The increasing number of cases treated at voluntary or State aid institutions was a phase of the movement.

ONLY CONSERVATIVE CABS FOR THEM

Burke and Logie Had to Walk in Kingston Because There Were No Conservative Cabmen

Kingston, Ont., August 1. — The Whig, in relating the following, calls it "peanut politics":

"The officers in charge of the Lindsay counterfeiters marched the prisoners from the station through the city to an hotel. The orders communicated to all the counties alike were to hire as cabmen only Messrs. McFadden and Coyle. Neither of these prized Conservatives were present, and Cabman Boyd was told that he would not do. How proud Attorney-General Foy will be of such a grand exhibition of the spoils system! He should also feel like complimenting the officers in charge upon their impressive humanity — taking the prisoners to a first-class hotel for a meal, but exposing them on the main streets during a long walk."

A Message for Pile Sufferers

FROM TWO LADIES WHO HAVE BEEN CURED OF EXTREMELY TORTURING CASES OF PILES BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mrs. Geo. H. Simser, Grant, Russell county, Ont., writes:—"Eleven years ago I began to suffer from piles, and as they caused keen distress, and became worse, I doctored for them, but with little or no avail. They were bleeding, itching and protruding, and oh! the torture suffered at times can never be described. It was with suffering that the bowels moved, and, as nothing brought relief, I could only endure the misery with an aching heart and without hope of cure.

"Finally a lady friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment curing piles, and to my surprise I felt relief at once on using this ointment; the little tumors soon disappeared, the ulcers healed, and the bowels became regular. This was five years ago, and I have never been troubled with this terrible ailment since, a thousand thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mrs. Capt. Clinansmith, Salvation Army, Essex, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Two years ago I was taken with a severe attack of protruding piles, and became so bad that I had to keep my bed, and could lie in no position except on my Stomach. Doctors could give me no help, and the various oils and ointments used proved of no avail.

"One Saturday night, when I was suffering untold agony, my husband went to the drug store, for a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I had heard of as a cure for piles. Although I had almost given up hope, to the wonder of those around me, I was able to be up and on my feet by Monday, and have had no difficulty from piles since. As a treatment for all kinds of sores and burns, Dr. Chase's Ointment works like magic."

To persons who have given up looking for a cure of piles or hemorrhoids, this letter should bring new hope. There is, we believe, no more effective treatment for piles than Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box at [illegible] Johnson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MINING OFFICIALS ASTONISHED

Prominent Government Mining Men Greatly Surprised When They Saw Rich Veins

MILLIONS IN THE EARTH

Temagami, Aug. 2nd.—Nine days have nearly passed since the government officials and the American Institute of Mining Engineers left Toronto on their inspection of the New Ontario mines, and almost three of these were spent in the vicinity of Cobalt, during which time the engineers received a big surprise as regards the real wealth of Cobalt mines. Many of the members of the institute came to the Cobalt district decidedly prejudiced against it. They frankly admit that many of the reports sent out regarding this fraud, or at least a freak camp where camp seemed to be so extravagant that they believed the whole thing was a fraud, or at least a freak camp where a very few rich deposits might be found but that there must be row great extent to the ore bodies. They came prepared to politely ridicule the many claims of great richness hat they had heard, but they had not been in camp two days before they admitted that Cobalt is one of the very great silver camps of the world. They were admitted underground to some of the large mines and there saw thousands of tons of ore blocked out, ore running from 2,000 to 8,000 ounces to the ton. These ore bodies were not found in small pockets, or merd rich deposits but were in great veins 4 to 30 inches wide, and nobody has ascertained how deep. Literally millions of dollars worth of silver were shown in the great wide veins of the La Rose, Jacobs, Town Site, Trethewey, Conlagas and other mines, where they were admitted underground. Rich veins of almost pure native silver were shown on the Nipissing, O'Brien, Foster, Lawson, Tamiskaming and Hudson Bay, and other properties. The extent and value of the ore bodies were proven beyond the shadow of a doubt and a far greater extent than these mining engineers had deemed to be possible.

Comment Was Favourable

Most favourable comment has been excited by the frankness of the mine owners in admitting these mining experts into the secrets of their properties. It has demonstrated the great value of the Cobalt mines. These experts of the mining world could not have been fooled for a single moment. Nothing but the policy of frankness pursued by the mine owners would have satisfied them. If the actual value of these mines did not exist, not for a moment would these mining engineers, the world's most famous mining engineers, the greatest majority of them coming from an alien country, lend any endorsement to the claims of actual wealth in immense quantities in Cobalt. If this wealth did not exist. They are cold-blooded, practical men, and the astonishment that they expressed over the richness and extent of the ore bodies in New Ontario can be taken as the strongest assurance possible to be obtained of the actual wealth of the Cobalt mines.

MRS. "ORCHARD" TO SUE

His Ontario Wife Said to be Trying to Upset a Sale of Property Made

Boise, Idaho, August 1.—A sensational story has been published here to the effect that Mrs. Albert E. Horsley, of Northumberland County, Ontario, has arranged to bring suit against Dan Gardener, to whom her husband sold his interest in the Hercules mine, the claim being that the deed was invalid, as it did not bear her signature.

Added to this story is one to the effect that Peter Breen has secured an interview with Orchard, and has induced him to agree to repudiate his confession, and that Orchard has employed the firm of Breen and Root to defend him when his trial comes on.

CENTREVILLE SOCIAL A SUCCESS

Delightful Programme Given by Ladies' Aid Society

Centreville, Aug. 2nd—The ice cream social held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church at Centreville on Thursday evening August 1st, was a decided success. An excellent programme was given consisting of addresses by Rev. Mr. Emberson, of Bensfort, Rev Mr. Motherell, of Fraserville, Rev. Dr. Marsh, Springville; recitation by Miss Maggie Berry; solo by Miss Amy Donaldson, duet by Misses Eva and Fanny Porter; quartette by Misses Donaldson and Berry and Messrs. Lang and Isbister.

The Millbrook Band rendered choice music. The proceeds amounted to $90.

PILES CURED at HOME by New Absorption Method

LINDSAY PEOPLE AT THE REGATTA

Owners of Fast Racing Crafts Will be at Stony Lake With Their Boats

Lindsay yachtsmen will be present in full force at the Stony Lake regatta on Civic Holiday, Aug. 12th. During this year a number of new power launches have appeared on the Sturgeon waters, and the majority of these will be at the regatta, and will participate in the races for that class of craft. Mr. George Wilson, of the Lindsay Post has a racing launch that can make the best of them go some, and he will be at the regatta with his new racer.

Orillia people will hold a regatta on August 14th, two days after that at Stony Lake, and a number of those owning boats will take it in this year. With the opening of the Kirkfield Lift Look this is made possible.

In Warm Weather

Vinol is as delicious as a fresh orange, and as soothing as can be to the weak, irritable stomach. It coaxes back lost appetite, improves digestion and creates strength throughout the whole system. We strongly recommend Vinol to all who are weak and run-down from any cause,—particularly to delicate women and children, old people and for those who have pulmonary troubles. Money back if you try Vinol and are not satisfied.

Council Will Deal With Laying Of Harvey St. Sewer

Board of Health Decided to Leave the Matter With the Council — Members in Favour of Publication of Milk Tests.

AN INFORMAL MEETING

A number of the members of the Board of Health met last night to to consider several topics that have been pending for some time and which required some immediate action. Those present were, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, Mr. Eyres, Sanitary Inspector Ball, Mayor McWilliams and Mr. Frank Adams. A quorum not being complete the discussion was formal but apparently served the purpose as well as if it had been carried on in the regular manner.

The first matter that was brought up was the laying of a sewer on Harvey street north. Mr. Eyres introduced the subject saying that a petition had been signed and a majority of one was in favour of the sewer. Following this a counter-petition was circulated and Mrs. Ellis, a resident on that street, who had signed the other also placed her name in favour of the second. It turned out that there was the same number for and against the digging of the sewer and Mrs. Ellis' name was the deciding one. The result was that the counter-petition carried the greater number of signatures.

Mr. Eyres continuing, said, that this lady was now in favour of the original petition.

Sanitary Inspector Ball stated that he had paid a visit to Harvey street and found that the majority of the people were in favour of the sewer but they had signed two papers and and were unwilling to sign any more. They, however, wanted to see the sewer laid on the street. Mr. Eyres summing up the affair said that it resolved itself into whether the sewer should be built as a sanitary necessity or whether for the sake of one name that turned the tables when the sewer was in favour the people who now desired to have it should be deprived of it. It was decided to let the Council deal with it at the next meeting and order its construction as a public improvement.

Mr. Eyres also told Mr. Ball of a little matter in the south end that requires attention. It seems that some man is keeping a couple of animals which the neighbours say are a nuisance. The Inspector said he would give it his attention.

Milk Test

The next subject was the publication of the result of the analysis of samples of milk obtained from the vendors in the city. The general opinion was that the tests should be printed. Mr. Eyres believed that it would be a stimulus to the milkmen to keep their milk up to the standard and would be a discouragement to those who are accustomed to putting any kind of extras into the milk. He said that when one of the milkmen heard that tests were going to be published he said he would go out of business and since then he has done so. It was also pointed out that the people would know what they were receiving for their money. All the members of the Board were in favour of putting the result of the test in print, but felt that the City Solicitor, Mr. E. H. D. Hall should be first consulted as to the advisability of that step.

The Sanitary Inspector was asked to prepare the statement of the tests and get it ready for publication.

The Heavy Production In England Makes Low Prices

One Reason for the Present Depression in the Canadian Cheese Market—English Prices.

PROSPECTS ARE NOT ROSY

Not only has the price of cheese taken a drop, but the production has shown a decrease as well, and it is not expected that during the balance of the summer the output of the factories will equal that of the earlier part of the season.

It is reported that in England cheese is selling at a price representing 13 cents a pound in Canadian currency, and that the demand is much smaller than it has been in other years at this date. The reason attributed for the small price and the decreased demand is the fact that this year has been a particularly good one for the dairy industry in England; the pastures have been exceptionally good and the result is that the factories are turning out more cheese than ever before.

So long as these conditions prevail there is no probability of a higher price for cheese in Canada, and the probabilities are that instead of going higher it will be lower before the season is much older.

The next meeting of the Victoria Board will be held on Monday morning, and should the price paid there be lower than at Peterborough at the last meeting, the salesmen will be dissatisfied, doubtless, since they expect that the same price should be paid on that board as prevails on the Peterborough board regardless of the market conditions in the interval.

Landing A Large Bass Upset Canoe Occupant

Kilkenny Guests Hold Contest in Catching Fish—"Mayflower" is Greatly Missed—Boschink for Fast Boats.

PHILIPPINE ISLAND VISITOR

Examiner Special.

Kilkenny, Stoney Lake, Aug. 1st.—A large party of guests from Kilkenny and Glenwood chartered the steam launch Bobs on Tuesday for a trip to Jack's Creek. An enjoyable day was spent and some good fishing reported. One of the party was upset from his boat while landing a large bass. Mr. Rowe of Hamilton secured first prize for largest catch of fish and Mrs. Fyler of Toronto the first in bridge whist.

The Boschink section has been noted for its fleet of beautiful launches. The speed mania has struck here now and an "eighteen miles per hour" boat is to be added to the fleet by Mr. Dodsworth this week. This will be the fastest craft on the lakes.

The trim and well known launch Mayflower which has sailed the lakes for the past eleven summers is very much missed by the cottagers this season. Mr. Donell sold her to a party at Parry Sound in the early part of the season, and has received word that she is giving good satisfaction on the Georgian Bay waters. Mr. Donell intends purchasing a new boat next season.

Mr. Rupert Donell is spending a short vacation at Kilkenny.

Messrs. J. C. and C. E. Hyde of Montreal arrived at Kilkenny on Tuesday for a week's stay.

The following guests are registered Kilkenny:—Dr Rolph, Dr Lillian Langstaff, and Miss Carrol Langstaff, of Richmond Hill; Miss Eleanor Langstaff, Philippine Islands; Mr and Mrs Fyler, Miss Fyler, Miss (Mrs)Ouliff, and Mr. Grenfell Fisher, Toronto; Mr Louis Potvin, Miss Edna Ackerman, Peterborough; Messrs J C and C E Hyde, Montreal.

The need of a regular pianiste at the nightly hops at Juniper Island is keenly felt again this season, and it is hoped the cottagers association will take some action in the matter.

MR. STENTON WILL NOT VACATE HILLIARD RESIDENCE JUST NOW

Mr. Charles Stenton called at this office last evening and asked that a statement which Mr. J. H. Burnham had made at the meeting of the Whole Council on Wednesday night be contradicted. It was in connection with house on the Hilliard property in the northern part of the city, which it is believed will be reented to the Children's Aid Society at a nominal rental. Mr. Stenton said that he had taken considerable trouble to clean up the property which he had found in a bad condition, the land being overrun with weeds. He had spent many hours looking after his garden which was now very promising and would certainly not vacate the house at present. He has a year's lease of the place which will not expire until next April.

Mr. Stenton also said that Mr. Burnham had no authority to tell the council that he was willing to leave the premises at any time. He had visited the house and had spoken with Mrs. Stenton, but she had not said anything about giving permission to Mr. Burnham to say that they were willing to vacate the house. In conclusion Mr. Stenton again said that he would not leave at present, but he intimated that he might, if it was desired, before his lease was terminated.

LIMIT TO RIGHTS OF GOVERNMENT

According to a Citizen the 66 Feet Extends Only Part Way Down River

In connection with the statement made in these columns a short time ago, that the Government owned 66 feet from the high water mark along the Otonabee river, a gentleman stated yesterday that this only holds good as far as Crawford's Grove. The Government he stated only reserved the right as far as the grove and any person damaging trees, etc., below that line is liable to make good the loss to the party who is in possession of the land at that particular spot.

The informant of the Examiner stated he recollected some years ago that lumbermen in attaching logs to trees along the bank below Crawford's grove pulled them out by the roots and had to pay a fine of $25 for each tree to the owner of the property.

AMUSING INCIDENT ON GEORGE STREET

Rural Gentlemen Fell on Basket of Eggs That Was Carried by His Wife

NEW NAME FOR STREET CAR

A farmer, his wife, son and daughter arrived in the city this morning from somewhere, and, evidently for the first time in many years, set their optics on this busy burg. The woman carried a basket of eggs, the son a pail of cherries, and the daughter a basket of butter. Accompanied by the "governor," they walked about the streets in apparent total ignorance of the nature of their surroundings, and from their puzzled countenances should certainly be catalogued among the collections of rarities.

Not satisfied to dispose of their produce on the market, they went about the streets looking for purchasers among the merchants. The husband and father might easily have been dressed in a suit worn by Adam if one did not know that there was a little change in the style. The necktie he wore had a great desire to climb around his ears. He bumped into almost every individual he happened to meet, and would generally make an investigation by the time the other party to the collision was half a block away. He spent considerable time in remonstrating with his better half for having brought him to the city on such a busy day.

Arriving at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, he attempted to conduct the party across the street, but was held up by a street car, which he termed "an infernal engine." He gave the order to "keep back" to the remainder of the party, and, in doing so himself, fell over the basket of eggs and the pail of cherries.

If the old gentleman had been painted by an artist he could not have presented a more striking appearance. The yolks of the eggs became mingled with his whiskers, and united with the dust in discolouring his clothing.

The quartette shortly afterwards gathered up the fragments and were soon seen wending their way up George street, behind a team of horses that looked as ancient as the clothing of the farmer.

Velvet Skin, Soft and Clear

What one or two applications of Dr. Chase's Ointment will do for inflamed, rough and irritated skin is almost as wonderful as is the complete cure of eczema by its persistent use. By its healing, soothing and antiseptic influence Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly cures chafing and skin diseases and eruptions and leaves the skin, clear, soft and velvety.

SUMMER VISITORS ENTERTAINED

Popular Buffalo Lady and Gentlemen Who Visit at South Beach, Hostess and Host at Delightful Function

A LANTERN FEAST

The following interesting description is taken from a recent issue of the Buffalo News. Mr. and Mrs. Justice, of Buffalo, are well known to many of our citizens, especially those summering at our back lakes, where they have been coming regularly every year to spend their summer vacation.

Mrs. William G. Justice gave a charming garden party last evening at her residence on Norwood avenue, inviting a small company of here own friends to a "Freast of the Lanterns," arranged for the pleasure of her little grandson, Edwin, who, in the family reading of Blanche Elizabeth Wade's "Stained Glass Lady" has been substituted by his fond family for "Little Boy" Miss Wade herself was the guest of honour and her mother, another charming author, Mrs. Elizabeth Flint Wade, was among the guests.

The garden is in the height of its flowerage just now and the trees which form a perfect arcade were hung with ropes of cherry and apple blossoms, quaint and musical windbells and a hundred Japanese lanterns, many of them very beautiful.

The guests were invited for dinner at 6 o'clock, at which time they witnessed the arrival in the garden of the royal procession as described in the book.

Mrs. Justice herself all in white with powdered hair rode in a jinrikisha as the grandmother with the silver crown holding little golden-haired Dudley Fleischmann and drawn by Mr. Justice masquerading as Giovanni, the gardener. Mrs. Simon Fleischmann, as the Stained Glass Lady, in a kimono costumed in keeping with the lady in the book, Edwin Fleischmann, as "Little Boy" and his brother, Justice, in kimonos and carrying Japanese parasols, completed the little procession. There was the moon flower to inspect, the pepper beds to visit, and all the ceremonies performed in the original story, and afterward the dinner was served at a long table spread under the trees of 14 covers. The table was exquisitely decorated with vases of pink sweet peas all down the centre, tiny fans at the places, with a bunch of sweet peas tied with white ribbon at Miss Wade's place and the ices were in the form of Japanese dignitaries in yellow, white and pink with tiny silver and gold Japanese umbrellas spread over their head.

At 8 o'clock the borders and beds of the garden were all aglow with Josh sticks to simulate fireflies, the lanterns were lighted and there were illuminations from Japanese fire crackers.

The guests included several Hamburg friends, who are staying a day or two with Mrs. Justice, also Mrs. Fleischmann and her children, who will return to Hamburg to-morrow.

An Innovation Introduced In The Banking Business

Sub-Agencies of Financial Institutions Being Established in the Small Villages—A Great Convenience.

"BANKING DAY" NOW

A new era in banking has dawned. Instead of having the farmers go to the banks, the latter are now coming to the farmers. In Janetville, on a building recently erected as a meeting place for the Canadian Foresters' local court, and known, by reason of this fact, as "The Foresters' Hall," there is this sign, "The Farmers' Bank of Canada. Open every Thursday." In addition to having one day a week as a "market day," the farmers now have another special day to remember. It is "banking day," and that they appreciate the advantage conferred upon them by opening a bank at their door is said to be evidenced by the numbers who advantage of the one day in the week on which the financial institution is open, to visit the village and transact their business. The branch from which this sub-agency and four or five others in the little settlements in the community is conducted is at Bethany, which is looked upon as the location of the head offices.

Janetville people, as well as those living in the other villages similarly honoured, feel gardonably proud of the distinction of being the banking centre for that portion of Manvers.

BIRTH

LEE—On Saturday, July 27th, 1907, the wife of Mr. Bruce Lee, Simcoe St., Peterborough, of a son.

AN OLD IDEA

Shown to Be Obsolete False By Modern Science

People used to think that baldness was one of those things which are handed down from generation to generation, from father to son—just like a family heirloom.

Science has shown the falseness of this belief by proving that baldness itself is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion of which only Herpicide can effectually rid the scalp.

Wearing only cleans the scalp of dandruff, it doesn't kill the germ.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Newbro's Herpicide will do this in every case. It is also a delightful hair dressing.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c to Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. Mollermid & Jury, Spain stamps for sample to the Herpicide Agents.

AMERICAN ANGLERS IN CANADA

Gradually Learning That Best Fishing is in This Region

The Toronto World says: A jovial bunch of a dozen anglers from Pennsylvania are quartered at the Iroquois. They hail from Greensburg and Latrobe, and their destination is Kawartha Lakes district.

"We are getting the habit more and more on our side of the line of striking for somewhere in Ontario for our fishing jaunts," one of the party remarked last night. "A few years ago we used to think we didn't need to go away from home, but we're becoming educated to the fact that the real angler's paradise is farther up north."

Varicose Ulcers Cured

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, of 29 Sheridan avenue, Toronto, states, "About eight years ago I hurt my leg near the ankle, and the result was what the doctors called varicose ulcers. I was treated in two Toronto hospitals, and sent away without being cured. From the very start Dr. Chase's Ointment helped me and by persistently use it has entirely cured me."

Lightning Starts Blaze At Juniper Island Store

Struck the Coal Oil Barrel, Setting it on Fire---Barrel Was Upset, Spilling Quantity of Oil.

EXTINGUISHED BY WATER

Lightning almost caused a disastrous fire at Stony Lake the other day during a severe electric storm, by striking the rear of the Juniper Island store belonging to Mr. T W Robinson. The fluid confined its attentions to the coal oil barrel at the back of the building which was completely upset. The oil began to run out and what was more dangerous it caught fire.

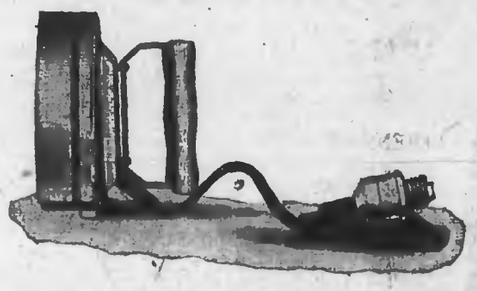
For a few moments the whole store was in danger of being burned. Mr. Clayton Chown, who is employed there, came to the rescue and with a few pails of water the fire was extinguished. The lightning struck about three o'clock in the afternoon during one of the most severe storms of the season at the lake.

Clothes Iron Invented By Two Peterborough Men

Remarkable Piece of Mechanism in One of the Most Improved Irons---Messrs. Collier and Cunningham the Inventors---To be Known as the "Automatic" Iron

Peterborough must be congratulated upon having manufactured within its limits the only electric clothes iron on the market that has an automatic cut-off within the iron itself. But what is more worthy of congratulation, and more remarkable is the fact that Peterborough also is the home of the inventors of the electrical apparatus of the interior, and of the cut-off, which gives the instrument its prominence.

The iron is now manufactured in the Pre-payment Electric Meter Company's works, and the inventors are Messrs. W. H. Collier, B.A., M. E.E., the manager of that company, and A. B. Cunningham, its mechanical superintendent. The two men have been working jointly on the scheme for several months, and now they have an iron on the market, which is superior to any manufactured, either in the United States or the Dominion of Canada.



The "Automatic" iron as it appears when the switch cuts off the current

An Examiner representative visited the place of manufacture of the irons yesterday, and was surprised to see the simplicity of the device, and the perfect manner in which it operates. There are some new features in its construction thought out by the local inventors, which makes it one of the most unique and best irons for sale to-day on the American continent.

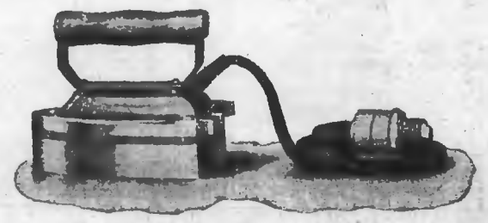
The feature of the instrument is, of course, the automatic cut-off, which is an altogether new idea and placed in such a position that the current can be cut off in a moment, simply by placing the iron on its heel. It is placed in the iron, too, in accordance with Underwriters' rules, and is an improvement on the electric iron, invaluable to the house wife who is seeking for the most modern appliances.

On account of this automatic switch the current is on only when the iron is in actual use, thus saving a large amount of energy. It is well known that in ironing at least half the time is occupied in arranging the material, so that a great economy of energy is effected. This saving in itself, it is estimated, would soon equal the price of the iron.

A Cool Handle

The iron is so constructed as to prevent radiation of heat upwards. A thick abestos pad is placed just above the heating element, and below the top casing. This keeps the handle perfectly cool at all times, and permits the hand coming into contact with the upper metal portion, without fear of burns. This conservation of the heat produces by actual experiment, great economy in the energy as the iron, though cut off from the current, will remain so hot on its base as to forbid touching it an hour afterwards.

Most of the irons now on the market are so delicately constructed, that in order to produce a "rapid" iron, the danger point is reached, and if the iron is left alone for ten minutes with the current on, a burn out will probably result. With the "Automatic" iron this cannot possibly happen. Even if the current were not cut off by the little switch which presses against a spring in the interior, there is practically no chance of it burning out. Proof of this was shown the Examiner by an experiment now in progress. On July 23rd, an iron was placed under current and has remained in that position ever since, day and night. The heat, of course, is tremendous, yet the coils of wire in the interior are yet intact, and the iron is perfect. A test of the automatic cut-out is now in progress at the works, and has already operated over 20,000 times without deterioration.



The "Automatic" iron with current on, ready for use

A Severe Test

Such severe tests proved beyond a doubt the great durability of the iron, and also indicates its vast superiority over other like articles on the market to-day.

The inventors have certainly produced an article which will command respect in Canada, as it has already done in Peterborough, where a number of the housewives have tested, in a practical manner the iron, and who declare it to be the best they have seen.

The manufacturers are making two kinds — the aluminum and the nickel plated. The former sells at $5 retail, and the latter at $6. By dropping a card to the company the work of the improved iron will be at any time demonstrated.

Grand Trunk Engine Struck Runaway Truck

An Exciting Experience Related by Passengers on the Train From Port Hope Last Night.

ONE MAN WAS INJURED

Passengers who came to the city on the 5.33 G.T.R. train last night from Port Hope tell of an exciting experience which occurred at the Port Hope station, just prior to the departure of the train. Several of the passengers and others were placed in a perilous position for a time.

One of the employees of Mr. James Haw was bringing a truck down the platform when he lost control of it and it went out on the track. The 4.20 train pulled in before the truck could be removed and hurled it across the platform. It struck another truck which was loaded with trunks, etc., near the men's waiting room and the contents were scattered in all directions.

Mr. W S Bletcher was at the door and was struck by a flying trunk and knocked on the waiting room floor. Another gentleman who was waiting for the train was pinned to the wall by a trunk and rendered unconscious for some time.

Those who witnessed the mixup are confident that the engineer saw the truck and could have easily brought his train to a standstill and thus avoided an accident which might have proved very serious.

weapon, however was not sufficient, and the woman decided that her best means of escape, lay in her sprinting abilities; and, abandoning her berries, she took to her heels, and ran as rapidly as she could to the edge of the wood, and home. The bear, however, was apparently bent on her destruction, for he followed, and she states it was a race for life. The faster she ran, it seemed the faster the bear came after her, and fear lending strength to her limbs, she covered the space between the place where she first met the bear and the edge of the woods.

Mrs. Baxter, however, did not slacken her speed, but ran to the nearest building, which happened to be the blacksmith shop of Mr. William Arthurs, where, in an exhausted and half fainting condition, she told her story. Knowing that Mrs. Baxter was safe, the next thought of those to whom that lady told her story was of the other women and children still in the woods, and, as they supposed, liable to be attacked by the apparently infuriated bear. There were, probably, fifty other women, many of them with young children, still in the swamp, and Mr. Arthurs, with one or two men who happened to be near at hand, started off in the direction of the swamp to warn, and, if necessary, protect, the women still there. They were blissfully unconscious of the narrow escape from a tragedy which had transpired within a short distance of them, for none of them had seen Mrs. Baxter's flight, nor the bear. It needed, however, no second invitation for them to decide that home was the best place for them, and the woods was soon cleared of all the Janetville women.

A Search Party

The next question confronting the men of the village was the discovery and despatch of the animal, which had so nearly effected a tragedy. A party was quickly formed, headed by Mr. Wm. Arthurs, Mr. J. R. Burns, Mr. George Hutchinson, Mr. Richard Granby and Rev. Mr. McConnell of Rothwell, who was visiting at the home of Mr. Arthurs, and, armed with rifles and shotguns, and accompanied by a number of dogs, they started off for the woods on a hunt for the bear. They found evidences of the presence of the animal Mrs. Baxter described. The pail, in which the berries had been, was empty, and the pail was battered. The bear had evidently come back for the berries, and the footmarks were plainly seen. The trail was lost, however, and, after spending two hours scouring the woods, the party returned, driven home by darkness.

Bright and early this morning the search was resumed, though, and a new party was organized. Many of the youths of the village and all the shotguns and rifles that could be gathered together were in the woods all day, and they were accompanied by an large number of women, too, the experiences of Mrs. Baxter the day before apparently not having frightened them.

One of Colony

The affair was the sole topic of conversation in the village to-day, one resident suffering from a painful attack of neuralgia, forgetting his pain long enough to give the newspaper man a graphic account of the affair from his standpoint, and stating his belief that there was a colony of bears living in the woods, and that it would be dangerous to enter the swamp unless one was well armed.

Mrs. Baxter's experience recalls the last time a similar one which another resident of the village met with about two years ago in about the same place. The bear, however, was killed, but it is thought that the one which made its appearance yesterday is a member of the same colony.

No occurrence in years has so stirred the village as the exciting experience of Mrs. Baxter, who is the heroine to-day. She has been living in the village for a number of years, and is known by everyone living in this community. She is a comparatively young woman, and her husband is engaged in farming operations.

SATURDAY MARKET MUCH IMPROVED

An Increase in the Number of Buyers and Sellers

The market this morning was like its old-time self, with a fairly large crowd of buyers and sellers. The truth is that the former were in the majority, and there was soon a dearth of many products. Berries were bought for whatever price was asked, and the farmers, with pails of berries, soon disposed of them. New potatoes of excellent quality sold at 25 cents a peck. Butter was 23 and 24 cents, and eggs 17 cents. There was a rather plentiful supply of fowl.

WILD FIRE RAGES IN NORTHERN TOWN

Town of North Bay Falls Victim to the Flames.

FORTY-MILE GALE BLOWING

Foolhardy Man and Pickpocket Placed Under Arrest—Business Section Almost Entirely Wiped Out—Loss Heavy and Insurance Light—Fire Laddies Worked Heroically Under Difficulties.

North Bay, Aug. 3.—While a fierce gale of wind was raging yesterday, fire broke out at 10.30 in the tailor shop of T. H. Campbell, the second store of the Gilmour Block, and, spreading with rapidity, was not checked until 1 o'clock, when the Gilmour and Richardson blocks were smoldering heaps of debris.

The fire originated from gasoline used in cleaning garments, and Campbell was seriously burned.

The firemen worked heroically in blinding smoke and blistering heat, and succeeded in preventing the flames from spreading to the Purvis Block, adjoining. They were helped by a firewall, which checked the attack of the flames.

J. W. Richardson's large brick block, occupied by him entirely as a hardware store, was the first building to go.

Of the Gilmour Block, adjoining, only a few bricks remain of the front.

The rapid spread of the flames prevented much salvage, and the stocks in the burned stores are almost a total loss.

One man was arrested for stealing while the fire was in progress, and another intoxicated individual was placed in the lock-up for safe keeping, having been rescued by the firemen for attempting to climb along a narrow ledge on the second storey.

The Richardson Block was valued at $6,000, with $4,000 insurance, divided between the Liverpool, London & Globe, Union and North British & Mercantile companies.

Richardson's hardware stock was valued at $25,000; insurance $14,300, divided between Guardian, Canadian, Sun, Commercial Union, Norwich Union, Home, Montreal, Canada, North British & Mercantile and Atlas companies. The stock is a total loss.

The Gilmour Block, owned by J. E. Gilmour, was valued at $6,000; insurance $3,000, in Monarch, London, Mutual and Standard companies; total loss.

T. H. Campbell carried insurance of $700 on household effects. Very little was saved.

J. W. Smith, druggist, carried a stock valued at $3,000; insurance $1,000; part of the stock was saved.

T. H. Mulligan, clothing merchant, had stock valued at $5,000, and insurance of $3,000. Some of the stock was saved.

NAVAL GUN EXPLODED.

Breach Blew Out on French Warship, Killing and Injuring Many.

Toulon, Aug. 3.—Three men were killed and seven others wounded by the explosion of a gun during target practice yesterday on board the French training ship Couronne.

The breach of a 100-milimetre gun was blown off. The recoiling mechanism of the gun failed to work, and the breach was shattered into a thousand pieces.

The chief gunner and two of the gun crew lost their lives. Of the seven man wounded, two are officers.

Minister of Marine Thompson admitted yesterday that some of the large calibre shells used during the recent naval manoeuvres in the Mediterranean had exploded prematurely. He said the reason was that old black powder had been used. The present ammunition will be reloaded with mellinite, which explodes only on concussion.

Diver Suffocates.

Windsor, Aug. 3.—Marshall Townsend, a diver, was suffocated by the parting of his air hose while in twenty feet of water near Algonac yesterday.

There was no warning of the accident, which was only discovered after Townsend had failed to respond to signals and had been hauled to the surface.

His features were horribly distorted, and showed that he must have suffered agonies before losing consciousness.

NO COAL.

Looks as Though Northwest Would Again Suffer Fuel Famine.

Cleveland, Aug. 3.—The northwest will suffer a more severe coal famine during the coming winter than the record-breaking one last year, which cost so many lives, according to local coal shippers.

It is declared that the inability of the railroads to supply the boats with enough coal and the great demand for ore, occasioned by the closing of the strike of ore handlers, will bring about a far-reaching shortage of fuel at the upper lakes. With good fortune the region out beyond the upper lakes will have from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 tons of coal less than it will require, according to estimates.

Ohio shippers are rushing fuel to the upper lakes ports in every vessel they can charter. Since the opening of navigation shipments to the head of the lakes are considerably greater at this time than a year ago. A prominent mine owner said yesterday:

"There are now 100 big ore carriers up the lakes awaiting cargoes. They cannot get away till the ore reaches the docks, which means a delay of perhaps 10 days. Those huge vessels when they reach Ohio ports with ore are not going to take back coal.

"No vessel owner who is not under contract to carry coal will wait for a coal load, so the northwest probably, even with 12,000,000 tons of coal on the docks by Dec. 1, will experience another fuel famine before next spring."

CROWNED HEADS MEET.

Elaborate Preparations Made to Ensure Safety of Nicholas.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—Emperor William of Germany and Emperor Nicholas of Russia are to meet to-day in the Baltic Sea off Swinemunde.

Emperor William will be on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, and the Russian Emperor on his yacht, the Standart.

The German Baltic fleet will be present to give color to the occasion.

The German authorities are taking every precaution to ensure the safety of the Russian Emperor. A large number of marine policemen will be sent to-day from Stettin to Swinemunde to do guard duty on shore.

The Nordeutscher Allegemeine Zeitung publishes a welcome to Emperor Nicholas at the head of its columns yesterday evening. It announces that the Russian sovereign is coming for several days of friendly intercourse with Emperor William. This meeting is pre-eminently personal in character, the paper says, it is dictated by no specific political purpose, and there is therefore no occasion for any one to view it with distrust or suspicion. In conclusion the paper says:

"The German people see in this meeting an expression of the hearty relations existing between the houses of the two rulers and between the two countries, that are bound together by many mutual interests."

PULLS OUT.

Richardson Withdraws From Idaho Case on Account of His Associate.

Denver, Col., Aug. 3.—The News yesterday says that E. F. Richardson of Denver, who was one of W. D. Haywood's counsel at Boise, has withdrawn from any further connection with the defence of officials and others of the Western Federation of Miners.

"The whole sum and substance of the matter is that I cannot endure Darrow's methods," said Richardson. "If I do not sanction Socialism, at least not when it is coupled with trying a legal suit; especially when that case is a murder case and means a man's life."

Money for Mexico.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—It is said that the visit of Eugene C. Creel, Mexican ambassador to the United States, who has gone to Ottawa to discuss with Sir Wilfrid Laurier some developments in connection with the relations of the Dominion and the great Isthmian republic is of great financial significance.

A large amount of Canadian capital has been invested in Mexican enterprises, both electric and mining, and Mr. Creel, who has during the principal part of his life been closely associated with Mexican banks and railways, desires to effect alliances between the banks of which he is the controlling spirit in Mexico, and the principal banking institutions of Canada. The object of this alliance is a freer inflow of capital from Canada to Mexico.

Mr. Creel had conferences with the heads of the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Commerce and other financial institutions.

Pure Food Congress.

Paris, Aug. 3.—When Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry in the United States Agricultral Department, returns to Washington he will recommend that the American Government call an international pure food congress to establish international food standards. He says the French Government is favorable to this scheme.

While in France Mr. Wiley has investigated the use of sulphate of copper in peas and other vegetables exported to America.

Followed Her Mother.

Kingston, Aug. 3.—About 24 hours after her mother's death, Mrs. Bedborough of Picton, aged 54 years, suddenly expired. One of her sons, Charles, was a crack hockeyist of Picton.

THE "ALL RED" LINE ASSURED

Lord Strathcona Reaches Home and Applauds Project.

BRITAIN PREPARING FOR IT

Canada's High Commissioner Talks on the Dominion's Prosperity—The British Government Is Friendly But Is Not Yet Ready to Adopt the Preference—Favors Halifax Summer and Winter.

Montreal, Aug. 3.—"Naturally I have to keep in daily touch with the Dominion, and I cannot see but what this present prosperity which we are now enjoying all over the country will continue for several years to come. This is, in fact, but a repetition of what took place in the United States after they had recovered from the effects of their civil war," said Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, who reached the city yesterday morning, accompanied by his daughter, the Hon. Mrs. Howard.

Lord Strathcona compared the position of the Liberal party of England under William Ewart Gladstone, with its radically changed policy under Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and stated that, although they had not advanced so far as to adopt the preference policy, they were distinctly friendly to the colonies, and especially to the Dominion of Canada.

This, he thought, was clearly manifest, when they readily adhered to the idea of meeting the representative men of the colonies every four years for the purpose of discussing questions of importance to both the Motherland and the colonies, and also when they consented to the principle of what has been named the "all-red line."

Speaking at length on this matter, Lord Strathcona declared that there was nothing to indicate any change of attitude on the part of the British Ministry since the day they gave their consent to this great project at the recent conference. The British Government, through the Colonial Secretary and other Ministers, accepted this project, which they no doubt realized would be of the greatest possible benefit to the Empire as a whole, and he believed that this adhesion would be carried into practical effect in due season.

He said, however, that the project was a very serious one, and one of supreme importance, consequently nothing could be done in haste and without a mature consideration of every phase of the question. While it was quite true that he had the greatest confidence in the project, it was a mistake to say that he had ever pronounced himself in favor of any particular British port. He, however, always favored Halifax as the Canadian terminal port, and when his lordship was asked if this remark meant all the year round his lordship replied, "Yes, all the year round," and then he went on to calculate the time that a fast railway train should take to make the run from Halifax to Montreal, and arrived at the conclusion that when the track and roadbeds of our railways are put in first-class condition, as they, of course, must be, to admit of such a service, the run will be easily made in from 15 to 16 hours.

"Yes," he added, "the trip across the Atlantic will be made in four days, and from Halifax to the commercial capital of the Dominion in two-thirds of another day, making the route pre-eminently the fastest from the old to the new world."

Outlook Unpromising.

London, Aug. 3—(C.A.P.)—The London Daily Mail says the outlook for the all-red route is unpromising. No definite decision has been reached, but The Mail alleges that all departmental investigations show that economical stability could not be ensured for the scheme. Members of Parliament therefore are beginning to doubt if the scheme can be carried out.

Coal Field Found.

Prince Albert, Sask., Aug. 3.—The finding of coal in the Eagle Lake country has revived coal excitement here. Some years ago coal was discovered in Shellbrook and also in the Colleston districts. In Colleston loose coal can be shoveled up by the wagon load. No thorough effort has been made to exploit the field, but now that Eagle Lake coal district has been defined steps are being taken to explore Colleston.

Brazil Wants Hotels.

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 3.—A bill granting special privileges to anyone who will put up a hotel in any of the principal towns of Brazil, and then conduct it in accordance with a specified standard, was brought forward in the Chamber of Deputies.

Foreigners In the West.

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Yesterday was the national holiday of Iceland, and two thousand natives celebrated at River Park.

A Norwegian vice-consulate is to be established here and also at Regina and Calgary.

Becomes International.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—In order that all metal moulders may become members of the organization, the Iron Moulders' Union of North America, in session here yesterday, changed its name to the International Moulders Union.

Struck by Lightning.

Cayuga, Aug. 3.—George Ferguson of the township of Oneida, had his barns struck by lightning and totally destroyed together with fifty tons of hay and seven loads of wheat in the straw and one horse and all his implements.

Dundas Cadets Win.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—In the cadet series of competitions of the Canadian Military Rifle League, Dundas High School won first place, Guelph Cadet Battalion second, and Ottawa Public School third.

There were twelve entries for this, the first year, of a series for cadets. They shoot on their own ranges.

York Ginger Ale

is made of ideally pure York Springs Water and sugar, with pure vegetable aromatics and Jamaica ginger-root. There is hardly another drink so allaying of thirst; and it is a mild and healthful stimulant.

The quality of the ginger and aromatics used accounts for the spicy pungency, the fragrant aroma, and the delicious flavor of York Ginger Ale. The purity of all the ingredients accounts for the good this beverage does people with weak stomachs.

But all ginger ale doesn't owe its flavor to ginger root. Too much of it gets pungency from cayenne pepper (capsicum).

Too much of it has the harsh, corrosiveness of vitriol, instead of the healthful acidity of lemons.

Some ginger ale is sickly-sweet with saccharine. The use of saccharine is prohibited in those countries where pure-food laws are enforced. Pure sugar, of the best quality, sweetens York Ginger Ale.

You run risks when you drink cayenne-peppered ginger ale—and the more of it you drink, the dryer your throat gets. It burns, not refreshes.

You run risks when you drink ginger ale dosed with glucose or sugar-substitutes,—upsets your digestion, affects your kidneys.

But you run no risk when you drink this pure, honest, wholesome York Ginger Ale, though you pay about the same for it as for spurious ginger ale. Look at the label so you can be sure you get the purest, most aromatic, most refreshing ginger ale made. It is safe to drink, inexpensive to buy, sure to satisfy, when it is labelled

York Ginger Ale

Is better—yet costs no more

Made of York Springs Water and purest ingredients, under conditions of scrupulous cleanliness. Ask for York Aromatic, York Sweet, or York Dry (not sweetened) Ginger Ale. Good stores, good hotels, good clubs can supply the ginger ale you will like. so6

Ideally Pure York Springs Water is the basis of these beverages: York Springs Water (natural), York Sparks (York Springs Water charged with purified carbonic gas), York Ginger Ale, York Sarsaparilla, York Soda, York Potash Water, York Aperientis (the perfect laxative)

Synopsis Of Canadian North-West HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

LATE DEVELOPMENTS MAY MEAN WAR

Two Squadrons Summoned to Action at Morocco.

DEMAND HEAD OF THE PASHA

France and Spain to Co-operate in Humbling the Sultan—A Genuine Holy War Seems Likely to Be Precipitated — M. Clemenceau Says France Will Be Guided by Two Main Considerations.

Paris, Aug. 3.—An extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet to discuss the Moroccan situation was held yesterday afternoon.

Foreign Minister Pichon expressed himself in favor of immediate energetic action by France to secure reparation for the murders of Europeans at Casablanca and to insure the safety of the Europeans still there. In so much as France and Spain are charged, by the Algeciras agreement, to act together in the matter of policing Casablanca, M. Pichon advocated, as a first step, proposing to Spain the immediate landing of French and Spanish troops at the scene of the massacre.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was announced that France and Spain had reached an agreement to concentrate the squadrons on the coast of Morocco.

The French newspapers, excepting the Socialist journals, are unanimous in demanding that the Government take decisive steps to enforce respect for France in Morocco.

Some newspapers express the opinion that Germany will not now stand in the way and think the time is ripe to abandon M. Delcasse's policy of "specific penetration," which they contend has served only to arouse the hatred of the Moors for the French, and march straight to Fez.

La Republique Francaise says that unless the head of Maelamin Pasha, the governor of Casablanca, is obtained, a genuine holy war is likely to be precipitated, and that this would endanger Algeciras.

Vienna, Aug. 3.—M. Clemenceau, the French Premier, who is taking the cure at Carlsbad, has given out an interview on the Moroccan situation, in which he says that France will be guided by two main considerations in dealing with the situation arising from the Casablanca murders. First, she will, if possible, find a peaceable solution of the difficulty, and, secondly, she will only take action in agreement with the powers who took part in the Algeciras conference.

FOY TO FIGHT.

Will Urge Ontario Government to Meet G.T.R. on 2-Cent Fares.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—The Ontario Government will be represented by counsel before the Supreme Court in the event of the Grand Trunk Railway carrying an appeal to that body against the decision of the Railway Commission of Canada that the Grand Trunk is obliged by the terms of its original charter to run at least one train each way between Toronto and Montreal and carry passengers thereon at the rate of two cents a mile.

Attorney-General Foy yesterday announced this decision. He told a reporter that he would recommend to the Government that counsel be appointed to represent the people of Ontario in opposing the appeal.

He said he was not in a position to say anything further at this time.

Earthquake Prophesied.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 3.—A serious earthquake is prophesied to take place in Uruguay on Aug. 6.

Cause of Unrest.

Chautaugua, N.Y., Aug. 3.—Bishop Henry G. Potter of the Protestant Episcopal Church of New York spoke on "The Church and Social Unrest" here yesterday.

The causes for the social unrest of the country, Bishop Potter said, are popular education, the industrial revolution and extravagance in expenditures.

He declared that there can be no more righteous arraignment of the church to-day than upon its indifference to the physical, mental and social needs of the working people.

The church should be related by profound sympathy to social problems, said Bishop Potter, and it is the duty of the church to create a more benign and fraternal atmosphere through the inspiration of individual members of a Christian ideal of sympathy, honor and social service.

Was Criminally Negligent.

New York, Aug. 3.—A coroner's jury yesterday charged President Ralph Peters and General Superintendent Jno. C. McCrea of the Long Island Railroad with being responsible, through criminal negligence, for the death of Dr. Edward J. Gallagher and Miss Helen Madigan, who were killed by a train at a crossing.

Died at 104.

Detroit, Aug. 3.—At Alpena, Mich., yesterday, Mrs. Mary Kruigilla, aged 104, the oldest woman in that section, died. She was born in Germany. Two daughters and 25 great-grandchildren survive.

Her father lived to be 125.

Stole $600 Worth of Pigeons.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE LONDON TRAGEDY.

Coroner's Jury Say Building Collapsed Owing to Alterations Made.

London, Ont., Aug. 3.—That the said Wm. Thomas Tambling came to his death in the City of London in Brewster's store on the 16th day of July, 1907, by the east wall of what was known as the Crystal Hall building falling eastward on the said Brewster store, and destroying it, thus causing the death of said Wm. T. Tambling.

"And we further find from the evidence that the collapse of the said Crystal Hall building was caused by a portion of the middle wall of the ground floor of the said building giving way as a result of certain alterations that had recently been made in the said wall on the floor above."

The above was the verdict rendered by the jury enquiring into the cause of the recent disaster.

Wm. Murray, the architect who had charge of the changes, was recalled and gave evidence as to the strength and carrying power of the pillars which were placed in the building. Mr. Murray figured that it would have taken a weight of 300 tons to break down the columns. They were ten feet four inches long, five inches in diameter and of three quarter inch cast iron metal. They supported the double girders and were tied where they crossed.

IN DEATH STRUGGLE.

Fierce Fighting Between Japanese and Koreans at Seoul.

Seoul, Aug. 3.—Thursday a battalion of Korea soldiers, resenting disbandment, at a given signal attacked three mounted Japanese officers, who had arrived at Little West Gate Barracks to demand the surrender of their munitions.

Two of the Japanese officers escaped on horseback. The third one fell from his horse and escaped afoot when the firing began, and the Koreans sallied out of Little West Gate into the street, but were forced to retire under a Japanese fire from the tower gate.

Gen. Okaziki ordered out reinforcements, and the barracks and adjacent buildings were invested. There was continuous sniping and also fire from the Japanese machine guns.

The entrances to the Japanese section of the city have been under a heavy guard of gendarmes since midnight, and troops and machine guns are stationed in all the streets.

Gen. Okaziki believes that he has ample troops to control the situation. The other three Korean garrisons have not mutinied.

The invested quarter is adjacent to the consulate quarter, which is protected by a strong cordon of Japanese troops.

249 OWNERS.

Shrewd Hotel Man Seeks to Down Local Option With Many Votes.

Neepawa, Man., Aug. 3.—The little local option town of Neepawa is seething with excitement over an attempt at the revision of the voters' list to add 249 names to the list.

D. Hamilton, who has been proprietor of the hotel, presented the names stating that the hotel had been sold to a stock company of 249 persons resident in Winnipeg, who, he claimed, had purchased his hotel and block of land adjoining in shares of $100 each and were entitled to vote upon it. The names were entered, but the matter will be keenly contested before Judge Ryan on Monday.

As there are only 500 voters in Neepawa, the additional names could carry everything.

The temperance people claim that the names consist principally of hotelkeepers and bartenders of Winnipeg. Citizens claim that the temperance question is but a small matter in the issue, and that if these outsiders can vote they can rule the town from Winnipeg, defeat any bylaw, incur any expense, or elect any council or school board they desire.

Awning Saves Life.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—An awning at the Queen's Hotel saved the life of seven-year-old Roddie Buell, son of George M. Buell of Rochester, N.Y., a guest of the Queen's Hotel. The lad in playing at a three-storey window in some way overbalanced and fell out.

The awning, which shades a window on the ground floor broke the fall and the little fellow rolled out upon the soft sod of the hotel lawn unhurt.

Electrocuted.

New York, Aug. 3.—George Wesener, employed by the New York & New Jersey Telephone Co., was instantly killed by electricity at Mineola. Wesener held one end of a measuring tape, made of linen or cotton and coated with a sort of shellac, while his assistant climbed a pole with the other end. There was no metal on the tape. When the man aloft let go the tape it struck a high tension wire.

Housebreakers at Cornwall.

Cornwall, Aug. 3.—A daring case of housebreaking took place here yesterday afternoon, when the residence of Thomas McGill, manager of the McGill Chair Co., was entered during the absence of the family and servants, and considerable jewellery carried off.

Cause of Race Suicide.

Chautauqua, N.Y., Aug. 3.—John Graham Brooks, author-Socialist of Boston, believes the cost of living to be the chief cause of race suicide, according to an address he made at the Chautauqua assembly.

Launch Goes Over Dam.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Aug. 3.—Five persons were drowned Thursday night by the capsizing of a launch in the Des-Moines River.

The boat became unmanageable in the strong current, due to the high water, and finally the engine broke down altogether. The boat then drifted over the dam and crashed into the rocks below.

Suicide on Temagami.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Aubrey White, Deputy Minister of Mines, received word yesterday that Wm. H. Moore of Brockport, N.Y., committed suicide a few days ago by shooting himself on island 984 in the Temagami lakes. He had been ill and accompanied by Dr. W. J. Gott had gone north. The body will be sent home.

Worry and Suicides.

Woodstock, Aug. 3.—James Smith committed suicide on the farm of his brother William of Glandford Township, near Ratho, by hanging himself in the barn.

Despondency and worry over his physical condition is believed to be the cause. Smith came home from California a couple of years ago, and has since been in very poor health.

Danced With the King.

Belleville, Aug. 3.— Mrs. Margaret Helferly is dead at the age of 85.

She was for 60 years resident in Belleville, and claimed to have danced with King Edward when he was in Canada 47 years ago.

Judge Clement Resigns.

Windsor, Aug. 3.—Judge Clement has forwarded his resignation to the Minister of Justice, to take effect in September, when he will return to Berlin and become vice-president of the United Life Assurance Co.

REPLY TO ATTACK OF MR. PARKS

Ontario Churchman Refers to References of Visitors to the Anglican Church in Canada

THE PARISH POLITICS

The Ontario Churchman, a monthly churchpaper owned and edited by Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P. Kingston has the following to say regarding a speech delivered at a social church gathering by an English "firebrand" who was paying a visit to this country.

At a lunch given by Toronto Methodist churchmen, leaders like Hon. Geo. Cox, Speaker Crawford and H. H. Fudger, to R. W. Perks, M. P., of London, Eng. this much elated gentleman departed from the graces of a complimentary social occasion to vault from praises of Methodism to attack upon the Church of England. He has reported as saying

"In the majority of the Anglican churches in England were to be found all the appurtenances of Roman Catholicism. There were the station of the cross, the confessional and the mass. Incense was regularly burned night and day. The Clergy were robed in vestments gorgeous and ornate. The doctrines taught were Roman Catholicism pure and simple. Prayers were said for the repose of the souls of the dead. The right to interpret the scriptures was denounced and the little children were taught the tenets of the Church of Rome."

The chairman of the gathering was H.H. Fudger, a member of the Canadian council of the Men's Missionary movement, a union of undenominational forces not possible in England, but working happily in Canada. It was execrable in this Englishman, the visitor of a few days, to bring the bitter parish politics of the old land into that company, or even into Canada, where hostilities have practically ceased and where there is a tendency to union, even though beset with almost insuperable difficulties. It recalls two similar outbursts of late years ,by a Methodist and a Congregational delegate from England to church gatherings and which met bitter resentment.

Apart from the bad taste the statement of this gratuitous firebrand was gross exaggeration of the state of a very small proportion of the English churches. As a statement it is a falsehood, malignant and indefensible. One evidence alone is sufficient—the great advances in the low-church diocese of Liverpool, whose cathedral is also being built with unprecedented strides. The Church has its divisions in the old land as here, and judged by the greatest missionary society of the world, the C.M.S., the moderates are not only giving and a growing party, but vastly in the majority, since "the good old S.P.G.," contains thousands of that class in her fold. Evidence to controvert the bearer of false witness appear in another column of this issue,—the outline reports of a number of low-church societies, auxiliaries of the Church at large; then can be read month by month records of numbers of new church buildings, parish halls, benevolent institutions, the gifts of churchmen singly or in numbers together. The givings to hospital Sundays and at other times are in the proportion 100 to 1, compared with Methodism. The Church in England is a reverent, a sane, a growing church about which the truth can be invited from its enemies. Local bitternesses can be worked out in the old land by men more interested and better able to judge them than Canadians, who are a happier - community religiously and should unite in warning off disturbers who have sur-charged feelings to relieve.

PROTEST GAMES WITH THE BEAVERTON TEAM

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club is forwarding to the secretary of the C. L. A. a notice of protest against the Beaverton Lacrosse Club, on the grounds of the alleged professionalism of Mollie, who is said to have played with the Barrie hockey team against the American Soo team. The protest will in all probability be dealt with at once. Should the two games with Beaverton be thrown out on this account, the locals, if they win from Young Torontos, will stand a good chance for the district championship. The fact that a protest has been entered will increase the interest in the game here on Monday with Young Torontos.

Shop Without a Name.

In the Devonshire town of Modbury there is a butcher's shop which has no name nor has it had one for the last 120 years. The reason affords a striking illustration of the superstitious nature of west country folk. When this particular business was started, the owner for some reason or other did not have his name inscribed on the premises. Whether this fact had anything to do with the success of the business or not it would be difficult to say. Trade, however, was brisk, and the butcher duly retired, leaving the nameless shop to his son. The business has been handed down from father to son for more than 120 years, but none of those into whose occupation it has come would have his name put up on any consideration, fearing—as, in fact, the present owner does today—that such a procedure might break the spell of good fortune with which the business has been favored.—London Standard.

Those Who Tie Knots.

Can any one tell why the landlubber in tying a cord around a package or anything else will always make a granny knot instead of a square not? We all do it in spite of thunder. To tie a reef knot or sailor's knot requires thought and experience. Yet it is as easy as a granny knot. Never believe for a moment that sailors are the only people in the world who can tie knots. Go to an operating theater in some big hospital and take note of the skill with which surgeons and even nurses employ bandages and ligatures. Learn from them how to tie the clove hitch, the combined surgeon's and reef knot, the Staffordshire knot, the common surgeon's knot, the friction knot, Hensen's knot, Tait's knot, etc.

Carefully Selected.

One of the most remarkable features of life in New South Wales is the transformation of criminals into hard-working citizens. Of the 30,000 settlers there in 1821, 20,000 were or had been convicts. It is said that on board an American liner a boastful Australian asserted loudly and over and over again that "the men who settled Australia were a remarkably sensible lot."

"Yes," said an American quietly, "I have always understood that they were sent out by the very best judges."

Preparing For Dinner.

One of the residents of the town of Idvor was noted for his parsimony. Let us call him Mr. Wiggles. There was an old major in Idvor who said to his valet one evening, "Go and tell the cook to get me ready a chop and a poached egg." "Pardon me, major," said the valet, "but have you forgotten that you are dining with Mr. Wiggles tonight?" The major frowned. "Yes," he said, "I had forgotten it. Tell the cook to make it two chops and two poached eggs."

FRIGHTFUL TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED AT JUNIPER ISLAND

Young Lady Almost Crushed Between Steamer and Wharf—A Young Peterborough Man Rescued Her.

A MINISTER'S STORY

Social Happenings of Interest at the Lakes—Preparations for the Annual Regatta.

Special Staff Correspondent.

Stony Lake, Aug. 5.—The arrival of the Saturday evening boat at the Juniper Island landing almost brought with it a tragedy, which would have cast a gloom over the whole lake. The steamer Empress was drawing in towards the wharf, and as there was a large number on board there were many eagerly awaiting the opportunity to be the first to join the merry dancers. One young lady, who apparently had not made many voyages in her life, came dangerously near falling into the lake between the boat and the wharf. Leaning far out over the edge of the gangway, she missed her balance, and was only saved from tumbling into the lake by the alacrity of a young Peterborough gentleman. She was caught before touching the water, and saved from being crushed against the wharf.

Socially, the past week at the lakes has been an important one. In addition to the regular evening dances at the pavilion, several parties have been among the most delightful rounds of pleasure experienced by the younger population. On Friday evening Miss Alberta Gooding, of Strathormond-on-the-Lake cottage, entertained about forty guests on the steam yacht "Alberta" to a sail among the islands. Refreshments were served in the Juniper Island pavilion, where also they joined in a dance most pleasantly arranged.

On Friday evening, too, the Misses Kidney of Grassy Island were the hosts at an informal tea that proved an interesting and enjoyable event. These were only two of many youthful gatherings during the past few days, which may truly be called the social week.

Accommodation at the greater number of the hotels and boarding-houses at the lake is now at a premium, and unless the tourists have had the foresight to book ahead there is often heard the brief remark of the proprietors, "Sorry, filled up." Two or three steamers coming up on Saturday had their busiest trips of the season, and, with the probable exception of next Saturday, will eclipse any week-end trip of the year. The total number to go up on Saturday was put by one of the captains at 300.

The Sunday services were held as scheduled yesterday, including the song service in the evening at Stock's cottage at the southern part of Stony Lake. The atmosphere was more chilly than usual, so that the large gatherings which characterised the past song services were wanting. One of the reverend gentlemen who conducted some services yesterday had an interesting story to tell—not from teh pulpit—of an experience with a porcupine, in rowing from Burleigh Falls across the lake. The animal that carries the tooth-picks was swimming across a four-hundred yard channel east of Burleigh, when the skiff and its occupant passed over it, swimming for the opposite shore. The minister on landing discovered that considerable paint had been scraped of the keel by the quills of the fretful animal.

The morning religious services at the pavilion were well attended. They were conducted by Mr. Anson, of Toronto. The sermon was preached by Rev. W. H. Wallace, Toronto. During the service solos were sung by two of the Quarrington Bros., New York, who will also sing at the pavilion concert next Saturday evening.

The big event of the season, the Stony Lake regatta, will be shown to the lake population on Monday, August 12th, Peterborough's civic holiday. Great preparations are being made for the event which bids fair to break all past records in size and interest.

Mr. L. M. Watson, of Berlin, is a guest at Wenonah, Sheriff Hall's cottage.

Mr. C. Currier came up on Saturday afternoon to Minnewawa cottage.

Messrs. F. D. Kerr, Peter Campbell and F. R. Yokome, were guests at Strathormond-on-the-Lake yesterday.

Mr. W. F. Nelson spent Sunday at his cottage on Clear Lake.

Miss Marion Elliott is spending two weeks at Ispheming.

Mr. O. Dumble came up on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Ernest Wilson, of Peterborough, is staying at the Victoria House.

Mr. W. G. Meldrum came up to his cottage, Cairndhu, on Saturday.

Dr. A. W. MacPherson of Toronto, is a guest at Mr. Irwin's cottage, Headlands.

Mr. A. Meyers was a guest at Rockport cottage over Sunday.

Mrs. C. B. Routley, and Miss Helen camee up to their cottage on Saturday evening.

Messrs. Thomas Fletcher, turnkey of the Buffalo gaol, John Fitzgerald, city claims attorney, Dennis Donaly, Michael Lourgie and Patrick Jan of Buffalo, all civic officials, came up to Mount Julian on Saturday evening's boat. They intend going on a fishing cruise to Loon Lake before returning.

While the natural delights of Stony Lake, as a summer home for Peterborough people, cannot be overestimated, there are, however, some things which detract very materially from the ideals of a true summer resting place and health builder. There is beginning to be, and, in fact there now is, a decided departure from the simple life — a matter of great regret to those who have had homes on the lakes for years — who are old-fashioned enough to be sensible, and to desire the perpetuation of the restful dolce far niente that has, to some extent, prevailed in the past; where the trammels of fashion and "style," which rule us with an iron hand at home, can be cast off, and primitive and comfortable attire, and attitude of intercourse, and ease of action, prevail. It is to be noted that, in too many instances, the social dissipation, the social whirl and devotion to dress, that obtain at home, in the city, are simply translated to the lakes, and in proportion to the assiduity with which they are followed, rob a stay at the lakes of the recuperative, health-restoring and health-building effects, which, under proper conditions, are inevitable. The idea that "dress makes the man"—or woman—is responsible, no doubt, for the loss of life, that is, the "simple life," at the lakes. For instance, one sees in the congregations that gather at the pavilion to worship on Sundays, ladies in "silk attire"—if not in literal silk attire, in a style of dress quite equivalent, and equally as incompatible, with the proper object of a lake sojourn en villegiature, as a claw hammer coat or gown en traine would be at a picnic. As much, and more enjoyment, can be gained at the lake, dressed in Tustian, and print, as in expensive and fashionable garments. Good taste in dress, broadly consists in being decently attirtire, in conformity with the circumstances, occasion and environments. To sum up the matter: in the words of an old lake dweller—"there's altogether too much style at Stony Lake for comfort," admirably describes the situation.

In Protecting Her Child She Received Injuries

Serious Runaway Accident Which Occurred at Hall's Glen on Saturday — Mrs. Geo. Forbes Hurt.

JUMPED FROM BUGGY

Special Staff Correspondent.

Hall's Glen, Dummer, August 5.—This village was stirred with excitement on Saturday evening by a runaway, which has caused considerable trouble in the family of Mr. George Forbes. He in company with his wife and three children, one of whom was an infant in its mother's arms, was driving along the road a short distance from McCracken's Landing, when the horse became frightened at two little girls whose hats were decorated with cedar bushes.

The steed soon became unmanageable and in a quick turn sideways, Mr. Forbes fell out and under the buggy, but still retained the reins. He was dragged a distance of some 400 or 500 yards with his feet braced against the front gear of the buggy in an effort to stop the much frightened animal. He emerged from this precarious position with many bruises distributed all over his body, but it is believed that none are of a serious character.

Mr. Forbes' wife, however, did not fare even as well as he did. Her whole energies were bent on protecting her babe from injury, and to do so she jumped from the vehicle to the ground, breaking both bones of the ankle. She was taken to Mr. David Madill's residence at Hall's Glen, where medical aid was summoned from Warsaw.

Another Of Pick-pocket Gang Reported To Have Been Here

Gave the Name of Harry Linden at Local Livery Barn, Where He Was Working—Did Not Appear to be Used to Stable Work.

HE HAS LEFT THE CITY

It seems that the connections of the pickpockets in Peterborough are endless and that they will not be forgotten on account of the train of circumstances that they have left behind them. The latest report is that one of the men who were arrested in Toronto and given bail and latterly forfeited it by disappearing, was for a time in Peterborough. He is reported as having worked at one of the local livery stables, giving the name of Harry Linden. His appearance, conversation and language were such that they were noticed by several people and commented on as being unusual in a man accustomed to cleaning buggies. He amused the other men in the barn by stunts that are usually done by those intimate with the stage and the general opinion was that he was not used to stable work. The police are said to have had their suspicions of the man and, whom it was announced that he jumped his bail, they were on the lookout for him. The picture of the Toronto man and the young fellow who was in Peterborough were very similar and a gentleman who saw them, states that he thought it was the very picture of the man.

It is also learned that they went east to Montreal and eluded any watch that may have been placed upon him.

Matrimonial Troubles Were Responsible For Rash Act

After a Disagreement With His Wife George Waller Tried to Commit Suicide.

HE TOOK PARIS GREEN

The Lindsay Post says:—Goaded almost to despair by continual household quarrels, and partly to intimidate his wife, George Waller, a well known mason and bricklayer residing on Regent street, attempted to commit suicide last evening between five and six o'clock, by taking Paris green, it is supposed.

The poison was taken in the presence of his wife, after a disagreement. Fortunately for him, his efforts at self-destruction were unsuccessful, and he is improving today. He became violently ill after taking the dose, and a doctor was called. Convulsions followed, and it took three men to hold the victim.

Waller is a man of about 40 years, and a clever tradesman. He has lived for years in Lindsay and has one child. Recent illness and matrimonial difficulties, it is said, led him to attempt the rash act. Neighbours say that if Waller would work harder, and keep away from the hotels, the household would be a happy one.

AN INJURY TO AN ORGANIST

Mr. R. J. Devey Fell over Hydrant at St. John's Church

Mr. R. J. Devey, organist of St. John's, tripped over a hydrant near the sidewalk on the vestry side of the church last night after Evensong. The tumble inflicted considerable injury to the right knee, and incidentally ruined a new suit. Adding a few pins to complete his dress under the altered condition, Mr. Devey limped off home, haughingly remarking, "It might have been worse," but from enquiries this morning it is learned that the injury caused a sleepless night and will need careful attention during the next few days.

LAKEFIELD MINISTER AT ST. JOHN'S

Rev. W. J. Creighton Preached at Both Services

The services at St. John's church yesterday were taken by Rev. W. J. Creighton, of Lakefield. All the services were largely attended, the choral work of the choir fully maintaining the high standard of the music in both the Office and Offertory. Maunder's Hymn-Anthem, "Unconquering Kings" was admirably given last night. The soprano solo was sung by Mrs. R. J. Devey with skill and expression. The voluntaries on the organ were Bach's "Heart Ever Faithful" and Batiste's "Offertory in F."

An Anecdote of Agassiz.

On one occasion a person entered Professor Agassiz's room with a picture which he desired to sell, denominated a "Birdseye View of Cambridge." The professor contemplated it for a moment, lifted his eyes, looked at the vender of the picture, and said, with his characteristic accent, "Well, I thank my God sat I am not a bird."

An Explanation.

She presented herself at a fashionable wedding.

"Friend of the bride or the bridegroom?" asked the usher.

"I'm the fiancee of the organ blower," she explained, blushing.

Couldn't.

Orator (excitedly) — The American eagle, whether it is roaming the deserts of India or climbing the forests of Canada, will not draw in its horns or retire into its shell.

And Hadn't Lost It.

Her Husband—You were a good looking woman when I married you. She—Yes, I had the advantage of you even then.

Every substantial grief has twenty shadows, and most of them are shadows of your own making. — Sydney Smith.

RASPBERRIES ARE A GOOD CROP

This is the Report Received From the Eastern Part of the County—Havelock Merchants Complain of the Dust

OTHER HAVELOCK NEWS

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Aug. 3—The Ladies' Aid of teh Methodist church will hold a "Ten Cent Tea" on the parsonage grounds on Thursday evening. Tea will be served from half past five until eight o'clock.

The raspberries are very plentiful this year on account of the recent rains and are of a fine quality, large firm and juicy. Every morning one can see a band of early risers with old clothes and large straw hats carrying a couple of pails in each hand quickly walking along the streets making their way to the berry patch, seeing who can get there first and get the choice fruit. In the evening the same band can be seen on the same street only going in an opposite direction, walking wearily along laden with the fruits of their day's labour. They will be done about Saturday of this week.

The merchants of town are complaining considerable about the dust on the streets which blows into the stores and making it impossible to keep either goods or the store itself clean. If arrangements could be made to have only the principal streets watered it would prove satisfactory to the merchants.

The half holiday on Wednesday afternoon is working well in Havelock and is appreciated very much by the clerks and merchants themselves who are indeed benefitted by a half day off each week during the warm weather. Each Wednesday sees a general exodus of a large number of people in town to the surrounding rivers and lake, or on some excursion or picnic.

Messrs. Elias and H. Williams have taken possession of their cottage at Trent Bridge.

Mr. John Hawe and family are spending a few weeks in camp at Trent River.

Miss E. Chandler, of Toronto Junction, is visiting friends in town.

Miss Bertha Bryans is spending a few days with friends in Norwood.

Mr. Fred Doherty was in town on Wednesday.

Mr. P. McCann, of town, has been engaged by the C.P.R. as caretaker for the grounds at the station.

Misses E. Chandler and A. Bryans spent Wednesday in Norwood.

Messrs. Dineen and Martin visited friends in Norwood on Wednesday.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

HEAVY TRAFFIC TO STONY LAKE

299 Persons Carried on Two Trips on Saturday—Largest Number of the Season

Saturday was a record day for traffic on the Lakefield trains. It is possible that the number carried on that day on the noon and evening trips will stand as a record, next to the traffic of next Saturday, (before Civic Holiday,) for the season. On the noon train 150 tickets were taken, and on the evening train, there was just one less, 149, for the two trips 299 persons travelling to Lakefield. It should be stated, too, that in each case that number of persons travelled in two coaches, both of which were crowded, and many passengers had to stand in the aisles and on the platforms outside the doors even.

WARM WELCOME FROM Y. M. C. A. MEN

Rev. E. A. Pearson Spoke at Men's Meeting Yesterday—"A Man's Aim" His Subject

Rev. E. A. Pearson, B.A., (the new pastor of the George Street Church was warmly welcomed at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon when he gave his first address to men. He spoke on "A Man's Aim," basing his well-chosen and effective remarks on the life motto of Paul, "For me to live is Christ." Mr. J. F. Thornton led the song service, which was very hearty.

RIFLE CHRISTIAN GRAVES.

Europeans Attacked In Morocco—Situation Grows Serious.

Tangier, Morocco, Aug. 5.—The situation at Casablanca grows steadily worse. Two steamers arrived here Saturday, bringing refugees—the Constantin, carrying 250 Jewish and a number of French refugees, and the other steamer with four hundred persons, including many Europeans.

All those arriving here report conditions as most alarming, the town still being in the power of the natives. All the Europeans of Casablanca have been aboard the steamers anchored in the harbor, and panic reigns in the town.

The refugees were not permitted by the natives to leave in peace. In spite of the presence in the harbor of the French cruiser Galilee, a large body of Moors attacked the Europeans as they were embarking. They appeared, however, to fear reprisals, for they soon desisted, and, proceeding to the Christian cemetery, dragged a number of corpses from the vaults and began to burn them. A body of troops arrived and opened fire on the Moors. A number of them were killed and the band was dispersed.

At the request of the consular corps here, the warship Galilee, in the harbor, desisted from bombarding the villages and re-embarked her landing party. The consuls feared reprisals.

To Release MacLean.

Tangier, Aug. 5.—The statement has been obtained from a high native source that Sir Harry MacLean, who has been a prisoner in the hands of the bandit, Raisuli, for about a month, probably will be released the end of this week.

Caid Mehalla, for the Government, has fought another successful engagement with the Kmass tribesmen. He took many prisoners and heads. The losses sustained by the Government troops, however, were severe.

RIOTS IN ITALY.

Government Threatens to Impose Martial Law.

Rome, Aug. 5.—The Government is threatening to impose martial law in a number of towns in northwestern Italy, unless the violence in connection with the anti-clerical agitation at once comes to an end.

At Mantua a crowd of manifestants pillaged some churches and burned several sacred objects, and at Turin a workman attacked and wounded a priest in the street.

At Savona there were violent anti-clerical manifestations, and the guard over the prison, where the Salesian fathers from Varazz, who are charged with immoral practies, are locked up, was reinforced to protect them from the mob.

The fire in St. Anthony's Church at Spezzia, set by an unruly crowd, was extinguished and the church is now guarded by a detachment of sailors.

The clericals charge that the free masons are conducting a campaign against them among the masses, and the director-general of the Salesians has entered suit against the newspapers that published the alleged exposures. He has also asked the Government to conduct an investigation of these charges.

Priests Used Revolvers.

Rome, Aug. 5.—At Sampierdarena a crowd attacked the Salesian Colleges with stones. Seven priests in the building got together and replied with revolver shots, whereupon the mob broke down the doors and swarmed inside.

The situation of the priests was dangerous for a few moments, and they were only rescued by the timely arrival of troops.

Anti-clerical demonstrations were announced for Saturday in a large number of Italian towns.

WAS IT SUICIDE?

Mysterious Message Received From Missing Man, Native of Erie.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 5.—Through the aid of the postoffice officials of Toronto, Canada, the local police officials have succeeded in clearing up the mystery of the disappearance of a prominent man.

It is now thought that John McCall committed suicide near Toronto, although no clue to his whereabouts was disclosed until Postmaster Sobel of the Erie postoffice received a card from Toronto, which bore there words, "Committed suicide; if you find it, send word to my mother that I am dead.—McCall, Erie, Pa."

This note was written on the back of a ticket of a Toronto theatre. The card was found on Toronto Island.

McCall disappeared some time ago, and the police notified his parents yesterday of his death, although no foundation as to whether the body was found or not has been received.

St. Catharines, Aug. 5—John White, an Indian, whose home is at Caledonia, but who was working on a fruit farm near Jordan, was struck by a train while walking on the Grand Trunk tracks Saturday evening and instantly killed.

Fatality at Cobalt.

Cobalt, Ont., Aug. 5.—Alexander McIsaac, a machine man on the Temiskaming & Hudson Bay mine, was killed Saturday morning by falling down the shaft.

He had just come to the top in the bucket with another employe, and it is supposed he slipped when stepping out of the bucket. He dropped 10 feet. When picked up by the foreman he spoke, but expired immediately after.

McIsaac came from Dartmouth, N.S., where his sister resides. His father and mother are also living, at Halifax. He was about 40 years of age, a widower, and belonged to the Cobalt Miners' Union. His son died last spring in Nova Scotia.

Many Injured In Mine.

Homburg, Aug. 5.—An explosion of fire damp Saturday in a mine at Mittelbexbach, six miles from here, resulted in a report that 18 men had been killed. A rescuing party found the missing men alive, although unconscious. Many men were injured, but none were killed.

Queen's Good Wishes.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 5.—King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince of Wales and the royal party yesterday inspected the steam barkentine Endurance, which is to bear the exploring expedition commanded by Lt.-E. H. Shackleton to the Antarctic. Queen Alexandra presented Lt. Shackleton with a Union Jack, with an autograph letter which said:

"May this Union Jack, which I entrust to your keeping, lead you safely to the south pole."

The Original Organ Grinder.

When barrel organs, once the usual accompaniment of the magic lantern, came into use a native of the province of Tende was one of the first who traveled about Europe with this instrument. In his peregrinations he collected money enough to enable him to purchase from the king of Sardinia the title of count of the country where he was born, for which probably in a time of war he did not pay above 1,000 guineas. With the remainder of his money he purchased an estate suitable to his rank and settled himself peaceably for the remainder of his days in his mansion. In the entrance hall of his dwelling he hung up his magic lantern and his organ facing the door, there to be carefully preserved till they moldered to dust, and he ordered by his will that any one of his descendants who should cause them to be removed should forfeit his inheritance and his patrimony revert to the next heir or in failure of a successor to the hospital of Tende. Only a few years ago the organ and lantern were still to be seen carefully preserved.

The Manchester Martyrs.

Along in '67 or thereabouts some Irishmen tried to rescue a bunch of Fenian prisoners in Manchester, and a police sergeant was shot and killed. The prisoners got away, which may have had something to do with the upshot too. The government was naturally sore, and they managed to hang three of the rescue party without too much fine haired fuss as to whether they had anything to do with the shooting or not. At that time Fenians and Nationalists were at daggers drawn, and the church was heavy against the Fenians, of course, but they were all one, one in agony and shame over those Irish boys strung up in an English town. All their helplessness, all the bitterness of England's might, England managed with those halters to drive festering deep afresh. Think of a town the size of Dublin turning out a funeral procession of 60,000 people, and think of how those 60,000 Irish were feeling when I tell you they were quiet—quiet in those streets where the lowest hovels had hung out their bits of green-twined black.—McClure's Magazine.

The Ingredients of Zutoo

One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach, and there is nothing better.

Among the other ingredients there is not one that did not come from old Mother Earth herself.

There is not one that is not approved by both the British and American Pharmacopoeias,—the highest medical authorities in the world.

There is not one that your family physician, even if a personal friend, would not approve of and prescribe.

If you are using some other headache remedy, why do you not change and use Zutoo instead?

It will cure your headaches and colds just as quickly and safeguard you against the bad after effects which may some day come from using the ordinary remedies. Zutoo tablets

Some men prefer the square-cornered Coat but do not like the superfluous goods that must be in the double-breasted coat. For these we advise the straight front coat. It is natty and fills the above requirements.

The Trousers for Sack Suits are cut moderately full at the knee, tapering to the bottom and with a permanent turn-up on those of the Outing Suit.

N. B.—Few men realize the amount of good that is derived from having their clothes properly pressed and we advise that this be done at regular intervals.

IN OPEN DRUNKENNESS CITY COMPARES UNFAVOURABLY WITH OTHER AND LARGER CITIES

That while possibly there may be no greater amount of drunkenness in Peterborough in proportion to the population than in some other places, the charge was made last night in the Charlotte street Methodist church in the course of the sermon by the pastor that there were more drunken men to be seen on the streets of this city than in Toronto. The deplorable fact about the situation too, he remarked, was that there did not seem to be any determined effort being made to improve the conditions, which were appalling.

It was his conviction, too, that if the dishonesty and secret immorality existing in this city were made public it would be found that only a very small fraction of the violations against the laws of God were taken cognizance of by the laws of the land.

During the delivery of the sermon the cause of early closing in the stores on Saturday night was commended, and the practice of late shopping was strongly condemned. It was included among the sins enumerated as those against which a fight should be made.

A great injustice, he said, was being done the business men of the city, by the patrons of the stores. There was no reason why the grocers, for instance should have to remain open on Saturday nights until midnight. It was a positive sin on the part of the public to pace the streets hour after hour and leave their shopping until late into the night, the result of which is that the clerks and particularly the delivery men have to work sometimes until into Sunday, and are thus robbed of their Sabbath.

Carelessness Nearly Had Most Disastrous Result

Farmer's Hired Man Dropped Lighted Match in Shed and Only for Prompt Action it Would Have Burned.

WARNING TO FARMERS

An Otonabee farmer reports to the Examiner a narrow escape of his barns from total destruction by fire, through the carelessness of his hired man, an English immigrant. He had warned the man, he said a number of times on the danger of smoking around the buildings. His warnings, however, were apparently of no effect for on Friday, after lighting his pipe in a shed, he dropped the lighted match in the straw and left it burning. The farmer's wife, who happened to be standing in the doorway of the house noticed smoke coming through the cracks and raised the alarm of fire. Her husband heard it and, expecting something of the kind was soon on the spot. With a few pails of water the fire was extinguished and little damage was done, fortunately. The fire, taken in its early stages, was easily extinguished, but had it been unnoticed for a very few minutes the barns worth $2,000 would have been destroyed.

It is perhaps unnecessary to add that the farmer gave his employee his wages and his walking ticket.

He relates this incident as a warning to other farmers who may have men in their employ who do not appreciate the great risk they are running by smoking around barns and stables.

VERY SATISFACTORY REPORT

Ald. Johnston Tells of Conditions in Labour Matters in Peterborough During Month of July

ALL TRADES WERE ACTIVE

The report of the labour conditions in Peterborough during the month of June, as supplied the Labour Gazette by the local correspondent, Ald. W. J. Johnston, gives indication of the fact thatt he situation in this city is encouraging. In this report Mr. Johnston says:

For employment of all kinds, no month this year has exceeded June. Every person who wanted work could get it. The tourist season was commencing and from present indications will exceed that of last year. The dredging of the river is being carried on, and the city is taking the dredgings to fill in along the water edge. Stone, concrete, excavation and brick work is being pushed on the new armouries, Collegiate Institute and the North Ward school. The Bell Telephone Company has awarded contracts for the erection of a new exchange building to be completed this year. The city is laying many miles of sidewalks and sewers. The building trades and all shops were very busy. Transportation, both by rail and water, was never better; hundreds of cords of wood were being brought into the city from the country districts in scows by the Trent Canal. Wholesale and retail trade was active. The Ackerman strike remains unchanged. Teamsters wages were raised from $3.25 to $3.65 per day; cement mixers from $1.00 to $1.15; plasterers are asking for an increase from $3 to $3.25 per day. The Peterborough Canoe Company was very busy manufacturing skiffs, canoes and steam launches, shipping consignments to New Ontario, Western Canada and the United States. The George Matthews Company is making extensive iterations, and is building an addition to its plant. The Ontario Coal Company is building a new siding into its plant.

The new furniture factory recently erected has already a number of orders on hand. The Colonial Weaving Company which has been in business here for some years, requires larger quarters as its business is growing very rapidly. This company is asking the city for a free site and a fixed assessment, and intends to build a factory 60 x 200 feet, costing $12,000, also to employ 60 instead of 40 hands, as heretofore. Repairs in three stores costing about $6000, are under way. Permits have been issued for the building of over 150 houses, besides others for premises, costing between $200,000 and $300,000. Peterborough has a per capita manufacturing output of $7.33, the best showing of any industrial centre in Canada.

Condition of Local Industries

Agriculture. — Summer fallowing and the cultivation of root crops were in progress. A considerable quantity of oats were marketed at 52 to 55c a bushel; eggs brought 17 to 18 cents a dozen, and butter 26 to 28c per lb. The florists were very busy.

Fishing, Lumbering and Manufacturing. — These industries were all active.

Mining. — The mining industry was somewhat dull.

Railway Construction and Employment. — Railway work was confined to keeping the railways in repair.

Condition of Particular Trades

All were very busy, except gas and steam fitters, who were active.

Metal Engineering and Shipbuilding. — Busy conditions prevailed with the electrical workers, who were very busy, and iron moulders, boiler makers, ship workers, bicycle workers, tool sharpeners, horseshoers, and jewellers, active.

Woodworking and Furnishing. — All were actively employed.

Printing.—All branches were busy.

Clothing. — Journeymen tailors were active. Garment workers, hat makers, boot and shoe makers, were busy.

Food and tobacco Preparations.—Bakers and confectioners, butchers and meat cutters, and ice handlers were very busy; broom makers and barbers were active, and furriers dull.

Transport. — Railway workers in all branches were active as were all others coming under this heading.

Unskilled Labour. — This class experienced busy conditions.

District Notes

Cheese making and butter making is now in full progress throughout this district. Two thousand nine hundred and eighty-nine boxes of cheese were turned out from the Peterborough district factories, at 111 5-8c per lb., and 1254 from the Victoria factories, at 11 1-2c per lb.

Produce was very high, hay selling at $15 per ton loose, and $18 baled. Potatoes brought $1.35 per bag, and other produce was equally high. Root crops were receiving attention. The grain crops never looked better, everything pointing to a bountiful yield.

Nerves Gave Out, Almost in Despair

TWO SEVERE CASES OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION WITH WHICH DOCTORS COULD DO NOTHING CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Mr. Wm. Graham, Atwood, Ont., writes: "My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration, and we had two of the best doctors we could get, but neither of them did her any good. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep, and lost energy and interest in life. She was almost giving up in despair, when a friend advised a trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed an improvement, and after using six boxes she is completely cured, and as well as ever she was—eats well and sleeps well, and feels fully restored. I cannot say too much in praise of this valuable medicine, and am satisfied that my wife owes her life to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." This cure is certified to by Mr. C. H. McFarlane, druggist, Atwood, Ont.

Mrs. Ald. Stevens, Burgessville, Oxford County, writes: "Two years ago last November I was run down, and did not know what was wrong. I could not sleep nor eat, and at last my nervous system gave way entirely, and I had to go to bed. The doctor told me I had nervous prostration, and, though he doctored me for some weeks, I did not get any better.

"I then began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the time I had used six boxes I was entirely cured. People remarked how well I looked, and I said, 'Yes, and I feel well, that is the best of it, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did it.'"

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures diseases of the nerves in the only natural and effective way—by enriching the blood and creating new nerve force; 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—A

FURIOUS DRIVING IN WARKWORTH

Complaint Made That the Sanctity of the Sabbath is Broken Into

The duties of a constable in Warkworth must be lighter than in many other towns, judging by the fast driving which is permitted on our streets on Saturday night. Some of the young gentlemen from the surrounding country gather in and appear to consider the front street a race course, for which to speed their horses. If they ceased at nine-thirty or even ten o'clock, it would not be so bad; but when it is continued until the approaching Sabbath, and some of the drivers are filled with drink which is stronger than Adam's ale.—Warkworth Journal.

ENTERTAINED HIS WORKMEN

To Celebrate Successful Completion of Big Contract Mr. Fred Cook Gave Supper to His Men

At McCallum's Restaurant, on Friday evening, a little event took place which was a great pleasure to all who joined in it. On the invitation of Mr. Fred Cook eighteen of his men sat down to a sumptuous supper to celebrate the successful completion of Mr. Cook's painting contracts at the new transformer building for the Canadian General Electric Company. After supper the evening was devoted to songs and recitations, in which all did their best to contribute during the evening. Mr. Cook's health was drunk with musical honours, as was also the health of Mr. Clarkson, the architect. A pleasant evening closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

ASK FOR RELEASE OF ARMSTRONG

Former Cobourg Man Sentenced for 7 Years May Get Off

A petition is being circulated around town, asking for the retrial of a man named Armstrong, a former resident of Cobourg, who was sentenced at Napanee last week to seven years in the penitentiary, for an indecent assault on a ten-year-old girl, although Armstrong had previously borne a good character and stoutly contradicted the girl's evidence. Police Magistrate Rankin, formerly Cobourg's chief of police, tried the case. E. M. Field acted for the defence.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

ACCEPTABLE SERVICE RENDERED

Sermons Preached by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt in Oshawa Were Enjoyed

Referring to the fact that Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of this city, conducted the services in the Anglican church in Oshawa, a week ago yesterday, the Reformer says: Last Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt of St. Luke's church, Peterborough, conducted the services, and preached very acceptably to a fair sized congregation in St. George's church. The reverend gentleman who speaks with a decided German accent, is a forceful, thoughtful and earnest speaker. He also conducted the Bible class in the afternoon, and his explanatory remarks were heartily appreciated by all in attendance.

NO INJUSTICE IS INTENDED

Mr. Burnham, President of Children's Aid Society, Explains the Situation re Hilliard Farm

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Mr. Stenton quite rightly makes the protest in the newspapers, "that I had not his authority for statements" re the Hilliard house, attributed to me by the reporters.

Mr. Sawle, of the Review, and I, interviewed Mrs. Stenton (Mr. Stenton not being at home) who gave us to understand that if the C. A. S. paid the $10 or $50 which they had spent upon the house and a few other expenses incident to a change of residence, that her husband would not, she was sure, stand in the way of the children. This is what I stated to the Council. Recognizing that it was only a casual remark on my part, some of the members of the Property Committee of the Council observed that the Society could, in any event utilize the vacant portion of the house until the Stenton lease of the other part was up, which would be in April next. We have no desire to dispossess Mr. Stenton, but the City authorities do not seem to consider that his occupancy stands in the way of the proposed gift.

We appreciated the kindly tone of Mrs. Stenton with regard to the contemplated deal and we had a sure and certain hope of coming to terms with Mr. Stenton. He is protesting, no doubt in order to protect his rights, and it is, of course, proper that he should do so. No one has the least intention of imposing upon him.

Yours truly,
J. H. BURNHAM,
President C. A. S.

Soldiers to Guard Wagons.

Belfast, Ireland, Aug. 5.—About 250 of the disaffected police are to be exiled to remote parts of the country.

Saturday a number of wagons were overturned. In one instance a mob attacked a van loaded with bags of sugar and set it on fire. They then threw the wreckage off the dock.

In the evening a mob attacked a police patrol and attempted to rescue a prisoner. The police at first were driven back, but reinforcements arrived and a series of charges with clubs were necessary before the crowd dispersed. Several civilians were injured.

Beginning to-morrow the authorities have decided to use soldiers to protect vans and wagons.

It is expected the negotiations to bring an end to the carters' strike will terminate satisfactorily to-day.

Wide Discrepancy Shown In Tests Of Milk Supply

From 3 to 6 Per Cent. of Butter Fat Indicated by Official Analysis —Standard is 3.5 Per Cent.

NO INJURIOUS CHEMICALS

That reports on the tests of milk supplied the residents of the city, by the dealers, is published to-day, by the consent of the chairman of the Board of Health, under the direction of which the tests were made. Three samples of milk, taken from the milkmen's cans at different times, by Inspector Ball, were sent to Toronto, to the Provincial Analyst.

There is a wide variation in the report, and in this respect the test seems to be unsatisfactory. A prominent creamery and dairyman in the city informed the Examiner that at this time of the year, on a grass diet the milk should test from 3.4 to 3.6 per cent. butter fat. It will be seen that in the tests, the report of which is given below, some of the samples tested as high as 6 per cent. of butter fat. In the winter when the cows are on a grain diet, the percentage of butter fat will be higher, but the flow of milk, will, of course, be smaller.

The report on the milk supplied by the regular dealers is as follows, the figures representing the percentage of butter fat in each of the three tests made:

W. E. Stewart	4.00	3.50	4.00
Jas. Duffus	3.50	3.00	4.00
Richard Holland	3.50	3.50
Thos. Chapman	6.00	3.00	4.50

A. McEwen	3.25	3.50
Sexsmith Bros.	3.00	3.50
R. Cox	4.00	4.00	3.50

One test was made of milk from persons, who, in the majority of cases, keep but one or two cows, and sell to a small number of customers. These are as follows:

Mrs. Margeret Huston	4.00
John Scott	3.25
N. Bibby	3.50
Mrs. Armstrong	3.00
W. Eyres	5.75
Walter Head	2.75

The latter was reported as skim milk.

A private test was made of milk supplied by Mrs. Morrow, the test being made at her request. She does not sell milk. The report showed 3.5 per cent of butter fat.

A fact worthy of note in connection with the tests is the fact that in none of the samples was there any trace of injurious chemicals, such as formaldelyde, salicylic acid or borates.

Arranged Programme For Annual Regatta

Meeting of Regatta Committee of Stony Lake Cottagers' Association Held Saturday to Complete Programme.

SOME INTERESTING EVENTS

The Regatta Committee met at the pavilion on Saturday evening and completed arrangements for the annual regatta, which promises, if possible, to be better than ever before. The prizes this year will be exceptionally good. Arrangements are being made to have a first-class orchestra for the after-the-regatta dance on Monday evening. Special arrangements will also be made for a late boat and special train after the dance. The following will be the officials for the day:—Judges, R. Neill, S. Henderson and Hon. TOM LONGBOAT TO APPEAR AT TURF CLUB'S RACES CIVIC HOLIDAY

Mr. P. Clunan and Mr. Charles Nixon, of the Turf Club, announced to-day that Tom Longboat, the famous Canadian runner, will appear on Civic Holiday, at the Turf Club's races at the driving park, in a matched race with two other runners of repute. The races are to be held on two days, Monday, the 12th, and Tuesday, the 13th, and it is promised that some excellent racing will be provided, as in the past. The entries are coming in fast and the events should be fast and hotly contested. The Turf Club has acquired the reputation of putting up good races, and the two days sport that is close at hand should be witnessed by a large crowd. A running race is on the list, and this event in itself is a good drawing card with Peterborough turf followers.

Longboat, accompanied by his manager, Mr. T. C. Flanagan, were registered at the National, and arrangements made to give his exhibition with the other runners.

ORCHESTRA WILL BE GOOD ONE

Messrs. Turner and Sons Arranging for a First-class Orchestra for the Season

MR. NICOL IS THE LEADER

With the opera season close at hand, a few words about the prospects of the orchestra, may be of interest to those who patronize the Grand. The management this year intends to provide a first class orchestra, and it is their intention to keep them throughout the season.

A full announcement has not been made but some of the members of the orchestra have said that the public may look forward to a good orchestra. Mr. Nicol, the pianist, will be the leader, and his work of last year demonstrated that he is at home at this instrument. Mr. R. Beach will take care of the drums, and Mr. Walter Hughes will again take the cornet parts. Mr. Barnes, solo clarinet player, in the 57th band will, it is learned, play the clarinet in the orchestra, and Mr. Cunningham will again play the bass violin. Mr. George Howarth will play first violin, and Mr. Mendel will likely take the flute. This will complete the orchestra, every member of which is an artist with his particular instrument. It is suggested that a solo trombone may be added, but this is not authentic.

From the above the patrons of the Grand may see that Messrs. Turner & Sons intend to give the public some excellent music during the coming season. The orchestra is one of the strong points at any production and, especially, at the musical shows, will its strength be felt.

THE HEALTH OFFICER EXPLAINS

His Position in Connection With the Publication of the Milk Tests by Board of Health

Mr. Bingham, Medicah Health Officer, writes to the Examiner to explain his position with reference to the publication of the milk tests. He states that he did not say, as reported, that "dairymen whose milk was below standard had grounds for an action for damages," but that what he did say was that "if any dairyman whose milk was up to the standard of good milk, should be injured in his business by publishing the analysis, such an individual might have cause for action." The explanation, of course, is quite satisfactory.

GREAT FISHING AT RICE LAKE

Guests at Idyl Wild Hotel Have Been Lucky

The past week has been a busy one for the guests at the Idyl Wild Hotel. The fish have been biting well and the summer visitors have been taking advantage of this fact to haul in some beauties. A lunge weighing 34 pounds was caught on Wednesday by Mr. H. McLachlan of Keene. On Saturday a party had excellent luck, four lunge and one bass being the result of a few hours' work. The average weight of the lunge was 12 pounds. Mr. Ed. Graham and his party from Peterborough report having caught eight lunge, and one of the eight is said to have gone over 30 pounds. The weather has been ideal for fishing, and the Indian guides proclaim their belief that similar conditions will prevail this week.

Among the guests registered this week at the Idyl Wild Hotel are:—Mr. T Randall of Toronto, Mr. N. Sinkins, Toronto; Mr. S G Wadler, Toronto; Miss M K Foley, Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. W. Bryce and family, Toronto; Mrs. Wj Billowsons, Keene; Miss Mary Bryce, Keene; Mr. Lang, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Taber and son, Peterborough.

A party of 14 people arrived from Hastings on Mr. Welch's yacht.

ARRANGING THE PULPIT SUPPLY

Rev. E. A. Pearson Left To-day on Vacation—Those Who Will Occupy His Pulpit

Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of the George street Methodist church left to-day on a three weeks' vacation. He will occupy his own pulpit on Sunday, September 1st. The following pulpit supply has been arranged for the three Sundays during his vacation:—

Aug. 11.—11 a.m., 7 p.m—Rev Elwood Bowerman, of Whitby.
Aug. 18.—11 a.m., 7 p.m.—Rev. M. E. Wilson, B.A., of Dunsford.
Aug. 25.—11 a.m.—Rev. James O'Hara; 7 p.m., Wm. Might and G. H. Williamson, Secretary of Y.M.C.A.

Special arrangements, too, have been made for the prayer meetings, the following being the scheudle:—

Aug. 7.—Rev. James O'Hara.
Aug. 14.—Wm. Might.
Aug. 21.—Wm. Yelland.
Aug. 28.—Rev. James O'Hara.

AMERICANS ARE PLEASED WITH LAKES

Buffalo Newspaper Man Enthusiastic Over the Attractions Which That Region Has for Anglers

Mr. D. S. Taylor, city editor of the Buffalo Courier, who has been spending his vacation at Burleigh Falls, was in the city to-day on his way back to his American home. He was accompanied by Mrs. Taylor, and reports having had a delightful holiday. The fishing has been good, and he is not going home empty handed. This is Mr. Taylor's first visit to the Kawartha Lakes and he is enthusiastic over the attractions which that region possesses for the seeker after recreation and for the angler. He intends now to make an annual visit to Stony Lake. Buffalo people are gradually becoming better acquainted with the Kawartha Lakes, and with their deeper knowledge comes an increased admiration for them.

MISS STELLA DAVIS IS IMPROVING

Her Young Friends Expect to See Her Around Soon

The many friends of Miss Estella Davis, of Rubidge street, will be pleased to learn that her condition is improving and that the injuries received in the accident at the C. G. E. are not proving dangerous. It will be remembered that Miss Davis was injured on Friday the 26th of July, by a window falling upon her, inflicting injuries about the head. She was working in the lamp department and on the north end of the building there is a little circular window placed near the roof. A high wind was blowing that day and Miss Davis, who was on the second floor was struck by the window when it was blown from its position. Her condition was considered rather serious, but she is improving nicely now, to the pleasure of her many young lady friends.

While Making Landing on Stony Lake She Lost Her Rudder— East End of Stony Lake News

THE PAVILLION OPENING

Special Staff Correspondent.

Crowe's Landing, Stony Lake, Aug. 5th.—The formal opening of the East End Cottagers' Association's pavilion will be held this evening, and a great time is expected. There will be a concert by East End talent, addresses by some of the prominent public men of the district, and the programme will be brought to an end by a dance.

Miss Dot Hackett was the hostess of a delightful dance at Belle Chasse on Wednesday night. A number of the young people of the surrounding cottages were present, well as a contingent from Boschink. Music was provided by Miss Mabel Robinson of Montreal, and enjoyable songs were sung by Miss Jennie Winch of Montreal and Mr. M. Bennett of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Hales of Brandon, who have been the guests of Mr. R. Lees, at "Water Lee," returned this morning. Last week, Mr. Lees, accompanied by Messrs. Colin and Harold Lees, took a canoe trip to Jacks Lake and had a most enjoyable time. They were very successful in fishing, landing eighteen salmon trout.

Mr. Mitchell and family of Toronto, who are at Sunnyside, are having great luck with the lunge. On Friday they succeeded in hauling out five good sized ones.

The supply boat "Bobs" met with an accident on Saturday night which will put her out of commission for a few days. While making a landing, she struck a rock, loosening her rudder, which dropped off a few minutes afterwards in deep water, and the boat was stranded at Crowe's Landing until yesterday morning when she was towed down the lake.

All the games in the singles must be completed this week.

The mixed doubles have been drawn, and some of the ties played off this week.

ANGLING CLUB HAD FINE EXCURSION

Took Big Crowd to Rice Lake on the Steamer Otonabee

The annual excursion of the C.G.E. Angling Club was held on Saturday afternoon and proved the most successful in the history of the club. Some 250 people were on board the steamer Otonabee when she left Peterborough at 1.30 o'clock. The weather conditions were all that could be desired and the run down the Otonabee was all too quickly over. Supper was partaken of at Idyl Wyld after which the steamer went to Gore's Landing where she waited for the Peterborough baseball team who drove over from Cobourg. Peterborough was reached shortly after 11 o'clock, after a delightful sail. The outing was voted one of the most enjoyable of the season.

At Idyl Wild the feature of the stay was a tug of war between teams picked from the Tool Room and the rest of the shop. The latter won after an interesting contest. The teams consisted of 11 men a side.

On the return trip a drawing contest was held for a silk umbrella, which was won by Miss Patterson.

A SUCCESSFUL ANGLER

Mr. Robt. Howland, of Grafton & Co., is one of the most successful fishermen who calls Peterborough his home and this morning he gave further evidence of this fact by landing an eighteen pound lunge at Dam No. 5 while trawling from the shore. This makes seventeen lunge that Mr. Howland has annexed this season and twelve of them have been captured between Inverlea Park and the Quaker Oats Company's dam. Sufficient proof of the fact that fishing is as good near home as in regions afar.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH IN ROCHESTER

Mr. William Lewis Smith Passed Away at His Home

A very sad death occurred in Rochester at midnight on Friday night, when Mr. Lewis Smith, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Smith, of Bolivar street. Mr. Smith had been visiting in Peterborough and returned to Rochester on Tuesday and died suddenly on Friday. The parents received a telegram telling of the sad event, but giving no further particulars. Mr. Smith had been in good health when he left Peterborough and his sudden death came as an unexpected and unlooked for occurrence.

The late Mr. Smith was 27 years of age and was born in the vicinity of Millbrook. He was married three years ago to Miss Babbige, of Rochester and the family has been living in that city since then. There is one son to mourn his loss besides the bereaved wife. Mr. Smith's father and mother reside at 458 Bolivar street and the following brothers survive him—Harold, Cooper, Roy and Edgar, at home, and Delbert in Cavan.

Nothing has been learned about the funeral.

SHOT A PORCUPINE IN SMITH

Seven Shots, However, Were Necessary to Despatch the Animal

A hunter on Saturday afternoon on the 4th line of Smith succeeded in bagging a splendid specimen of a porcupine. It took seven shots, however, to despatch the animal, and the hunter was beginning to fear that his ammunition would run short before he should succeed in putting him out of business. The porcupine had a splendid showing of quills.

Had To Wade Ashore From Stranded Launch

Interesting Experience of Members of Eko Camp Club on Way to Stony Lake for Annual Outing

ACCIDENT TO THE ENGINE

Members of the Eko Camp Club, on their way to Stony Lake for their annual outing, had an interesting experience on Saturday afternoon. The club yacht, "Eko," was used to convey the members up the lakes, and early on Saturday morning started up the canal. Shortly after getting under way the line became entangled in the propellor, and some delay was caused on this score. Then another halt was caused because of the weeds in the canal. Finally, Lakefield was sighted, but the engine had gone wrong, and a member of the club who wanted to return to Peterborogh on the evening train, had to remove his trousers, and wade to the shore, to make connections leaving his late companions stalled in the middle of the river. A "wrecking crew" was sent up from the city this morning to Lakefield to put the boat to rights.

The members of the club had to spend yesterday in Lakefield, although their intentions were to proceed straight through to Stony Lake on Saturday night. The annual outing, however, resolves itself into a search for experiences, and this season promises to be a success in this respect, at any rate, if the initial of the outing can be taken as any criterion.

OMEMEE COUPLE TO CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

To-night an interesting event will take place at Omemee, when Mr. and Mrs. John McCrae, old residents of that village, will celebrate their golden wedding. They have lived for more than half a century in Omemee, and the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, will be celebrated in an interesting fashion. Seventy-five guests are expected to be present, and a large number will be there from Toronto. A party of which Mr. J. C. Eaton a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. McCrae, is coming from the Queen City, and the event in many respects, will be the most interesting in the history of that village.

GIRL CRUELLY USED BY BRUTES

Mysterious Assailant Still Busy in New York.

OUTRAGES CONTINUE DAILY

Five Hundred More Police to Be Added—Department Has No Clue as Yet—Women and Children In Terror—More Girl Victims—Accused Man Roughly Handled—Parents to Take More Care.

New York, Aug. 5.—The frequency and atrocity of crimes against women and children in New York in the past fortnight have brought about heroic measures.

Acting Police Commissioner O'Keefe issued orders Saturday directing every plain clothes officer on the force to lay aside all other work and devote himself entirely to efforts to bring to justice the perpetrators of these crimes. He ordered that house to house visits be made by all officers on regular beats and that parents be advised to keep their children under closer supervision. He also announced that he would ask the board of estimate and appropriation for an appropriation sufficient to add five hundred officers to the force.

The attacks on children recently have struck terror to the hearts of parents all over the city, and scores of cases of supposed attempts at assault have been reported to the police, which have no foundation, except in the fears of parents.

But notwithstanding the cases which have no foundation in fact there have been enough actual cases of assault on children to cause the police as well as parents much worry.

The police arrested four brothers, Thomas, Louis, George and James Esposito, believing that they could throw some light on the murder of little Katie Tietschler, whose mutilated body was found in a cellar on First avenue. Later all but Louis were discharged. Louis, when confronted with evidence that he was seen to emerge from the cellar, admitted that he cut wood there the day Katie disappeared. He also admitted that he knew the child and often spoke to her. Anna Messner, Rippolone, a shoemaker, and Bonfanta, his assistant, are still held by the coroner.

The police are convinced that the murderer of the child is some one who was well-known in the neighborhood, and who knew the little girl.

An Italian by name of Marias Sallo was arrested and held on a charge of attempted assault on Anna Rogers, a young girl living in Brooklyn. The girl says as she was walking down the street Sallo seized her by the arm and tried to drag her into a vacant lot. Her screams brought a crowd, who attacked Sallo and were only prevented from seriously injuring him by a policeman, who drove them back with his revolver.

The body of the young woman found in an areaway in East 90th street several days ago is still unidentified at the morgue.

Frank Powers, proprietor of a lunch room, was arraigned in Yorkville court and held for further examination. Three young girls testified that he offered them money to walk in Central Park with him.

More Outrages.

New York, Aug. 5.—Another murderous assault was added last night to the police record of recent crimes against defenceless women and girls. Last night's victim was Miss Ellen Bulger, a woman of middle age, who was attacked in her apartments in the Bronx, cruelly beaten and left in a helpless state.

There was evidence that the woman had made a courageous fight.

From what the police were able to learn from her, she was surprised by a smooth-faced stranger, perhaps 40 years of age. He was coatless and wore an outing shirt and dark trousers. He escaped.

Just before Miss Bulger was assaulted, George Kestner, a Russian, charged with attempted assault upon an 8-year-old girl, was set upon by a crowd of men, and all but killed. The clothes were torn from his body and he was taken to a station house, wrapper in a blanket.

Mohawks' New Chief.

Deseronto, Aug. 5.—The death of Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha having made vacant the post of head chief of the Mohawks on the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve, Joseph Hill, Jr., a cousin of the deceased, has been chosen as his successor.

The election was held at the Indian council house, with William R. Aylesworth, Government agent for the Bay of Quinte district, as returning officer. The polling was open, and took place between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Sampson Green, for many years a councillor of the Mohawk band, opposed the successful candidate, who is a young man, and had not previously aspired to a position in the council. There were 225 eligible voters, and 189 voted were actually cast, the kinsman of the late chief receiving 121.

MEN-O'-WAR PARADE FOR THE KING

King Edward Reviews Two Hundred Battleships.

WAS IMPOSING SPECTACLE

Magnificent Pageant at Opening of Cowes Regatta—Splendid Array of War Vessels—35,000 Officers and Men Present — British Bluejackets Cheer Their Sovereign—Decorated the Admirals.

Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 5.—The 200 ships-of-war constituting Great Britain's home fleet paraded before King Edward and Queen Alexandra Saturday on the Solent and incidentally furnished a magnificent pageant for the opening of the annual Cowes regatta week.

Spread out in long lines between the Isle of Wight and the Hampshire shore this splendid array of vessels, great and small, formed a steel city, with a population of 35,000 officers and men. Never before have so many British men-of-war been seen together under the control of a single admiral.

From the battleship Dreadnought down to the smallest submarine every vessel was decked from stem to stern with flags. The crews were assembled on deck and as the King and Queen, on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, passed down the lines, each ship's company gave a rousing cheer. For eleven miles up and down the King and Queen steamed between steel walls.

This gathering of warships forms the recently organized home guard section of the British navy and the Government and the Admiralty are so proud of the assemblage that they departed from the usual rule about visitors and threw the entire fleet open to the critical inspection of the public.

Dotted through the three central lines were no less than six flagships, headed by the pennant of the commander-in-chief, Vice-Admiral Francis B. Bridgeman. The five other flag officers were: Rear-Admirals Harry S. F. Niblett, Frank Finnis, Robert A. J. Montgomery, George A. Callaghan and Spencer H. M. Login.

The splendid naval panorama was completed by scores of pleasure yachts and excursion steamers, crowded with thousands of the general public, each with its band of music playing, helped to enliven an unusually attractive scene.

King Edward after the review decorated all the admirals taking part with the Victorian order, including Admiral George Stanley Bosanquet, who receives the cross.

FLAW IN RAIL THE CAUSE.

Freight Train Wrecked Near Grimsby—Traffic Delayed for Hours.

Grimsby, Aug. 5.—A flaw in one of the rails was the cause of a bad wreck on the G.T.R., about a half a mile west of the station, early yesterday morning.

Thirteen freight cars were derailed and considerably smashed up, completely tying up traffic both ways for the entire day and a good part of the night.

Five laden box cars were completely demolished, and it was found necessary to drag them to the sides of the track and burn them. About half their contents were saved, however, and two cars containing premium prizes, in the shape of fancy furniture and a large consignmentment of mail orders from the Larken Soap Co. of Buffalo, bonded through to Maine. One car was filled with watermelons, one with bananas, and one with hams, destined for Toronto. The damage to this stock was about 50 per cent.

The damage to rolling stock was estimated by a Hamilton official at $6,000.

The only casualty reported was the loss of two teeth by a brakeman.

The wreck occurred at 6.30 a.m. The train was westbound, drawing 30 loaded cars, and running a few minutes behind time. The engine and nine cars got over the break safely, but the rest of the train was either ditched or splintered into a heap.

The auxiliaries from Hamilton and Niagara Falls, and three detached engines worked from 9 a. m. until nearly midnight before the line was again clear for traffic.

HOUSING REFORM.

International Convention Begins In London, Eng., To-day.

London, Eng., Aug. 5.—The eighth International Housing Congress will be convened Monday in London, under the auspices of the permanent International Housing Reform Council. Invitations to participate in the congress have been extended to all European countries, United States, South America, Japan and the British colonies.

The subjects to be considered are general municipal ones.

Haywood Is Ready.

Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 5.—W. D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, when asked yesterday whether he was going to take a hand in the strike now on in the Hibbing and Duluth range district, said he would be subject to any order for the good of the Federation.

FORTY-ONE DROWNED IN WRECK

Train Plunges Over Bridge Fifty Feet Into River.

STONE RAILING GAVE WAY

Railway Disaster at Angers—Locomotive Jumped Track Dragging Cars With It—Conductor and Firemen Escape — Passengers Had No Chance For Their Lives—Were Caught as In a Trap.

Angers, France, Aug. 5.—Forty passengers in a third-class railroad car and the engineer of the train were drowned yesterday afternoon in a railroad accident, three miles southeast of this town.

The locomotive of a crowded local train jumped the track when entering the bridge over the River Loire at Des Pents-de-Ce. The stone railing gave way, and the engine plunged into the river, 50 feet below, dragging down with it its tender and the baggage and third-class car.

Fortunately no other cars went into the water, as the coupling between the second and third cars broke.

The conductor and fireman were the only persons whose lives were saved. They escaped by swimming.

The third-class car was filled with passengers, but, although part of the roof was blown off by the confined air as it sank, not a single passenger extricated himself, and all were drowned like rats in a trap.

The engineer perished beneath the locomotive.

WINNIPEG MAN ARRESTED.

Absconded But Captured on Steamer by English Sleuths.

Winnipeg, Aug. 5.—James Robertson, who is wanted here for alleged fraud, was arrested at Queenstown, Ireland, on board the Lucania, by Scotland Yard detectives. He left Winnipeg on July 2, with $1,000 belonging to Barry Cummings, one of his partners, and with another $1,000, the property of George Edwards.

It is also said that he carried on his business in the Ashdown Block here in an irregular manner, and may have to meet a number of cheques when he is returned to this city for trial.

FIVE KILLED—TWO INJURED.

Motor Cars Collide During Race With With Fatal Results.

Bordeaux, Aug. 5.—On account of accidents resulting from the efforts of the contestants to make speed, the Government has ordered that the Criterion Cup race come to an end. The cars had still 434 miles to go.

By the collision of two cars, five men were killed and two others mortally wounded. One of the cars was competing in the Criterion Oup race. It collided while running at full speed with a touring car. Among the men killed are the editors of two newspapers.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Automobile Ran Into Ditch Going at High Speed.

Middletown, N.Y., Aug. 5.—William J. Maxwell of Wurtsboro, and J. S. Fields of Port Jervis, were killed in an automobile accident at Cuddebackville late on Saturday. Mrs. J. C. Eglinger of Port Jervis was probably fatally injured and her three children were badly hurt. The automobile ran into a ditch while going at high speed, and turned bottomside up.

Protection From Autoists.

Paris, Aug. 5.—The frequency of automobile accidents in France has led to the formation of a society of protection against the abuse of automobiling.

They propose to circulate petitions throughout the republic which will be presented to Parliament.

The memorial will ask more rigid speed laws and other safeguards. Moreover, the new society will lend material support to the victims of irresponsible automobiliats in their efforts to secure reparation.

Farmers Burnt Auto.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Mobbed by farmers after their big touring car had accidentally run over a little boy, several prominent persons recently are said to have been driven from their automobile near Deerfield, Ill., forced to look on while the big auto was incinerated in a big bonfire that farmers built under it, and then compelled to walk two miles through the country before they could find an accommodating driver who would take them to the Moraine Hotel in Highland Park.

Charles Cain Drowns.

Ridgetown, Aug. 5.—Charles Cain, a clerk in the Craig store at this place, was drowned while bathing at Rondeau Park on Saturday, where he was spending his holidays. He was 20 years of age.

German Fleet Reviewed at Swinemunde—Police Precautions.

Swinemunde, Germany, Aug. 5.—Emperor Nicholas of Russia arrived in this harbor Saturday morning on the imperial yacht Standart, and was met by Kaiser William on the Hohenzollern, which was accompanied by the cruisers Koenigsberg and Stelpar, and a flotilla of torpedo boats.

Emperor William was advised by wireless telegraphy of where the Standart was cruising, and the yachts met at sea.

Emperor Nicholas called upon the German Emperor and was invited to remain on board the Hohenzollern and review the German fleet. The Hohenzollern, with its convoy of warships, then returned to Swinemunde, and the two Emperors reviewed the and the two Emperors reviewed the German fleet, which consisted of 18 battleships, seven cruisers, a number of auxiliary vessels, a flotilla of torpedo boats and minor crafts. A salute was fired in honor of Emperor Nicholas, and the crews of the German vessels manned the yards.

At about the time the review ended, the Standart steamed into the harbor, accompanied by an escort of Russian torpedo boats.

Emperor Nicholas lunched on board the Hohenzollern. The staffs of both sovereigns were present at the luncheon, after which the Emperor returned to the Standart. The German Emperor paid his return call to the Russian sovereign on board the Standart yesterday afternoon. The two sovereigns had a long talk. Prince Van Buelow, the German imperial chancellor, and W. Iswotzky, the Russian Foreign Minister, were present and took part in the conversation.

During the review the Swinemunde harbor was closed by German torpedo boats and special harbor police watched all the boats along the wharf. As a further protection there was a large detail of Russian police among the crowds that had gathered on the shore to witness the review.

SAILORS' DARING ESCAPE.

Jumped Into the Sea When Five Miles From Land.

Moncton, N.B., Aug. 5.—With their ship five miles from the nearest land, two Norwegian sailors jumped from the barque Auguste Leffler into the Straits of Northumberland. A little later they were rescued by a passing boat and taken to Shediac, where they have been given employment.

The escape of the two men was dramatic. With another sailor off the same ship, which was at Point Duchene for several days, they deserted some time ago and ran away. Constable Belyea, Shediac, was sent after the trio, locating them with some difficulty, and they put up quite a stubborn resistance before being taken back to the vessel, which was bound for Preston, England, and sailed from Port Duchane Saturday morning.

When the ship was some five miles out, the sailors, wearing their heavy boots and usual clothing, jumped overboard into the sea. A ship's boat was promptly lowered by order of the captain, but was swamped by the heavy seas, and the two men were left struggling in the water. A few minutes later a Point Duchene sailboat picked them up. So far as known, there were no reasons for the daring act. The ship is in good condition, and the men were well treated. They were liable to a year's imprisonment for the first desertion, however, and the expenses involved by the captain in capturing them would have been deducted from their salaries.

Japs Watched Yankee Gun Drill.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 5.—Upon the return of Battery A from its annual target practice at Camp Eels, Capt. Blasius asserted that the work of his men and guns was closely observed by two Japanese who were routed by the officers.

The Japanese watched the work of the guns from a distance, partly hidden by trees.

Battery A is one of the few organizations equipped with the latest field pieces.

ARBITRATION ACCEPTED.

Proposals of U.S. Adopted at The Hague Conference.

The Hague, Aug. 5.—The American proposition regarding the establishment of a permanent court of arbitration at The Hague was adopted Saturday by the sub-committee.

The vote on the proposition was as follows:

In favor of — Germany, Argentine, Brazil, Bulgaria, China, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Santa Domingo, Ecuador, France, Great Britain, Gautemala, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Montenegro, Norway, Panama, Paraguay, Holland, Peru, Portugal, Russia, Sweden, Venezuela, and the United States.

The following abstained from voting, some of them because they were without instructions: Austria, Belgium, Spain, Greece, Roumania, Servia, Siam, Switzerland, Turkey, Uruguay, Luxembourg and Salvador.

It is quite probably that Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia and the United States will agree to present to a special committee on Tuesday, a combined scheme for constituting a working permanent court of arbitration.

Besides the details already known, a section regarding the expenditures will doubtless be arranged like that of the universal postal union at Berne, the various countries being divided into different classes, according to their population and bearing a proportionate share of the costs.

Rescues Son From Flames.

Sarnia, Aug. 5.—Fire at 3 o'clock Saturday morning destroyed the frame building occupied by James Joss, plumber.

P. C. Jones broke in the door, awakened the family and helped them make their escape. After Mr. and Mrs. Joss, Miss Ethel and Ormond got out of the building it was found that Robert, the youngest son, was missing. Mr. Joss went back into the burning building, groped his way through the dense smoke and found the lad in bed. He picked him up and carried him out with difficulty.

The loss is $5,000; insurance $2,400.

5,000 In Free Fight.

New York, Aug. 5.—The fighting element among the whites and blacks in the vicinity of 136th street and Fifth avenue lined up yesterday to settle a baseball dispute, and 50 persons required medical treatment, of whom two will die.

Probably 5,000 persons took part in the fight. Three hundred policemen dispersed the mob.

Peterborough Swamped Cobourg In The Lake Town

Locals Did Some Great Stick Work and Won Handily 16 Runs to 8---Running Catch by Connors a Feature of the Game---Are Now in Second Place---A Record Crowd Saw the Game

Peterborough took the measure of "Slick" Mulhall's all-star Cobourg ball team at Dunegan Park in the lake town on Saturday afternoon, when they carried away the long end of the decision by sixteen runs to eight, and in so doing revenged the defeat of the locals here a week ago, when the same team trimmed Manager Johnston's aggregation at Riverside. There were no flukes about the victory in the week-end, for it was clean-cut and merited, and Cobourg fans are at a loss to figure out how their team ever trimmed the locals here a week ago. It was not that the lake-shore exponents of the diamond game put up an inferior article of ball to what they did here, for such is not the case, as they played every bit as well, but it was the great stick work of the Peterboroughs that beat them. Gave Phelan (alias) Mr. Downs (one of the hardest drubbings he has ever had, and the Idaho man was not the least bit of a guzzle on Saturday, nor was he a week ago, but in Cobourg the locals placed their hits, and this is what they did not do when they played here. As a result of the melee on the week-end, the Peterboroughs are now in second place and only one game behind Port Hope.

The contest was witnessed by one of the biggest crowds that ever assembled in Cobourg to see a ball game, the people coming from the neighbouring towns and villages by train and boat, while not a few drove. Although the Peterboroughs were only accompanied by two or three supporters from here, they did not lack rooters, as all the Port Hopers who were there yelled themselves hoarse when the locals made a good play, and to say that they were pleased with the result is putting it mildly.

"Idaho" Downs, the man with the off-side delivery, was on the firing line for Cobourg, and he pitched good ball for five sessions, and although he was getting bumped pretty hard, he managed to hold the visitors to four counters, but after the fifth it was all off, for instead of Johnston's sweatsmiths getting singles, they were napping out doubles, and an occasional triple with great rapidity. The Cobourg fans yelled for another pitcher, but Mulhall thought it was then too late to make a shift. Downs struck out four and passed one.

"Corney" Burns was on the tussock for Peterborough. The home crowd sailed into Corney in the second session at a rate that promised to smash him into oblivion in a hurry. After the second, however, Corney got his salivated service into working order, and Mulhall's hopefuls didn't get a suspicion of a chance to win, although they did get a few hits and an occasional run, but this was off-set by the great stickwork of his team-mates. Corney had six strike-outs, passed four men and hit three. In addition to his pitching, he had three hits out of six times up and scored three runs.

The batting honours went to Burns of the home team, who had three hits out of three times up, one of which was good for four bases and the other two for two bases. Burridge got four hits, C. Burns, Callaghan and Quinlan got three each, and Haliburton, Connors and Harcourt two apiece.

The fielding feature of the matinee was Connor's catch of Downs' fly in the ninth. Running many yards, he stuck down his gloved hand as he ran, and grabbed the Spalding off his boots. It was one of the most brilliant catches seen in Cobourg for some time. The work to both shortstops was also of a high order, and the misplays credited to McKinnon are quite excusable, as both are difficult chances.

In the last of the sixth Chris. Graham was injured while running after a high foul behind first base, by colliding with the fence, and, although badly shaken up, he finished out the game.

Umpire Weekes was again Czar of the diamond, and his work was considerably better than that of the previous week, but there is still room for a big improvement.

How the locals won the game, by innings:—

Peterborough started at a fast clip, scoring two runs in the first inning. C. Burns led off with a single, but was forced a minute later at second when Cheatham hit to Dwyer. Burridge singled, advancing Cheatham to third, and the latter scored on Connors' pretty sacrifice, while Burridge took third. Haliburton got a life at first when Turpin dropped McKinnon's throw, Burridge rallying on the play. Callaghan ended the session by flying out to T. Burns.

Cobourg went out in one, two, three order in their half, and the visitors did likewise in their portion of the second. In the last half of the second the boosters came back strong, netting four counters and taking the lead, which they held until the sixth. Floyd was first up and received a fast inshoot in the slats. T. Burns came next and was given free transportation to first by his name-sake. Harcourt hit safely, filling the bases, with no one down. Downs fanned, Burge grounded to Graham, who threw to Burridge, forcing Floyd at the plate. McKinnon doubled to centre, scoring Burns and Harcourt. Turpin singled, and Burge and McKinnon crossed the pentagon. Bentley was hit by a pitched ball, but Dwyer skied out to Callaghan, ending the innings.

In Peterborough's half of the third Burns singled and filfered second. Cheatham flied out to Burge. Burns took third when Dwyer let Downs' throw to catch him napping, get away from him. Burridge cried the sphere skyward, but Bentley gathered it in after a hard run. Connors doubled to left, scoring Burns. Haliburton went out, McKinnon to Turpin.

Floyd was first up for Cobourg in the last of the third, but was an easy out, Graham to Burns. T. Burns was again passed. He stole second and scored when Quinlan let Harcourt's grounder through him. Downs flew out to Connors. Burge was hit by pitcher, but McKinnon lifted one to Burns.

Callaghan opened the fourth with a double to left, and went to third on Graham's sacrifice. Quinlan singled, scoring Callaghan. Quinlan was out trying to steal second and Flaherty flew out to Harcourt.

Cobourg went out in one, two, three order in their half, and the visitors duplicated the feat in the first of the fifth. T. Burns opened up for the boosters in their portion of the fifth and clouted the sphere over Callaghan's head for four cushions. The next three were easy outs.

In the sixth Peterborough scored three runs and took the lead, after which they were never headed. Haliburton's grounder was booted by Turpin and the runner was safe. Callaghan hit safely and "Hal." took third. Graham was safe on fielder's choice, filling the cushions with no one down. Quinlan singled, scoring Haliburton. Flaherty hit a Texas leaguer over second, and Callaghan and Graham crossed the recording station.

The Port Hope spectators went wild with joy. Burns hit to Dwyer, who threw to Floyd to catch Quinlan coming home. After an exciting canter along the line Turpin tagged him, and threw to third where Flaherty was tipped off the bag. Cheatham flew out to McKinnon and the fun was over.

There was nothing doing in Cobourg's half.

Peterborough corralled two more counters in the seventh. Burridge smote the first ball thrown for two cushions. Connors singled and Burridge scored. Haliburton was safe on McKinnon's fumble, Connors taking third on the play. Floyd threw to second to catch "Hal," the throw was late and in the meantime Connors had scored. Callaghan fanned, Graham flew out to McKinnon, and Quinlan struck out.

Cobourg added one in their portion of the seventh. Burns doubled to centre. Harcourt went out, Cheatham to Graham, but Downs singled, scoring Burns. The next two were easy outs.

In the visitors' half of the eighth they annexed three more runs. With one down, Burns singled and Harcourt dropped Cheatham's long fly. Burridge doubled to left, scoring Burns. Connors flew out to McKinnon. Singles by Haliburton and Callaghan scored Cheatham and Burridge. Graham hit to Dwyer, forcing Callaghan at second.

Cobourg was handed another goose egg in their half.

In the ninth the Nortterers added four more runs. Quinlan hit safely. Flaherty was hit by a pitched ball. Burns hit to McKinnon, whose throw nailed Quinlan at the plate. Burns stole second. Cheatham was safe on Dwyer's slip-up and Flaherty tallied. Burridge then tripled to centre, clearing the bases. Connors fanned, but Haliburton doubled to right and Burridge recorded still another run. Callaghan flew out, ending the chapter.

Cobourg got one in their section of the ninth. With one out, T. Burns doubled to left. Harcourt singled, and Burns scored. Downs hit a hot drive to centre, which Connors got after a hard run, and doubled up Harcourt at second. The play was one of the bright features of the contest.

STRATHCONAS DEFEATED LILIES ON SATURDAY

Fair Exhibition of Ball—Post Season Game with Outside Players

On Saturday afternoon the Strathconas and Lillies of the Intermediate Baseball League played a post-series game at Riverside, in which the "Straths." got it all over Manager Campbell's bunch by the score of 18 to 6. The game was witnessed by about 200 people, and a pretty fair article of baseball was dished up. It was rather close up to the fourth innings, when the Strathconas pulled away and maintained their head. The latter had a strong team, being strengthened by players from other teams of the league. Their line-up was as follows: Bellgham, c; Wilson, c; King, 1b; Weatherstone, 2b; Curtis, 3b; Kendry, ss; Tobin, lf; Hurd, rf; Regan, cf.

Jimmy Pilling of the Charlotte Street "Champs." was on the slab for the most of the game, and was touched up rather lively. Dusty pitched a couple of innings.

The West Ends have expressed a desire to get after any of the teams that are still playing. Manager Oldham would like to arrange a game as soon as possible.

There's Danger in Every Cold

Once you come to realising the danger of neglecting coughs and colds you will not run the risk of depending on any cough mixture the druggist may choose to hand you out and will insist on getting a medicine with a reputation such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Croup, bronchitis, asthma and coughs and colds are promptly and thoroughly cured by this treatment.

CLOTHIERS AND FURNISHERS TO MEN WHO KNOW

COMFORT IN RUGS.

How to Cover Floors During the Torrid Days.

How to cover the floors in summer, either in the country home or in the city house that must be made livable during torrid days, is always a question.

In rugs nothing quite takes the place for summer use of the light, dainty chints fabrics in the new weave suggestive of old fashioned rag carpet effects.

The coloring is light, as a rule—blue, with white striped border; green, with flecks of pink, with deeper toned pink across each end; pale yellow, blue and pink, yellow and heliotrope, woven without figures, with a broad border of greenish and white stripes dashed with red.

One rug particularly striking is of two tones of beige, with dull green figures scattered here and there and a green and white border with touches of red. Another is of red, with a warm yellow border touched up with Egyptian designs in green, red, yellow and white. A third, as serviceable as it was effective, was of navy blue dashed with white, with a ten inch border of diagonal stripes in dark and light green, yellow, brown, white and red, the stripes made harmonious by faint waving outlines of black.

In all these cotton rugs the borders, in true rag carpet style, are woven only across the ends. A light fringe usually emphasizes the color effect.

The finish is both smooth and rough, the latter new this season. The rugs wear well, and spots can easily be washed from them. They can be bought in any size or woven to suit any room.

There are also little rugs adapted to kitchen use made according to colonial patterns in plaids or checks of dark reds and blues, reds and yellows or reds and greens.

Next in popularity to the chintz rug are those made of fiber, which have stood the test of several seasons. This paper pulp not only wears well, but in this season added beauty of color and design may be adapted to almost any room in the house. The border runs entirely around in the conventional rug style. In addition, large and small figures are woven through the body of the material.

Most of our summer life is spent out of doors, and the rug for the veranda has now become almost a necessity.

Probably the most popular because the cheapest porch rug is that of closely woven prairie grass. The grass is in its natural tone, the only dye being in the cotton warp. The colorings are good dull greens, terra cottas, blues, reds and yellows, sometimes woven plain, again with side stripes of a contrasting hue.

This grass material also comes by the yard and is used instead of matting for hallways and stairs.

If you have a large porch with handsome wicker or mission furnishings, you should by all means indulge in the heavy fiber Mouzouk or Algerian rugs, made in India.

The color effects are daring and the designs dashing. For instance, a rug of plain dull red has a broad border of vivid Irish green. Another, with dark olive center, has an apple green border and a yellow brown outer edge. Again, there are apparently impossible combinations of strong blues and greens and yellows or a curved border entirely covered with a huge central design of sage green, crushed raspberry and cinnamon red.

Why They're Trams Abroad.

"Abroad," said a tourist agent, "you must call street cars trams and street railways you must call tramways. If you speak of trolleys over there, you won't be understood. The word tram must puzzle the average etymologist. It derives from a man's name—Outram—Thomas Outram. Outram lived in Derbyshire, and in the beginning of the last century he invented a peculiar sort of track that diminished the friction between wheels and roadbeds. These tracks of Outram's, though nothing like a trolley track, were called first outramways, then tramways, and when street lines and street cars came into existence they were dubbed respectively tramways and trams."

A Crocodile In a Tree.

An African hunter once found a large crocodile hanging in the fork of a tree about ten feet from the ground. As the place was fully half a mile from any water, it was difficult to account for the crocodile's strange position. When questioned upon the subject, the natives explained that it was put there by an elephant. It seems that when the elephants wade into the Lake Ngami to bathe the crocodiles are in the habit of worrying them and biting their legs. Sometimes when an elephant is annoyed beyond endurance it picks up its tormentor in its trunk, puts it among the branches of a tree and leaves it there.—London Graphic.

Trees and the Air.

According to a reliable computation, a single tree is able through its leaves to purify the air from the carbonic acid arising from the respiration of a considerable number of men, as many as a dozen or a score. The volume of carbonic acid exhaled by a human being in the course of twenty-four hours is estimated at 100 gallons, and a single square yard of leaf surface, counting both the upper and under sides of the leaves, can decompose about a gallon of carbonic acid in a day.

A Legacy.

"What's your fare?" asked old Flintskin of his cabby the other day and was met with the stereotyped reply:

"Well, sir, I will leave that to you."

"Thank you, you are very kind," said old Flintskin, buttoning up his pockets and walking off. "You're the first person who ever left me anything yet."—London Mail.

Hard Luck.

YOUNG BOYS FIND THEMSELVES IN TROUBLE

Frequent Offenders Again Break the Law

At the police court this morning a number of incorrigible juveniles were arraigned on rather serious charges. Two boys were charged with having stolen fruit from a Hunter street fruiter; two others are said to have stolen a horse from a stable and hitched it to a buggy at a blacksmith shop, and enjoyed a fast drive around town. One of the latter pair is also charged with having stolen two dollars from a man. City Treasurer Adams occupied the Magistrate's chair and the lads were remanded until Friday. Mr. F. L. Goodwill appeared on behalf of the Children's Aid Society.

Noah Under Suspicion.

The last copy of the Ararat Journal, published three days before the flood, has recently been excavated from the top drawer of an oriental magnate's desk.

It says editorially:

"The radical utterances of old man Noah are to be strongly deprecated by all conservative citizens. Especially do we deplore his unwarranted attacks on the sin trust and its worthy board of directors.

"Aside from the fact that these gentlemen stand very high in the community, such wild denunciation and predictions of our people listened to last evening are likely to produce an unsettled conditions of affairs and damage business.

"It is generally believed that his motives are not above suspicion. In fact, those who are well informed hint that the old man has some watered and undigested stock of his own which he expects to float as soon as the sin trust is swamped."

Gentle Persuasion.

Many stories are told of the eccentric doings and sayings of an old clergyman who lived in Maine some years ago. At one time there had been a fight among some men, one of whom was seriously hurt. A trial took place, and the old minister, who had seen the affray, was summoned as a witness.

"What was Saison doing?" was the first question.

"Oh, he was slashing around."

"Well, sir, just what do you mean by that?"

"Why, he was knocking about him here and there."

"Now, sir, kindly tell us plainly what Saison did to this man."

"Why, he—he enticed him," said the old minister slowly.

"Enticed him! How?"

"He enticed him with a crowbar. He used the crowbar to persuade the man—to entice him—and by a series of pokes and blows he succeeded in doing it," said the minister mildly.

CLOSE WATCH ON THE PRISONERS

Pickpockets Will Not be Given Chance to Escape

Appreciating the slippery character of the prisoners at the gaol, in the persons of the three men sentenced to eighteen months in the Central Prison, for picking pockets, the authorities here are taking special pains to prevent their escape, in the interval until they are transferred to Toronto. The Central Prison authorities attend to the transportation of prisoners sentenced to that institution, and they have not sent for them yet. In the meantime they are under strict watch.

HOUSE OF REFUGE CROPS GOOD

Fall Wheat all Cut—The Barley Harvest Now

Crop reports from the House of Refuge indicate that good progress is being made with the harvest, and that the fall wheat has not only been all cut, but the barley harvest has commenced under favourable conditions. The yield is reported to be satisfactory, and the inmates of the institution are taking their full share of the work, and of the credit for the conditions prevailing. They take great pride in the fact that the crops are good, and, under the direction of Mr. Beavis the work is progressing most satisfactorily.

WEDDING BELLS.

FINLEY-BULLER

Last night at the Charlotte street Methodist parsonage a quiet wedding took place, the principals being Miss Henrietta Buller, daughter of the late Joseph and Mrs. Buller, Aylmer street, city, and Mr. Wesley W. Finley, also of this city, and a son of Mr. John Finley, of Clarke township, Durham county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Manning, in the presence of friends of the contracting parties, who acted as witnesses to the interesting event. The wedding party, following the ceremony, adjourned to the home of the bride's mother, and enjoyed the refreshments provided. Mr. and Mrs. Finley will reside in Peterborough.

The bride, who for some years has been an employee of the Peterborough Lock Company, was the recipient of a very useful present from the employees of that concern, who gave a handsome china dinner and tea set, combined with a hat-rack and parlour table. Miss Buller has been most popular with her fellow-employees.

TURF CLUB RACES WILL BE FAST

Great Programme is Promised for Next Week

The Peterborough Turf Clubs races on Monday and Tuesday of next week, promise to be the best exhibition of this kind ever given in the city. A number of fast horses are already at the track, and other good ones are expected, so that the entry field will be a large one. There are four events on each days' programme, including two trotting events, a three quarter mile running race and a matched race.

There will no doubt be a big crowd present for the occasion, especially on Monday, as it is about the only attraction in the city for the day.

TO STONY LAKE

The steamer Otonabee will run a special trip to Stony Lake on Friday August 9th, leaving at 7:30 a. m. and returning at 8 p. m. Return tickets, 75 cents. 3d3l

SCHOOL INSPECTOR WALKER SENDS HIS RESIGNATION TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

To Accept Position With Department of Education in Normal Schools---May Be Principal of New Normal School in Peterborough---Board to Consider Resignation

From an unofficial, though reliable source, the Examiner learns that Mr. D. Walker had sent his resignation as Public School Inspector of the city's schools to the Board of Education, and that he has decided to accept the position offered him by the Ontario department of Education, of assistant principal of the Normal Schools.

It is probable that a special meeting of the Board of Education will be called in the near future to consider the resignation, and decide upon a course of action in reference to it. Mr. Walker was out of the city to-day and it was impossible to learn from him, of course, what his plans are, but it is assumed that he has received assurances from those at the head of the Department that when the new Normal Schools are ready for occupancy he will be given one of the principalships.

It is also considered probable that Mr. Walker, with the completion of the new Normal School in this city, may be appointed to the position of principal of it, and that if this is the case, Peterborough schools will not be deprived altogether of his services, since, in his capacity of principal of the Normal, he may be in a position to render valuable service to the cause of education in the city.

It was understood that unless he was assured of eventually becoming principal of one of the new Normal Schools, Mr. Walker would not accept the position of assistant principal offered him.

SPECIAL TRAIN BROUGHT GUESTS FROM TORONTO TO GOLDEN WEDDING

An Interesting Social Function—Mr. and Mrs. John McCrea, of Omemee, Honoured by Friends on Occasion of Their 50th Wedding Anniversary.

GUESTS HAD SOUVENIRS

Omemee, Aug. 6.—Last night one hundred and fifty persons gathered at the home of two of the most highly respected residents of the village to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. The persons who were so signally honoured were Mr. and Mrs. John McCrae, and the event was one which created widespread interest in the village, and even outside places contributed to the gathering, a special train from Toronto bearing the John C Eaton party of about seventy-five persons. Mrs. Eaton is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCrae, and she brought a number of her friends to the village to participate in the celebration. The family home was prettily decorated for the golden wedding, and with bright, vari-coloured costumes of the lady guests the grounds presented a very pretty appearance.

The catering was done by Harry Webb, of Toronto, and during the wedding dinner congratulatory speeches were given and acknowledged by Mr. McCrae in a speech in which he gave some interesting reminiscences of his early residence in Omemee. The bride and groom of fifty years, who are still hale and hearty, were made the receipients of a large number of handsome and valuable presents, as evidences of the universal esteem in which they are held.

The five children of Mr. and Mrs. McCrae were all present at the celebration. They are, Captain John McCrae, of Omemee; Arthur, of Toronto; Mrs. John C. Eaton, of Toronto; Miss Annie, of Toronto, and Miss Ella, at home.

Each of the 150 guests was presented with a pretty souvenir of the event.

In the evening a concert was held in the Methodist church, in which Mrs. Eaton is installing a fine new pipe organ, and during the progress of the evening in the addresses reference was made to the celebration which had been held earlier in the day.

Assaulted And Robbed Of His Watch, Chain And Money

Toronto Visitor to His Old Home in East City, Was the Victim of Daring Piece of Work on Aylmer Street Last Night—The Thug Escaped.

NO CLUE REPORTED

A daring holdup and robbery was committed on Aylmer street last night in which a gentleman from Toronto, who is on a visit to his father, who lives on Mark street, East City, was relieved of his gold watch, chain and locket and his purse containing $17.00. The bold affair was enacted somewhere between Hunter and Charlotte streets after ten o'clock and the gentleman is not sure as to the exact locality. He was walking north on Aylmer street when he was suddenly struck on the head from behind and, partially stunned, was thrown to the pavement. The instrument was a club of some description as it did not cut the skin but raised a nasty lump. When the victim recovered, but shortly afterward, he realized what had taken place and saw the thug run down the street and turn at the first crossing he came to.

The affair was over in a minute it seemed, and so sudden was the attack that the gentleman did not have a chance to cry out. He took his loss philosophically and reported it to the police who are looking into the matter, but as yet no clue to the robber has been reported.

Shortage Of Wheat In World Is Anticipated

Germany, According to Broomhall's Summary, Will Have to Import 16 Million Bushels This Year.

THE WORLD'S CROPS

(J. R. Heintz & Co. Special.)

Liverpool, Aug. 6. — Broomhall's weekly foreign crop summary says:

United Kingdom — The weather has improved, but is still unseasonable, and wheat is ripening slowly.

France—Harvesting is proceeding slowly, and will commence in a few days in the most important districts.

Germany—Weather continue very unseasonable. It is estimated that under the most favourable conditions it will be necessary to import 16 million bushels of wheat more than last year.

Hungary—Official estimates are fractionally raised. The prospects for corn have improved and the outlook for potatoes is good.

Roumania—Harvest returns are irregular; winter yields are in the mediums in the reduced acreage. Spring wheat variable, showing from nine to thirty bushels per acre, according to location.

Roumania—The wheat crops is a small one, but of a fine quality.

Italy—Most estimates regarding the yield of wheat are being reduced.

Spain—Official reports confirm a short crop, and it is expected that 10,000,000 bushels will be needed next season.

Holland — The weather is unfavourable.

Australia—Beneficial rains have improved crop prospects.

Argentine — Prospects continue favourable.

HE GAVE A LECTURE ON BOILERS

Mr. Thos. G. Ranton Spoke at Concord N. H. on This Subject

The following clipping is taken from a paper published in Concord, N.H., referring to a lecture given by Mr. Thos. G. Ranton, boiler inspector for the Fidelity and Casualty Company. He is a nephew of Rev. A. H. Ranton, the evangelist, and son of Mr. W. J. Ranton, who also holds an important position in the Fidelity and Casualty Company at Rochester, N.Y., and son-in-law of Mr. James Sutherland, grocer, 323 George street:—

The members of Concord Association No. 6, passed a very enjoyable evening Monday last, July 29th, at Engineers' Hall, listening to the very interesting lecture on the history of the steam boiler, and the construction and equipment of a modern tubular 100 h.p. boiler at 100 pounds pressure, by Mr. Thomas G. Ranton of the Fidelity and Casualty Company, who is a practical boiler maker, and his many years experience as inspector qualified him to give an interesting talk. He kept the close attention of his audience for one and one half hours, and was heartily cheered at its close.

CANADA AND THE ALL-RED ROUTE

"The All-Red Route" is the expressive title referring to a comprehensive scheme proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the Colonial Conference, and adopted by the British Government. Though there have been some signs that a section of the Ministerial party in Great Britain are not very cordial to the scheme, yet the Government is committed to it in no unmistakable way. An extract from the minutes of the Conference will show this. An extract from the official minutes of proceedings at the Conference reads thus:—

Lord Elgin: I will read the resolution again: "That in the opinion of this Conference the interests of the Empire demand that, in so far as practicable, its different portions should be connected by the best possible means of mail communication, travel, and transportation";

"That to this end it is advisable that Great Britain should be connected with Canada, and through Canada with Australia and New Zealand, by the best service available within reasonable cost";

"And that for the purpose of carrying the above project into effect such financial support as may be necessary should be contributed by Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand in equitable proportions."

Mr. Lloyd George: We accept that.

Lord Elgin: Is that accepted by the Conference?

The resolution was agreed to.

Escape from a resolution of this kind seems to be difficult. In it the British Government accepted the All-Red proposition, and in fact bound themselves in respect of three very important propositions:—1. That the improvement of Inter-Imperial communication is a matter which "the interests of the Empire demand." 2. That the All-Red Route is an effective way of meeting the demand. 3. That the proposal be carried out by joint contributions in a fair ratio, that is according to the financial ability of the contributing governments. There is nothing in the history of British administration that would lead one to entertain the idea of the present Imperial Government receding from the position it formally assumed at the Colonial Conference. This idea is rendered more incompatible with any other course of action by the pledge contained in the speeches upon the subject made by the responsible ministers at the Conference. The trend of these speeches indicates that the resolution endorsing the proposition was not adopted as a mere act of complaisance and sentiment, was not agreed to and accepted otherwise than as the experience of a deliberately adopted and seriously-intended policy. Mr. Asquith, after pointing out the impossibility of His Majesty's Government accepting any such fundamental change in the fiscal system as implied in Colonial Preference, assured the Conference that the proposals of Sir Wilfrid Laurier were so important and interesting and appealed so strongly to the Government that if they can be shown to be of a workable character, there would be found no lack of co-operation, nor, of the necessary material assistance, in order to bring them into effect. And the resolution adopted May 14th, which involved the adoption of the All-British route, is to be regarded as the fulfilment of Mr. Asquith's pledge. Mr. Lloyd George, President of the Board of Trade, unhesitatingly endorsed the spirit of the proposals, and emphasized the Government's responsibility in this connection. There is no doubt, therefore, that the British Government is strongly committed to the All-Red Route, whose imperial importance cannot be easily estimated, nor its effect in connecting the several members of the Empire and contributing to its solidarity and the development of its commercial interests. Here we have evidence that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not only the first Canadian, but prominent amongst his peers in the field of Imperial statesmanship. What he has done for Canada, as Canada, will be written large and conspicuous upon the pages of the history of this country. If the All-Red Route shall, as there is every reason to believe will be the case, become a magnificant fact, the Empire will be a debtor to his splendid Imperial optimism, foresight and faith. It will not only have consolidated and built up the Empire, but will have very amply vindicated the Colonial policy of the Mother Country, which has produced a statesman, who is not only primus inter pares, in the arena of Canadian administration, initiative and achievement, but can even show the way in broad-minded and comprehensive imperial action to the statesmen of the greatest Empire of history. That "the Twentieth Century belongs to Canada" is in no small measure due, under Divine Providence, to Sir Wilfrid Laurier belonging to Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto News has no patience with the apologists for the Government's course towards Magistrate Woodyatt, of Brantford. It says, "it is not necessary to argue that Mr Thomas Woodyatt was a model of personal or judicial propriety. He has his faults, like other men," but it alleges that his "chief fault, however, in the eyes of certain Conservative workers, was that he was a Liberal and held an office with emoluments. It is not secret that he has been an object of pursuit ever since the change of Government, and his quarrel with certain Brantford clergymen was a god-send to his opponents. It will be remembered that his successor was nominated, even before he was dismissed, and it would be difficult to get better evidence of the temper of the patronage element of the Conservative party in Brantford." The entire performance is a disgrace to the Attorney-General's Department. As the News says, "Whatever Mr. Woodyatt's faults may be, generally he was a satisfactory police magistrate." His official assassination reflects no glory on the Whitney Government.

The Montreal Herald, in a recent reference to the unfounded report that Hon. William Patterson contemplates retiring from public life at the close of the present parliamentary term, says:

The Hon. William Patterson is not as young as he used to be, but there is little to show it. He has the affairs of the Customs Department at his finger ends; his administra- given the highest satisfaction to the given the highest satisfaction to the business community; no member of the opposition has ever even suggested that the money entrusted to his care was other than properly administered. The whole province of Ontario, not to say the whole Dominion, has the utmost confidence in his sterling integrity, and he is able to do his day's work with the youngest of them all. It was worth while at Quebec the other night, to see how the immense audience warmed to him until his great voice rolled out and out until it was heard clear and distinct at the farthest ranges. If the Conservative press can get rid of men like Mr. Patterson by the mere say-so, then it is wholly marvellous that they do not make a clean sweep of the Cabinet, and come in and fill the offices themselves.

A REASONABLE COMMISSION

The decision of the Railway Commission in the vexed and difficult case of the Vancouver shippers against the Canadian Pacific Railway, will considerably strengthen the standing of that already much-respected body in the business community generally—even, perhaps, in Vancouver at a later time when temporary feeling has died away.

There are no royal roads to the laying out of a railway schedule. The Vancouver shippers tried to lay down the proposition that there was at least one such royal road, in the shape of a calculation upon the distrance travelled, irrespective of the cost of building and maintaining of highly different sections of the railway and of the still more important difference of the greater productivity of one section over another in the matter of business. In refusing to accept this thesis the Commission has ranged itself on the side of reasonable freedom to the railways to conduct their business in the light of their own experience.

It is no denail to the right of relief from discrimination when the Railway Commission declines to accept the task of making it exactly the same expense to receive goods from Vancouver, a hundred miles east of that place, and from Winnipeg a hundred miles east of Winnipeg. To put it briefly, the Railway Commission was asked to abolish the Rocky Mountains, and declined. We can afford tto feel some sympathy with the limitation thus imposed on Vancouver shippers, but at the same time we cannot forget that Vancouver's natural position, including those very Rocky Mountains which constitute its disability as a depot for that can be laid down as cheaply in Winnipeg, is that which gives it its commanding position in respect to the ever-increasing Oriental trade and its dominance over the wealth and productivity of one of the richest of Canada's provinces.—Montreal Herald.

You will count no convivial occasion complete without this pure charged water, once you discover the zest it adds to spirits and its thirst-quenching qualities. We vouch for its absolute excellence, even compared with the few imported waters which are nearly as good. Of course, you can pay more for them if you see fit, but—why should you?

A CRITICAL PERIOD

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mme. L. Belleau

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Madame Louis Belleau of 17 Ramsay St., Quebec, Que., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound assisted me to pass the change of life with but very little sickness and pain, and I am pleased to give it my endorsement, for I feel that it is the medicine which every woman should take. I am the mother of three children, and when I reached the age of fifty naturally my health was none too good, and I feel sure that if I had not taken your Vegetable Compound I should not have passed the climax safely. I took it off and on for two years and now find that I am in splendid health and strength and feel younger and better than I did ten years ago. Much praise to your medicine, and may all suffering women learn of its value."

For special advice regarding this important period, women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. She is a daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful to ailing women.

In view of the recent holocaust at London, Ont., a strict supervision should be enforced over all building operations and alterations going on in our city. Emboldened by the quietness, if not encouragement, of the authorities, those who are guilty of burning rubbish in their backyards have reached a point that is dangerous, as well as being a nuisance. EFFORT MADE TO SETTLE PROBLEM

Water Front Question Will Be Taken Up To-night

A conference between the various parties interested will be held to-night for the purpose of trying to come to some amicable way of settling the long standing problem that has existed since the city commenced filling in the portion of the river between the C.P.R. spur line and the west bank of the Otonabee. Some time ago Col. Rogers complained that his property would be injured if the flow of the water was impeded. The matter has been under discussion for a long time and has never been settled. It is expected that all the parties will be represented. The Mayor and City Solicitor Hall will look after the interests of the city.

HAIL STONES AS BIG AS PEAS FELL DURING PECULIAR STORM

Picton, Aug. 35. — A very spectacular storm passed over the town and county early on Friday morning. Rain fell in sheets and hail fell as large as good sized peas. Considerable damage was done to orchards, as many trees were blown down or otherwise destroyed. William Patience, working on the lawn of H. S. Wilcock's home, Main street, with the latter's little son, Lucius, had a narrow escape from serious injury. The wind sprang up so suddenly and so fiercely that before they could secure shelter, a huge limb of a tree was shattered, and, falling, grazed Patience and the child. Beyond a bruised shoulder blade, Patience received no further injuries and the little boy was only slightly scratched on the face and head.

Means Of Procuring The New Shelter Are Progressing

Children's Aid Society Decided to Leave the Completion of the Terms With the Officers of the Society---Effort Will be Made to Retain Mr. Henry as Caretaker---A Business-Like Meeting

The Special Committee appointed by the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society to consider ways and means of solving the problem of securing a new shelter, met yesterday afternoon in the Council Chambers after which an open meeting of the Society was held. The plans drawn up by the Special Committee accepting the offer of the City Council of the grant of the Hilliard Farm property at a nominal rental for a term of 21 years, were ratified and the officers were given power to proceed with the work and make all the arrangements necessary to put the property in good shape and it required, to secure additional land. The desire of the Society is to procure about an acre of good arable land adjoining the house and at present there is not quite that area; accordingly it is probable that the Society will endeavour to enlarge the premises.

The business of the meeting was carried on with dispatch and the members of the Society are without exception pleased with the prospects of the new shelter. The following were present—Mr. J H Burnham, in the chair; Mr. E L Goodwill, Mayor McWilliams, Magistrate Edmison, Rev. Father McColl, Messrs. T F Matthews, Peter Campbell, Geo. Cochrane, Wm. Henry, John Butcher, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Rev. Mr. Potter, Chief Roszel and several of the ladies interested in the work.

Report Received

The first motion, that made by the Special Committee and adopted by them, was presented at the full meeting as a report of what had been done. It had been moved by Mr. Matthews and seconded by Rev. Father McColl as follows:—

"The Committee appointed at the special general meeting of the officers and Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society held on the 17th day of July, 1907, recommend that the offer of the City Council as concurred in by the City Trust granting to the Society at a nominal rental for a term of twenty-one years, the old Hilliard house and part of the grounds adjacent thereto that the agreement on the part of the Children's Aid Society's officers that a certain sum be spent in the required permanent improvements be accepted."—Carried.

A New Motion

This met the approval of the meeting and after a little discussion it was decided to proceed with a view to procuring the premises as soon as possible and in the best condition. Accordingly it was moved by Mr. Matthews, seconded by Rev. Father McColl that the report of the Committee appointed to consider the question of acquiring a shelter be adopted and that the officers of the Society be empowered to continue the negotiations and have all the necessary powers to enter into a lease and make contracts for the improvement of the premises, and that the Special Committee be discharged.—Carried.

Conclusion

Of course this was the real purpose of the meeting but there was still a little matter to be dealt with. The Society is anxious to retain Mr. Henry as caretaker at the new shelter, but he has received the position of caretaker at the new King Edward School. The distance between the two places is a little over three miles, which will prevent him from accepting the new Shelter. The only means of solving the problem is to ask the Board of Education, with Mr. R. Baker's approval, to exchange the North Ward and King Edward schools janitorships. Thus if Mr. Baker will consent he would receive the King Edward School and Mr. Henry would take Mr. Baker's present school, the North Ward, and Mr. Henry would then have two buildings which he would have care of and they are quite close at hand. It is probable that some steps will be taken in the matter.

Uric Acid Stones in the Kidneys

CAUSED EXCRUCIATING PAIN—CURE EFFECTED SIX YEARS AGO BY

The passing of stones or gravel, as the uric acid formation is called, from the kidneys through the ureters to the bladder probably produces the most terrible pain that human being was ever called upon to bear.

Mrs. Walter Hornbrook, Coddy's, Queen's county, N.B., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, which the doctor described as the uric acid stones passing from the kidneys to the bladder, I heard of similar cases being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and sent for some. Altogether I used seven boxes and was completely cured. That was six years ago and I have never had a pain in my kidneys since. We are never without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house."

Mr. Daniel Brown, English River, Ont., writes:—"For three years I suffered with urinary troubles, partaking of the nature of stones in the bladder or gravel, and the pain which I endured can scarcely be described. I was unable to do any work, and frequently discharged blood. Though I spent hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills I received no relief, and at last decided that I would never be able to work again.

"While in this condition I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and though I had no faith in them or or in anything else, I decided to give them a fair trial. After using one box I felt a decided change for the better, and after taking five boxes I feel like a new man. I am entirely out of pain, and have no more discharge of blood. I can honestly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to any fellow-sufferer, and will cheerfully verify this statement to anyone writing me."

There could scarcely be a more severe test of any treatment for the Kidneys and when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove successful in such cases as this they can surely be depended upon in less severe kidney ailments. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Toronto.

Right Breathing Cures Catarrh

Simple Way to Kill Catarrhal Germs in Nose, Throat and Lungs

The only natural and common sense method known for the cure of catarrhal troubles is Hy-o-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that it medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membrane, and restoring a healthy condition.

Hy-o-mei goes right to the spot where the catarrh germs are present in the nose, throat and lungs and destroys the germs so that perfect health is soon restored.

A complete Hy-o-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00 and is sold by Wm. Madill under guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

YORK LOAN AFFAIRS ARE SETTLING

Nothing Further Will be Done in the Matter Until September

Toronto, August 5. — Nothing further will be done in connection with York Loan affairs, until September 17th, when a meeting will be held to decide on a further course of action. The liquidators are disposing of the real estate. An amendment was secured to the winding up act to enable each class of share to be represented by counsel. The liquidators were unable to determine whether the holders of certain classes of shares were entitled to special treatment or not. The last statement of the liquidators shows assets of $1,-319,064.39 and liabilities of $7,112,-632.62, thus making the divident 20 cents on the dollar.

A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT FATAL

Port Hope Boy Thrown From Butcher's Wagon and Given Injuries Which Proved Fatal

Port Hope, August 4. — A horse attached to a butcher wagon owned by A. O. Keeler, and driven by two boys, ran away on Walton street, on Saturday night, and one of the occupants, Adelbert Halford, a boy of about nine years, was almost instantly killed. His companion, a lad named Anderson, escaped with slight injury. Coroner Aldrich opened an inquest. The jury viewed the remains and adjourned until Monday.

GOOD EXCURSION TO THE LAKES

Under Auspices of Ladies' Aid Society Steamer Otonabee Carried Good Crowd to Stony Lake Yesterday

This morning the steamer Otonabee carried a good crowd of persons on the annual excursion under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Mark street Methodist church, to Stony Lake. The trip was made from the Wolfe street wharf, and over the Lift Lock, and, though the weather was threatening a goodly number took the trip, which under that auspices, was bound to be an enjoyable one.

LAKEFIELD MAN HURT ON SATURDAY

Fell on Simcoe Street and Struck His Head on the Pavement

On Saturday at noon an old man named Oliver from Lakefield, was walking along Simcoe street when he fell and struck his head on the pavement in the vicinity of the Y.W.C.A. A nasty cut was made and Dr. Greer had to be called. He immediately summoned the Dan Spence Ambulance and Mr. Oliver was conveyed to the Nichols Hospital where his wounds were dressed and when he had sobered up he was able to continue on his way.

Changed The Date Of The Annual Chemong Regatta

It Will be Held on Thursday, Aug. 15th - Splendid Programme Has Been Arranged for the Day.

A DANCE AT NIGHT

The committee in charge of the regatta to be held at Chemong Lake, under the auspices of the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association, met recently and decided to hold it on Thursday, August 15, instead of on the date at first set. It was found that the date agreed upon at first was unsatisfactory to a number of those who wished to attend, and in order to ensure its success Thursday has been definitely decided on.

Following the regatta there will be the usual dance at night in the pavillion, and a delightful function is anticipated. Arrangements for the joint event are in the hands of an energetic committee, and its success is assured, provided, of course, the weather conditions are favourable. The regatta committee is composed of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. W H Hill, G H Bull, Alex. Elliott, T F Matthews, and W S Davidson, secretary. The usual varied programme will be carried out, and a feature will be the annual race for the Kawartha Lakes Championship Cup, for 14 foot dinghies. The starters for the different events will be Messrs. W J Hopwood and W R Hartshorn; the judges, Col. J Z Rogers and Alex. Elliott; the official referee and measurer, Mr. G H Bull, and the dance committee, Messrs. Howard Hopwood, Oscar Dumble and Miles Hamilton. For the dance a first-class orchestra has been arranged, so that the music will be of the very best.

The regatta is always attended by a large number of persons from the city, and for their accommodation a special 'bus service has been arranged. 'Buses will leave the post office at 12.30, and arrive at the park in ample time to witness the opening event in the regatta, which will commence at 1.30. For those who wish to attend the dance simply 'busses will leave the city at 7.30, and will return after the dance.

New Ontario Prosperous; Peterborough Man's Story

Mr. T. J. Baker, Formerly of This City, Now Station Agent at Widdifield, in the City on Visit, Tells of Cobalt.

WORK IS PLENTIFUL

"There is plenty of work of all kinds at good wages in the Cobalt district," said Mr. T. J. Baker, station agent on the T. and N. O. Railway at Widdifield, and a former Peterborough resident, who, with Mrs. Baker, is in the city for a few days renewing acquaintances. Mr. and Mrs. Baker are on a three weeks trip, and before they return to New Ontario will visit at Niagara Falls, Rochester and Buffalo.

Enthusiastic belief in the prospects of the newer portions of Ontario is Mr. Baker's normal condition, and he sees no reason why the present temporary set-back to the mining industry, by reason of the strike, should have anything but a very limited effect on the general prosperity of that section of the Province.

Mr. Baker, of course, carries some samples of Cobalt ore in his pockets —everyone who comes from that region does—and he left with the Examiner a precious little nugget taken from the famous La Rose mine, the Timmins property, looked upon as the best mine in the Cobalt district. Before the strike there were 600 men working in the mine, but at the present time there are only about a dozen men employed.

Good progress is being made with the construction of the T. and N. O. Railway, and steel has been laid seventy miles north of Englehart, and grading is being done north of that point.

The mining industry is not the only one in New Ontario that is making good progress. The lumber industry is flourishing, and there is a number of large mills along the line of the railway, particularly at Latchford and New Liskeard, while at Widdifield, too, there is a mill doing a good trade. This is the sole industry at that town, and an evidence of the volume of freight business done by the new railway is furnished by the fact that last month the tolls on out-going freight from that station amounted to more than $5,000. A comfortable station house and agent's residence has been erected, and in all the quarters of the agents along the line of the railway there are all the conveniences incidental to houses in a city like Peterborough, including waterworks, the pressure being supplied from the engine which operates the tank pump.

Pulp-wood cutting is becoming general along the line of the railway, and a great quantity of this character of freight is carried by the railway, the pulp-wood being shipped largely to Merriton for the Riordon Paper Company.

Mr. Baker, during the two years that he has spent in New Ontario, has met a large number of Peterborough people on their way to Cobalt, and many of them have done exceedingly well in New Ontario. In fact, Mr. Baker states that there is no reason why anyone should not do well there, since work at good wages is plentiful.

Mr. Baker was formerly on the staff of the C.P.R. here, and before coming to Peterborough, was in Havelock, where, for two years and a half, he was under Mr. Dodd, the present agent at Peterborough. On this trip he and his wife are accompanied by Master Now, a son of the post-master at Widdifield.

USFUL DISCOVERIES

Are Not Always Startling, Neither Do They Create the Most Talk

It is not always the greatest, most startling discoveries of science that are most useful to the human race.

Comparatively few people were directly interested in Herschel's finding of the new planet, Uranus, but many thousands have been benefited by Professor Unna's experiments, which proved beyond a doubt that Dandruff and Baldness are the results of the inroads of a parasitic germ which invades the roots of the hair.

The discovery of the true cause of baldness made Newbro's Herpicide possible. Herpicide effectually kills this germ. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for a sample to the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich.

THE LORDLY MILLIONS

The Difference Between Dollar and the Enterprising Coin

The average amount of money on deposit in the Canadian banks is over $400,000,000, or nearly seven times as much as is usually on deposit in the more cumbersome Government Postal Savings Banks. The banks pay the investors 3 per cent., while bank stocks do not average more than 5 per cent. to the shareholders on the present market value of the stock.

The manufacturing supremacy of the United States has been due in great part to the enterprise of its money. The savings deposits per capita in that country are smaller, because the men who save money invest it in the more lucrative industrial stocks.

But Canada is waking up to the value of its own resources, and the money now lying in the banks will be put in the channels which have made so many American millionaires. A shoe merchant in the United States who adopted many of the ideas embraced in the system which has done so much for the Slater Shoe Company in Canada, recently sold his good-will value to a new company for $2,500,000. This young man was in business but fifteen years. While clerking in a shoe house, he saw that the secret of success in a commercial country was to build up a direct interest in a well-established concern. That the same shoe system in Canada would be valued at $1,000,000 is an evidence of the relative growth of this country.

The basic idea of the Slater Shoe Company, as set forth in a recent magazine article, was to eliminate the unnecessary costs and sell a shoe at close prices and at the same prices to everybody. With the faith they carried by good faith, they have so increased their volume of business that they can sell a shoe of nearly as good value as before the cost of leather was advanced.

INSPECT LIBRARIES IN THE EAST

Mr. W. A. Buchanan, Provincial Librarian, of Alberta, in Ontario on Tour of Inspection

Mr. W. A. Buchanan, of Edmonton, Provincial Librarian of Alberta, and Mrs. Buchanan, arrived last night, and are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Anderson, and are receiving the greetings of many friends. This is their first visit to Ontario, since they left St. Thomas about two years ago, prior to which time Mr. Buchanan was manager of the Journal. Mr. Buchanan will spend a month in the East, during which he will visit his parents in Caledonia, and also inspect Government libraries in Ontario and the States. Mrs. Buchanan will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Freeman, Burlington, Ont.—St. Thomas Journal.

FOUR STITCHES IN HIS HEAD

Serious Accident to Young Son of Mr. George Hayes, Grocer, in East City Yesterday

The four year old son of Mr. Geo Hayes of East City, met with a painful and serious accident yesterday afternoon. He was playing on a culvert near Jackson Park, and fell off the road into the ditch, striking his head with such force that a gash, requiring four stitches, was made. He was conveyed to his home, where a physician attended him.

BIG BALL GAME AT PRINTERS' PICNIC

Review and Examiner Will Clash at Idyl Wyld on Holiday

With less than a week ahead of them, both the Review and Examiner ball teams are actively training for the big game, which will be one of the features of the Printers' Picnic at Idyl Wild, on Monday next, Civic Holiday. The Examiner team has not been saying a great deal about the result of the game, leaving that to the sporting writers of the Tory sheet, who have been wasting a good deal of printers' ink in telling what they are going to do to the team representing this sheet. Now that the time is drawing near, the Examiner makes the confident statement that there will be nothing done to them at all, and that, as usual, the Review will go crawling down to defeat even with the help of their imported battery.

There promises to be an enormous crowd present, as everybody and his wife are going to take in the excursion—the event of the season.

Attempted Burglary At Mr. Meldrum's Residence

During Church Service Last Night Four Young Men Tried to Effect Entrance to the House.

THEY WERE DRIVEN AWAY

On Sunday night an attempt was made to break into Mr. W. H. Meldrum's residence, during the temporary absence of the family. The affair was apparently well planned. Two boys were left outside on the street, to stand guard while two others, much older, young men, in fact, went to the front door, rang the bell, and, after satisfying themselves that that there was no one at home, went around to the rear of the house and spent some time trying to effect an entrance. A lady living in the vicinity noticed the operations of the youths and gave the information to a gentleman living near, and he drove the intruders away.

If the same young men are seen in that neighbourhood again they are running the risk of a charge of shot.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO A MESSENGER

Cyril Mayne Fell From Bicycle Yesterday Afternoon

Yesterday afternoon, Cyril Mayne, a messenger boy employed in the Examiner office, was the victim of an accident which may prove serious. He was riding a bicycle, and at the corner of Stewart and Simcoe street the front wheel struck a stone, throwing the boy to the ground with great force. He fell on his head, and was unconscious who saw him fall ran to his assistance. Fears are entertained that he may be suffering from concussion of the brain.

Unexplained Increase In The Price Of Cheese

On Saturday and Yesterday it Jumped Nearly a Cent a Pound Ovea the Ruling Prices a Week Ago.

LINDSAY IS SATISFIED

To the surprise of almost everyone, cheese took a jump in price during the last few days, and yesterday at the meeting of the Victoria Cheese Board 11 cents a pound was paid, an increase of 3-16c above that paid at the Peterborough Board on Wednesday. In all the country boards reporting yesterday, from 11 to 11 5-16 cents was paid, so that the indications are that for some unexplained reason the market shows a better tone. Mr. Gillespie, one of the local buyers, was in Lindsay yesterday, and paid the high price for a number of factories.

Dealing with the situation, the Montreal Star of yesterday said:—

The cheese traders in general are suspicious of the advance which was registered in the prices at the country boards on Saturday last, and believe that the present figures cannot hold.

It is stated that the buying on Saturday was done mainly by one firm to cover a large amount of cheese instonage in England and at Montreal.

However, if the cable offers do not come in pretty heavily during the present week it is altogether likely a drop in the quotations will take place next week.

The English dealers are not buying the Canadian cheese this year as heavily as last, and for various reasons: first, on account of the large English make; secondly, the heavy Cheshire make; thirdly, while the Canadian make is an average one, the English make this year has increased to an extraordinary degree; fourthly, the weather conditions on both sides of the water have been conducive to a large output, but on the other hand, the weather in Great Britain is very poor for the consumption of cheese.

The reason why so much cheese was exported to Great Britain from Canada last year was because of the small English turnover, the smallest on record, and the good demand for the cheese on account of fine weather. These causes put the price up to a much higher figure than ruled in Canada for eight or ten years previous, and though the conditions on the other side have become normal again, makers on this side expect prices to be maintained, but this will not likely be the case, and a downward market is expected. At the present time there are hundreds of thousands of boxes of cheese stored in Montreal.

The quotations to-day are: Quebecs, 11 1-8c; Townships, 11 1-4c to 11 3-8c; Ontarios, 11 3-8c to 11 1-2c.

The local receipts were 7,505 boxes.

WEDDING BELLS

BELIVEAU-MOYAHAN

The Toronto Star of a recent date has the following report of the wedding of a former Peterborough lady:

The marriage of Miss Marie Beliveau, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Beliveau, to Mr. Michael Moyahan, took place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the French Catholic Church on King street.

The post-nuptial mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Father Lamorche. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white embroidered silk, with tulle veil, crowned with lilies of the valley, and carried white roses. Miss May Shields was bridesmaid, wearing pale blue crepe de chine, with white picture hat, and carrying pink roses. The bride's little sister, Victoria, and brother were flower girl and page, the former wearing white silk, with floral wreath, and carrying a basket of roses, and the latter in a white sailor suit. Mr. McCann was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the family residence in Dufferin street, which lasted until late in the evening. Mrs. Beliveau was wearing black silk and black hat, with plumes. Subsequently the happy couple left for Buffalo, Collingwood and Guelph, the bride in navelling in dark blue cloth and white hat, with plumes.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold locket and chain, to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, and to the flower girl a gold bracelet.

WILL STUDY ON THE CONTINENT

Miss Florence Miller Going to France and Italy to Study Music—A Promising Young Singer

Miss Florence Miller was in the city yesterday and to-day receiving the congratulation and best wishes of her many friends and many admirers of her rich mezzo soprano voice, which has often been heard with great pleasure during her former residence in Peterborough. She was in the city saying good-bye previous to her departure for Europe where she will take lessons in singing from the best masters. She expects to study in both Italy and France during the next two or three years. She accompanies Mrs. Arthurs, of Toronto, her daughter and grand daughter abroad, and expects to be absent two or three years or more. She will first proceed to Milan to go under instructions with the best masters in that great musical centre. Miss Miller sails with her party on Monday on the Adriatic of the White Star Line, landing at Cherbourg, and proceeding thence to Milan. She is to be very warmly congratulated upon the opportunity of having developed her splendid mezzo soprano voice and will do all in her power to justify the expectation of her friends of a highly successful musical career. Her future will be watched with the keenest interests and the best wishes for success follow her.

FELL OFF HANDLEBARS OF BICYCLE

Seven Year Old Girl Injured on George Street Yesterday

PECULIAR FIRE IN ROY'S STUDIO

Smoke Came Through Floor but Flames Could not be Found

At noon to-day the fire brigade was called to Roy's Studio where excessive smoke coming from between the cracks in the reception room floor gave evidence of the proximity of a fire. Investigation, however, failed to reveal the source of the smoke and it is still unknown where it arose from. The chemical apparatus was brought to the room which was filling with smoke, but since there was no blaze it was not used. Eventually the smoke cleared but the query still being asked is where the fumes came from. Possibly from burning rubbish in the court in the rear, as mentioned in a post card letter in this number.

HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Said to Relieve Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime, is stated by a prominent physician to give most excellent results in kidney or urinary afflictions, and also in [illegible] nature opens the clogged pores of the kidneys, thus assisting them in their work of filtering all waste and poisonous matter from the blood, and expels these in the urine. To allow this poisonous matter to remain means that it will settle in the muscular tissues or joints, and cause the untold misery known as rheumatism.

The mixture is composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which can be purchased at any good drug store, and mixed at home.

Anyone suffering from any of these afflictions will no doubt be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended remedy.

Temperance Lecturer Against Local Option

Mr. Thos. Doutney, Who is in the City for the Purpose of Holding Temperance Meetings, Expresses His Views.

LOCAL OPTION'S RESULTS

Mr. Thos. N. Doutney, who for over twenty years has been actively engaged in the work of temperance, as lecturer and worker, is in the city, and registered at the Oriental. Mr. Doutney has achieved fame and popularity in Canada and the United States, lecturing in the leading cities and towns of both countries, though this is his first visit to Peterborough. Mr. Doutney was born at LaPrairie, near Montreal. He is of newspaper blood, his father having been on the staff, in years past, of the Montreal Gazette, and other Montreal and Quebec papers. Mr. Doutney poses as a non-sectarian, non-political and non-abusive lecturer. He visited the editorial rooms of the Examiner this morning to pay his respects to the official staff. In the brief conversation held Mr. Doutney took occasion to say: "After my experience in years past, as hotel and bar room owner, and a victim of the drink habit, and my experience for over twenty years as a temperance lecturer and worker, and after most careful observation of, and experience with, prohibition and local option, I do most truthfully know them to be, as a whole, a most gigantic farce and colossal humbug. The public in sentiment, usage and actual practice is certainly against prohibition and local option—even where they vote at times with a large majority in favour of either of them, they are fearfully indifferent to the enforcement of it. Hence open transgression of law. The law is grossly violated in the great majority of local option districts, and thus it becomes hypocrisy and the nest of perjury, immorality and, sometimes bribery. Temperance is a work of education — not coercion. Eliminate it from politics, and work it upon solely Gospel temperance grounds, and the question will be readily solved. I was in Owen Sound but a few weeks since. It is a fine city. The people there are kind, courteous, social and energetic, yet in so far as the enforcement of the local option law is concerned it is simply shameful. Remember, I speak from knowledge, and the book of experience. Anyone who is free from bias and prejudice, knows Owen Sound, and the conditions there, will not I am sure, venture to make a successful contradiction of what I say in that regard. Then, again, local option does not promote temperance in the least degree. How any one can hold up Owen Sound as an example of the success (so-called) of local option, is what I can't understand after what I saw there. I am sure if licenses were refused to a certain class of men, and if our temperance friends would, hand in hand co-operate with hotel bar owners, and the brewers, distillers and liquor dealers in their willing compliance with the law, that it would result in better and more willing obedience to the law, and, further, it would result in closing dives, and law-transgressing places of every class. "The liquor traffic comes under the law of supply and demand. If there were no demand, none would be sold. I consider it, vile, low, mean and unmanly to abuse the hotel bar owner, the brewer, distiller, or liquor store owner. There are very many persons engaged in those respective lines, who are most honourable. They are a most charitable and generous class. I never go into a community to create discord or strife. I make it part of my work, in a most respectful way, to present both sides of the question to the people. Heretofore they have heard but one side—the prejudiced and bigoted side—to be fair, honest and impartial with both sides, is the only real way in which to work. The liquor traffic, as I view it, from experience, is no more to blame from a man being a drunk, than is a butcher because a man is a glutton. I hope to speak in Peterborough in the near future. If I succeed in making the arrangements now to do so, due notice will be given through the daily press. My lectures and talks are all free. I trust to the public for my expenses."

Smith Township Crops Are Not Satisfactory

Reborts of Conditions in That Township Are Not Encouraging —Oats Only Half a Crop This Year.

ROOT CROPS ARE GOOD

Mr. J. N. Telford of Smith township was in the city to-day and gave the Examiner some interesting information concerning the crops in that township. According to Mr. Telford's opinion, and there is no one in a better position to give an accurate estimate, the grain crops in that township this year will be considerably below the average. Cutting of fall wheat is now practically over and many farmers have their barley cut. The great proportion of fall wheat was winter killed, but that which weathered the severe winter is of excellent quality. In the majority of cases the wheat was ploughed up in patches and barley sown. It will, of course, have to be used for feed.

The barley will be light compared with the yield of last year. The cutting of oats has not commenced yet, and it will be about two weeks yet before that harvest will be ready. Oats are going to be a very light crop chiefly by reason of the fact that a blight, believed to be the aphis, struck them early in the summer, and the result is that the leaves are turning red and the grain is not filling properly. Mr. Telford believes that the oats will not be more than half a crop this year.

Hay has all been pretty well saved, and will be about three-quarters of a crop on the meadows, the older seeded meadows being light.

The root crops are about the only bright spot in the situation. They are all reported to be good. The weather has been favourable during the last few weeks for this class of crops, and the mangels and turnips promise to be good yields.

The whole harvest will be three weeks behind the normal time. There is some consolation in the fact that while the yield of grain will be small the prices give promise of being high. The partial failure of the wheat crops in the West will mean a scarcity, and, as a consequence, the prices of wheat will take a big jump.

A serious condition of affairs seems to exist in connection with the supply of clover seed. Mr. Telford received a letter a few days ago from an official in connection with the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the information it gave was of an alarming character. It stated that there was a great scarcity of clover seed throughout the world and that actually it was almost impossible to procure it. He predicted very high prices for the seeds during the next few years. During the past years the crops of clover have been small, and not enough has been grown to supply the demand.

Threshing in Smith will be starting in a few days. Already those owning machines are getting them into shape to commence the season's work, and alsike will be the first to be threshed.

Taken altogether, the crop situation, so far as it relates to the township of Smith is not encouraging.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF PAVILLION

Interesting Function at Crowe's Landing Last Night—Addresses and Musical Numbers Enjoyed

INTERESTING PROGRAMME

Examiner Special.

Stony Lake, Aug. 6.—The gaiety and pleasure of the lake was concentrated last evening at the upper end, when the new and handsome pavilion at Crowe's Landing was formally opened under favourable circumstances by the East End Cottagers' Association. The interesting function marks a new epoch in the history of the Upper Stony Lake. It was attended by a large assemblage, representative of the Kawartha summer population, who, for the first time intermingled socially with their eastern friends, whose industry and concerted labours have provided for them a substantial new pavilion in a spot increasing yearly in popularity. In numbers the opening was a great success. Fourth and pleasure fame in yachts and smaller craft from all directions and a conservative estimate places the number in attendance at 300.

The building is a handsome and stoutly built one, capable of accommodating almost as many as the popular Juniper Island place of recreation. It is 48 feet by 28 feet in dimensions, situated high on a beautiful shore within a few yards of Mr. J. R. McKelvie's summer resort "Belvidere." It is constructed with the best of materials, and, although yet unfinished, presents an attractive appearance. The cost was about $700 and the opening last night lessened the debt against it still by about $50.

The airing of the pavilion for the first time consisted of two separate functions—a concert and a dance. The former was a very enjoyable character, although at times a restlessness seemed to pervade the younger members of the assembly in the anticipation of the light fantastic.

Mr. John Davidson, of Norwood, president of the East End Cottagers' Association, presided very acceptably as chairman. After the opening piano solo Mr. Davidson, on the behalf of the association, declared the building open amid enthusiastic applause. He thanked all those who had come from a distance to participate in the important event and mentioned that in no way did the Upper End Association wish to act in opposition to the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association, but rather did they wish to co-operate with them in the work.

Mr. Davidson referred in complimentary terms to the beauty of the upper portion of the lake, but regretted the circumstance that a couple of the islands, late of the Indian Reserve which had recently been sold, were to be stripped of their natural growths. He also regretted the absence of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., who were expected but were unable to be present.

Mr. Richard Lees, public school inspector, was another speaker on the programme. He pointed out the beauties of the upper lake, including Eel's and Jack's Creeks, which, he said, could not be surpassed in picturesqueness. The cottagers had attempted to obtain a daily mail at the landing but their efforts in that regard had been disappointing. He also referred to the marring of the beauty of the islands which had passed into lumbermen's hands and advocated a crusade to attempt to preserve their verdure.

Mr. R. J. Winch, one of the well known cottagers of that part of the lake was also called upon. He was he said, as a member of the association to see so many present and believed that augued well for the success of the new building. Mr. Winch, before taking his seat, recited, "Man's wants but little here below" which was very acceptable to the audience.

Mr. John Finlay, M. P., of Norwood, added his congratulations to the association. He deemed it a pleasure to be present at the opening and explained a few matters in connection with the part the Government played in the improvement of the surroundings.

Hon. J. R. Stratton, was pleased as a representative from the more remote portion of the lake, that the popularity of the Kawartha's lakes and islands had so increased as to necessitate the erection of a new pavilion. The building was a handsome one and worthy of the efforts put forth by the association. In referring to the cutting of the trees from the islands, he believed that the natural beauty as far as possible should be preserved and that if the Government were approached they would see to it that trees would be allowed to remain standing.

Among the other speakers were Mr. Gurry, K. C., Toronto, and Mr. R. B. Rice, also of Toronto. Both gentlemen congratulated the association on the success of the event and hoped that it would be followed by prosperity.

Mr. Jas. Robb, of Clarina, a resident of the vicinity of Crow's Landing for 47 years, was the last speaker and he referred chiefly to the great changes brought about from the time he first settled there.

The remaining numbers of the programme were the following:—

Piano Solo—Mr. Featherstonbough, Toronto.
Chorus—"Canada"
Piano Solo—Miss Norma Mitchell, of Toronto. "D"
Solo—Miss Ena Duffield, Norwood
Solo—Mr. Jno. Roxburgh Norwood.
Solo—Mrs. Jno. Davidson, Norwood
Solo—Miss Una Duffield, Norwood

The dance followed after and lasted until after midnight before the gathering dispersed. The next concert will be held on Monday, Aug. 19th, when there will be an entire change of programme.

On Sunday evening next Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough, will open the pavilion for church services and afterwards they will be held there regularly each Sunday evening.

Young Torontos Defeat Locals In Extra Time

Peterborough Beaten By 5 Goals to 4 After a Good Game Yesterday---Teams Were on Even Footing at Full Time---Fred Lynch Played With Peterborough

The Young Toronto Lacrosse Team put it over Peterborough at the Riverside Park yesterday afternoon, in the last home game of the season, but it was only after a strenuous extra-time game that the locals handed over the laurels. At half time the visitors were ahead by 4 goals to 2, but Peterborough slowly pulled down the lead, and at full time the teams were on an even footing, with four goals each to their credit.

It took four extra periods to settle the contest, Young Torontos putting one past Backus in one minute in the fourth period.

The game was long drawn out and at periods decidedly listless, although there were minutes in which lightning lacrosse was played. It was close all the way, and the rather small crowd, which included a number of Toronto people, were certainly given their money's worth, as it was half past six before the contest was brought to a close. It was also rough in spots, and one player, Crocker, of the Torontos, was badly injured just before full time was up. He got an accidental crack from Lynch's stick in the face, and was painfully cut, having to go off for the rest of game. A number of penalties were inflicted by the referee, who was none other than our old college chum, Dinny Dobbin, once a shining light with the local club, and now playing goal for the Beaverton Checkers. Dinny had the game well in hand at all stages, and gave satisfaction to all concerned.

The locals put up a surprisingly strong showing against the speedy visitors, who are hot-foot after the championship of the district. The locals made the Torontos work for their victory. It was anybody's game and with a little luck the long end of the decision would have come our way. The Peterborough home had more chances to score than did the visitors, but did not make the same use of them. Then the condition of the Torontos told in their favour. They were hard as nails, and had speed to burn, never slacking up much, while Peterborough's work was spasmodic. At that, however, the locals made a remarkably good showing holding down the visitors in a manner that encouraged their supporters to hope that they would ultimately win. The defence from goal out, put up a magnificent game, holding out the lightning fast Toronto's home in splendid fashion. The work of the home was not as consistent and chances were thrown away by wild shooting or inaccurate passing at critical moments. On many occasions the ball was carried well in, only to have the shot go wild. At times the advance guard performed in brilliant fashion, considering their lack of practice, and consequent poor condition.

One of the features of the game was the presence of Fred Lynch, an old Peterborough boy, now of New Westminster, who wore a Peterborough uniform yesterday. Since leaving Peterborough he has been a member of the champion New Westminster team. He jumped into the game without a practice and, under the circumstances, played a good game.

As has been said the Peterborough defence played fine lacrosse. Backus in the nets, got away with some sensational stops, and cleared well. He was given good support by Dillon and Morgan, who checked and intercepted passes splendidly. The latter went up on the home several times and did some brilliant work there, scoring one of the goals, and being of great assistance in landing another. The defence field all showed up well, especially Derocher, who tore off some pretty runs. Meagher was always in the game, at centre. Robertson, McGrath and Glover did a lot of useful work on the whole, while Best, at inside, as usual, worked like a Trojan.

The Young Torontos have a fast and well balanced twelve who will take a lot of beating. Their home works fast and accurately, shoot splendidly, and have little hesitation in boring in, while the defence is very steady, and refuses to be drawn out. Mitchell was brilliant in the flags, while Madill and Brennan were prominent on the defence. On the home, Heal, Morrison and Lowes were the pick of the bunch, the latter doing some very clever shooting, getting four of the five goals.

The teams were as follows:

Toronto—	Peterborough.
Goal,
Mitchell	Backus
Point.
Woods	Dillon
Cover point.
Madill	Morgan
First defence.
White	Derocher
Second defence.
Brennan	McCabe
Third defence.
Crocker	Meagher
Centre.
McArthur	Meagher
Third home.
Mara	McGrath
Second home.
Murphy	Robertson
First home.
Heal	Glover
Outside home.
Morrison	F. Lynch
Inside Home.
Lowes	Best
Field Captain
H. Tod	G. Lynch
Timers.
G. Tod	G. Barber

Torontos had the best of it in the first quarter as far as scoring went, but the play was about equal, with both teams working hard, and the ball travelling from one net to the other regularly. McGrath was ruled off for ten minutes for slashing Mitchell, and while he sojourned with the timers the visitors pressed. On a clever piece of combination, in which nearly every man on the home touched the ball, Lowes tallied the first goal.

Three minutes after, Toronto added another, Murphy doing the trick on a long shot.

With two against them, the Peterborough team began to liven up. Glover made a pretty shot from well out, and although Mitchell stopped the ball, Lynch batted it through before he could clear, and the score was 2-1.

Morgan went off for using his stick too freely, and was followed a moment after by Woods for slashing Glover. Just before time, Lowes made the score 3-1 after some pretty combination.

In the second quarter both teams got a goal. Lowes once more did the trick for Torontos. Peterborough came back at them with another: Morgan passed neatly to Best, who batted it through for a counter.

Peterborough had the best of the play in the third quarter, although they were able to score but one goal. McCabe's shot was blocked, but Best batted it through. Meagher went off just before the end of the quarter.

Peterborough tied the score in the last quarter after a hard fight. Morgan came up with the home and succeeded in scoring with a pretty shot from a pass by Best. Score 4-4. Crocker was hurt, and Best went off with him, while Lynch was benched for the offence. When full time was called the score was still a tie, and extra time was played. During the first five minutes Mitchell and Morgan got into a mix-up and were ruled off. Two more five minute periods were played without result, both teams working desperately for a goal.

In the fourth extra period Torontos finally succeeded in doing the trick, Lowes scoring on a pretty shot, ending the game.

Following is the summary:

First Quarter—
1—Young Torontos, Lowes.
2—Young Torontos, Murphy.
3—Peterborough, Lynch.
4—Young Torontos, Lowes.

Second Quarter—
5—Young Torontos, Lowes.
6—Peterborough, Best.

Third Quarter—
7—Peterborough, Best.

Fourth Quarter—
8—Peterborough, Morgan.

First Extra Period.—
No score.

Second Extra Period—
Young Torontos, Lowes.

Hill's Playing All That Saved The Canadians

Local Player, With All Canadian Cricket Team, Made a Brilliant Stand Yesterday, Putting on 57 Before Being Dismissed---The American Team is Ahead

Mr. H. Cyril Hill of Peterborough, was a member of the Canadian cricket team in the international match against the United States, which began at Toronto yesterday, and the local player would appear to have greatly distinguished himself, making the highest score of the game, his determined batting being all that saved the Canadians from a complete drubbing. The Mail says of his work:

"Hill, the first man in, played steady, forceful cricket, and it was he alone who saved the side from utter collapse. With six wickets down for 34, the Canadians' case seemed well-nigh hopeless, but, fortunately, with Hill at the wicket till the end, the tail wagged merrily, and the last four batsmen succeeded in carrying the score to the satisfactory total, all things considered, of 120. There was something distinctly exciting in the way the tail players rose to the occasion and pulled the Canadians somewhat out of their dilemma. Wookey largely helped to save the situation, as whilst he he and Hill were still partners the score was taken to 55, Wookey succumbing to a fast straight ball from Pelton, Hill, who now was firmly set, continued to help the score along and reached his fifty, with Slather as his partner. Ganeden, the last batsman but one, contributed quite an exciting interlude, for from the moment he went to the bat he hit out freely, and there seemed no reason why he and Hill should not carry the score along considerably. However, he was unfortunately run out when things looked the brightest. Black, the last man in did splendidly, and carried out his bat for a creditable 17, which included two 4s and a corking six over the grand stand—the only six of the match. Hill, who finally became a victim to an off break from LeRoy, played a splendid innings of 57, which included six fours. He gave a couple of hard chances in the slips. He proved the man of the hour, and but for the Peterborough man the Canadians would have made a sorry showing."

PETERBOROUGH PLAY IN PORT HOPE SATURDAY

One of the Most Important Games in the League Series

One of the most important ball games in the Midland League this season, will be played on Saturday afternoon when Peterborough will meet Port Hope in the lakeshore town. Both teams need the game, and both are confident of winning, so that a lightning contest should ensue. The locals are playing great ball now and should take a fall out of the leaders on their own grounds. It is likely that a large number of fans will accompany the team.

BASEBALL TEAM TO PRACTICE EACH NIGHT

In preparation for the baseball game in Port Hope on Saturday next, the members of the Peterborough team will practice every night this week, including to-night, and since this is practically the deciding game of the season every member is asked to be on hand. If the local team wins from Port Hope there is a good chance to win out the league, while if the game is lost their chances are gone.

SUMMER COMPLAINT.

One of the Commonest and Most Dangerous of Diseases.

Everyone Should be Prepared for it with a Bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Very few people escape an attack of Summer Complaint. It may be slight, or it may be severe, but nearly everyone is liable to it.

You cannot tell, when it seizes on you, how it may end.

Let it go for a day or two only, and see how weak and prostrated it will leave you.

There is only one safe way to cure it and that is by Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been on the market for sixty-two years and has been proved and tried so you are not experimenting when you buy it.

Do not accept a substitute or imitation, as many of these are positively dangerous to life and health. Insist on having Dr. Fowler's.

Mrs. Norman H. Eisau, Ship Harbor, N.S., writes: "Last summer my baby was very bad with Summer Complaint. I tried most everything for him, but nothing seemed to help. One day a neighbor called in and told me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I got a bottle and after a few doses my baby was cured. I shall always keep it in the house."

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of itching, bleeding and protruding piles. See testimonials in the press and ask your neighbors about it. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE cost of living is an important thing in most homes. You may have to figure closely in these matters. A little extra on a barrel of flour may look big to you.

But there is a difference between spending money wisely and spending it foolishly.

Sometimes it is economy to spend instead of to save. It is in the case of Royal Household Flour.

Those few extra cents a week, that give you

Royal Household Flour

in preference to inferior flour, buy health.

Nothing contributes so much to the food you eat as flour, and therefore nothing should be more carefully bought. Ogilvie's Royal Household Flour is the whitest, cleanest and most nutritious flour that's milled. It is the only flour that is absolutely pure.

Ask your grocer.

A MIDNIGHT RUMPUS ON KING STREET

Women's Screams and Loud Shouts Brought P. C. Newhall to the Scene —Settled in Police Court

WOMAN WAS FINED $13.75

Mrs. Annie Shearer, the woman who has lived with a number of Italians on Aylmer street for several years, but who has lately removed to Sherbrooke street, was fined $13.75 at the Police Court this morning for disorderly conduct on King street at 12.30 last night. Michael Luciano, who boards at the house, was fined $2 for trying to interfere with P. C. Newhall, who made the arrest, and also for being disorderly. When arraigned on the charge, both parties pleaded not guilty. When Luciano was asked if he were willing to have the case proceeded with, he replied, "I don't care."

Officer Newhall was sworn, and stated that after midnight last night, two women and about eight or nine men, with a horse and buggy, were raising a disturbance in front of the car barns on King street, swearing and yelling. They proceeded to Louis street, where the actions were repeated, and a little later at the corner of Bethune and King streets. Mrs. Shearer, witness said, was using bad language, and the general actions were most disgraceful. The two women and the Italian were in the buggy, but the rest of the gang seemed to be following them. P. C. Newhall stated that had the occupants of the buggy been acting decently they would not have been noticed. As it was, the women had no business out at that hour.

The Other Side

Luciano, although he did not give evidence, told his story. It seems that Mrs. Shearer's brother had come to the city yesterday and Luciano had hired a horse and buggy to show him around. He returned home last night and Mrs. Shearer was taken for a drive, presumably to the post-office. Later, about midnight, she and her sister, Mrs. Harrington, wanted to go to the Chinese restaurant at the corner of George and King streets for a meal. Accordingly, Luciano drove them to the restaurant, and was about to drive them away again. Just as they were starting off, about eight or nine young fellows rushed out and stopped them by holding the wheels, and others spitting in the horse's head. The driver said he tried to put them off, but could not.

P. C. Newhall said that Mrs. Shearer was intoxicated, and that the party in the buggy did not try to send the gang away.

His Worship found Luciano guilty and imposed a fine of $2, which Mrs. Shearer paid for him.

Mrs. Shearer was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $13.75. She produced $12, but paid to wait until Luciano procured the remainder.

Another man was charged with being disorderly. He pleaded not guilty and asked that he be remanded until he procured witnesses. He was granted until 4 o'clock this afternoon, but before the court was adjourned he pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $5.75, to be paid in ten days.

N. C. O. EXCURSION TO BE DISCUSSED

Important Meeting of Non-Coms of 57th Regiment To-morrow Night

An important meeting of the Non-Commissioned Officers of the 57th Regiment will be held to-morrow night in the Mess Rooms when the question of the annual excursion of the mess will be considered. It is probable that the excursion will be run down the river, but the matter of the destination of the trip as well as the date will be discussed at this meeting, to which a full attendance is asked.

CHEAP RATES FOR THE HOLIDAY

Single Fare Tickets Will be Sold on Railways, Good From Saturday to Tuesday

This year the railways, while they will run no excursions out of the city for Civic Holiday, will give single fare for return tickets, good going on all p.m. trains on Saturday, August 10, and on all trains on the 11th and 12th, and will be valid returning up to and including Tuesday, August 13. This will give a good opportunity of spending the week-end and the holiday out of the city.

DEAD AND BUT A WEEK IN THE CITY

Young Man Worked Only a Day or So —Passed Away Yesterday

A sad death occurred last night, at St. Joseph's Hospital, when Mr. Hershel Beers passed away after a brief illness of pneumonia. The deceased came to Peterborough on the 27th of July, having accepted a position with the Rapid Tool Company. He worked only a few days when he was taken ill, and removed to the hospital, where his death occurred at four o'clock yesterday.

Mr. Beers came to this city from Holyoke, Mass. Communications were made with Mr. Chas. Beers of Seymour, Conn. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon, from Mr. T. Lane's residence, 243 Hunter street, at 4.30 o'clock to-morrow afternoon and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery.

57th REGIMENT BAND, ENGAGED TO PLAY TWO DAYS AT THE TORONTO EXHIBITION

The 57th Band has been shown a signal honour this year. The management of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, has evidenced its appreciation of the services of the band at that exhibition in the past, and, instead of engaging it for one day, as has been the custom in the past, the band will be heard there for two days, Aug. 30th and 31st.

Few bands, outside of the city of Toronto are engaged for more than one day, and it is a tribute to the work of the 57th band, as well as an indication of the enterprise of the Fair Management that the local musical organization has been secured for two days.

Doubtless a great many Peterborough people will attend the Fair this year during the days on which the local band will play.

Saskatchewan Crops Are Reported In Good Shape

Wheat Will Go Thirty Bushels Per Acre in Many Cases—Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture is Optimistic.

PREMIUM ON INDUSTRY

Regina, Sask., Aug. 5. — The Deputy Commissioner of Agriculture, A. P. Ketcham, has just returned from a trip to Abernethy, and was asked by the representative of the Montreal Star for his opinion of the state of the wheat crop.

Plenty of Wheat

"Coming home," he said, "I drove from Abernethy to Indian Head, across the Qu'Appelle valley. There is plenty of wheat in that country, good for forty bushels to the acre, if we do not get frost early this year. All the wheat there should be in the stook by September 18th, the date on which the first heavy frost was experienced there last year."

Wheat Heavy

A good many of the farmers report wheat, if anything, too heavy and they seem to fear heavy rain storms may injure the crop more than the frost. But although the straw is very heavy in the district, and there are apprehensions on this account it is a good deal stiffer than in the average year and, therefore, less liable to be knocked down.

Thirty Bushels Aver ag

A very noticeable feature this year is the marked difference between crops on adjoining farms, where the soil and climatic conditions are identical. This has been one of the seasons which put farmers on their mettle and it is very easy to draw the line between the good farmer, and his slovenly neighbour. All along the Pheasant Hill branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, crops are looking very well indeed; and a thirty bushel average should not be at all uncommon on the farms in that district. Conditions have improved a great deal during the past month and the crop is in far better relative shape now than it was at the beginning of July. With hot weather in August cutting should be general by the end of the first week of September, and an average fall will insure the bulk of the Saskatchewan crop.

BRANTFORD PREACHERS GO THE LIMIT FOR HOT WEATHER DISCOURSES

Brantford, Aug. 7. — Some of the ministers who are supplying in the local pulpits in the absence of pastors who are on their holidays have gotten into disfavour with the congregations because of their long sermons. A couple of them are preaching at 50-minute heats, and the people say they will not stand for it in such hot weather.

A BIG GATHERING OF SCOTCHMEN

Campbellford Will Hold a Re-union on Wednesday next

Mr. H. B. R. Dryden, editor of the Campbellford Despatch, was in the city to-day, making arrangements for securing some amusement enterprises for the Scotchmen's celebration, which will be held in that town on Wednesday, August 14th. Mr. Dryden expects that the town will that day contain more sons of Scotland than ever before, and elaborate preparations are being made for their entertainment.

PORT PERRY RESIDENTS EXCITED OVER FINDING RICH JEW'S SKELETON

Mystery of Man Believed to Have Been Murdered Years Ago is Now Cleared Up---The Discovery of the Skeleton

Special Correspondence

Port Perry, August 7. — This village is the latest hamlet to be stirred with a sensation, and the people of this ordinarily quiet little village are wildly excited over the recent finding of a skeleton of a man who disappeared some thirty years ago. The skull of the skeleton was badly crushed. Men were excavating around the foundation of the former Crandell house, when they came upon the ghastly remains.

As the story is told by an old resident the skeleton is supposed to be that of a rich Jew, who resided in the neighbourhood. One day this individual suddenly disappeared from the neighbourhood though his horse and rig were found at a distance from the spot. No trace of his whereabouts could be found, and the incident remained shrouded in mystery. Suspicions were rife at the time but no one was implicated.

The skeleton unearthed may, or may not, be that of the supposed murdered man, but the find is creating a good deal of interest in the little hamlet.

LOCAL OPTION A SUCCESS

Rev. J. G. Potter Disagrees With Statements Made by Thos. N. Dootney, in Reference to Condition at Owen Sound

THE OFFICIALS SATISFIED

In connection with the statements made by Mr T. N. Dootney in the interview with him, published yesterday, to the effect that local option in Owen Sound was proving a failure, Rev. J. G. Potter, who, while he was working in Huron and Bruce counties in connection with the Queen's University Fund, visited Owen Sound and spent some time in looking into the conditions existing there. He is deeply interested in the question of local option, and he was glad to find, he stated, that the conditions following its introduction in Owen Sound were very satisfactory. He was at both the large hotels there, and was pleased with what he saw. He was in communication with some of the civic officials, including the Police Magistrate, and they expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the results of local option.

It is a fact that there are more convictions for drunkenness in the town, but this is accounted for by the fact that under the local option law it becomes a crime to be found drunk, whether the one in that condition is disorderly or not. Mr. Potter, however, does not see in this fact an evidence that the new conditions are unsatisfactory. In fact, his observation leads him to the conviction that local option in Owen Sound is a success.

MANY PUPILS UNSUCCESSFUL IN DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATIONS

Peterborough students of the Collegiate Institute, who wrote on the departmental examinations, will learn with some consternation, that, taken altogether, fully sixty per cent of those who wrote will be unsuccessful, if the rigid schedule of marking is maintained.

The examiners engaged in reading the papers concluded their work on Saturday, and the officials of the Education Department are now engaged in the arithmetical problem of determining totals and percentages, upon which the success or failure of the students rest. This is a big task and the Department does not expect to be in a position to announce the results until some time between the 10th and 15th inst.

Some anxiety is said to be felt over the possibility of probable wholesale plucking. It is ascribed variously to the raising of the standard, the setting of certain too severe papers, or to the general unpreparedness of the classes this year.

It is possible some concessions may be granted in determining the results.

STOLE CURRANTS FROM BABY CARRIAGE ON GEORGE STREET

A case of apparently bare-faced robbery is reported as having taken place yesterday afternoon. A lady bought two boxes of currants from a fruit store, and placed them in the front of her baby carriage, progoing to take them home. On her way she dropped into a confectionery store and left the carriage outside, taking her baby with her. When she came out of the store to go home she found that during her few minutes' absence someone had stolen the two boxes of currants.

This is about as bold a theft as can be imagined, and indicates the length to which those who have the inclination to steal will go.

THE LATEST BOURASSA INCIDENT

In respect of the violent interruption of the political meeting held in Quebec, in the interests of Messrs. Bourassa and Lavergne, the hoodlum element played directly into the hands of these gentlemen. The interruption was a mistake in more than one way. It violated the right of free speech, which is one of the distinguishing features of British conditions. In London, England, all sorts of cranks and firebrands are allowed to make incendiary speeches in the public parks, even to talk sedition, treason, and all sorts of unregulated rant, and the complaint of the free lance orators is not so much that their oratory is interrupted or prevented, but that they are not violently suppressed, and cast into dungeons in chains. There is a certain kind of individual that seeks notoriety, and would welcome it, even by the thorny way of persecution, and mild martyrdom. Mr. Bourassa may not be of this class, but he is at present an unattached politician, a political free lance, and is entitled to the exercise of the privilege of free speech and to air his peculiar opinions. If he seeks notoriety, as a propagandist of a new political cult, he must necessarily become known as the head of the movement, if he is not to be content to remain the head and body and all. The hoodlum element in Quebec have done a great stroke of business in giving Mr. Bourassa, not only notoriety, but a claim to being a martyr, a claim which we shall doubtless see promptly pressed. The hoodlum element of Quebec has done an injustice to the Liberal party, with which Mr. Bourassa, before the era of head expansion, was connected. The Liberal party cannot be fairly or rightly charged with responsibility for the outrage. The party managers would be lacking in every element of discretion and sound judgment, that would justify their existence, if they even countenanced, or winked at, the action of the irresponsible characters who, practically, broke up the meeting of Messrs. Bourassa and Lavergne. Mr. Bourassa himself believes both Liberals and Conservatives of any responsibility for the outrage to which he was subjected, which is said by him to have been organized by a local journal peculiarly hostile to him personally.

Mr. Bourassa is not the only public speaker to be interrupted and silenced by a mob. Quebec has an undesirable record for such things. In connection with the fight between Mr. Parent, then mayor of the city, and Hon. Senator Choquette there was a similar incident, and at an election meeting a like row and free fight occurred. In Toronto, at one time, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was subjected to organized interruption, which he succeeded in turning into cheers, and Winston Churchill and Lloyd George recently met violently hostile receptions at Birmingham, All of these, as Mr. Bourassa will do in respect of the Quebec incident, came out with far more credit than the people guilty of interruption and violence, for the privilege of free speech is respected and cherished by all right-thinking persons.

REPREHENSIBLE

Hon. Mr. Graham, leader of the Opposition, in his newspaper, the Brockville Recorder, denounces the work of the whisky spies sent out by the Whitney Government to tempt license holders to break the law. Apart from the unspeakable meanness of the occupation of a spy, comes up the ethical point as to the moral justification of doing evil that evil may come. A man who tempts or bribes another to commit perjury, is guilty of a crime. The odious animal, the spy, who leads a license holder into temptation, is also breaking the moral law, if not the statute law. The Mail and Empire excuses the employment of these moral thugs by saying that "the license holders who observe the law have nothing to fear from 'detectives.'" An innocent girl, who observes the moral law, has, on the same ground of argument, no reason to fear the seducer; yet the law provides for the latter's punishment, and judges denounce the detectives who do not tempt men to commit crimes, but use sweating methods to induce them to acknowledge crimes. The license law cannot be very seriously broken, if the ordinary local inspector, who is supposed to be "in sympathy" with the license enforcement policy of the Conservative Government cannot detect it without the importation of government spies, to tempt license holders to break the law, which, possibly, was otherwise fairly well kept. If a hotel keeper is punished for a breach of the liquor license act, wouldn't it be in accordance with the spirit of British justice to punish the man who is indirectly, and offensively, and meanly, and sneakingly responsible for the breach of the law?

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Standard Oil Company should have tried an alibi—certainly some of the oil was not there—in the measure.

Mr. Rockefeller, the shining head, and front of the Standard Oil Company, seems in the way of levying profits or plunder, to have burnt his candle, or, rather, his lamp, at both ends. It is claimed that not only were unholy combinations made to bring up the price of coal oil, but that even in the advanced prices there was short measure.

THE WATER FRONT PROBLEM

Interested Parties Came to an Agreement at Conference Last Night

TWO PIPES TO BE LAID

At a conference of the parties interested last night an agreement was arrived at which is believed will settle the water front problem. It will be remembered that Col. J. Z. Rogers had complained that the filling in being done by the city would cut off the flow of water past his property and would therefore be a source of injury to him. The matter has been under consideration ever since the work of filling in commenced.

It was decided last night that the Government should make an opening in the wall of dredging thrown up and that the city should build an embankment of earth from this wall to the C.P.R. tracks. Under the tracks there will be laid two three-inch pipes emptying south of King street. The cost of the latter work is to be borne jointly by the city, C.P.R., and Peterborough Conseal Company. It is thought that this arrangement will dispose of the difficulty and will ensure a flow of water past Col. Rogers' property. The solution was agreeable to all parties concerned and the agreement will be submitted to the Board of Railway Commissioners for their approval, after which the work will be proceeded with.

There were present at the conference, Col. J. Z. Rogers and his solicitor, R. E. Wood; H. C. Grubbe, of the Engineering Department of the C.P.R.; J. G. Sing, Government Engineer; W. H. Meldrum and R. R. Hall, M.P., representing the Peterborough Cereal Company, and Mayor McWilliams and E. H. D. Hall, representing the city.

The parties met at the City Hall and went down to the water front where an hour was spent in looking over the ground, after which they returned to the council chamber and decided upon the above arrangement.

THE LADIES' AID HELD PICNIC

Ladies of Park Street Church Enjoyed Outing Yesterday

The Ladies' Aid of the Park street Baptist church, held their annual picnic on Tuesday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. Robert Stenton, Otonabee. A very pleasant time was spent on the spacious lawn. Tables were spread under the trees, and all enjoyed a bounteous tea provided by the ladies. Before leaving for home Mrs. M. Mowry, the president of the society, on behalf of the Ladies' Aid, thanked Mrs. and LMiss Stenton, for their kindness and hospitality in helping to make the outing a success.

BAND DISTURBED THE SERVICE

According to Writer the Service in First Church of Christ Scientist Was Broken In Upon by Army Band

WANTS "GOLDEN RULE"

Editor Examiner,

Much is being said of late about the music of the "Salvation Army Band." As for myself, a common citizen and lover of music, although not capable of blowing a horn on the streets, and perhaps less capable of judging the quality of music, I appreciate the music of the Army Band, their zeal in using their talents, and the success they are having. I am quite agreeable to their praying and playing on the street corners, or any other part of our city, so long as it pleases and does not annoy or disturb other citizens who may be desirous of worshipping God in a more quiet way. We are told that music is harmony expressed, whether by human voice, horn, timbrel, or organ. Now, sir, I want to tell you, and the public as well as the Salvation Army, that when I sit in our church last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, endeavouring to bring my thoughts into harmony with the Divine Principles of being, even absolute harmony by listening to a piece of sacred music sounding from our organ, the Salvation Army came along beating drums and blowing horns in full volume, bringing out the tone of a lively piece of music, I would say lively enough for Finigan's wake. I was at a loss to know where the music part came in. Imagine yourself, on a warm summer morning, in a church, with windows open, the organ playing sacred music, a strong brass band playing lively airs, the sounds vibrating and mingling together, with the shaking of glass in the windows from the thumps of the big drum, then try and say we are listening to music. This is a description of what occurred last Sunday. I went to the door to ascertain the disturbance, but found none; just the ordinary procession with a brass band, carrying the Union Jack (British fair play; equal rights to all).

This may be law, but I don't think it is gospel. If our city officials have sold the right-of-way to the Salvation Army, or any other body, to make as much noise as they please, at any time and in any place, than we shall abide by the law and endure, "suffer it to be so now—Jesus." However, I would like to say, in all kindness, to those professing to be believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, and who may at any time find it necessary, under their modes and forms, to parade the streets, that I am convinced that if Jesus were here leading a parade, He would apply the Golden Rule in passing where others were worshipping. Although they might differ from his way in many points, He would recognize some good in them.

It is said of Him (Jesus), once when travelling, He saw beside the road the decomposed form of a dog, and, instead of complaining of the nasty appearance or the disagreeable odour, peculiar or the disagreeable odour, He said, "what beautiful white teeth," recognizing the good.

In conclusion, while we appreciate music, even by the Salvation Army Band, and recognize the Army has done and is still doing, and wish them God speed in their work, we shall hope not to have to listen to such a conglomeration of sounds for a good while again. Thanking you for space in which to throw off some of the discordant sense, the opposite of music.

Sincerely yours,
R. J. TODD.

A PRETTY MILKMAID

Thinks Pe-ru-na Is a Wonderful Medicine.

MISS ANNIE HENDREN.

MISS ANNIE HENDREN, Rocklyn, Wash., writes:

"I feel better than I have for over four years. I have taken several bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin.

"I can now do all my work in the house, milk the cows, take care of the milk, and so forth. I think Peruna is a most wonderful medicine.

"I believe I would be in bed to-day if I had not written to you for advice. I had taken all kinds of medicine, but none did me any good.

"Peruna has made me a well and happy girl. I can never say too much for Peruna."

Not only women of rank and leisure praise Peruna, but the industrious, useful women engaged in honest toil would not be without Dr. Hartman's world renowned remedy.

The Doctor has prescribed it for many thousand women every year who never fails to receive a multitude of letters like the above, thanking him for his advice, and especially for the wonderful benefits received from Peruna.

Rochester Methods Of Providing Inspected Milk

Great Care is Taken in the Handling of the Milk—Specially Used for the Nourishment of the Young—General Care.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

Now that the question of inspecting the public milk supply is occupying the attention of the Board of Health and is of general interest to the citizens of Peterborough, it might be instructive to publish an article from a recent Rochester issues of what that city is doing in this regard. It is as follows:—

"Scientists are agreed that impure milk is one of the most fruitful sources of disease. It carries toxic agents with the greatest celerity and certainty to infants and children who depend upon milk for food to a greater extent than adults. For that reason, state and municipal authorities are exercising special care and vigilance in protecting the public against milk produced by diseased animals and milk improperly handled.

Rochester is performing an enviable work in the supervision of the city's milk supply from all sources. The authorities there are taking particular pains, says Health Officer Goler, to make all of the milk of Rochester approach such a standard of cleanliness as shall in the beginning make it less dangerous for babies, and finally make it nearly safe to use as food.

The importance of this work is appreciated when it is recalled that more than 50 per cent. of the human family dies before the age of two years. Here is what Rocheater is doing:—

1—Providing municipal milk stations during the months of July and August.

2—Through systematic chemical and bacteriological examinations of a large number of samples to determine the nutritive value of the milk, and the number, and to a certain extent, the kinds of bacteria found in the milk.

3—Through inspecting and scoring the results of the inspections of the producers' and the retailers' premises, and communicating by letter or in an interview the results of these inspections to both the producers and the retailers.

4—Through educational literature and by means of demonstrating the work of the Health Bureau, endeavouring to show the retailer and the producer something about the proper way of producing and handling milk.

5—Trying to have produced and aiding in securing a market for certified milk.

The municipal milk stations are supplied with milk from a farm where the herd is tuberculin tested and where the operations of handling the milk from the cow to the bottle are under the watchful eye of a trained nurse. All of the utensils, and bottles, etc., are sterilized by steam. The milk is not heated or treated in any way. The milk is bottled in nursing bottles of various sizes and in various dilutions, is packed in ice and sent to the city stations, four in number; each in charge of a trained nurse, where the milk is sold in the sealed nursing bottles at one cent per bottle for the four and five-ounce bottles and two cents per bottle for the seven and eight-ounce bottles. This is equivalent to about eight cents per quart for the milk. Each station is provided with a refrigerator, ice, a supply of milk, and booklets in several languages on the care of babies.

The milk station on the farm is of value as a demonstration to farmers' milkmen and mothers, and to the public in general, that milk may be produced and sold under cleanly conditions at a nominal price, and that only simple and cheap apparatus need be used in its care.

The work of the stations is not to be judged altogether by the amount of milk sold, or in the present state of the work by the number of children who come to them. The stations are rather to be judged by the fact that they stand as pointers toward the necessity for the improvement of the whole milk supply. The Rochester plan for improving the milk supply is more than the municipal milk stations. Through the chemical and bacteriological examinations of a large number of samples of milk annually, by the use the score card for producers and another and different score card for retailers, and by frequent communication, both personally and by letter, with retailers and wholesalers, the Rochester plan seeks to improve the whole milk supply of the city during the whole year.

The Rochester plan for improving the milk supply of cities is a simple plan, applicable alike to a village of 500 or to a city of 5,000,000 inhabitants, to the survey of 2,000 or 2,000,000 quarts of milk, and to the inspection of 150 to 150,000 dairies, as has been shown in two recent papers."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. when this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Clydesdale, Aug. 6.—The hay weather has been very good this year and the farmers are nearly all through haying.

Mr. P. Burke, Miss Maggie and Master Willie, of Peterborough, are the guests of Mrs. E. Gooley of Clydesdale. Mr. Burke has been successful in catching some fine bass in Loon Lake.

Miss Irene Chancey of Peterborough is visiting friends at Clydesdale.

Mr. Louis Gooley was the guest of Mr. Phil. Eddy on Saturday evening last.

Miss Irene Chancey caught some fine fish in Loon Lake.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Jos. Trethart is still ailing, and hope to soon see him around again.

Misses Libbie and Helen Gerrard are visiting at Clydesdale.

Eczema's Itch Is Never Ending

EXCEPT BY ACTIVE AND PERSISTENT TREATMENT WITH THE GREAT ECZEMA CURE.

When left to itself, eczema runs on indefinitely, causing keen distress from itching and covering the body with sores that refuse to heal.

Even with careful treatment, eczema is obstinate in yielding to curative measures, but the regular and persistant use of Dr. Chase's Ointment is the most certain means known of overcoming this torturing disease.

Internal treatments for eczema have long since been discarded, except the use of medicines to regulate the bowels and enrich the blood, while local applications are used to relieve the itching and heal the sores.

It is the remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Ointment in the cure of eczema which has given it world-wide recognition as the standard ointment for itching skin diseases.

Mrs. Robert Clendenning, Welland Station, Ont., writes:—

"For three years my dauthter, Fanny, was afflicted with eczema in an intense and persistent form, and for nine days she was totally blind. The burning, itching and disfigurement were horrible, her entire face being completely raw for months, and the distress so great that she could not sleep.

"The best efforts of two eminent physicians failed to even mitigate her awful suffering. One day when I was low-spirited over my daughter's condition Dr. Chase's Ointment was recommended to me and to our surprise Fanny was helped with the first box and she has since been entirely cured by this treatment.

"Her face is now as smooth as a baby's and she is in splendid health. The credit for this cure is entirely due to Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I cheerfully give you permission to state my daughter's case, hoping that it will lead many others to secure the same good results."

There are a score of ways in which Dr. Chase's Ointment, with its extraordinary soothing, healing properties, is useful in every home; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MR. R. C. BRAUND AND FAMILY RETURNED HOME

Had a Pleasant Months' Outing on the Otonabee

Mr. R. C. Braund and family have returned to their city residence after a pleasant holiday during the month of July on the Otonabee, about five miles from the city. Mr. Braund is a firm believer in the ancient axiom that even business men are invigorated by trying to forget business matters for a time in a close communication with nature.

In truth, he had one eye on business all the time, for he frequently came to the city when needed. He reported having landed a few beauties of the finny tribe, and, with his wife and children, is much healthier after his month's outing.

Mrs. J. M. Greene and child and Mrs. Henry Green returned with them, and Miss Millie Bacon, who spent the last few days with the party.

MARK ST. LADIES AT LAKES

Annual Excursion Under Auspices of Ladies to Stony Lake Was Enjoyed

APPRECIATED ATTENTION

The excursion of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Mark street Methodist church yesterday, was successful beyond the expectations of even the most sanguine of the fair promoters of the enterprise. The steamer Otonabee, of the Otonabee Navigation Company, when she left her moorings in the morning, had about 400 persons on board, bound for the trip to Stony Lake. A quick passage was made, and Mount Julian was reached after a pleasant sail through the various water stretches between this city and Stony Lake, in time for dinner. A stop of an hour and a half was made at this point, and afterwards Burleigh was visited and a sail across the lake to McCracken's was given.

The party returned to the city about 7.30, no delays having been experienced at the different locks, and the excursionists were fresh when they reached their destination.

Those in charge of the outing are to be complimented upon the excellent arrangements made for the comfort ad convenience of the patrons; and the crew of the steamer also came in for some well-deserved praise for the courtesy they evidenced. It was one of the most successful excursions from a financial standpoint that this steamer has run this season, the share of the receipts coming to the Navigation Company, being $104.40.

The committee in charge of the excursion was composed of the following ladies: Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Smiley, and they are to be congratulated upon the complete success of the affair, and the happy outcome of this trip will no doubt be duplicated in the future.

THE "SUN" ASKS FOR CRANES

A Disparaging Reference to the Alleged Obstructions in the Trent Canal

Almost coincident with the report of the opening of the Trent Valley Canal to Lake Simcoe, there comes the abatement that a portion of the waterway, long since opened, is no longer safe for navigation, even by the smallest boats. Not only has there been filling in by sand, but sunken logs from which the knots had not been removed are threatening danger to the hulls of the ships that pass either by day or by night.

The recently opened Kirkfield lift lock is all very well in its way, but what appears to be called for is a succession of cranes, placed at convenient points, to lift canal steamers over the obstructions that have been created—that is, at least, when the dew fall is not heavy enough to raise the canal level to high water mark. — Toronto Weekly Sun. You think you're smart, don't you?

DON'T DIE AT 45

Cure the Indigestion Which is So Liable to Lead to Apoplexy

People who suffer with headache, giddiness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, drowsiness, distress after eating and any of the other distressing results of indigestion, are in serious danger. Their digestive organs cannot care for the food properly, and hence the coats of the blood vessels in the brain get little nourishment, become brittle and finally yield to the fierce blood pressure, and one is then said to have a "shock," be paralyzed, or die from apoplexy.

In all diseases of digestion and nutrition the prescription called Mi-o-na has proven itself of great value. It is relied upon to-day as a certainty to relieve the worst cases of indigestion and make a complete cure.

That Mi-o-na will cure the worst forms of stomach troubles, cancer excepted, and give quick relief in indigestion, is proven by the guarantee Wm. Madill gives with every 50 cent box to refund the money unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this must inspire confidence.

Alleged Fur Smuggler Arrested At Lindsay

Simon Marshall Taken by Police After Escaping From Barrie Hospital—Will Be Tried Soon.

HE IS NOW OUT ON BAIL

Lindsay, August 6. — Simon Marshall, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the alleged smuggling of beaver skins from the Algonquin Park, by way of Lindsay, was formally placed under arrest on Saturday evening by Chief Vincent. Marshall is the man who left the Barrie Hospital suddenly last week.

The Lindsay police have known of his whereabouts, and were only waiting for such time as he was in fit health to travel to bring him here before County Magistrate Moore. On Saturday evening Marshall came to Lindsay and was taken in charge. Owing to the illness of the prisoner he was allowed out on $1000 bail; $500 of his own surety, and $250 each by Robert Naylor and Andrew Marshall.

The accused will appear before the County Magistrate at the Lindsay police court on Tuesday, August 13. It is said that there are nine or ten witnesses summoned in connection with the case.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS PRESENTED

At Quarterly Board Meeting of Charlotte Street Methodist Church—Mr. Batten Elected Delegate

At the meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Charlotte street Methodist Church last night Mr. Joseph Batten was elected representative from the Board to the district meeting, which will be held in all probability on September 3rd, in the George street Methodist church.

The reports of the financial officers of the church were presented at last night's meeting, and they were of a most encouraging character, giving evidence to the continued material prosperity of the church.

Mr. H J Latimer, who has been attending Albert College, and who is training for the ministry was given a license as a local preacher, by the Board, and his services may now be used in that capacity.

Successful Year's Business Reported To Shareholders

Annual Meeting of the Big Bend Lumber Company Held Yesterday - Old Directors Were Re-elected.

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Big Bend Lumber Company, held yesterday in the offices of Messrs. Hall, Medd and Davidson, an encouraging statement of the operations for the past year was submitted by the Board of Directors. There was a large representation of the capital stock of the company, and the report of the business of the year was quite satisfactory.

The company has a double cutting band mill, with a daily capacity of 125,000 feet, and the operations during the year just closed have resulted satisfactorily to the shareholders.

The old Board of Directors was re-elected and subsequently to the meeting of the shareholders a meeting of directors was held, when the following officers were elected:

President, Theodore Ludgate.
Vice-President, R. R. Hall, M.P.
Secretary, H. Kirk.
Assistant Secretary, G. Y. Chowen, Kingston.

The other directors are: Messrs. W. Flavelle, Lindsay; H. W. Richardson, Kingston; Dr. Tovell, Sydenham; W. F. Nicholl, Kingston, W. G. Ferguson.

A VALUABLE COIN OF 1569

Mr. George Hayward Has One in His Possession—Found in Somerset, England

While digging in a garden in Somerset, England, an old man found what appeared to be a silver coin, which was at that time in a good state of preservation. The man who found it did not attach any importance to it, nor place any value on it, and disposed of it to Mr. Geo. Hayward, who since has come to Peterborough and now resides on Albert street. Th ecoin is dated 1569, and bears a Latin inscription, now almost effaced, and a coat of arms, with the French fleur de lis, quartered with what seemed to be emblems of England, Ireland and Wales are on one side of the coin.

Mr. Hayward has been informed that the coin is of considerable value to collectors, and one gentleman said that it was worth $100.

Boil The Drinking Water Used From Stony Lake

Several Persons Who Disregarded This Precaution Are Ill—The Physicians' Advice.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

The wisdom, if not the necessity, of the summer residents at Stony Lake boiling the water before using it is being evidenced. During the last few days a number of persons have been taken ill at the lake—an occurrence usual at this time of the year—and while the illness is not, in the majority of cases, considered serious, it is sufficient to emphasize the importance of exercising care in connection with the drinking water used.

A good many persons are evidently under the impression that the water in the lake is as pure as it is after coming through the taps at Peterborough, but they forget that, whereas in the lake the water is practically motionless, it is only after it has passed through a purifying process that it is taken into the pipes at taken to the police station and Peterborough, the twenty-mile rapid flow of the water eliminating the greater portion of impurities.

The best physicians advise boiling all the water used for drinking purposes, and this is advice which cottagers at Stony Lake would do well to follow.

On Monday and Tuesday several of the workmen employed at Mr. A. L. Davis' cottage were brought to the city suffering from an illness which is believed to have been caused by drinking unboiled lake water. No serious results are expected to follow.

KINMOUNT MAN ASLEEP IN A HOUSE ON GILMOUR ST.

Was Taken to the Police Court and Given His Liberty To-day

An old man from Kinmount, meandering about town, and a one-time police court ornament, walked into a house on Gilmour street, yesterday, and very conveniently took a fainting spell without even asking permission of the occupants. The police were called up and the man was ordered to the police station and lodged in a cell.

This morning before Acting Police Magistrate Adams the man was given his liberty.

Electric Wiring Will Cost 25 Per Cent. More In Future

New Restrictions Imposed by Fire Underwriters Mean That Much Added to Present Cost, a Contractor Says.

SAFEGUARD AGAINST FIRE

Electric wiring will be more expensive in the future in Peterborough. Last week an inspector from the Fire Underwriters' Association was in the city, and, after making his investigations delivered an ultimatum to the contracting electric wiremen in the city. It is to the effect that in future certain additional precautions against fire in the installation of electric fixtures must be taken, and the additional cost, by reason of this fact will amount to about twenty-five per cent. on the cost of a job.

An increased amount of flexible "loom" is required under the new regulations and higher quality of wire must be used in some cases.

The new regulations will go into effect at once, and the contractors are forbidden to tender on work except with the understanding that the new conditions will be observed, and the work carried out under these regulations.

One of the largest contractors in the city to-day informed the Examiner that the result would be that wiring would cost at least twenty-five per cent. more than it had in the past. The regulations in Peterborough, he stated, were no more strict than they were in other cities where similar conditions prevailed. The Underwriters were of the opinion that on principle some additional safeguards against fire resulting from defective wiring should be provided, and the new rules are a result of that decision.

OLD-TIMER'S VIEWS OF STONEY LAKE

"What's that?" remarked the old-timer with a growl, as he dropped into his usual seat in the cigar store circle, and glared at the man who had made the remark that Stony Lake was more popular than ever.

"More popular than ever!" he repeated; "yes, too popular for mine. The good old days when a tent or a shack, with a good canoe, were all that were needed to make a holiday out there a success, are gone. Nowadays a man has to provide shed room for a piano and other junk, and if he doesn't own a steam yacht or a gasoline launch, he is a dead one. There was a time when a man could go around in a cotton shirt, and a pair of pants of a seven-year-old vintage. The chances now are that if he ventured out in a costume like that someone would take him for a guide, and want to buy some bait off him. Society, with a capital "S" is chasing the boys of the old brigade farther back into the wilderness. What's the use of going camping when the principal amusements are five o'clock teas, and dances?

"No, sir; next year I am going to hike out deeper into the woods, where a man isn't ostracised for not wearing a collar."

GREAT VOLUME OF TRAFFIC

Passenger and Freight Business of C. P. R. are Unprecedented For This Season of the Year

TRAINS IN TWO SECTIONS

The freight and passenger traffic on the C.P.R., is more than usually heavy at the present time. The midnight and early morning expresses are run in two sections almost every day. At no previous time in this season of the year has there been such a rush of traffic, and the officials are wondering what will happen when the excursion travel commences for the fairs.

Passenger traffic, however, is not the only class that is heavy now. The yards here are full of freight cars practically all the time, and there is an unusual amount of local freight being received, chiefly that for the Quaker Oats Company and the Canadian General Electric Company. Whole train loads of grain are at times standing on the sidings here.

Nothing, possibly, indicates the volume of business done in a city more accurately than the shipping, and, judged by this standard Peterborough seems to be in a particularly happy position at the present time.

RESPECTED LADY HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. John Fowler Died in North Monaghan Last Night After a Brief Illness

After a very brief illness, Agnes Huggan, wife of Mr. John A. Fowler of North Monaghan, passed very peacefully away last night at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Fowler was surrounded by the members of her family, as it was known during the day that life was ebbing quickly away. Mrs. Fowler was in her 72nd year, and up to some four weeks ago seemed to have vigour and buoyancy for some years to come. Her death will come as a surprise to many who knew her, and the sincere sympathy of the community will be extended to the sorrowing husband, now in his 82nd year, and to the members of the family. Next January would have marked the 50th year of Mrs. Fowler's marriage. Her children are all an honour to her memory and have become an honour to their community. Their names are Mrs. A. C. Thomson of Brandon, Man.; Andrew (deceased), Robert, James, Mrs. Harry Webber, George, Kate, and E. Bruce Fowler of this city.

Mrs. Fowler also became a kind mother to three children by a former marriage of her husband—William Fowler of Pembina, Sask.; John and Helen, both deceased. Two grand-children, Ella and William White, who were raised by Mrs. Fowler, also mourn her death.

Mrs. Fowler was held in the highest esteem by the entire community and a large host of friends will miss her. She was a most faithful member of St. Andrews' Church, and in speaking of her life, the minister of St. Andrew's refers to her as an ideal mother in Israel, who always took a deep and practical interest in all that made for the progress and expansion of the church. As a mother in the home she was also ideal; so tender and kind, so sympathetic and unselfish, so thoroughly exemplary in her motherly character and training that her children live to bless her. As a Christian woman she was a model, and was always recognized as a strong and forceful character under all circumstances. She was ever known to bear experiences with calm composure, and in her ripened life she peacefully obeyed the summons to her eternal rest.

The funeral will take place tomorrow (Thursday) at 2 p.m. from the family residence, Gravel road, North Monaghan, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

FRUIT STEALING IS PREVALENT

Boys Caught in Orchards Will Appear Before Magistrate on Saturday

Complaints have been made by a number of persons owning orchards against boys stealing fruit, and the result is that information has been laid against the culprits, and their cases will be dealt with in the Police Court on Saturday. The police are determined to put a stop to this practice, and examples will be made of boys caught stealing apples in future.

GOOD SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

Springville Presbyterians Enjoyed an Outing

Yesterday the annual picnic of the Springville Presbyterian Sunday School was held in a grove about a mile from the village, where a delightful afternoon and evening were spent. There was a large attendance of members of the school and their parents and friends. During the afternoon a programme of races, games, etc., was held, and the tea which followed was fully enjoyed.

SICK MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mr. Charles Bell Was Brought Down From Stony Lake Suffering From Typhoid Fever

Dr. Bell of Apsley was called to Stony Lake on Monday to attend his son, Charles, who was taken ill some days ago. The doctor pronounced him to be suffering from typhoid fever, and, accompanied by his son, Norman, brought him to the Nicholls Hospital in this city for treatment. Hon. J. R. Stratton placed the yacht "Alberta" at the disposal of the doctor to convey his son to the city. Charles is one of the most popular boys at the lakes, and his friends join in hoping that his attack may not be as serious as anticipated by some.

LADY BARBER COMES TO PETERBOROUGH

Feminine Razor Wielder in a Simcoe Street Shop

Peterborough is nothing is not modern and the latest proof of this generally recognized statement is the presence in the city of a lady barber, who has accepted a position in a Simcoe street shop. A barber of the fair sex is a novelty in Peterborough and her arrival has naturally caused a good deal of excitement. Conversational powers is one of the chief characteristics of a barber and now that a woman wielder of the razor has commenced operations in the city it is expected that all records in the talking line will be pulverized. It will be something new for Peterborough young men to get their stubble scraped off by a lady.

RETAIN SERVICES OF A TEACHER

"Appreciative Parent" Calls Upon Board of Education to Prevent Mr. T. J. Wallace Going to Toronto

The Examiner this morning received the following letter, signed by one of our most prominent citizens with a request for its publication, and also asking that the attention of the Board of Education be called to the subject matter of the letter:

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — It was with the deepest regret that we read in your valuable paper the other day that the Central School is likely to lose one of its best teachers in the person of Mr. T. J. Wallace, as he has been recommended for a Toronto school at an increased salary. As for an increase in salary no teacher in Peterborough is more worthy, but for the difference, why should Peterborough lose one of her best instructors? Are not our children as worthy of good instruction as Toronto's? My boy left for his vacation with a very heavy heart, feeling that Mr. Wallace might not be here when he returns to school. Mr. Wallace is a most excellent instructor, and his training will make a deep impression on those whose good fortune it is to be under his guidance—a good teacher and a gentleman, in the truest sense of the word, whose services the school board should not lose for 33 per cent. increase.

Yours,
AN APPRECIATIVE PARENT.

HAS ENTERED MISSION FIELD

Miss Mabel Curtis Will Leave Shortly for British Columbia

Miss Mabel Curtis, who has been employed as cashier at Cressman & Son's store, was the recipient of a suit case last night from the other employees before her departure for British Columbia, where she will enter the missionary work at Hazelton, B.C. Miss Curtis was agreeably surprised by the kindness of the staff, in remembering her, and she expressed her deep gratitude to them. Miss Curtis will join the Methodist minister and his wife at Hazelton, in the Indian mission field, British Columbia. She will take up general missionary work, assisting the minister's wife in the teaching of the children.

Miss Curtis is a daughter of Mr. George Curtis, Aylmer Street, and a very bright young lady. She will grace the missionary ranks now that she has decided to enter them, and should meet with general success.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY AT THE REGATTA

Will Provide Music for the Annual Dance

The services of the Opera House Orchestra have been secured for the dance that will bring to a close the annual regatta at Stony Lake on Monday. SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for alterations and additions to Royal Observatory, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received at this office until Wednesday, August 21, 1907, inclusively, for Buildings for Coelostat House and Standard-ling Steel Tapes at the Royal Observatory, Ottawa, Ont.

Plans and specifications can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with their actual signatures.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, made payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or if he fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

LOCKS TO BE ENLARGED SOON

Superintendent McClellan Made the Announcement Yesterday

Superintendent McClellan yesterday informed a number of canoeists who were consulting him in connection with conditions at the locks, that the Government intended to make some important changes there next year. The lock is to be enlarged and will be made both longer and wider when this is done it is likely that a proper passage way will be made for canoeists.

REV. FATHER M'COLL TO DELIVER ADDRESS IN BERLIN

Rev. Father McColl left this morning for Berlin, where he will assist in an important ceremony to be held to-morrow at St. Jerome's College in that city. A monument of that founder of this college will be unveiled, and Rev. Father McColl has been given the signal honour of delivering an address in English on the occasion, and another speaker will give an address in German, Berlin being the centre of the German population of Ontario.

St. Jerome's is a boys' college and is well known throughout Ontario. Its chief aim is for the instruction of the younger scholars and as a preparation for the universities. It also provides a good grounding in religious instruction, and is one of the oldest of its kind in the Province.

Father McColl's invitation to assist in this important function and to take such a prominent part is another recognition of his ability as a speaker and his wide-spread acquaintanceship among the Provincial clergy.

RECORD SALE OF HOUSE AND LOT IN SOUTH END

Property Sold in a Short Time and Satisfactorily

An unusual sale of a house and lot was reported from the south end last night. A few weeks ago the owner of the property put a "for sale" sign on the front of the house and last night a lady and gentleman called for the purpose of looking through it. This was done in a business-like manner, and it was decided that the house completely suited the man and his wife. They were told the terms which seemed suitable, for the husband returned and got some money which he offered, making the sale binding. The actual price was in the neighbourhood of $1,500 and the sale was satisfactory to both parties. There is hardly a real estate agent that could have carried out the sale with more despatch.

IS REMOVING TO TORONTO

Mr. M. W. Matchett Accepts a Position There

Mr. M. A. Matchett left the city this afternoon for Toronto, where he will reside in future. Mr. Matchett has secured an excellent position in the office of the Canadian Oil Company as one of the head bookkeepers. Mr. Matchett's family will remain in the city in the meantime, but later on he will remove to the Queen City.

For some time he has been in charge of the office of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, and previous to that time he was secretary of the Central Milling Company. His ability as an accountant is recognized. He will be missed particularly in the Mark Street Methodist Church, of which he was one of the most prominent members.

Steamer to Connect With It Will Leave Pavilion at Midnight

In connection with the regatta at Stony Lake on Monday next, a special boat and train service has been arranged. A steamer will leave the pavilion at 12 o'clock midnight, after the dance, and will connect at Lakefield with a special train for the city. This will give those who wish to attend the dance the opportunity of returning home the same evening.

'QUAKES IN VALPARAISO RECORDED AT SPRINGVILLE

A derangement, indicating an earthquake disturbance was noticed this morning by Dr. Marsh, on the instruments with which he makes his astronomical observations; the instruments being about twenty seconds out. Despatches received later in the morning gave the information that his suspicions were correct, for an earthquake was reported from Valparaiso, South America. No details as to the extent of the shock or the damage done was available, but a further despatch from Triest, Austria-Hungary stated that the instruments in the Marine Observatory recorded heavy earthquake shocks this morning about 2,500 miles distant. The beginning of the disturbance was registered at 7.52.26 o'clock, the maximum shock was reported at 8.08.51 and the movement ceased at 8.36.59.

From the extent to which the instruments were thrown out it is considered that the shock was a severe one, since, while it is a matter not uncommon for disturbances to affect the instruments, it is not usual for them to be disturbed to the degree that they were this morning.

DENOUNCED PRACTICE OF WEARING HATS IN CHURCH

St. Catharines, Aug. 6.—A sensation of a minor degree was witnessed at St. Barnabas' Church on Sunday night, when a tall, well-dressed woman, wearing no hat or head covering, walked into the church and took a prominent seat. Rev. R. B. Novitt took exception to the action, and before preaching the sermon publicly denounced the woman, pointing out that the law of the Anglican Church forbids women to enter the church without the head being covered. His words, however, fell upon deaf ears, as the woman paid no heed to the speaker, and remained throughout the service.

CORNEY BURNS LEADING REGULARS

Batting .390 With Burridge and Connors Also Over the .300 Mark—The Batting Averages

There are three regulars on the Peterborough baseball team in the honour class of .300 batters now. Burns, whose work with the willow recently has been a revelation, standing at the top with a percentage of .390, and Burridge second, five points less. The averages for the men who have played on the team this season are as follows:—

Sharpe	.500
Burns	.390
Burrige	.385
Connors	.326
Graham	.282
Callaghan	.270
Sheridan	.273
Parnell	.250
Quinlan	.231
Poulter	.214
Belleghem	.182
Flaherty	.167
Haliburton	.130
Johnston	.097
Cheatham	.077

Sharp, who is nominally at the head, played in only one game, an exhibition contest, and was at bat twice, getting one hit.

Connors' batting this season is the feature of the work of the team. He has also shown himself to be one of the best outfielders in the league.

PETERBORO WILL BE STRONG ON SATURDAY

They Are Confident of Defeating Port Hope

The greatest interest is being taken in the ball game with Port Hope on Saturday and many fans will accompany the team to the lake shore town. The locals must win from the Hopers to have a chance in the hunt for the rag and judging by the way in which they are shaping up at present they should drive the Crawford peaches to the shade of the evergreens. Manager Johnston was in Toronto yesterday [illegible] interests of the team and the nine on Saturday will be stronger than ever. A new second baseman may be in the game. Flaherty, who is back in his old time form will likely be on the rubber, and with an all-star cast behind should make things interesting for Surphlis and his crew of mercenaries.

CRICKET

The international cricket match was finished yesterday, and when stumps were drawn the Americans were found to have won the game by 80 runs. The Canadians, in their last innings, put on a score of 147 and they needed 228 to win. Mr. Cyril Hill of Peterborough, who did so well the first day, scoring 57 runs, was not so successful yesterday, being stumped after scoring one run.

EASTERN LEAGUE FOR QUINLAN

Picton Times Eulogises His Work on Slab and Picks Him for Fast Company in Near Future

On Thursday last Wellington trimmed Bloomfield on the latter's by the score of 3-2 in an league game. The contest was fast from start to finish, and very exciting all through. The two pitchers were in good form and mixed up their offerings. Quinlan was steadier than Hickey, and had the Indian sign on the Bloomfield batters all the way. He has shown rare form, is very handy and cool in tight places, and from what we have seen in the last two games that he has pitched and won for us, should soon be in the Eastern League.—Picton Times.

THE EXAMINER TEAM FEELS CONFIDENT

Will Defeat Review Team at Printer's Picnic

It is learned on good authority today that the Review will issue a black bordered edition on Tuesday to chronicle the defeat of their ball team which annual event will take place at the hands of the Examiner at the big printers' picnic at Idyl Wyld on Monday next. The opposition sheet although professing to be sure of winning are feeling decidedly shaky over the event, and are looking for a chance to ring in a number of outsiders for the day. The Examiner team is in the best of shape and will make the Tory nine look worse than Cobourg did on Saturday. The picnic is one of the best outings of the year and with a ball game thrown in there should be a great crowd.

TOMMY BULGER OUT OF GAME FOR KEEPS

Cobourg Star Will Not be Able to Finish Season

Cobourg, August 6. — Tommy Bulger, Cobourg's star ball player, who was hit on the head by a pitched ball at Peterborough on Saturday, and put out of business, is still confined to the house and is suffering much pain. He will be out of the game for the balance of the season, and his services will be greatly missed as he was the best run getter on the team. Bulger met with the same mishap at Port Hope several years ago.

TENNIS

Those who have not completed their games in the first round of the Nicholls Oval Club tournament, ladies' and gentlemen's singles, are asked to do so at once, as arrangements are being made to start the doubles at once. The schedule for the latter will be published to-morrow.

MELANCHOLY?
Can't even sleep—restless day and night, brooding over imagined troubles all the time. Your disease isn't in the brain, but in the blood, which is watery and thin, because you don't assimilate your food.
Do the right thing now and you'll be cured quickly. Just take Ferrozone; it turns everything you eat into nourishment. It puts new tone into the blood, quickens and vitalizes the worn-out nerves. The weary brain is relieved, sleeplessness disappears and brooding ceases.
FERROZONE
For health—vigor—spirits, try this grand food tonic—none better. It uplifts, braces, tones, makes you feel like new. Both old and young, male and female, derive unquestionable benefit from this grand medicine.

GREAT PROGRAMME OF RACES

Turf Club's Events Next Week will be Interesting

Judging by the way the entries are coming in, the Turf Club races on Monday and Tuesday of next week promise to be the best ever seen here. A large number of entries have been received and the places represented range from Welland on the west. There are four big events each day and there should be enormous crowds present. It is the only holiday attraction here on Monday and will be a pleasant way of whiling away the afternoon.

BASEBALL

The Peterborough ball team will practice to-night at Riverside Park in preparation for the big game with Port Hope on Saturday.

FOOTBALL

The intermediate and senior Quakers will practise to-morrow evening at 6.45 o'clock at the Exhibition grounds, in final preparation for the exhibition game in Warkworth on Saturday. The team will be picked after practice.

GOOD FISHING AT THE LANDING

Some Splendid Catches Reported From the Head of Stony Lake—Recent Arrivals

Examiner Special.

Crowe's Landing, Aug. 6. — Mr. A. M. Harmer, of Chicago, is spending a month at the Lakes with his family.

Miss M. Frazer, who has been spending the past ten days at the lakes, returned to the city to-day.

Mr. Mitchell, of Sunnyside cottage, is proving himself to be a great fisherman. On Saturday he was successful in landing four lunge and two bass, all of which were of good size.

Master Jos White, of Peterborough, is at Belle Isle, visiting Master Roy Harmer.

Mr. and Mrs. I N Ackerman, of Norwood, have opened "Cliff Cottage" their beautiful summer home, for the season.

Miss Mary Nichol is spending a few days at the Lendinf.

Mrs. Water Evans is a guest at Belle Isle.

The new pavilion at Crowe's Landing was formally opened last night with a concert and dance. About three hundred were in attendance. There will be another concert in about two weeks.

Master Roy Harmer landed a fine lunge the other day of which the young angler is very proud.

Mr. Friend of Toronto, was a guest at Belleview Cottage over Sunday.

Mr. Drain of the Landing, caught two very fine "yellow bass" yesterday. The fish weighing 5 and 6 pounds.

EXCURSION OF CHOIR OF ST. PETERS

Annual Trip Was Held This Year to Keene

The annual outing of St. Peter's choir and the altar boys of the cathedral was held yesterday to Keene. This picnic is provided by Rev. Father McColl and proves to be a most enjoyable trip, a change being made every year. Besides the members of the choir and the altar boys, there were the successful scholars at the recent Entrance examinations and the winners of the medals presented by Mr. Wm. Pringle for the best writers in the lower forms of the Collegiate Institute.

The steamer Rainbow had been chartered and left the city at 8.30 a.m., and a pleasant sail was enjoyed through the mazes of the Otonabee and a run of a dozen miles on Rice Lake. Dinner and tea were partaken of at Keene, and, in the meantime, the beauties of this model village were visited. After spending a good time there the return journey was made, the boat arriving at Peterborough at 7.30 p.m. Rev. Father McColl and Rev. Dr. O'Brien accompanied the party. Music and songs by the members of the choir made the trip one of the best on record.

MRS. RICHARDS AGAIN ARRESTED

Had Drunk Too Much Whiskey and Had a Bottle Almost Empty

With a bottle of Seagram's whiskey almost emptied, Mrs. Richards was taken into custody this morning in a very much befuddled condition. P. C. McDonald was called to the rooms over Mervin's butcher shop, where Mrs. Richards lives, and marched her down to the police station. To use a slang expression, she had a "lovely jag" on, owing to the actions of the concentrated rye. Last night she was doing up the streets in the same way, making a public nuisance of herself, and amusing the street gamins.

Mrs. Richards does not realize that the police and the public will not tolerate actions such as these, and really believes that she can get drunk, and do as she pleases. When she found herself in the cell, she said, "Here I am, eh!" took off her old cape and made herself at home. Shortly after she was talking with the police and she wanted someone to get her little dog. After a little she began to cry and raised it high for a time.

Mrs. Richards was liberated from a month's term in gaol but ten days ago and since then has been at her old tricks again.

ANSWERS CHARGE OF DELAYS

Lock-master Jobe Says Employees of Kirkfield Lift Lock Do Not Delay Lockages Voluntarily

OTHER WORK TO DO

Mr. William Jobe, lock-master at the Kirkfield lift lock, has a letter to-day in reference to the complaint made in the Lindsay and Fenelon Falls papers, on the alleged delay in operating the lock. Mr. Jobe says:

Dear Sir,—I see by the Daily Examiner of last week that the Fenelon Falls Star is complaining about the delay in the operation of the Kirkfield lift lock. The writer states that the delay is due to the operators selling photographs to those on board, and that some of the boats have been detained fully an hour. No doubt we have photographs here to sell to those that wish them as a souvenir, but we (the operators) do not neglect our duties for the sake of those pictures. I would like the writer to understand that steamers are not held at the lock for an hour in order to dispose of pictures, nor have they been since the Kirkfield lift lock was opened. We have other work to do besides operating the lift lock, and cannot always be prepared to meet boats and if a boat steams to the lock and we are not prepared for the lockage because of other work preventing us, then the steamer will certainly have to wait until we are prepared.

Now, if the writer requires any information in regard to the delay, I, William Jobe, lock-master, am prepared to answer any questions along this line, or any other question that is concerning the operation of the Kirkfield lift lock.

As far as Lindsay is concerned in this matter, I think that if they had considered a little they would not have spoken the way they did, for the operators remained on duty till nearly dark in order that the excursion might reach home.

I might say that the lock will not get the full attention of the operators for this next month, that is the lockage part, for the men will be busily engaged completing the contract.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space, I remain,

WILLIAM JOBE.
Lock-Master,
Kirkfield, Ont.

VERY SUDDEN JUMP IN TEMPERATURE

A Registration of 83 Degrees in th Shade at Noon To-day

To-day the weather took a decided and somewhat unexpected turn and the thermometer registered 83 degrees in the shade at noon, the highest recorded for a week or two. The prospects are for continued warm weather, interspersed with a couple of thunderstorms.

BAD CHILDREN, SO LADY REPORTS

Elm Street Matron at Last Decides to Call a Halt

A woman living on Elm street called at the police station this morning and registered a complaint that she has endured her next door neighbour all summer, and she has at last decided to call a halt. The children next door claim that they can run about her yard whenever they like, and the parents encourage them in this practice. The climax was reached yesterday, and the last straw added to the camel's burden, and the result—a police court case. The "kids" swore and used bad language yesterday when this lady had a visitor, and the actions of the children were disgraceful. The lady laid an information against the family, and the outcome is still to be reported. There are many complaints of this nature, although not so serious, in many parts of the city. It is another proof that the younger element of the city is growing up without the proper restraint, and when they become older the trouble they get into will increase proportionately.

A CHANNEL TO BE DUG BELOW LOCKS

Superintendent McClellan Will Have Improvements Made There

As the result of a conference between Mr. J. H. McClellan and other canal officials and Ald. Duncan and a number of local canoeists, the condition of affairs below the locks will be made much better for those who go down to the sea in ships. There have been very many complaints made of the dangerous passage below the locks many canoeists having had narrow escapes there. Ald. Duncan and a number of others have worked hard to have the matter remedied and they have been successful.

Superintendent McClellan promised the canoeists to have a deep channel dug below the locks and to have the stones removed. The location of the rollers will be moved farther south and it is thought that in this way the difficulty will be overcome.

The improvements will be greatly appreciated by canoeists.

SISTERS OF ST. JOSEPH TO COMMENCE RETREAT

Special Devotional Exercises Continuing Eight Days

The Sisters of St. Joseph will commence their annual retreat, a special time for religious devotions, at Mount St. Joseph, next Saturday, August 10th, and will continue in the exercises until August 18th. There are really two sessions of the retreat, embracing four days each. Rev. Father Heenan of the Redemptorist Order, who assisted at the mission held at the Cathedral a couple of years ago, will preach throughout. It is not likely that the congregation of St. Peter's will hear him during his stay in Peterborough.

The Printers Picnic

The Printers' Picnic holdeth sway,
Upon our Civic Holiday;
Be there, each mother's son and daughter,
To witness the tremendous slaughter.
The Ex-m team, with spirit sinister,
Is quite dead certain to administer
Unto the rattled nine-fold clump
Of samples of the baseball chump,
By stretch of courtesy extreme,
Yclept the Review baseball team.

P. S.
Be present, all good people, please,
To 'tend the solemn obsequies.

P.P.S.
For fifty cents you go and come,
A happy day, and all safe home.

8 YEARS IN BED WITH RHEUMATISM! NOW WELL

It is simply marvelous, the effect Ba-Ju has on Rheumatism. It not merely relieves the pain but completely rids the system of the disease. Ba-Ju, THE GENTLE KIDNEY PILL, does this, because it cures the kidneys.

Uxbridge, Ont., Aug. 31st, 1906

"Was an invalid for 3 years with Inflammatory Rheumatism, and was bed fast until about 6 months ago, when a friend left me some Ba-Ju Pills. I was helpless as an infant. I continued taking them, and now I am able to get out of bed, dress myself, and walk without crutches. JOHN McCULLOUGH
